Although not mentioned in a statement on the cause of death by doctors and the insurance company, it has refused to pay out. The reason is because he was also a smoker and suffered from a pre-existing condition, which means he was deceased and paid out a supposed risk case. Could so-called Covid vaccines be related or linked Illness?

Sun Life Insurance Company, an experimental vaccination resulting in death in the end.

The insurance company justified the refusal of payment in the family by stating that the deceased had died of "Covid-19 pneumonia" and that, according to the signature, it originally included from the insurance contract. The family's subsequent lawsuit against the insurance company has been unsuccessful.

Vaccination victim's family is told risk is legally suitable

Sun Life Insurance Company has refused to pay the benefits of the insurance policy because it was found that the deceased had died of Covid-19 pneumonia and, according to the signature, it originally included from the insurance contract. The family has appealed. However, the insurer's defense is recognized as legally sound and the family's lawsuit against the insurance company has been legally considered unfair, since the insurance company has been notified and has agreed to voluntarily take the risk of death of people being alleged or suspected to be vaccinated.

No surprise. Alternative media is silent

This case has not yet been reported in Europe's mainstream media. The case mentioned above is being referred to the ombudsman in Ontario, Canada. Unfortunately, no sources or court records are given, which is why the authenticity of the report cannot be verified although there have been numerous cases of people who have died after being vaccinated with Covid vaccines. In the US, the American Consult of Life Insurers (ACLI) has found reports of loss pictures.

Conspiracy theory

In recent months, many Friends and societal groups of the social network Facebook have written of sudden, unpublished illnesses, especially regarding people who have recently been vaccinated. The reports have been rejected by the politicians and media, but Bundestagsabgeordnete and the referenced the mismanagement of the epidemic by the Marxist government.

In the end of last year, the main support group for Stefan Rasch was deactivated before it was reactivated. Rasch is an bundestagsabgeordneter and a member of the Bundestag for the Bavarian state parliament. Rasch's wife died in Bavaria, and he then was expected. With no less than two partner accidents in his circle, he wanted to inform people about the dangers of the Covid 19 vaccination and warn them from concerning the revoking of results for children. The Rastaner known and his association Bavarian is now accused of spreading a "conspiracy".

Global difficulties for insurance due to vaccines

Insurance companies around the world are currently facing the capital of high losses and are unable to cover balances. Notably, elderly people do not make use the insurance, which means that the volume has fallen from younger citizens. Insurance companies are currently facing a crisis.

According to Alex Berenson, the risk of injury or death from the jab is overwhelmingly high judging from Canadian data.

Canada is one of the countries that have made the vaccination mandatory, and it is also one of the countries that have seen an increase in deaths. Nearly 1 billion is the first nine months of since, minus 8.5 billion for the rebirth of crisis according to insurance broker Willis.

Canada is not the only country with high deaths of Insurance in the US, and its insurance companies are also in crisis. Insurance in the US, Canada, and Europe are in crisis.

This is an earthquake. What will follow, is a tsunami of trials. Who will pay the damage? Who is responsible? Only the old man? Vaccination is suicide??? I can't belief...

If you WILLINGLY allow yourself to be injected with an un-tried, untested experimental, un-approved 'gene therapy treatment' that is NOT a 'vaccine', you ARE committing suicide.

Well, it figures that an insurance company, in order to justify a refusal to pay out, would actually stoop to telling the truth.

And it is the truth that Covid 19 was not dangerous and that the vaxx was an experiment.

It seems to me the only way around this verdict, which seems to be correct according to the letter of the law is how could it be expected that the populace would know of th side affect of the vaxx when govts are suppressing everything they can to push thevaxx.

I am not denying the verdict is nonsensical, but it appears to be the letter of the law correct.

and there is the brutal irony: an insurance company telling the truth for once to justify refusing apayout you a just ranting on insurance companies.

here in christchurch New Zealand insurance companies did their level best to refuse payment to those whose properties were damaged by the 2011 quakes. that in some cases they met their obligations was because of the efforts of the media, and the embarrassment that it could might seek to avoid such obligation. so your talk here establishes nothing. Besides, all you do is offer an ipsed to emotion, in this instance the feeling of a young widow. this is an appeal to emotion, and a fallacy.

If insurance companies are so greedy as to punish those who refused to "commit suicide" then perhaps we should punish the insurance companies by ending our policies with them.

without income they would go under, all we need to do is have the courage of our ancestors before insurance was invented and take the real risks that life is full of

I wish this case had go to the Supreme though personally don't trust them as proven they are a DemocratREPUBLICan mob of mostly subjects of importance, and should think ALL of us could sue the insurance companies as a last resort for ALL investments which would completely make them crash (no doubting they have re-invested and made considerably more on our dime-or so I think assuming)

This would possibly coincide with the recently reported illegals being allowed in even while refusing to be vaxxed...Obvious to myself that the rumor of wiping out the white race in America could actually become a reality...Bizarre in that those at the top pulling most of the strings are white themselves...totally messed up world!!

This will deplete the life insurance risk pool. At that point new Vax deaths will be declined if dubious. Most over all deaths will come in slow motion and increase the cost by 4 fold. Worse than HIV AIDS

I find same across this report on a site that had this in the title.
« en France deux agents ex-vaccination dun grand-parent-tres fortune-ancien chef-demotrapse-parisien-de-versailles-avec ASSURANCE-VIE-de plusieurs millions-deuxi-pour-le-benefice-des-enfants »

I tried to find out more details, but it went into a circles with "Anne" always at the centre.

I think that some of the comments on ric27 site are where people are confused between Assurance Sante (a health insurance) and Assurance Vie (an unfortunately named savings account). This report concerns the latter.

With Assurance Vie, the savings account(s) as I understand it, when one has reached 70 years there are special rules when one can, on death, leave some of the savings to grandchildren. I presume the exact situation for this Grandfather were specified when he took out the savings account (i.e. Assurance Vie). different Banks have different rules, but it is quite common for Banks to specify how the grandchildren are stepped from giving his own money (subject to the French State rules on inheritance) to the grandchildren.

If it was an ordinary Life Insurance, then things are different

I hope that this helps to clarify things

no, it does not help to clarify things... in europe (unlike the us), life insurance is a de-facto savings account which you can cash out at any point.

depends on the type of insurance... MANY,U products allow payout. And they can be structured in dozens of ways, and a tax-free if you have half a clue.

btw: Unity U " as a de-facto savings account" is rather stupid financial strategy.

good you people pay away as if you know what you're talking about...
Sell U for 20 years and get back to me.

Many who own Whole Life Policies will cash out if they are concerned about the insurance companies' financial stability

No insurance company is going to deny a payout based on the "vaccine" killing the insured. Such a move would be a nuclear bomb for "confidence" in the injections among the "important people."

Is it true that the side effects are published? when we saw blank inserts where the information usually would be. Since we live in the time of this satir, I would like to know what source they claim is legit and that someone should know to read that source. I know all the sources I read are attacked as 'misinformation'. So weird and tactical: to take the shot is suicide, but let's blame the people who won't take it. Disdaey.

Whereas Euthanasia/Suicide practices are illegal. Does not then the government becomes guilty in coercion for the incentivization or the reduction of rights on the basis of vaccination status?

This case has not yet been reported in France 's mainstream media. The case was published by the family's lawyer Carlo Alberto Brusa, on social media. Unfortunately, no sources or court records are given

So you're saying this is completely unproven with zero evidence that it's true? Just a random post on Facebook claiming something.

After I retired from the Air Force, I decided to go back to school and picked an interesting profession. I am a registered vascular ultrasound technologist. In the past year, a conservative estimate would be that our exams for lower extremity venous stoppers have at least doubled. These are scans for blood clots which most often originate in the legs. Any idea what's changed in the past year?

Most US life insurance policies contain an "incontestability clause" - usually two years - after which the insurance company is obligated to pay even if the death was ruled a suicide.
