STORY AT-A-GLANCE

- "Shadowgate" reveals how a "shadow government" is manipulating society from behind the scenes and using psychological warfare tactics against the American public
- Democrats and Republicans are equally guilty of covering up an even bigger scandal than the fact that Obama's administration illegally spied on and tried to frame President Trump and others using manufactured evidence
- The shadow government consists of government contractors and defense and intelligence officials who are stealing the personal data collected by the NSA on all Americans, and have privatized and weaponized its use
- "Shadowgate" features two whistleblowers who have spent many years helping to develop the psychological warfare programs that are now directed at the American people and used to influence our elections
- We can protect our freedoms, first by rejecting and abandoning companies like Google and Facebook, which are the largest data collectors and manipulators; second, by promoting and aiding in the effort to expose Big Tech's manipulations; and third, by restructuring legislatures and the government, and establishing new civil society institutions and news media that support and promote freedom rather than censorship and control

Most people have never even heard and there's a reason for that. Technocrats have worked in the proverbial shadows for decades, trying to implement a grand economic plan that is global in scope. To beat them, we must be just as persistent in our efforts to implement a "whole-of-society" plan of action that leads to freedom, and I firmly believe we can.

While technocracy is an economic system and not a political system in and of itself, it does require the undermining and erosion of the democratic system of governance. This is particularly true for the United States, as our Constitution is a major barrier to the implementation of technocracy.

The documentary above, "Shadowgate," is produced and narrated by Millie Weaver, an independent journalist and contributing reporter to Infowars. Coincidentally, Weaver and her boyfriend, Gavin Wince, were arrested shortly after posting a trailer of the film online, announcing its release.[1]

According to Basin Report[2] and News 5 Cleveland,[3] Weaver and Wince were both charged with "robbery (second-degree felony), tampering with evidence (third-degree felony), obstructing justice (fifth-degree felony), and domestic violence." According to the Portage County Sheriff's Office, the secret indictment against Weaver and Wince was filed July 20, 2020.

'Shadowgate'

"Shadowgate," while banned on YouTube, is available on alternative non-censoring sites such as Bitchute and Banned.video. The film reveals how a "shadow government" is manipulating society from behind the scenes and using psychological warfare tactics against the American public.

> "What if I were to tell you that a small group of government contractors were hired by government officials to frame the Trump campaign, set him up for the Russia Collusion investigation, provided witnesses for the impeachment hearings, and provided administrative support services to the Department of Justice during the Mueller investigation?
> And what if it just so happened that this same group of contractors are behind the fake news in mainstream media, influence operations on social media, and the civil unrest nationwide, pushing the defund the police movement? The Obamagate scandal only scratches the surface," Weaver says at the start of the film.[4] "Talk about a cover story. What really happened is much more alarming."

According to Weaver, both parties — Democrats and Republicans — are equally guilty of covering up an even bigger scandal than the fact that Obama's administration illegally spied on and tried to frame President Trump and a number of other individuals using manufactured evidence.

"Shadowgate" reveals what Weaver claims is the tactical and operational role that the shadow government played behind the scenes to carry out the attempted coup.

It's the things that spy novels and movies are made of, for sure. YouTube, which pulled the film almost as soon as it was uploaded, claims it violates the channel's policy on hate speech. I urge you to watch it and decide for yourself whether YouTube was justified in taking it down.

According to a Spiro Skouras summary on YouTube, the film "showcases two whistleblowers who allege there is a secretive network of government contractors which consists of government and military insiders (both current and former) who have 'back door' access to intelligence agencies and all of the information that they collect on everyone including politicians and how this information is used to blackmail powerful people to control them."

The film also "alleges that military psychological warfare programs are being used against the people primarily through the mainstream corporate media and social media to control the population." As noted by Weaver, "The information presented in this video should concern people of all political affiliations."

Who Are the Real 'Puppet Masters'?

While many career politicians are certainly part of the so-called shadow government, the real puppet masters behind it all are people that most of us are unfamiliar with. These are the individuals Weaver focuses on in her film. The real shadow government, Weaver says, consists of government contractors and defense and intelligence officials.

> "[Government] contractors have used their connections, power and influence to create an unprecedented international criminal enterprise where blackmail is traded and people's personal data is gold." ~ Millie Weaver

But just how could a shadow government arise in the first place? According to Weaver, the reason they've managed to operate in the shadows and gain power for so long is because most of the actual work in government is done by subcontractors. This way, Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) requests aimed at government departments turn up very little out of the ordinary. The real "dirt" remains hidden in the archives of "contractors in clandestine networks."

> "These contractors have used their connections, power and influence to create an unprecedented international criminal enterprise," Weaver says, "where blackmail is traded and people's personal data is gold."

Whistleblower Tore's Story

"Shadowgate" features two whistleblowers: Tore, a linguist and Navy intelligence contractor, and Patrick Bergy, a cyber security officer and Army PSYOP program developer. Tore claims to have been approached by people who worked for John O. Brennan while she was undergoing her Naval specialist training.

She was initially recruited into The Analysis Corporation's (TAC) electronic warfare program, run by Brennan, which later morphed into information warfare. According to Tore, she worked with intelligence agencies that were privately created and run.

In other words, they were not, and are not, official parts of government. "Unlike what most people think, our intelligence doesn't stay within our borders or within federal buildings," she says. Tore worked on something called "localization strategy," which involves finding a group of people (an organization, city, entire country or religious group, for example) and "getting into their mind."

The object is to figure out how they behave, how they think, what pushes them into certain actions and so on. This information is then used to manipulate them in ways that will further your own particular product, agenda or ideology.

The collection of information on individuals goes far beyond what most people can imagine. As explained by Tore, the information is so detailed, it can be easily used to blackmail or hurt just about anyone.

As an example, if they know you have an old hockey injury, they know where to hit you in order to cause the most pain and damage, were a physical attack to be ordered against you.

They also know what you fear most, and who the people are in your social circle, and who might be best able to influence you. Tore claims she actually helped train the algorithms for the program Bergy developed, using these localization strategies.

Whistleblower Patrick Bergy's Story

For eight years, Bergy worked for the Dynology Corporation, owned by former President Obama's national security adviser, Gen. James Jones. Bergy worked directly under the General's son, Jim Jones. From 2007 to 2010, Bergy's primary focus was the development of interactive internet activity capabilities, including hacking capabilities.

He also claims to have worked on information operations, so-called "influence operations." Like Tore, Bergy worked on intelligence operations run by private companies. ShadowNet is the commercial version of an interactive internet activities (IIA) weapon, which Bergy developed.

Fake news, false news stories and the falsified dossier used to frame the Trump campaign are all characteristic of IIA, which Bergy refers to as "social media psychological warfare." According to Bergy, Dynology has been conducting IIA operations for the Department of Defense since 2007.

The ShadowNet program Bergy developed was based on the localization strategies that Tore worked on. As explained by Bergy, it can very effectively control large groups of people by pushing the right hot-buttons. The COVID-19 hysteria and Black Lives Matter riots are two real-world examples of what this kind of PSYOP program can accomplish, Bergy says.

Interestingly, while these kinds of psychological operations were initially conducted by individual operators or agents, much of it has since been taken over by artificial intelligence, which executes the programming based on the behavioral profile targets the programmer selects.

As noted by Bergy, with enough information about any given individual, you can predict how they will react to a given stimulus with a high degree of accuracy. So, has this technology been used to influence American elections? According to Bergy, yes.

While American tax payers paid for the development of the program, Dynology holds the intellectual property and has been using it against the American people for years, propping up certain politicians and undermining others.

How the Shadow Intelligence Apparatus Works

As explained in the film, Section 702 of the Foreign Surveillance Act allows government to spy on American citizens with a warrant from the foreign intelligence surveillance (FISA) court.

The upstream data collected by the NSA on all Americans is only stored for 72 hours before being dumped. We're talking about all phone calls, texts, emails, social media interactions, online activity, facial and voice recognition data and much more, of all Americans.

But what's actually happening is that this data stream is being duplicated, stored indefinitely and privatized by companies such as the Global Strategies Group, Clearforce and the Canadian Global Information (CGI) Group.

The Global Strategies Group is a hub for this information, according to Tore. So, while these companies claim to be consulting firms, they're not actually consulting at all. They're stealing everyone's data and using it against us in psychological operations designed to move society in one direction or another.

Tore claims she worked for Brennan at The Analysis Corporation and the Global Strategies Group, and that she conducted what were later described as "hacks" at the request of higher-ups. According to Tore, Brennan's modus operandi is that when he wants a piece of information about someone — or if he wants to alter data relating to a target — he simply blames it on hackers.

According to the whistleblowers featured in this film, these privatized intelligence companies helped get Barack Obama elected using sophisticated internet influence operations.

The film also reviews a variety of other scandals that have emerged, and how the truth has been spun and covered up, including the illegal "hacking" and surveillance of the U.S. Congress, which occurred while Brennan was director of the CIA.

Private Intelligence Companies Dictate the News

Have you ever wondered who creates the talking points being regurgitated across dozens if not hundreds of news outlets on a daily basis? According to Bergy, this is the work of this network of privatized intelligence companies, utilizing tools such as ShadowNet.

When asked whether IIA has been used against President Trump, Bergy replies, "Absolutely." According to Bergy, the Steele dossier was manufactured and used as a weapon to frame Trump and remove him from office.

Tore agrees. They have been and continue to use military-grade psychological warfare tactics against the president. She also discusses the IIA strategies employed in an effort to get Hillary Clinton elected.

Backdoor Access to All Data

According to Tore, she had backdoor access to all data and has personally viewed the kind of data collected on political figures. She's also seen how that illegal data collection is used.

If someone steps out of line, it's used to blackmail them back into lockstep with whatever the agenda might be. And, according to Tore, deep state shadow government actors are equally spread between the two political parties of the United States.

She also claims the Cambridge Analytica scandal was an IIA operation to make it appear as though Russia helped Trump win the election. This way, the Russia collusion hoax narrative would "stick" better. In reality, the PSYOP was conducted by the privatized intelligence network.

There's a lot to digest in this film, but I urge you to set aside the hour and a half to do so. It answers many questions, revealing how government contractors are subverting our justice and political systems to further their own hidden aims. At the heart of it all is Gen. Jones.

According to Tore and Bergy, Jones, who heads up Clearforce, took ShadowNet and made it what it is today — a PSYOPs weapon used against the American people and the shadow government's enemies.

Jones is also the chairman of the board of the Atlantic Council, and according to Bergy, one of the first things he did after being appointed chairman was to enter the Atlantic Council into a partnership with Facebook "to restore election integrity worldwide."

In other words, Facebook is partnered with the owner of ShadowNet, one of the greatest PSYOP weapons in the world. To think this partnership will actually prevent election interference would be delusional, as its purpose is to do the complete opposite.

The Ultimate Surveillance State Is Near Completion

"More stuff is fake and fabricated now, in the news, than is actually real," Bergy says. The reason for this is because IIA is in full force. As explained by Tore, IIA is essentially an AI program that tells you what you need to do, what message you need to put out, in order to get a specific outcome. It's now running continuously.

Similar technology is even being used to undermine our judicial system. According to Tore and Bergy, a program will select jurors most likely to either acquit or find a defendant guilty (depending on the desired outcome).

While jury selection process is supposed to be random, it's not. From that initial pool, jurors are then selected by the attorneys. But they were all non-randomly preselected in the first place, based on their proclivities, ways of thinking and behaving, and their belief systems. And, the data used to make that selection was siphoned from the NSA by these private intelligence companies.

"This is the biggest and boldest move toward the ultimate surveillance state ever made, and it's near completion," Weaver says, noting that in order to effectively micromanage the surveillance and manipulation of the global population, the technology must be integrated with AI and the Internet of Things, and that is already underway.

Part of the plan is to automate policing using robots and other technologies. According to Weaver, this may be why there's now such a strong push to defund police departments across the U.S. This would allow the shadow government players to directly benefit by offering up new AI technologies to take over police functions.

Again, I hope you take the time to watch "Shadowgate." Then, if you haven't done so already, listen to my interview with Patrick Wood, featured in "The Pressing Dangers of Technocracy." It's really crucial for everyone to start wrapping their minds around what's happening, and what's in store for us if we don't fight back and demand the restoration of privacy, both online and off.

Time to Break the IIA Programming

The good news is, there's still time to break the IIA programming. How do we do it? First, by rejecting and abandoning the surveillance state's primary data collection centers — Google and Facebook. Both have tremendous, hidden surveillance powers, act as censoring agencies for the technocratic cabal, and have the power to manipulate public opinion en masse.

For example, Robert Epstein, Ph.D., has demonstrated that Google has the ability to shift voting preferences among undecided voters by a whopping 48% to 63%, and the power to determine 25% of global elections. What's more, this manipulation is entirely undetectable and untraceable. Epstein is now working to make Google's manipulations transparent, through an organization called Feed the Watchdogs.

They have more than 13,000 watchdogs who monitor Big Tech for election bias 24/7 by collecting the ephemeral data that Google and other Big Tech companies are sending out to manipulate voters. You can help in this indispensable work by making a one-time or recurrent donation. For just $25, you can sponsor one month of data collecting.

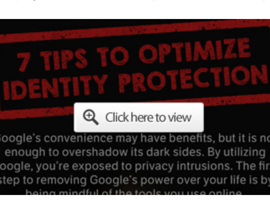
At the time of this writing, Feed the Watchdogs had captured nearly 80,000 pages sent by Google, Facebook, YouTube and others to manipulate Americans. As their tactics become provable and more well-known, they'll have little choice but to quit. Of course, I believe the best strategy is to ditch them all before then.

Say Goodbye to Google

Quitting Facebook is a simple enough affair. Just cancel your account. Evading Google, however, can be a bit more complicated, as their products span a wide range of products. For a comprehensive purge, be sure to eliminate all of the following:

Google Chrome browser — Uninstall Google Chrome and use Brave or Opera instead. Everything you do on Chrome is surveilled, including keystrokes and every webpage you've ever visited. Brave is a great alternative that takes privacy seriously.
Google search engine — Stop using Google search engines or any extension of Google, such as Bing or Yahoo, both of which draw search results from Google. Instead, use a default search engine that offers privacy, such as Presearch, Startpage, DuckDuckGo, Qwant and many others.
Gmail — Close your Gmail account and switch to a secure email service like ProtonMail. If you have children, don't transfer their student Google account into a personal account once they're out of school.
Google Docs — Ditch Google Docs and use another alternative such as Zoho Office, Etherpad, CryptPad, OnlyOffice or Nuclino, all of which are recommended by NordVPN.[5]
Google apps — Delete all Google apps from your phone and purge Google hardware. Better yet, get a de-Googled phone. Several companies now offer them, including Above Phone.
Avoid websites that use Google Analytics — To do that, you'll need to check the website's privacy policy and search for "Google." Websites are required to disclose if they use a third-party surveillance tool. If they use Google Analytics, ask them to switch!
Google Home — Don't use Google Home devices in your house or apartment. These devices record everything that occurs in your home, both speech and sounds such as brushing your teeth and boiling water, even when they appear to be inactive, and send that information back to Google. The same goes for Google's home thermostat Nest and Amazon's Alexa.
Android cell phones — Don't use an Android cellphone, as it's owned by Google.
Siri — Ditch Siri, which draws all its answers from Google.
Fitbit — Don't use Fitbit, as it has been purchased by Google and will provide them with all your physiological information and activity levels, in addition to everything else that Google already has on you.

Additional tips to protect your privacy are included in the following graphic, such as making sure you're using a secure messaging system and virtual private network (VPN) for your web searches.



Building a Whole-of-Society Solution

In addition to getting yourself (and as many of your friends and family as possible) off Google and Facebook, we also need to build a society that values freedom above all.

According to the Department of Homeland Security, misinformation online is a whole-of-society problem that requires a whole-of-society solution. By that, they mean that four types of institutions must fuse together as a seamless whole:

1. Government institutions, which provide funding and coordination.
2. Private sector institutions that do the censorship and dedicate funds to censorship through corporate-social responsibility programs.
3. Civil society institutions (universities, NGOs, academia, foundations, nonprofits and activists) that do the research, the spying and collecting of data that are then given to the private sector to censor.
4. News media/fact checking institutions, which put pressure on institutions, platforms and businesses to comply with the censorship demands.

To effectively combat the globalist technocrats' takeover, we need to do the same. Here, an organization called Foundation for Freedom Online (FFO) comes to the rescue.

FFO educates people about this structure, and the ways in which legislatures and the government can be restructured, how civil society institutions can be established, and how news media can be created to support and promote freedom rather than censorship. To learn how you can be part of the solution, check out foundationforfreedomonline.com.

I firmly believe that we can turn this situation around, if for no other reason than the fact that there are some eight billion of us who want freedom, while those who seek to enslave us number in the thousands, or tens of thousands at the most. Either way, they're clearly outnumbered.

But we need to spread the word, and help our friends and family understand how important our decisions are. We either support the network that seeks to take our freedom, or the network that seeks to protect it.

The Power of Choice

Lastly, I encourage you to seek Joy. At the end of the day, that's what life is all about. It's all too easy to fall into the trap of feeling like the sky is falling. What we're facing is serious, yes. But we can overcome it. And, I believe that Joy-seeking may be a crucial component to winning.

Why? Because when you focus on what brings you Joy, everything else falls into place. New ideas arise. New solutions. And that's precisely what we need. We need a world full of joyful, inspired people who are living their dreams, and in so doing, end up bringing new solutions to the world.

In China, you cannot change the party, but you can change the policies. In Western democracies, you can change the party, but you cannot change the policies. (Pinched from a comment section on different site.) Today's report explains why this is most likely so. You can take their 'medicine' off of the Left Side of tray, or off the Right Side of the tray, but it is all the same medicine coming out and from the same source. (On a personal level the Gut isn't so sure about the China changing much on policies though.

Seems like things change there only if there are no choices left.) Here the Power Brokers, Legacy Media are crowing this one or that one rose the most money today. No real effort to engage in policies to heal, or improve anything to Earn your vote. Lot's of money to buy your vote so you can get the same policy bought and brought to the Political Lick Spittle Lap Dogs from 'different sides' promoting the same thing but sounding and looking different while delivering the same results.

Yes, Just, neither red nor blue, the Big Capital lobbies run the world. Everything as a consequence of the "fake news" campaign is about establishing a news network commanded by the state, as Dr. Mercola has expressed "the truth of the state" a deep state full of interests for a devastating technocracy . Despotic leaders can only stay in power by hiding the truth of what they are doing from the people they rule. There can be no meaningful democracy if there is only one centrally managed and tyrannically controlled source of information. Missouri Attorney General Eric Schmitt alleged that the FBI colluded with Big Tech giants to suppress the Hunter Biden laptop story and "put their thumb on the scale" of the US election.

"This is a story of the federal government, with all its vast power and authority, colluding with some of the largest companies in the history of the world to censor Americans, to put its thumb on the scale... of what is out there, what people can actually read and know before an election," Schmitt said. www.theepochtimes.com/fbi-colluded-with-big-tech-to-censor-americans-a.. (12/2022). As long as we have the lobbies there will be corruption. Large technology and media companies contribute to and manage the advancement of society, with enormous amounts of money to invest and managing billions of data. Not only do they cause tremendous damage with their interventions, which most of the time sabotage the market and competition, it also means giving up a productive contribution to the material progress of society.

Lobbies try to influence politicians to change the laws in their favor, and many times their work consists not so much in directly pressuring, but in generating a state of opinion in society that causes political authorities to be inclined to what they want. they look for. In short, the function of these lobbies, their business, is to remove those at the bottom to give the money to those at the top. It is clear that the way corporations influence our US government is having a terrible effect on the health of humanity.

Yes Gui, it is why it has mattered very little throughout the ages whatever 'ism' was in play on the surface. Globalist Puppet Masters are pulling the strings off stage, out of sight. Then in those occasions when SHTF the puppets are the ones to be served all the heat, and the Puppet Masters sit quietly until the next round to advance their desires.

To the question how are we to know what is or may not be just more psyops? A good place to start is what they say is less important as to what they actually Do. A case in point. Here is another example of the forces engaged in another way but similar to the Amish Amos Miller Case. The narrator sounds like he may not have yet made the connection of Corporate Takeover - Fascist Takeover of Govt's, along with Central Banks, Hedge Funds, WEF and other shadowy organizations. What is of most importance is watch how chapter and verse rules and regulations supposedly making large industrial Factory Operations product safer, to protect the public are being piggybacked - High Jacked, to actually destroy the real, honest competition of the Small Farmer, Market Farmer.

When those who grow small, locally, especially Biodynamic Regenerative actually repair, regenerate, clean, help prevent the problem the enormous CAFO operations produce. Industrial Farm Operations can not compete with Quality Human Scaled efforts and resort to legal maneuvering, large Quantities of product Subsidized, to shut them down.

In the clip is shown how many farms have been shut down. What may also be occurring is the Big Money Outfits have cannibalized the small ones so for shareholders the claim is more market share, when the actual number of dinner plates hasn't changed at all. Also Robert F. Kennedy Jr. (RFK Jr.) accused the mainstream media (MSM) of acting as "propaganda organs" for government agencies. He made this accusation during an appearance on the "Lex Fridman Podcast," adding that the MSM played a major role in an "organized conspiracy" by censoring anyone who questioned the narrative. "In fact, I think the entire field of journalism has been embarrassed in recent years," he told Fridman. "If you look at what happened during the pandemic, it was the opposite of that type of journalism." "The major press organs of this country...

were broadcasting propaganda. They became propaganda organs for government agencies. In effect, they were censoring the speech of anyone who disagreed, of those who have no power." According to the presidential candidate, the role of the media is to speak truth to power and safeguard the freedom of expression guaranteed by the First Amendment. When the media colludes with powerful entities to manipulate public opinion, they become an instrument of authoritarian government.

Presidential candidate Robert F. Kennedy Jr. hosted an insightful food and agriculture roundtable with regenerative farmers who are working hard to develop an alternative agricultural model for the United States. According to Kennedy, passing laws protecting factory farms, manipulating subsidy programs, and forming crucial partnerships with factory farmers helped greedy companies like Smithfield dominate the pork and chicken industries. In turn, these companies gradually turned the remaining family farmers into "indentured servants on their own lands," Kennedy added.

Wayne Swanson, owner of Swanson Family Farm and small farm consultant, explained why it is crucial to grow localized agricultural economies and make small farms economically viable. He said for the project to work, the public must be educated about how to value agriculture that is not always high-yield or aesthetically beautiful. Instead, Swanson said the focus should be on valuing relationships and environmental and community health. childrenshealthdefense.org/defender/rfk-jr-food-farming-policy-roundta.. (2023)

Excellent input Gui. What are we to make of the 1% with all the resources at their fingertips cannot abide the general population to observe, discuss, share as best we can among one another as best we can with what we have lived, known? Are they that fragile they cannot stand a strayed different opinion? Their massive all One Pipeline of Everything and Anything they can convert into a commodity can't stand on its own unless it completely destroys any trace of any other means for a population to deliver the goods? In a sense, their Social Chemotherapy is destroying far beyond whatever keeps them up nights thinking it is cancer. Just sayn'

More than one insightful mind from decades or centuries ago called today's happenings. "After having thus successively taken each member of the community in its powerful grasp and fashioned him at will, the supreme power then extends its arm over the whole community. It covers the surface of society with a network of small complicated rules, minute and uniform, through which the most original minds and the most energetic characters cannot penetrate, to rise above the crowd. The will of man is not shattered, but softened, bent, and guided; men are seldom forced by it to act, but they are constantly restrained from acting. Such a power does not destroy, but it prevents existence; it does not tyrannize, but it compresses, enervates, extinguishes, and stupefies a people, till each nation is reduced to nothing better than a flock of timid and industrious animals, of which the government is the shepherd." —French historian Alexis de Tocqueville (1805-1859)

If individual #1bans everything google or android, that is no protection unless every other single person that individual #1 comes into contact by phone or digitally with does the same. One would have to become an anti-social, non-functioning hermit to get protection by boycotting google. The genie has been let out of the bottle. There have been many times that a customer service person for one essential service or another that now conducts business only online has told me a particular computer problem I am having is because I am not using google chrome and to try that. When I tell them I do not use chrome for security reasons, they respect that but sound baffled.

Are corporations really going to stop using chrome because customers and first level customer service people cannot fix a computer communication problem because chrome was not being used. Think of every phone call made, every keystroke made, daily. Everyone on the other side would have to boycott google at the same time to not infect each other. The same for vpn's. If individual #1 uses one but the person on the other side of any communication does not, what is the use, person #1 is not protected.

Problem is, people feel being a hermit or anti social is giving up on the internet and living in the woods. Think about all of us who lived in the 80-90s, not much internet. When we wanted to get a point across or tell people about a candidate, when we wanted to play a "game", when we wanted to chat with someone. We did so by either meeting up, asking them for dinner, meeting at the park or local field to play. No one wants socializing to be face to face. They want it to be all online, via phone, facebook, emails, texts, etc. maybe we just need to start talking with people face to face and this would definitely slow their agenda down. Imho

I agree completely and this story could be a perfect example. Clearly we all are subject to manipulation and control for fun and profit by big tech and the national security establishment. Then add the trials of #45 to spice up the narrative and you think up is down and down is up.

Good point, Liz. My all time favourite cartoon is one depicting the Amish being asked how come they are not affected by the "plandemic". The reply was "we don't have television" - the implication being, that without the media, nobody would even know about the supposed pandemic. Mainstream media became a weapon of war. That virtual cabin in the woods now looks ever more attractive. Without the world wide web, the whole psyops agenda would be a non-starter. Poor old Adolf had only radio, newspapers, public marches and thuggery to enforce his ideology. Divide and rule, divide and conquer, fear-mongering about anything from deadly viruses to climate change will keep the population controlled, compliant and confused. But the best weapon of all is lies. The mantra "keeping you safe" is everywhere from banking websites to railway stations. www.youtube.com/watch

I was sick and tired and exhausted trying to figure out the truth from the lies. I came across a systems science course which I completed to satisfy a personal development goal for my employer, but it turned out to be quite an eye-opening experience, an epiphany of sortso. What I learned is that system's science is what the shadow government uses to effectively manipulate people. People like Kissinger and Soros use systems science. Soros wrote the reflexivity theory that is a detailed account of how systems work. Once you understand the principles of a dumb vs.

smart system, you can no longer be fooled. It becomes crystal clear and it is elegantly simple. The shadow government uses a smart system composed of 9 parts. One of the key parts to understand is "disturbance" because that is the psyop part you refer to. The elegant part of system's science is how it breaks things downs into their component parts in a scientific, non-emotional way, to reveal the truth. Truth = Freedom from the mind-f&^k psyops. There is a way to ferret out the truth from the lies and once you see it, you cannot unsee it.

Whatamaroon, Thanks for this .I too am exhausted and tired of losing friends and watching people die unnecessarily. This course you mentioned can be found on the internet. Of course if you go back to the master; Edward Bernays, & his infamous book Propaganda ; this helps perspective.Everything I see or hear in the news or online I question and that is "who stands to benefit the most from this?" Always follow the money and try to teach your children & grands how to think analytically & not just react or believe everything they hear or their friends believe.

Lizschneider53, I agree with your suspicion that this "Shadow Gate" so called documentary is a fake for the following reasons: 1. It is full of generalities without evidence. 2. The narrative talk is interspersed with irrelevant video snips and background music meant to support an emotional response. 3. There is something fishy about the practiced demeanor of the two whistle blowers, Tore and Patrick. 4. None of the assertions are backed up by evidence. Could be as you write that this a false flag psyops tactic. Disappointing that the comments so far were so positive about this film.

As a good example, recently posted on Twitter X - about Narrative Scaffolding - - the term for posting information to support a specific narrative and having it repeated across a lot of platforms; not long after, it becomes part of the narrative (thus the name, duh!). Interesting examples are shown as was used against us during covid. Reposted by Brett Weinstein and explained in a series of tweets by Alexandros Marinos below: x.com/.../1771320028585152705 - click the tweet and scroll down.

All laid out in Stan Deyo' s " Cosmic Conspiracy " Ex CIA in early 70s He was " banished " to my home State of West Australia. Been following events since then including the war on public health (been a multi gym owner and fitness adviser since then) All going to plan. Just discovered the most informed individual since then, Dr Courtney Brown. Amazing and accurate information of the most advanced details, including Alien interaction. Explains it all.

We are way ahead in Thought Police activity here in the UK. From April 1st (All Fools Day) it will become illegal to think wrongly even in the privacy of your own home, which of course is not private anyway, depending on Alexa, Facebook and your personal internet devices. Local police have received training on how to deal with the heinous crime of voicing an opinion, just when we thought the Snowflake generation were growing up and learning how not to be offended by words. Meanwhile, real crime investigation such as burglary is said to be at an all time low, as police are overwhelmed arresting egg carrying bystanders at Royal processions. Not clear who will report you to the police for wrong-think - your own kids perhaps?

Shades of Nahzism everywhere. Should I report (retrospectively) Humza's rant against white people, which Musk described as "blatantly racist"? https://youtu.be/NcqOE6sspmA . "Quitting Facebook is a simple enough affair. Just cancel your account." Not so, I'm afraid. Having "cancelled" my account several decades ago, I still receive notifications of content from other members whose accounts are linked to my email address. Bottom line - your account cannot be cancelled unless you change your identity, email address etc. www.legislation.gov.uk/.../introduction; www.scottishlegal.com/articles/police-scotland-readies-itself-for-acti..

Wow, who needs shadow government, when you already have the Nahzis in power? How did this b.s. get passed by what a well-known comedian called "a wee pretendy parliament", let alone this bonkers legislation being approved by royal assent? I hope the police do come to my abode with a search warrant. I will be pleased to inform them and show damning evidence and a long list what I am offended by:- (1) I am offended by two unelected leaders in power (elected only by their comrades) whose culture is at odds with that of their constituents, one of whom is openly racist, the other an associate of an openly hostile NGO whose main agenda is depopulation.

(2) I am offended by a series threatening and abusive letters from a branch of government known as the Licensing Authority on behalf of British Broadcasting Corporation because I do not have a licence to watch television. (3) I am offended by my local government authority turning a once beautiful city centre into a tourist theme park, hamburger joint, tacky fun fair, discouraging tax-paying local residents from the city centre (4) I am offended by written penalties in the unrelenting efforts of local UK governments to criminalise and penalise bona fide motorists who have paid their road tax and ensured their vehicles are roadworthy.

(5) I am offended by local government building control riding roughshod over well organised petitions to stop over-concentration of student apartment blocks. (6) I am offended by the first Minister of Scotland's racist rant against white people. White lives matter. (7) I am offended by uncontrolled immigration and allocation of resources to illegal immigrants. (8) I am offended by the infiltration of governments by NGOs. Need I go on?

Yes, Cabochon, not easy getting off of FB. Much easier to find alternate search engines. This is for you and everyone: Ivor Cummins posted this 2 days ago, gets into details with a British accent, behind the climate hoax (while billions of dollars already squandered in Chinese manufactured goods, nevermind carbon taxes aimed to destroy the economies of all developed nations,), covers "there is no climate emergency: issue from the view of top scientists on both sides of the pond, "Free Movie Time: Superb watch and explains EVERYTHING on Climate!" - - youtu.be/p4vSMj4R5Rg - - takes time to digest. 77k views already, others have posted on Bitchute and maybe Rumble. Over the weekend.

Thanks, rrealrose. The link to the Climate b.s. movie has appeared on various websites and I had included it in my reply to Lizschneider53 below. But the more the merrier! if as many as possible view it. The climate lie is the basis for all other lies about your "carbon footprint", CO2 driving climate change, Nut Zero and all the other made up "science" that is swallowed by the gullible and misinformed hangers on wishing to keep in with the establishment as well as of course the supermarkets etc trying to make an extra buck or two. When you tell a lie, you must make it a really big one in order to capture the majority. I was horrified to find it is accepted by some very influential companies/educators selling natural health products, but I suspect they are just following the narrative to keep officialdom happy and off their backs. Let's spread the link far and wide. I will be sending it to the IPCC for starters.

Cabochon and Katy69 - oh you are so correct - I too am so offended by Humaz Scotland's unelected first minister ruining Scotland with his rants laws and new Hate Law coming into force in April. Also the UK government's unelected Prime Minister ignoring the suffering of the vaccine injured and all the other misdeeds the politicians are responsible for, but never held to account. The UK King a member of the WEF pushing the New World Order. i am offended by the poverty caused by the Covidcon19 expenditure. Their war against the farmers. And so it goes on and on.

The system has been corrupt since 1861 at least. We lost our republic when the southern states seceded and it has never been restored. The big question is, who or what is behind this grand conspiracy? It obviously controls a massive number of people. In my opinion, the best way to oppose it is to not participate, or participate as little as possible. We cannot vote our way out of this.

It is so hard to understand how so many people believe everything the major news media says no matter how much of it is proven wrong! And it's not just the major news. Some Independent channels that use to talk about how much of what the news media tells us is not true or not the full context given that NOW believes what comes out of the major news especially about Covid and seems to be great fans of them now. You would think once it was proven that they were wrong telling us the vaccines stops transmission and people can't get the virus if they get the vaccine would wake more people up but too many still think all was right with the vaccines.

Even Trump still talks about how great it is. Not the only reason I don't support him but sure is one of them. I am not a Biden supporter, either. My vote goes to the one that has fought corp corruption for MANY YEARS AND WON! Nope, he's not perfect and I don't agree with him on everything but that record tells me Kennedy, Jr. will do what he says and what he says most of it I agree with.

A correct vote. A great independent president is needed to fight for freedom. As long as we have the lobbies there will be corruption. The rules of the game have not changed much, in fact they have been strengthened: influencing so that the information is what fits the pharmaceutical lobby and dictating laws that benefit those in power. Therefore, any interest group longs to hire those who achieve "results." People who dedicate their lives to seeking political rents represent an enormous opportunity cost. The most important lobbies correspond to influential economic sectors. We know a lot about the health/pharmaceutical lobby: one of the items with the highest spending in any public budget is Health and it is where corruption is caught with transfers of large sums of money as we are seeing with the "vaccines" in the decisions of the mandates and recommendations and as has been seen in many decades with drugs and all types of medications while alternative medicines were evicted by the Rockefeller school.

Large technology and media companies contribute to and manage the advancement of society, with enormous amounts of money to invest and managing billions of data. Not only do they cause tremendous damage with their interventions, which most of the time sabotage the market and competition, it also means giving up a productive contribution to the material progress of society.

Lobbies try to influence politicians to change the laws in their favor, and many times their work consists not so much in directly pressuring, but in generating a state of opinion in society that causes political authorities to be inclined to what they want. they look for. In short, the function of these lobbies, their business, is to remove those at the bottom to give the money to those at the top. It is clear that the way corporations influence our US government is having a terrible effect on the health of humanity.

40+ years to be exact. Your are right ;it is what they do & not what they say. RFK jr knows the political games and has fought the corporations successfully for the benefit of the people.He is fit and sharp minded and pulls no punches. Nobody really likes either choice we have for this election which is why we want to overturn the apple cart and give people another choice by getting Bobby on the ballot in all fifty states. I am collecting signatures in SC which is a red state but most of those under age 45 are excited to support him which is encouraging. We can all do this if we get involved even a little bit. Biden will not give him secret service protection despite several attempts on his life already so he is also brave to do this but feels it is his duty. The establishment [deep state] is terrified of him. You cannot even mention his name or website on any social media or yahoo comment boards or you are banned; truth be damned.

With technology the censorship has increased, but the power structure has always employed propaganda and censorship to maintain power.RFK jr talks about how in the fifties and sixties everything was better we had real democracy. He sees the assassination of Kennedy as a turning point. Well Linus Pauling was way before Kennedy . When he was demonstrating against the testing of the nuclear bombs he had his passport taken away. Linus Pauling was one of the few men to recieve two Nobel Prizes on his own , no collaborators. Well I knew someone who was Walter Cronkite's assistant and he told me he told me he was sitting next to Walter Chronite when Walter Chronkite told in a braodcast to the CBS affiliates "Don't let Pauling on the air , if you do you will be droped from the network".

Linus Pauling started ortho molecular medicine way before Doctor Mercola ever got on the internet. It is now called functional medicine. In Japan they know their history and they have 30,000 ortho molecular medicine doctors. In this counry there are less than 500. Again many of Paulings concepts (no drugs) have been talen over by functional medicine doctors Walter Chronkite was called the most trusted man in America _ what a joke.

Every newspaper in the country supported the war in Viet Nam . The lie was only exposed when I F Stone published how the Unites States provoked the War in the Bay Of Tonkin incident. Stone got the Pulitzer Prize for his work. Numerous books have been written about the proganda and censorship in the past. The only difference is now the media is more consolidated and the technology is much more powerful

Don't be fooled by the deep state hates trump. Probably everything in the documentry is basicaly true but this is not the top of the food chain . Remember the game is divide and conquer so Trump is perfect as he has divided America more than ever. He talked against vaccines in his debate and he brought in RFK jr but he had to bow to the higher power. So he brings in Bill Gates (Gates Is not the higher power) and in the end he had military ready to deploy the vaccine at Warp Speed. The Deep State referred to in the documentry is just another pawn.

The banking cartel has been trying to destroy America ever since the revolutionary war. We have all been brain washed with no taxation without representation, but check it out - what was last act decreed by England before the revolutionary war? it was the currency act, which forbade the colonies from printing their own money. Printing people's money backed only by taxes always results in war or assassination . The British captured american sailors to cause the War of 1812 and then in chaos a central Bank was formed.

Andrew Jackson destroyed the central bank by not renewing its charter. Andrew Jackson was assassinated at point blank range. The guns blew up in the assassins hand. Lincoln print Greenbacks money only backed by taxes and not central bank and you know what happened to him . This was not the end. Presidents all the was from Garfield to McKinley oppossed a central bank. Garfiled and Mckinley were both assassinated. Finally in 1913 a central bank was established in the US See Secrets Of the Federal Reserve by Eustace Mullins (Creature From Jekyll Isalnd is a ripoff of Mullins) But neither book describes how Teddy Roosevelt was brought of retirement to split the vote and allow the Dupe Woodward Willson to become president.

Under Wilson the federal Reserve was established. All through the 1800s the valus of an ounce of gold 10-20 dollars. No inflation. 1913 ounce gold $20 - today $2000 - Bank Cartel Destroyed US

Unfortunately, it's way bigger than our intelligence community in league with the Democrats starting with Obama. It's ultimately all about power and control of the populace; witness all the authoritarian overreach starting with the COVID lies and lockdowns which have ultimately corrupted our entire election process with all mail in balloting, massive unregulated absentee voting and ballot harvesting. Big Business, in general, is now in collusion with the Democrat Party. And that's why we now have a cabal between the Democrats and Big Business; that the Democrats used to abhor.

And that's why we see so many big companies going "woke". Small businesses and all businesses are being crushed by taxes and government overreach and over regulation but the Big International Corporate businesses (Coca Cola, Pepsi, Starbucks, Hershey's, Nike, Disney, Amazon, Google, Meta etc., etc) get to keep their tax breaks, their near monopolies and get all the cheap labor they can dream of from our completely open border. If you don't believe me, just look at how the S&P 500 is doing in comparison to small businesses and everyday America that is being crushed by inflation.

In return, Big Business financially supports the Democrats and all their "woke" policies and agenda. So now you see the Democrats moving towards complete control of the media and the flow of information while weaponizing the power of the state against the political opposition. That's the Chinese totalitarian working model and the Democrats love it and are aggressively replicating it here.

Lets remember who fast tracked those vaccines to start with AND said how "great" and "safe" they are. Still talks good about them. That would be Trump. Many on both sides have the same corp donors! By the way, I have never been a Dem. I did leave the Republican party and went Independent.

They have been OPENLY talking about the "New World Order" since George Bush senior [former head of the CIA and CFR member] was president. Look at the old speeches. Remember Kissinger [the original author of the Great Reset and mentor to Klaus Schwab] was advisor to presidents since Nixon ; serving as secretary of state and other capacities.The 100 year old reptilian is gone but his evil vision lives on; about to be fully rolled out after 60 years of preparation if we don't wake up and take action. Eisenhower wasn't kidding about the military industrial complex and RFK jr wants to break the corrupt corporate control of America which is why they are fighting so hard to censor him.

BTW it is the military & globalists that are CREATING global warming [and sickness to boost pharma profits and depopulate the chosen] with the poisons & metals they are constantly spraying us with . Check out the Dimming movie by Dane Wigginton who has been documenting this for decades. Maybe that's where the trillions of $ the Pentagon can't account for went?

I voted in the primaries in my state. I would be away on vacation on the day, so I did "early" voting. It used to be called an absentee ballot. I had to show my license and sign my form. The woman compared my signatures. How does that get done with mail-in ballots? It doesn't. So anyone can steal a ballot from someone not voting (or someone who goes in to vote, only to find out they already "voted"). Or a bunch of ballots get printed up and dropped off with handwriting that matches across many ballots. Why are we still doing mail-in ballots? The voters have a traditional option if they can't make it in on the day. In some states, it's illegal, but they still do it.

The comments and responses here are fascinating. I can almost bet which main-stream sources are being followed. I fear our takeover is being accomplished systematically on a much larger, darker, evil scale. Steve and Guillermo addressed it more eloquently than I could. I demonstratively call it: Shaking up the Ant Jar. It works like a charm.

You got lost going down the rabbit hole Mercola. US politics is irrelevant and a smokescreen hiding the real evil who controls this deep state and more... The world's controlling evil elite who want a totalitarian one-world government.

Thank you, Dr. Mercola for featuring the groundbreaking work of Ms. Millicent - so true, so scary, and so psychotic what the shadow state is doing to all of us. After watching it several times and committing almost the entire screenplay to memory, I decided to try my functional medicine team's potent IV chelation cocktail of 2,3-dimercaptopropanesulfonic acid (DMPS), dimercaptosuccinic acid, thiamine tetrahyrofurfuryl, alpha lipoic acid (ALA), and quetiapine fumarate to remove all of the COVID-19 vaccine-introduced heavy metal transmitters in my blood and cerebrospinal fluid. They think it should stop all the direct cortical transmissions and 5G effects, and I can only hope that this will be available to everyone here as an oral supplement sometime soon.

Russia, Russia, Russia. Russia, Russia, Russia. Two stories. One about Russia (I've never seen Mike Benz so emotional) www.thegatewaypundit.com/2024/03/breaking-hunter-biden-was-involved-ci.. Yup, looks like they are going to stir up a war to divert attention away from the awareness that 30 million killed worldwide by the shots alone, and to stimulate economic growth before the fall election. Wish this were not so however Martin Armstrong was predicting war starting this year, never posted the latest interview link...

The Democrats will do everything and anything to Prevent Donald J.Trump to win the next election. After seeing this video, we all suspected that Trump did win the 2020 Election! Now we are certain that Donald J. Trump Absolutely did win the 2020 Election! There is NO Way in Hell that Criminal Biden would get 81,000,000 votes! Americans are smart! There aren't 81,000,000 "Stupid" Americans who would vote for Biden!!!

Matrix, There were no wars started while Trump was in office. What other president can say that? He fixed our border. There are many other things he did, but they all got reversed the first day Biden illegally took office. Nobody is perfect, but Trump loves America and doesn't want the takeover that is rolling out. We need incremental steps to return to the country we should be. It took a hundred years to get here. It will take decades to turn it around.

You can also find a dramatization of this information in episode 6 (My Struggle II) of the X-Files Event Series (a.k.a. Season 10)!!! Stay tuned in Season 11 (a.k.a. Event Series II)! The truth is STILL out there! Thank you, Dr. Mercola.

A couple of questions/inquires. Is Alphabet(dot)com -- the parent company of Google obviously off limits, correct? I noticed Microsoft isn't mentioned. Is it because there's no getting around not being able to avoid them? And the Tips for Privacy graphic when clicked on states: "404 Not Found The resource requested could not be found on this server! Powered By Fileburst". So how can I/we access them Dr. Mercola? Thank you

So sad that many within this dod/nsa, et al industry carry on doing what they're doing even once they've found out what damage it is doing...how low will they let themselves go before they see how wrong they are? How long before they realise that the same methods being used on the general public to achieve whichever foul ends sought, are and will be used on them also. Sad, sad, sad!

Have a funny/inspirational story about Twitter X. As soon as Dr. Mary Bowden tweeted the win against the FDA on Tuesday or Wednesday, with the court forcing the FDA to take down their falsified Iverm. info, strange articles showed up about how going into the sun will cause cancer, how Ivermectin is dangerous, and a sad story about recent measles outbreaks (showing a 1970s photo of a kid with chicken pox). Looked and felt like an IQ test of twitter readers. Many MDs and independent reporters jumped on these tweets to point out their silly advice. Community notes also went rogue, often inaccurately posting information under different topics, causing a few good laughs. Appears the paid trolls lost, at least for now.

Hello rose. I heard somewhere, it might have been from the CDC or a medical expert, that having a heart is bad for one's heart. I thought we were winding down in Ukraine and now the new budget calls for "An additional $300-$500 MILLION . . . . " for Ukraine. It didn't specify whether it was for payoffs or laundering :-)

I use Duck Duck go. I've read recently that it's not as private as in the past, but there's a more recent option as well. You can try "BRAVE" as an alternative search engine.

One out the biggest scare tactics being used right now is cognitive decline and Alzheimer's. The news is trying hard to make everyone fear it. Ironic that the first free article at the end is this is how to slow memory decline.

Trump doesn't need to be framed, he frames himself every time he opens his mouth. Lev Parnas has some interesting things to say about Trump. Try this intro if you've not heard of him. He recently testified in congress as well. It's worth looking out for.

It always amazes me that witnesses against him are nearly all former supporters, employees and GOP. As soon as they show real backbone or plea bargain for something less appalling than the real charges, he calls them every awful thing under the sun. They can do no wrong until they no longer support him. And GOP opponents are targets until they submit or drop out or shut up.

You are so right! If Trump didn't open his mouth as much he would probably not get in trouble as much. I have mostly stayed away from opinions on the indictments and kept my opinions on his record as that alone keeps me from voting for him! I am reminded of Judge Napolitano talking about Trump telling him he would not sign sec 702 but then Trump did sign it and then told Judge Napolitano they "twisted his arm" into signing it. We don't need a president that their arm can be twisted into signing a bad bill. He should talk about how he disagrees with others on issues without all the hateful personal insults.

As for Jan. 6th I won't judge how much Trump had to do with what happened but I will judge what I SAW! Anyone following someone that had broken glass to get in is not a good idea! Or other acts of violence. And it was so wrong talking about hanging Pence and I am no Pence fan. No doubt there were also peaceful protestors arrested and that shouldn't had happened but there is enough wrong with what happened that day that we saw and heard to call it out as being wrong.
