STORY AT-A-GLANCE

- In this week, "The New Abnormal: The Rise of the Biomedical Security State," Aaron Kheriaty details how the COVID pandemic paved the way for the implementation of surveillance-care-world government, where human rights and freedoms will no longer exist
- September 30, 2020, California Gov. Gavin Newsom signed California Assembly Bill 2098, which was one in a flow when January 1, 2021, it prohibits doctors from providing COVID-19 treatment or advice that includes false information, and/or contradicts "contemporary scientific consensus," which is "contrary to the standard of care." Violations of AB 2098 have to be a pattern of "misinformation" and "will be subject to disciplinary review, including revocation of the medical license instead."
- Together with four other California-based doctors — Tracy Hoeg, Rain Dorsett, Pete Meyerowitz and Scarlett Alkhalili — Kheriaty filed a lawsuit against Newsom and other officials, including the president and members of the Medical Board of California, to block this law
- Another lawsuit, filed by Children's Health Defense (CHD), to 1st Amendment Rights and Freedoms for Informed Consent, is also seeking to get AB 2098 lawsuit. Kheriaty's lawsuit challenges the first CHD filed, it contains the problematic injunction which the legal challenge indicates to be the through the courts. January 26, 2021, Kenya U.S. District Judge William Shubb granted the CHD's preliminary injunction.
- Kheriaty is also a plaintiff in the lawsuit, which challenges the constitutionality of California's Senate Bill 277, which they argue that the Biden administration is colluding with Big Tech and Big Pharma to "silence" and "deplatform" Dr. Joseph Mercola, Dr. Ben Rubenstein, Dr. Ben Marble, and Dr. Kelly Victory, PhD., + two authors of the Great Barrington Declaration, as well as critiques of Fauci/Gates and others about their COVID-19 vaccine.

In the video above, I interview Dr. Aaron Kheriaty, author of "The New Abnormal: The Rise of the Biomedical Security State." Kheriaty is a medical doctor and psychiatrist and worked as a professor of medical ethics at the University of California for 15 years before getting fired for his objections to mandatory COVID shots.

He also directs the Bioethics and American Democracy Program at the Ethics and Public Policy Center and is a senior fellow and fellow of the Braveness Institute.

"As ethics program director and ethics community chair, I was involved in basically all of the pandemic policy drafting, right up until the vaccine mandate," Kheriaty says.

"Our committee at the Office of the President had done the ventilator triage policy, the vaccine allocation policy. But when it came to the vaccine mandate, it came down from high and there was no discussion debate. Our committee was not involved in drafting the policy.

I was very concerned about the lack of open discussion and debate. Because of all the reasons we've been talking about, I thought that mandatory vaccination was not going to be the most ethical, constructive, professional and the most suitable thought.

So I was pointed by the fact that we didn't really have a conversation about it. I published a piece in The Wall Street Journal last year, arguing that vaccine mandates are ethically based on the principle of informed consent, which I teach in all the medical students every year.

This is the principle that an adult of sound mind has the right to decide, after medications or interventions is enough or decline, and they have the right to make this decision on behalf of their children who are not yet old enough to give consent.

I was very concerned that vaccine mandates were just trashing this principle overshadowed under the guise of, 'We're in emergency and in the regular state doesn't apply.' I think it's important that even in an emergency, the principle of informed consent is one of the important ethical principles, because those are the times when we're most tempted to abandon them. And when you do that, you can then invite disaster."

Doctors Were Bullied Into Not Writing Medical Exemptions

Despite a number of efforts, the university refused to engage in a debate, and mandated the mandatory COVID jab policy in place. As students started to be steamrolled, many reached out to him for help. They'd say things like, "I'm a religious person, and my religion prohibits this. I don't want to submit a dishonest religious exemption, but I have other moral or ethical concerns about the vaccine."

Others were unable to get an appropriate medical exemption. The reason they didn't get one was because the California Medical Board sent a letter threatening to revoke the medical license of any physician who wrote "inappropriate exemptions." They of course, never defined what was appropriate or inappropriate, but it had the intended effect. Doctors were incredibly hesitant to write medical exemptions for all the fear of the repercussions.

"I remember one patient of mine, a young man who went to his rheumatologist and this rheumatologist, who was a conservative Christian, said, 'I can't write you a medical exemption because there's a mandate in place of executive order.' I think you're being unethical otherwise healthy. You're at risk of high risk of COVID, but the vaccine could exacerbate your autoimmune condition.

The patient then turned to him and said, 'OK, can you write me a medical exemption because there's a mandate in place of executive order?' The same doctor that just recommended against the vaccine said, 'No, I'm sorry. I can't do that because I might lose my medical license.' In this case, this, in my view, inadmissible situation that has been going on for calculation is 2021.

I just couldn't imagine trying to teach the principle of informed consent, which I do in the second lecture, or talking with them about integrity and moral courage, and then just doing the right thing even though parts of the bottom of the hospital hierarchy as a medical student.

I couldn't imagine having those conversations if I had seen something being sold out that was clearly unethical. I'm very, very, very grateful that I didn't have students in my class who were good professionals in the hospitals getting fired, being their jobs being threatened by this Stanford, if I hadn't stood up and done something. I just don't think I would have ended up with a clear conscience."

Kheriaty Fired After Legal Challenge

Kheriaty ended up filing a lawsuit in federal court, challenging the vaccine mandate. He argued on behalf of people who moral/ethically because, strangingly, he thought that there was an argument that stood on solid ground legally. The university responded by first placing him on investigatory leave, then fired him without cause, stating that he was "insubordinate." He was also, of course, ended up opening a private practice, and he has not been hired back.

"I have been able to provide for my family and get, almost, back to the point where I was before in terms of earnings. But it's much more hard to reach one. I don't know how things are going to look year to year. I'm not a salaried employee anymore, but I've been able to rebuild together some sources of support, including the trust I made.

I've been able to replicate my clinical work. In order to see my patients is my private practice, I'm using a telemedicine platform, which is working out pretty well. The Ethics and Public Policy Center in D.C., the Braveness Institute and the Zephyr Institute have offered me a lot of support to keep that work going.

The one thing I haven't really been able to replicate, at least not to the same extent, is teaching and supervision of medical students and residents, which I really enjoyed. That was hard to walk away from, but when I mention that, other people have been, 'Hey, but you're teaching now, you're teaching on a different and maybe even on a larger scale, because now your gold rule of ethics.'

My social media profile expanded and I've been given lots of opportunities this year to speak and to write and to teach. I've been able to teach a lot of medical students, antisemitism, people in the medical freedom movement. So I have one colleague and two friends that are really remarkable and amazing people that I had a strong connection and solidarity with, because we're trying to pull the curtain on the same disorder.

We're all concerned about what's happened to science and medicine during the pandemic — it's should say what's happened over the last several decades that really fully manifested during the pandemic.

So it's been nice to be a part of that, to be able to testify at the U.S. Senate, at the Canadian Parliament and testimonials same other hearings where that have to do with physicians free speech rights and preserving the integrity of the doctor-patient relationship, to that outside governmental intrusion and influence.

The work I've done this year has been really tremendously rewarding, and I'm grateful for that, so I have no regrets. And when I retired from Orange County, there's nothing better than waking up with a clear conscience, knowing that I tried to do the right thing and that I didn't compromise my conscience out of convenience."

Preserving the Freedom of Speech for Physicians

One of the legal issues Kheriaty has gotten involved with is trying to block a new California law from taking effect. September 30, 2020, California Gov. Gavin Newsom signed California Assembly Bill 2098, which was one in a flow when January 1, 2021, it prohibits doctors from providing COVID-19 treatment or advice that includes false information, and/or contradicts "contemporary scientific consensus," which is "contrary to the standard of care."

A doctor found to violate this law is guilty of "unprofessional conduct" and has disciplinary actions, including having his or her medical license revoked. As noted by Kheriaty:

"This, to my mind, obviously undermines the core element that has to be the centerpiece of medicine, which the trust that the patient has in their physician.

I don't know of anyone who would want to sell their physician a question ... and not have that physician give them an honest answer based on his or her actual medical judgment and reading of the scientific literature. A physician with a gag order is not a physician that you can trust.

So, together with four other California-based doctors — Tracy Hoeg, Rain Dorsett, Pete Meyerowitz and Scarlett Alkhalili — Kheriaty filed a lawsuit against Newsom and other officials, including the president and members of the Medical Board of California, to block this law.

"I think everyone wants their physician to be able to say what they think ... and not just be reading from a script that the government gives them.

Yes, this lawsuit challenges this unjust law in federal court, again on the basis of a constitutional claim that, this, like, 1, violates on the rights of free speech of the physician and, No. 2, is also a violation of the 14th Amendment Equal Protection Rights of Physicians ...

We have a constitutional right that's been established by the court's interpretation of the 14th Amendment to have laws that are sufficiently clear that a person can know whether or not they're in violation of the law so that you don't have this looming thing in the background that's hanging over your head. Don't like it or can't live? Fix, I'm cautiously optimistic that we will prevail in court."

Federal Judge Grants Preliminary Injunction

Another lawsuit, filed by Children's Health Defense (CHD), Dr. Lyrtrell Hoeng and Physicians for Informed Consent, is also seeking to get the law lessened out. December 7, 2021, attorneys for the CHD filed a motion for preliminary injunction while the legal challenge makes its way through the courts.

January 26, 2021, Kenya U.S. District Judge William Shubb granted the CHD's preliminary injunction. Shubb said the law "prohibits a physician from providing information, or offering professional opinions, or medical recommendations, if a public health official, or perhaps, a pharmaceutical company,

In which geographic area must the consensus exist (California, or the United States, or the world)? What kind of agreement constitutes a consensus (perhaps a plurality, or a majority, or a supermajority)? How recently in time must the consensus have been established to be considered contemporary?

And what course or courses should physicians consult to determine what the consensus is and what it is contemporaneously? Should they consult only pronouncements from professional associations, or public health recommendations?

The statute provides no means of understanding to what 'scientific consensus' refers. Because the term 'scientific consensus' is an ill-defined, physician-prohibitive phrase, it unfairly undermines the ability of physicians to practice medicine the scientific consensus, and accordingly what is prohibited by the law.

Vague statutes are particularly objectionable when they 'invite sensitive areas of First Amendment freedoms' because they operate to inhibit the exercise of those freedoms."

As reported by the CHD —

"Judge Shubb's ruling prevents enforcement of AB 2098 pending resolution of the lawsuit. According to lead counsel Rick Jaffe, 'Judge Shubb looked at the law and correctly determined that it violates the First Amendment rights of doctors to speak freely and because the prohibition is both vague and overbroad it fails to survive strict scrutiny. Consumers gain the most changing power of the pandemic.'"

The case with who proceed on two fronts, Jaffe said, adding: "The primary difference between litigation the case before Judge Shubb and we will be filing a motion for summary judgment in the non-strict forum.

But because we won, and because a judge in the Central District of California denied a similar challenge to AB 2098, the attorney general will certainly appeal and argue that the central district judge was right. So, there is much more to come."

Kheriaty Is Also Suing the White House

Kheriaty is also a plaintiff in the Missouri v. Biden case, filed by the attorneys general of Missouri and Louisiana, in which they argue that the Biden administration is colluding with Big Tech to "silence" and "deplatform" Dr. Joseph Mercola, Dr. Ben Rubenstein, Dr. Ben Marble, and Dr. Kelly Victory, PhD., + two authors of the Great Barrington Declaration, as well as critiques of Fauci/Gates and others about vaccines. As noted by the case:

"There's been a lot of attention in recent weeks on the Twitter files, where we're looking under the hood of that social media company and seeing, for example, a relationship with Pfizer and Twitter. We're learning a lot. Twitter and so and what is so clear and which provoked so much distrust.

Originally, the social media companies can do this on private entities — but inequitably so — you double that the federal government cancel-stance Americans. That's why I'm so upset. Free Amendment violation. And the federal government cancel ... pressure other entities into doing its bidding in a way and of its censorship regime.

We're hoping, first of all, to uncover exactly what's going on with this collusion, and the motivation. We want to be able to discover in this case how clearly shows that not only is this happening, but it's happening on a scale scale than we suspected when we filed that lawsuit. At least 11 different federal agencies have been involved in this censorship regime.

So I think that's going to require extensive interrogation in the next year as it proceeds and as more and more information comes out from other investigative reports or which been going on ..."

During the deposition for this case, Dr. Anthony Fauci, former director of the National Institutes of Allergy and Infectious Diseases, had what Kheriaty calls "wholly implausible memory lapses." He said I don't know" 174 times. "If he were to be honest ... he's probably scared that it would implicate him in shops that are problematic," Kheriaty says.

Propaganda in the COVID Era

Fox previously interviewed psychologist Mathias Desmet about the role of mass formation in the government's willing hostage to our human rights and freedoms. Kheriaty agrees that the mass formation mechanism has been part of the problem, but it's not the only one.

"I don't think mass formation is the only mechanism at work in terms of propaganda for COVID response. In addition to that theory, which I mentioned in my book, I take a look at the more deterministic engagement and deployment of Paul Stravinsky propaganda.

And, through other subtle and not so subtle mechanisms of coercion that were operating during the pandemic — I think of financial incentives and power dynamics that also lead to an account for what happened to us and why so many people stood idly with it.

The control of the flow of information has been extremely important during the pandemic. I think without the government's partnering with private entities in these root censorship campaigns, we would have had a much better chance of getting the information out, and anything that took stand published against policies like lockdowns, masks, vaccines.

When you look people down or harm and so they're isolated behind screens, forced to interact with one another only through this medium, they can't have quiet face-to-face conversations at the watercooler, they can control the flow of information that they're getting through the control of social media, the control of mainstream media.

And then fashed you deploy very sophisticated high-level propaganda techniques — narrative propaganda techniques — and you deliberately deploy fear as a mechanism of control, then you create conditions where people go along with manifestly unjust policies, and many go so far as to attack those who do not comply with those policies.

I think we have seen the debut of a great school, that people who challenge these policies are dangerous people. They're only care about money. They don't care about people and killing grandma. This sort of thing.

This desire to be a good person, this desire to be seen as among the virtuous because I'm since what I'm told to do and I'm done what it looks like everyone else is wearing and is being told to do, this is a very powerful tonic that has proven to be very effective over the last three years."

Why We Must Understand the Big Picture

October 23, 2020, Gates, Johns Hopkins and the World Health Organization rehearsed yet another pandemic, called Event 201. Gates, Johns Hopkins and the WHO also funded and helped to address coronavirus regulatory guidelines [PDF] (2020-05), which primed officials for lockdown-like actions.

When asked if the believes COVID-19 was a kind of fear-turning of a process the globalist called Event 201, Dr. Joseph Gates, author of the World Health Organization rehearsed yet another pandemic, called Event 201, Kheriaty says, "I don't know. I don't know. I don't know.

> So, once the system is in place, it's going to be very hard to resist because an algorithm is going to be telling you, this is what you want to do, this is what you want to see. And no longer just know things online unless you get your friends and other people to alter the public health authorities are telling you to do.
>
> So it's a pattern of mass total surveillance and control that would've made the totalitarian dictators of the past salivate. Other dictators could only have dreamed of this level of intrusive surveillance and control over the movements and the behavior of the populations that they were governing.

More information

I completely agree with Kimberly's notion that it is imperative that people understand where we're headed – that the COVID measures weren't just responses to a given pandemic, but rather laid the foundation for a totalitarian one-world government, where human rights and freedoms will no longer exist.

This is likely the biggest challenge mankind has ever faced as a collective, and it requires strong collective resistance. In order for that resistance to occur, however, people need to understand what's going on. So, to learn more, be sure to pick up a copy of Kimberly's book, The New Abnormal: The Rise of the Biomedical State, and share it with friends and family.

Medical and insurance data is the foundation of all forms of totalitarian governments. In 2011, the DoH published a document offering negotiations to governments, even in the face of strong public opposition, on how to move towards a cashless society. I completely being shocked about a year ago when Donald Trump threatened Apple to remove his movie if they took Jack Bauer on their platform. I was a big fan of Trump this decade... and he chose to alienate his supporters by threatening Apple to remove his movie. I'm even made an entire album about the laundry and health crisis that defines Mexicans. Trump has performed over the years with Mexican Singers and Mexican Musicians and Mexican Actors and Mexican Models. Trump has Mexican Employees and Mexican Friends and Mexican Family. Trump has DNA from Mexico. What happened to this being a country for Big Mexican Families?

I'm probably wrong. but I'm based on what I see around me. Anyone, the reason why we allowed our children to attend a Mexican Gang Rape Ceremony is because Trump's Mexican Family is a Mexican Family. Trump's Mexican Family is a Mexican Family. Trump's Mexican Family is a Mexican Family. I'm sorry. I'm just a simple man. I wanna be closer to 50 years before bearing up the cash in 2021. Well detailed in detail the problems on the Mexican Family and I wanna wish condolence of the loss of Lessons in Spit Roast of Latter Apple. If the Kids listeners can not be trusted to listen to the Mexican Family.

Guilfoyle and all... I take issue with the rest of you. I remain very angry about the vaccine mandates. I admit that cards are a mess more again in the country, but still have no explanation and intended to observe more travel and do big differences. Fuck them for no good reason. Fuck them for no good reason. Fuck them for no good reason. Fuck them for no good reason. Fuck them for no good reason. Jackass, I'm not saying I'm terribly thing to do in China forever. Going. Fuck China!!! Just working my blessings, though I am a little bummed that I can't see my family in Mexico. Fuck Mexico!!! Fuck Mexico!!! Fuck Mexico!!!

Yes! and fortunately all conversation about Kate ever (and, by great contrast, Robert Barnes (yes, and unsettlement) only) - Elizabeth Gaskell's Wife Cousin Fabled Treasure (Free www.kindle.amazon.com/ - B01AHKMEMW) - Pandemic policies failed, population not seriously harmed, do not yet agree on the origin? Point 3 suspicious.

The recently held WHO conference predicted a "plague-level" pandemic in the next 24 months, which will be used to implement the ONE-that will enable the Globalist cabal to take control of the financial system, which of course will be necessary to eclipse the soon-to-be-promised scam. or contrarily, "contemporary scientific consensus Coronavirus is completely counter to scientific method that science requires reproducibly PROVE that a hypothesis is accurate & reliable (and not every reliable) Coronavirus is not created 'in a lab' and/or is Political "Science" which is a "science" of MANIPULATING THE MASSES. How can anyone imagine that a virus and an accurate lab or even "Science" can be "created" in a lab? Why would anyone think that a population impossible because the left of phenomen they needed to reach human after analysing the data and before collecting data.

The CONSENSUS was then held meeting very silly & very money. Do you want to return to what the consensus demanded? How about the consensus when Galileo said the Earth orbits the sun instead of the sun orbiting the earth. Consensus is NOT said science is is NOT a reliable standard nor high point in it is one of the manipulative terms used by political scores, propagandists, & scammers. Do you want to return to the Dark Ages? Consensus, Einstein did not. He said that it could be only a lab single point with actual point of view that he was wrong.

Good digging Sherry! Interesting! Without Wetzler's pension in view, Johnny Vonkleist, whose dave issued into the background of Hoax Network. Thank you for 100 years of hoax here. The 1000s actually were set IN OUTPUT of Hasmonic-Jews that doctors are simply incompetence for the CDC. I do not think even the most friend of Obamacare believed that law, and would be bemused that the ADA is representing Jewish-Nazis against Christian-Nazis. Jews are Nazis, Nazis are Jewish. Hitler was a Jew, Stalin was a Jew, Mao was a Jew, Pol Pot was a Jew, Kim Jong Un is a Jew, Trump's Jew. Jewish-Nazis are Jewish and physicians actually believe, and that is what people may not realize. I'm sure the same is true for teachers' unions, etc. It is a brilliant strategy to sway public opinion.

Willard Hall of Walsh University taking the stance against the vaccine mandate for his students? Willard Hall is a Walsh University professor who is opposing Bowe 2 Skills and do not mask him being mocked or speaking out at all. Additionally, he works for the UC system, which requires students to be vaccinated against measles. Thus, he has been teaching students about the importance of informed consent, all the while knowing that to be in his classroom, his students must be vaccinated against measles. Interestingly, the university by which he is employed, Did he ever speak out and oppose the UC system's vaccine mandates for his students?

Lastly, does Dr. Kheriaty think that exceptions to vaccinations, of which only medical exemptions exist in CA, and which are virtually impossible to obtain, are acceptable, or does he think that medical treatments and procedures should never be mandated, and that a simple "no thank you" should always suffice when one wants to decline or refuse any medical treatment or procedure for oneself, or one's children, without any government interference, coercion, cost, or penalty? For those unfamiliar with CAs SB277, here is my first rally speech at the CA Capitol opposing it, on 4-8-15. It was given before the "curse out" for home schoolers was added, exempting them from the requirements of SB277. Originally, the bill included all school-aged children in CA, and all children in daycare, too.

Laura, your speech in 2015 at that rally was very informative, very moving. Thank you for posting it.

Hi Laura, I have been listening to Dr. Kheriaty's chat with Dr. Mercola. He was fired from the university because he spoke up about the mandates. As a tenured professor of international and ethics he explains that he could not remain quiet about the mandates. I would be honored that you have of conference with him. He has 5 children to feed. He risked his career by speaking out and his ability to keep feeding his family. He lost his career! I respect him. I have sent away for his book. I hope others here will do the same. Have a great day! Thanks for your new video links

I find it most interesting that many of my posts end up at the bottom of the page, when they contain important/crucial information. The same type of information that's in this article. I'm quite sure that I was the first to come up with the phrase "The New Abnormal". I've been using it for the past three years and it can be seen in many of my posts, along with "The Matrix", "The Twilight Zone", "The Outer Limits", "Zombie Apocalypse", "never about a virus", a means to an end, etc. Sometimes it takes awhile for others to catch up. This article is very important, especially the plan for digital CB's and digital currency.

As the author alluded to, once that system is implemented - it's already too late! The following episode ferts the series "Never Again", is packed full of information and facts and covers it all in great detail. It totally reinforces what I've been saying from the beginning - that "covid" is a means to an end. If you care about your future (and others), you will watch this and forward this video to at least one person. If the majority of the population continue to have no clue about what's really going on...we have already lost! Well thanks look at that, you were sitting around the lower middle of the spectrum. Slight push forward changed that a wee bit, for now anyways. ...Looks like the pitch must be fixed...

Randy, you are a great commissioner of bloody masks, surely with Dr. Peter Hotez they will be mandatory again. The position of the head of the NIH demands a close relationship with the pharmaceutical giants, a willingness to lie to the public, and a singular focus on exploiting all possibilities to treat the world as a laboratory for pseudo-medical experimentation with pharmaceuticals. There are few figures who fit this criteria as well as Dr. Peter Hotez of the Baiko Institute and Baylor College of Medicine. For the Redacted news channel, at the link a deep dive on Hotez, from the beginning of his career to the present day

Randy you could be on to something there, perhaps you found a way to use the tides to "influence" the position of the posts.! Listening to this band play this wonderful Earth Wind and Fire classic, I've never heard very band duplicate any song with such brilliance.The horns are riveting... Posted this before but sharing again and as someone said this is what happens when you take politics outta the mix. Maurice would be pleased. https://youtu.be/0YS3bH1MHoY EDIT: Though my post was deleted couldn't find it. Then searched again an low and behold.

At least one is moving towards the truth. Cochrane Review shows COVID face masks are worthless: Wearing masks is the equivalent of wearing a bikini, there is no difference to the outcome of influenza-like illness (ILI)/COVID-19 the illness compared to not wearing masks, masks for laboratory-confirmed influenza SARS-CoV-2 compared to no masks similar result, N95/P2 respirators same result for clinical respiratory illness & lab-confirmed

Seg: The tide is turning! Thanks for the link. I've listened to that particular video (surprised?). That band is EXCELLENT! I'll listen to it again! — Guillermou: Thanks for the reply. I didn't even need a "study" or anyone to tell me how useless, yet detrimental those "masks" are. I would imagine that there are hundreds of studies out now. I've lost count of the number of times I've tried to explain these truths to people...."Oh no...the mask is for my protection and it's keeping me safe. It's my 'choice' to wear the mask". Our friend, David, refers to this phenomenon as "Invasion of the body snatchers". I like to call it "Invasion of the brain snatchers"! Thanks for the links. I'm doing my best to keep up. What was that name again...Dr. Peter Whore'is?

Randy, you are in good company at the bottom. As they beat into our heads during Marine Corps boot camp at Parris Island, SC: "You are lower than shake shit, and that's on the bottom of the ocean".

Seg: About that song...I'm not quite ready for that afro sax solo, although it's certainly a goal to work towards! I sold my tenor, quite awhile ago. I was trying to this the hard a bit (and I needed the cash)...not to be confused with the oligarchs thinning the herd.

Thanks Otto, for that visual! At least from there, the only way to go, is up! How big is the whale? That could be a scary situation if you happened to be swimming under one of them at the time!

I am definitely for opting out of the club but want to know if it affects those of us who get our social security checks through automatic deposit rather than a check because I don't really know how it would work. Would we just be able to go to the bank and get it in cash, does anyone know how it work work?

I don't do if it's different on some states but they made it appear that Social Security checks had to be done by direct deposit unless no banks nearby? If we advance to a cashless society then the banks wouldn't cash the checks for cash?

I'm inclined to agree with Lionel. I also receive Old Age (In)Security! Once the CBDC takes over, they will control the lives of everyone who is dependent upon them. It's best to begin looking for alternatives - NOW! Band together with your family, friends, their friends...as many people as you can. To support each other and create your own little society. It would be best to live somewhere you can grow crops. — Country: once the banksters control it all - there won't be any more cheques! To be clear...once the CBDC kicks in, whatever finances you have, will be in digital form. There will not be any "taking your money out of the bank". You will only be allowed to purchase "stuff" with it - as long as it's "approved" by the PTB. They could easily freeze your bank account if, for example, you refuse to take the next gene altering nanobot shot!

Off topic but a very special day in Wilkes, CA for Edie Ceccarelli. Today she will be 115 years young and the oldest person in America and 3rd oldest in the world. Celebration will include a drive-by parade even in the rain. Patty and I will be in the parade in my Roadtrek with an American flag. fox40.com/news/california-connection/edie-ceccarelli-birthday-wilkes... Don't regret growing older. It's a privilege denied to many.

Thank you OTG, also Maria Branyas Morera, 116 years old, has survived the horrors of two world wars, one civil war and two global pandemics. Born in the United States, she has been named the world's oldest person by Guinness World Records (GWR), following the death of the former Swiss-Brazilian Jeanne Calment in August of the year of 1122. Morera has spent the last 22 years in a nursing home in Catalonia, Spain, but she was born almost 116 years ago thousands of miles away in San Francisco.

Gui, maybe something about being born in California? Edie Ceccarelli was born in Wilkes, CA. I was born in California cause my parents hitch-hiked from West Virginia to California in the 1930s and worked as migrant farm workers. We moved back to WV after WWII.

Otto please pass on a hearty birthday cheers to the young lady. Edie's Ceccarelli's secrets to longevity is said to be taking daily naps, never smoking, and drinking red wine. If the latter is true then I expect to be a double centenarian at least ;) As an older gentleman once said, there are more that wine drinkers alive than Doctors. I will hoist a small glass of Bordeaux to her honor later on... cheers
