STORY AT-A-GLANCE

- Make Americans Free Again, led by Pam Popper, is fighting to preserve American freedoms and has a proven strategy that ensures we can win
- They are launching strategic legal challenges across the U.S. Rather than arguing the unconstitutionality of mandates, they challenge the legal basis of the emergency declaration that allowed the mandates to be rolled out in the first place
- They also teach Americans everywhere how to start and build their own local parallel societies where members take care of each other and work toward the same goal
- The short-, medium- and long-term goals of Make Americans Free Again are to free Americans from government tyranny, address all medical mandates and, ultimately, design and launch a superior medical system
- Even if you don't start your own freedom group, consider making a donation to Make Americans Free Again's legal fund

Pam Popper is the president of Wellness Forum Health and cofounder of Make Americans Free Again, which plays a significant role in the fight to help preserve American freedoms. An important part of that task is building a powerful community and, as noted by Popper, "COVID has brought some people together who probably should know each other better," and that includes us.

Popper and I are aligned with respect to our desire to educate the public about fundamental health principles, including foundational basics for preventing and treating COVID-19.

We are also in agreement that the COVID pandemic is a cover for something else entirely — a global takeover by powerful and profit-hungry interests. And finally, we both agree that participating in protest marches and signing petitions doesn't really achieve much, and that there are far more effective strategies, as she has demonstrated.

COVID Operation

In 2020, Popper published the book "COVID Operation: What Happened, Why It Happened, and What's Next," which she wrote with financial and private wealth adviser Shane Prier, in which they detail the backstory behind the COVID-19 hoax.

> "The background on the situation is my company, Wellness Forum Health, is about 27 years old, and our niche is informed medical decision making. In other words, we don't tell people what to do. [We teach people] how to make decisions about health the way they make decisions about cars and houses and retirement accounts and other things that are important to them ...
> Now, the medical profession has become the Wild West. Medical journals are filled with inaccurate information. So, we added ... rules for filtering evidence, and we teach people the rules. The rules are things like: Conflicts of interest have to be considered.
>
> We have to understand the difference between a correlation, and a cause and effect relationship, [and] something that is statistically significant but clinically meaningless. You get the idea.
>
> If you're looking at a lot of information, you have to filter it based on rules, just like you have to play football based on rules ... So, for 27 years, I've been talking about the problems in health care, which is [that] nobody abides by any rules. There isn't any informed decision making. Doctors tell people to do things and they say, 'OK, that's called consenting.'
>
> But that's not consenting at all, in my opinion. And so, a lot of my research really was based on [that], and the books I wrote revealed the incompetence of big medicine, big food, big pharma, some of the criminal intentions, and that this [the COVID scam] isn't new, it's just a bigger version of it.
>
> The second week in March of 2020, I knew what this was because I had covered fake pandemics in the past. There was one in the 1950s, there was one in the 1970s, another one in 2009. These are just the big ones that got a lot of attention. So, I knew what this was. I do some business in China; I knew what they were up to.
>
> So, I put out this very controversial [video report]. I didn't think it was going to be controversial. I was just reporting the news, which I had done on video twice a week for [years].
>
> Instead of the usual few dozen responses, I got 3,500 responses to this video and they included death threats and hysteria — 'You're going to be responsible for killing people' — the whole 9 yards. And I thought, wow, this is just something else. So that's how this all started.
> If you go back and watch that original video, I said that this took place in China, they did it deliberately, that they had reasons and motivations for doing this, that this was a fake pandemic and the end game was forced vaccination. It was a 15-minute video, but that was the bottom line. And unfortunately, it turned out to all be true. I wish I'd been wrong about it.

As [the pandemic] went on, I just kept doing more and more research, posting more and more videos. And at some point, probably late spring or early summer, I realized the breadth and depth of this whole thing and knew that they were never going to stop, and we had to do something about it. That's when we formed Make Americans Free Again."

Litigation Efforts

One of the primary ways in which Make Americans Free Again is fighting the tyranny is by filing lawsuits against mask and COVID jab mandates. She explains:

"We have three branches of government, and the executive branch — with very few exceptions, for example, Ron DeSantis in Florida — has gone completely rogue. They now operate as emperors and empresses, rulers over their people. So, you can't deal with those people. The legislatures up until recently have been fairly useless.

The only reason they're doing anything now is really to protect themselves, in my opinion, not because they're looking out for people. So, you have one branch of government left, which is the courts. We [knew] we were going to have to use that in order to a) get our freedoms back and b) go after these people for what they did, which is committing fraud and hurting and killing people."

By early summer 2020, a slew of lawsuits had been filed across the U.S. Unfortunately, it was highly uncoordinated. People weren't thinking things through. There was no cohesive strategy, and that was their downfall, Popper says. She estimates some 6,000 lawsuits have failed in court, causing many to give up on the judicial system as well. Not Popper, though.

"We've been winning in court and I'll tell you how in a minute. But it is better to stop, think and [then] do something. Less activity, more deliberately performed, is a better idea.

Interestingly enough, I heard from this lawyer in Florida who had made the same observation as me. This hurry up and file strategy isn't working, so why don't we look at these lawsuits and figure out what they're doing wrong? And this is very, very important for anybody listening to this who just wants to hurry up and file.

What people were doing was filing the lawsuit against the government saying, 'You are violating our constitutional rights.' And you know what the government would say? 'Oh, we know we are, but we don't have any choice because it's an emergency.' And then the judge would rule in the government's favor.

We filed the very first lawsuit challenging the emergency declaration itself in Ohio, accusing our governor of fraud. We said, 'There is no emergency. You declared this fraudulently, and therefore all the actions that you've taken are not warranted.' And the thing that I think people don't realize, not living in Ohio, is that we were the model state.

People think it's California [or] New York, but we were the first to shut down, first to close the schools, first to cancel events, first to close bars and restaurants. Why is that? Because the criminals behind this needed a very popular conservative governor who could do well on Fox and CNBC and MSNBC. Every Sunday, our little criminal was the toast of the Washington shows. He was so responsible, taking care of his people.

By the time we filed our lawsuit on August 31 [2020], we knew a second shutdown was coming. By this point in time, we had some intelligence coming from government employees and that sort of thing. We never got locked down a second time.

We won when we filed, because we avoided the second lockdown. I think that the people behind this told the emperor, DeWine, 'Let this alone, don't do something that would make this judge just snap his fingers and order discovery.' So, we didn't get a shutdown.

The other thing that happened is there was virtually no enforcement of the restrictions that were left in terms of gathering limits and that sort of thing ... Because of that, we thought, OK, this is a good strategy. So, we started doing more of it and we filed several lawsuits in several states.

For those people who don't have confidence in the court, first of all, look at some of the lawsuits that have been filed. They're bad ones. If I was the judge, I would throw them out too, because the judge can't make law. The judge has to go with what the law says.

The second thing is that there are bad judges and bad courts, but our strategy has been to file with a coordinated legal team, because the most important thing they want to avoid, and we've seen this in every lawsuit, is discovery, because discovery is where we get to depose Mr. Fauci; discovery is where the CDC has to give us the documents. I don't need them 36 times. I need them one time and then the whole legal team gets them.

One judge in the United States of America someplace is going to give us discovery. I can't talk about where, but we think that's in the process of happening right now in one of the court cases, and then everybody will [have that information].”

Progress Report

Cases Make Americans Free Again have won include one in which they represented the New York City police. They won an injunction until trial on the COVID jab mandate for the police force. In Florida, their attorney won a lawsuit against the City of Gainesville, which was implementing a “vaccinate or terminate” policy.

They’ve also seen general changes in behavior as a result of these and other lawsuits. “We've put the criminals on notice that now judges are watching, so everything you do is subject to being hauled back into court and saying, ‘Look at what these people are doing.’” Popper says.

Across the U.S., they’re challenging the emergency orders, demanding the state prove there’s an actual emergency afoot. So far, none has been able to provide any evidence that COVID-19 is a public health emergency. Instead of proving an emergency exists, state defense lawyers have spent all their energy on motions to have the cases thrown out.

In Ohio, Popper feels they have been successful by applying pressure on the governor through the courts. DeWine converted the Ohio State Fair to a virtual event, and it appeared that he was planning to restrict or cancel big summer events. But in what many people considered a surprise, he lifted the emergency declaration and made Ohio a free state. We’ll never know, but it might have been because our case was still pending in court. We then withdrew it because we got our way.

Popper is also planning to make some still yet unrevealed announcements. “We're getting ready for some really wonderful first of the year surprises for the criminals in charge,” she says, “so stay tuned.”

Rampant Lawlessness

Of course, they’re now trying to convince everyone that Omicron is a lethal threat, hence the emergency powers must remain in place, but even in the absence of a clear threat — as many now see through the fearmongering — they’re likely to keep pushing for more restrictions, vaccine passports, mask mandates and everything else. As noted by Popper:

“They don't seem to require any justification for anything, they just do what they want. We've degenerated to living in a completely lawless society where people get up every morning and decide what they're going to do, much the way that communist leaders and totalitarian dictators do.

I mean, our government resembles more the government of China or North Korea than it does what we used to have. So, I don't think that they really need to justify the emergency use authorization. If they decide they're going to do it, they'll just do it, and they've stopped giving reasons.

To that point, I thought it was very interesting when Rochelle Walensky, the head of the CDC, said, 'We're going to cut the quarantine back to five days because that's about all we can get people to do.' So, in other words, our new policy is as much tyranny as the public will swallow.

She also made a stunning admission that their research showed that the compliance with quarantine was less than 30%. That goes to what I've been saying all along, which is that the resistance is much bigger than most people realize.

This is certainly what I'm experiencing building our organization. They do a great job of making it look like everybody's on board, but everybody's not on board. And I still contend that the vaccination rate is very, very low. I think they can't even get to 60%. It was under 50% last summer. I was able to prove it with their data ...

The compliance rate has been exaggerated and it was all a mirage to try and get people to say, 'Well, if everybody else is doing it, I'll do it too. It must be OK,' because at that point in time, last summer, people didn't know a lot of people who'd been injured or died. I think everybody knows somebody who's been injured or died from this now."

The number of parents refusing to jab their children is also a clear majority. According to Popper, parents have taken their children out of schools that mandate the COVID jabs, and some schools have had to reverse course as a result. Case in point: The Los Angeles school system dropped the COVID jab requirement when they realized they had 30,000 unvaccinated students and if they all left, the whole school system would cease to exist.

> "We have a strategy that means we win at stuff. We don't take on things that don't result in winning ... You save a business, you win. You get a kid out of school, you win. You raise money and file a lawsuit, you win. Winning is what we need for people to feel good. ~ Pam Popper"

"Even The New York Times covered a school in Brooklyn that had eight teachers with nobody to teach," Popper says. "That's the level of resistance." Meanwhile, media are trying their best to make it seem as though compliance is high across the board. She recounts one example, where a local paper claimed compliance with the mask mandate was nearly 100%, when wherever you went, the vast majority were maskless.

"So that is the level of propaganda. All you have to do is walk into a store and know that there is no compliance. And then the newspaper, obviously, that was a preprint sent to them a long time ago, [telling them that] at such and such a time, you're supposed to publish this. It's just laughable."

Building Community and Parallel Societies

Popper has also made great strides in community building, which I believe is a crucial strategy for safeguarding our freedoms in the long term. This was a natural outgrowth of the legal work. They realized they needed a lot of people to contribute funds, so they needed to connect with people who were willing to pitch in to save our freedoms.

"We had the first meeting in my office last summer and there were five people there — me and two people who I work with, and two guests. And so, we agreed to do it next week, and those two people brought people. And something happened that I did not plan. I'm going to be very honest about this. I'd love to tell you that I preconceived all of this and then acted on it.

But people would come into the meeting and they would have that shell-shocked look — like my church is closed, my neighbor's not speaking to me, I'm realizing what's going on with my kids, it's ridiculous. The organizations I used to be involved with, they don't exist anymore.

And so now they're starting to make friends, and people who have their kids at home are starting to connect with each other, and all this kind of stuff. And I had this epiphany one night. The No. 1 thing these people don't want us to do is congregate, which means the most important thing for us to do is congregate.

So, that was the beginning of building not only the body of people it would take to fund what we need to do, but what I call the Make Americans Free Again parallel society. A year and a half later, we now start a new group every three or four hours in the United States. I'm not kidding. They're all over all 50 states. They're everywhere.

Here's the way this works. It is a parallel society, so, the first thing is, everything you need, you can get your group. People found out that there were churches that didn't close, because none of this gets advertised. You try to stay under the radar screen. So, churches that were not closed, you could go there and you didn't have to wear a mask.

People found doctors, dentists that didn't make you wear a mask ... So, we lived a parallel life. During the worst of everything in Ohio, our people lived a pretty normal life. We had a fundraiser with 400 people when the gathering limits were 10, because we knew where to do it. One of the members of our group owned a place where we could do it.

People have also found new jobs ... It is a very much cloistered society where we do business with one another. We homeschool our kids together, we pool our resources to fund these lawsuits, our social life is together.

We did this program called Small Business Rescue where we would support businesses in our community. The government doesn't have any plan for these people, so we buy local, we support them. So, it is a parallel society."

Make Americans Free Again societies are also looking for and finding doctors who are operating cash practices (so they're not reporting to or taking orders from anybody) and who will provide early treatment for COVID.

"So, everything you need, you get from your group ... and I can tell you right now, I can say this with a great deal of confidence, if I needed something, a place to live, if I didn't have any food, if I needed money, if I needed medical care, if I needed a job, you know where I get that?

From my Thursday Group and the Thursday Group network. [Editor's note: It's called Thursday Group because the group meets on Thursdays.] This is what is missing. If this had all been in place [before the pandemic], they could never have done this to us. They took advantage of the fact that society's quite fractured, that you don't have these local connections.

People beat me up sometimes a little bit. 'Why won't you let people have Zoom meetings?' Here's why. If we need to save a business in Worthington, Ohio, somebody in Portland, Oregon can't help us do that. You can't eat at this restaurant every week and support them. It has to be local, local, and it has to be in person."

2022 Prognosis

In the interview, Popper describes the many homeschooling benefits and successes members are reporting, which is profoundly encouraging. Overall, the community building, the parallel structures being created across the U.S. give her an optimistic outlook on the future. They're proof positive that the whole takeover agenda is backfiring on the technocratic deep state.

"I'm optimistic with a qualifier," she says. "I always want people to understand that I understand the gravity of the situation. If you have a spouse in the hospital right now who's being slaughtered with ventilators and remdesivir, my rosy prognosis might strike you like nails on a chalkboard.

I want people to know the reason I get up every morning — the reason I invest so much of my own money and time, and I've risked my own life to do this — is to make that right.

Having said that, with that disclaimer, my outlook for this year is really positive and optimistic. The reason I say that is [because] we have a quantifiable enemy. We know what they're up to. I am watching them scramble and fail. There is only one reason why they would be issuing all these edicts and Biden would say something like, 'I'm losing patience' ... is because they're not getting their way.

I think the best example of that is the CDC walking back the recommendations on the quarantine, because we just can't get people to do it. It's a stunning admission really to the public. So, I think this is going to be a year when this goes away.

Even the Israeli government is saying we're going to make everybody get a fourth shot, but maybe we're just going to have to let everybody go out and mingle and get some herd immunity. There is an awakening of the government that they need to change course ...

I like an enemy that's on the defensive. It's gone from the offensive to the defensive. That means, and I'll give you another caveat, that there are probably more horrifying things in store as they flail about and try to hang onto their power.

A couple things I'll recommend. Scott Atlas was a speaker at our conference this last year and he's the former adviser to President Trump. He wrote a book called 'A Plague Upon Our House.' It's a horrifying book, mainly because he reveals the stupidity and ineptitude of people like Fauci and Birx.

Atlas told us that Fauci can't even pronounce medical terms properly and Birx doesn't understand statistics. Most eighth graders have a better grasp of math than she does. What people like that do is they flail about when they are failing because they don't have the skill set to do anything else ... So we're going to see some of that kind of behavior, but at the end of the day, this time next year, I think we will be in an entirely different situation.

A lot of our freedoms will be restored and a lot of the nonsense will go away. Then it just is a matter of spending the rest of our lives, just like we've done with the Nazis, tracking these people down and making them pay for what they did. And believe it or not, last fall, they were trying a 100-year-old Nazi in Berlin for what he did. So, it'll be the same thing. We'll be looking for them in South America, in China and every place else to bring them to justice."

How to Start Your Own 'Thursday Group'

For liability and other reasons, Make Americans Free Again cannot connect you with already existing groups. You have to start your own, which is what they teach you. Popper explains:

> "It's easy. We provide everything you need. My email address is pampopper@msn.com. You can email me. I hold conference calls every week during which I share our entire strategy and tell people how to get started working with us ... Get engaged with us, donate money if you can.
>
> Do what you need to do to keep yourself in a positive frame of mind, and starting a group and gathering a group of like-minded people is important ... We can go from having felt quite powerless to being the most powerful people in the country, if we're smart about it.
>
> You start with one other person. People forget, I'm leading a group with hundreds of thousands of people, but it started with two guests. So, you just start with somebody who sees things the way you do. We give you a meeting format. We have training programs for our meeting leaders.
>
> We have meeting leader conference calls every other week. We have a meeting leader coordinator in the office ... Every Thursday, we send out the update, what the agenda is going to be, here's the video you're going to show, so nobody has to spend all day researching what am I going to talk about. We follow the same format every week, so we make it as easy as possible. And that's how you start.
>
> I heard a lot from people when this all began, 'I don't know anybody and it's too hard, this is outside of my comfort zone.' The longer this has gone on, the more people have said, 'What's going on is so far outside of my comfort zone that starting this group seems like it's easy by comparison.' So, I promise you, if you do this, we'll support you in every way possible, and you can't mess it up if you just follow our format.
>
> We have a strategy that means we win at stuff. We don't take on things that don't result in winning. For example, I don't have any particular objection to petitions and declarations, but I haven't seen them solve this.
>
> The Great Barrington Declaration got half a million signatures and tens of thousands were doctors and well-respected health professionals. It did nothing. Great statement, but it doesn't change anything.
>
> The biggest protests in the world are in Germany and Australia. Take a look over there, that doesn't change anything. Protests are great for people to get together, but when you promise people that it's going to make a difference and it doesn't, it demoralizes them.
> We have people who are demoralized. They need to feel like they're winning, and when people come to our groups, what they see is winning. You save a business, you win. You get a kid out of school, you win. You raise money and file a lawsuit, you win. Winning is what we need for people to feel good. Getting them involved in more stuff that results in failure, not so good. So, we're really focused and disciplined."

Covid-19 Hoax. Yep, I agree with that statement. In April 2020 emails were flying back and forth among my friends about the virus. I was the only one to say I thought the whole thing was a hoax. In addition to it being a hoax it is upper most a depopulation agenda.

My friends have all had the jab and since I am jab free I am also friend free. I do have one friend that is also jab free so we hang out at times. I also am part of a group of unvaxed that are organizing a "parallel society".

Amazing how the unjabbed are finding each other. We are also gaining support from those with buyer's remorse. Govt has also lost the support of many of those who were threatened with vaxination or termination--they are angry. There are some unusual coalitions forming. Already, at the protests, we see diverse support from all age groups, professions, ethnicities, political parties. it is good to see many of the youth involved. One thing that is opening people's eyes is becoming aware of the amount of censorship. For example, a friend told me she knew nothing of a large protest held near her hometown because the local media did not report it. She was much encouraged to see the huge crowd in a video I sent. This helps people understand they are not alone and lifts a veil from their eyes. When we speak up, it gives other people the confidence to join us.

I had intended to make a list of things people should do to be organized and prepared to help themselves and others in a crisis situation. Then, I realized that that it would prob only get me a knock on the door. Besides, anyone who has actually thought this thru already knows what they need to do. The most important thing may be surrounding yourself with good people--the right kinds of people. I think we are seeing the calm before the storm. People are using the extra time to inventory and batten down the hatches for the long term. Shortages may actually be beneficial in making people realize what they need to do for themselves while they still can.

@otis. My first laugh of the day, "since I'm jab free, I'm friend free". I can relate.

Otis; "With friends like that..."! The biggest mistake that people will ever make; is falling for this hoax. Mass Formation Psychosis has taken over the majority of the population and it isn't something that you can just turn off! There will be millions dying from the nanobot shots; and they will STILL believe that they're all dying from the phantom virus!

Almond, you wrote: " She was much encouraged to see the huge crowd in a video I sent. This helps people understand they are not alone and lifts a veil from their eyes. When we speak up, it gives other people the confidence to join us. " Thank you, very well said! I agree whole heartedly. Further, I think to encourage people will encourage their proactivity. Hence, to encourage is very, very important. www.bitchute.com/search/?query=austria%20mandate%20protest&kind=vi.. see unbelievable mobs marching in Austria www.bitchute.com/search/?query=vaccine%20mandate%20protests&kind=v.. mob turnouts in USA, France, Italy, et al.

While I understand the feeling, I am not sure I agree with Pam Popper's statement that (peaceful, orderly) protests do no good. If we consider that various countries behind the former Iron Curtain fell when masses protested, there we have it. And why does the media understate numbers turning out at protests? Because they, for apparent reason, don't want the numbers known. And why are police sent out to shoot smoke bombs and the like into protests? Because politicians don't want the protests to happen. Why do the politicians not want the protests to happen? Because they call attention to wrongdoing and because evil does not like to see the light of truth.

Sunshine and transparency are fundamental to democracy, therefore power mongers obscure, undermine, do all kinds of things to stop public protests. They also do all they can to discredit them. Why? Because, repeat the above. If protests were not effective, politicians and police would not be engaged to try to stop, undermine or discredit them. And one last note. If people think that politicians don't care what we think, I believe the above proves that politicians care plenty about that. They just don't want us to know it, so they play the power game, to discourage us. Nice people eh?

Parallel societies will clash sooner or later. They can never co-exist for far too many reasons. The only way that can happen is if the country is divided where "they" are NO part of our normal society. Texas and Florida are getting infested with the satin worshiping socialist fascist communist marxist bolshevik demoncRAT's that bring their mental illness ideologies with them and try to infiltrate all areas of government and schools. Maby it truly is time for the southern states to succeed from the U.S. so that the Constitution and bill of rights can be preserved, and that people can live free from the evil tyrants. I think that the second crossing of the "Concord Bridge" is coming sooner than later.

https://mendocinopatriots.org Town hall meeting today, Jan 9th, 2 pm PST. 306 N. Main St., Ukiah, CA (Mendocino County in N. CA) bring a chair. Bring your thoughts, ideas, and support. The group has received some negative and incorrect local press recently after some mask-less shopping trips. Parallel society, maybe, legal action, maybe. The ends do not always justify the means but there are times when "whatever works" needs serious considerations.

Depopulation yes but in a wicked-smart way beyond the comprehension of most people. The deaths are few but if it is all about fertility reduction it all makes sense. Look up gonacon, a mammal immunocontraceptive that has to be injected except for the experimental pill route being worked on. en.wikipedia.org/.../Wildlife_contraceptive "Lethal Dose". LD50 is the amount of a material which causes the death of 50% (one half) of a group of test animals. As an elite if you're onboard with elevating all nations like USA your only problem is the mining and food limits of increased consumption, referred to as "carrying capacity" for human life on our planet. There are an extra 237,328 new consumers on earth every day accounting for deaths according to UN figures at unfpa World Population Dashboard.

It's kinda sad what this has done to friends. Maybe they weren't true friends after all. I deleted a very old friend today on FB. She's a complete Karen (covid lie supporter) and the more I think about it, she always was. I just never saw it. Glad you have found new friends.

To my mind you and Pam and many others are forming equivalents to "Committees of Correspondence" a response to British tyranny in the Colonies. Without them the Revolution would not have happened. The objective is control. As is evident infinite amounts of money can be and is produced digitally. True wealth lies in land, labor and resources which cannot be produced digitally and is limited. True wealth is not available to the billionaire class unless it is for sale.

What is happening is the impoverishment of the 99% and their countries. It is happening on many levels including scarcity, inflation, pandemic and others that do not come to mind. Catherine Austin Fitts has an answer to that question. The Central Banksters, Rockefellers, Morgans, Stanleys, Rothschilds, European royalty and other billionaires, the 0.00001% or one in a million want to control the 99%. With cental bank digital currency, CBDC, in universal use they are in control. Whether the nominal political system is democracy or communism the desire is the same. Control of the 99%.

Fitts has solutions. First use cash. I keep 3 months cash on hand. No matter the emergency short of a massive meteor collision, one can always buy food and other necessities with cash. Not gold or silver. The local farmer or merchant will not be set up for that. Do business with local banks and credit unions.
home.solari.com/lets-go-to-the-movies-week-of-jan-10-2021-documentary-.. Work to establish a publicly held banks. The Public Banking Institute has info on local movements. There is a coalition in Mendocino County publicbankinginstitute.org/local-groups-by-state A major cause of the Revolution was the Bank of England, a privately held central bank like the Fed, took legal control of money production.

The meeting today provided information on an alternate in the County to public school for 4 to 6 year olds. That was followed by a 2 plus hour talk on "a completely different perspective on the law" which I will not dwell on as it is complex. I had to leave due to a long drive home and not able to drive after dark. So at this time I do not know what was discussed after I left. It may get posted to the web site. www.freedomformendo.com/resources-and-information This is the new web site. Freedom for Mendo. Mendo is short for Mendocino. View on telegram.

Bitter to lose friends - even worse to lose family members for the covid vax. but what can you do? you cannot sacrifice your life in order to please some blind & deaf individuals. Good luck to keep the true ones & your health.

Fortunately some of my jabbed friends have stuck with me. I also get together with a small group of desperados who have CHOSEN to decline the jab. Where there is risk, there MUST be choice, and clear liability for injury ... to say that people can be mandated to take this risk with NO ONE LIABLE for any injuries is MADNESS. How can anyone possibly believe otherwise?

Pam Popper said that peaceful protests don't accomplish much. It's true that protest marches don't force government to do what's right. But a peaceful protest march does inspire people; it helps to remind people that freedom is worth fighting for; it reveals the large scale of the resistance and reminds us that we are NOT alone in our beliefs; and I think that's important. Here are two short historic freedom recitations: kids.britannica.com/.../323899 en.wikipedia.org/.../American_Creed

Almost 2 years (!) into the hoax, and I still haven't lost any friends I'm aware of, but some have predictably become more distant (laughing). At most, I've only dropped the most digestible morsels of the lowest-hanging fruit to a few that have shown indications of covidiocy, while not challenging anybody's beliefs. This friendly and sympathetic approach makes it easier to introduce seeds of doubt about the official line regarding matters such as natural treatments and naturally acquired immunity (e.g., by pointing out the test results show I have a natural immune response, so I'm following the science). One thing that pleases me is that there are really not may die-hard covidiots among the lot.

It seems as though most of humanity doesn't know there's a war going on. That very fact can be most unsettling for those of us who see otherwise. It accentuates the perception of a lopsided or "asymmetric" conflict against overwhelming forces that have captured all of the key institutions and power centers. But there could also be an advantage to the lack of parity. Modern history provides examples of "superpowers" being ejected from relatively "backward" places where they had no business being in the first place.

A "fighting chance" in their game could keep us locked in that game, allowing the dark powers to continue to define the parameters of the engagement and prolonging unproductive paradigms that don't really serve our highest and best interests. Long before covid, those powers have dangled many lures—fake sustenances, vacuous pleasures, false narratives and enfeebling conveniences—that have enriched and empowered corporations and governments while ensnaring the masses. Indulging in false, expedient paths only puts us under those who control those paths.

Rather than play into their hands by allowing our worst fears to define events, we could be on the precipice of a genuine paradigm shift. Facing overwhelming forces compels the search for genuine values. As Catherine Austin Fitts has remarked, we can't help them build our prisons. The oppression can make us stronger by forcing us into means that the oppressing forces do not want to engage in, since it would mean giving up the lazy advantages of the networks they've created.

Nicely said. One thing we have going for us is the Predator$, like pigs at the trough, have become fat & lazy. They've grown used to peddling edicts through all the means at their disposal & getting more than what they wanted with little effort. As Popper is pointing out they find themselves in an uncomfortable position as their thinly veneered lies no longer hide the steaming pile of...well we'll will leave it there. Popper, just as Doc & we have been following since early on can see the numbers don't add up at about any level. Here, day to day people are seeing wait a minute I've had Jab/s yet the goal post keep moving & we're not supposed to notice? Now I'm a dirty anti-vaxxer?

If they couldn't get the 1st Jab right, they shouldn't get more chances. Just how is it someone with only 3 Jabs is putting someone who has had 4 Jabs in danger? Who is spreading the virus? Currently, the vaccinated. It is the debate & discussion among the many people's reaching out & communicating throughout the many floors & corners of our Modern Day Tower of Babble they cannot stand, do not want, our awareness most of their solutions are no solution at all. When we solve as much & as many problems we can Locally, on the ground, in time enough small problems solved prevent bigger problems for us down the road & less control for them.

The #1 thing is the Predator$ are not going to change. They will offer nothing other than the bare minimum of what they are stuck with. If we want healthy change, one person then two then more. One home then two then more. One town, then two then more, but we have to do it...otherwise Penn & Teller distractions to keep us all asleep at the wheel of our lives. This also is no time to get cocky, when they know they can't "win" the way they want too is when they are the most dangerous. And, they can't be allowed to "win," because if they do, none of us "win," including them.

Hi Darzoum, JustSteve and everyone, Will not want to miss this recent Jan 7th interview with the Berlin Corona Committee w Dr Lee Merritt that may "shed" new light on what she has researched and now sees as occurring - from soup to nutz: "Session 86 Reiner Fuellmich with Dr. Lee Merritt Jan 7, 2022" - www.bitchute.com/.../6J74FzSnvrsR - Long, long before covid for sure! Now longer not shorter interviews, more background information adds to the entire discussion. And Dr. Merritt had worked for the military for about 10 years. Note: includes potential racial profiling, amongst other depopulation concepts, whether intended or not. Puzzle pieces are lining up better.

Add'l - Here's the second part of that Berlin Corona Committee interview w Dr. Michael Yeadon, "Dr. Mike Yeadon | Session 86: The Fog Is Lifting" www.bitchute.com/.../kdOrcJBaHnMf - (many times over past months felt like being lost in a dense fog, yes?) Also recounting numerous lies and restructuring of worldwide emergency response to allow this diversion of a plandemic (by clients of the Central Bankers) to occur, quoting bits from Catherine Austin Fitts and financial comments in the first half. The second half Dr. Yeadon takes deep dive into what he is seeing now in these drugs, their initial purpose, their re-purposing as a "universal vaxxn"; the insanity of shooting up preggers, women of childbearing age, the covid-recovered; hot lots and more. Impactful? Even when you know this information in bits and pieces, condensed into a brief narrative gives a highly impactful effect. Good thing this is Sunday - sleet/snow on its way.

Not just fireworks, Italy's largest cities have been in the streets protesting deaths of the recently vaxxed. And on the right hand side of the page, here's your rebuttal about Mass Formation from Reuters!! twitter.com/.../1479934834164133893 - this is complete with an AP factcheck! Oh, this keeps getting better and better, with the fact checkers' backsides showing through the slit in their hospital gowns.

CAF, re building the prisons, much said with a few words. The prison between my ears is bad enough already. rose thanks, another blue ribbon find this Lee and Reiner meetup. More Pixels bringing ever greater clarity to the mosaic. I suspect the file Lee mentions from the year 1954 as revealed by E.G. Griffin came out of The Bilderberg gathering. The other day I heard Dr. Zev tell Bryan Ardis that in 1981 Jacques Attali advised Mitterand that the socioeconomic liability and burden then already would inevitably lead to a necessary genocide program. Clarifying the polarities has redirected me to modifying my vocabulary. No more outsiders V. insiders. Henceforth outsiders V. genociders.

their main source of power is the public school of course, all monopoly is huge, monopoly of money and information being the biggest gold/silver for long term wealth accumulation, day to day use coming in the future, use paper as evil necessity today, while slowly shifting into PMs. do not think of the paper as being in any way "normal", use paper for daily stuff, NOT to store wealth. the holders of paper foot the entire bill for the 1%. use bank not to store wealth! it is just useful for day to day liquidity credit unions etc. still use establishment "dollars" meaning establishment nothingness. they too use fractional reserve when creating loans ex nihilo

Thanks for the link to the Fuellmich interview with Lee Merritt, rrealrose. You always provide the best links to increase our understanding of the truth behind this whole preplanned depopulation conspiracy. Merritt is difficult to follow, as she starts another sentence before finishing the first one but it's worth hanging on to her every word as she has the real scientific knowledge and understanding behind all aspects of the scamdemic from fake PCR testing to the relevance of 5G to so called transmissible viral infections. Confess I don't fully understand the role of viral transmission, if it exists, in human disease. A transcript of this interview would be invaluable.

Epi-cure...I like that simplification. the Outsiders V. Genociders. The Geno's are a diverse group: the Maskers, the FEAR-victims, the Science-ignorant, the Crony Capitalists, etc. The Outsiders are a diverse group too. I could make up a few labels for them as well. Popper cites this as a characteristic of the Thursday Groups...everybody agrees on nabor-ly action to restore some semblance of community and human freedom, but when "politics are mentioned the room splits 50-50".

In the run-up for the 2016 election, a nabor cornered me at the mailboxes and sang the praises of Trump. I backed away, saying everyone must vote their consciences. Six years later, I am very cordial with this woman, a widow in her 70s with a county policewoman daughter...we're two of the few people here, maybe the ONLY people, who will NOT Vax 'N Mask. I'm not sure of her reasons, but I know mine. I do research on the new vax nano-tech, and could not force myself to show up for the appt to get the shot. Another daughter of the widow is a RN who just moved to Florida with husband & family. Before the RN moved, she said the PCR test was inaccurate...

Our networks refuse to cover violent worldwide protests against lockdowns/vaxxxing....Omicron scare-numbers are now in high gear as idiots spend hours in line for a "test." Inflated like the dollar; fear takes no holiday. "The unvaccinated are dying like flys, children too!" "Hospital ERs are flooded!" Their treatments are as stupid as their lies and as always reflect our fraudulent wars and foreign policy, failed pharmacare and insurance ripoff, and horrible fake food supply. The govt. and media narrative they control is batshit crazy, yet the 'tards and goodie-twos have swallowed the stink-bait like hungry catfish. And yes these "people" can be dangerous.

Alachua county, home of Gainesville and University of Florida (the higher authority), is a tight little liberal goldmine of corrupt and overeducated idiots. "Vaccinate or terminate" may have been overthrown , but students and university employees are still required to get the shot.....Basically the truth of everything is being lost in a sea-fog of confusion which has divided and conquered the planet calling for a slave rebellion...Slaves get hungry and act out!

Looking at Kazakhstan as another potential color revolution aided by covid WHO scam. They've learned to manipulate free citizen reporting, confusing with so much disinfo that you can't know what's really going on unless you're actually there....and even then, maybe not. Thinking the infiltration & manipulation set-up of Jan 6. The standard of living for the people exploded there with the gas & oil industry...and with that comes a sense of independence, & mood for freedom. A bit like China right after they were given favored trading status, & while the surveillance system was being developed, before the hammer came down with corporate cronyism in place across the board & in every institution, economic & religious/philosophical.

It's not just China: their leaders are just more willing & conditioned culturally & historically to tyrannize the people, & they're useful to the corporatists for experimentation & honing their attacks & responses to resistance. I believe now that this was the whole reason for the Iron and Bamboo curtains both. Add now, the confessional curtain, and the burka systems of control lacking light & open-ness: the deceit of mental assent & taquiyya jihad which reveal the true 'common' spirit of the thing.

Fundamental...False assumptions can be deadly...I would not be a bit surprised if CIA didn't provoke this Kazach revolt, oil/uranium..China/Russia there...It also looks like a Dem FBI led Russiagate and 1-6 riots..."Intelligence" motto should read, "False Flags R Us." Totally fits M.O. history of these provocateurs.

And, who says the CIA isn't linked in with crony corporatism? Truth doesn't die, nor the souls of those who cling to it. It transcends death & this dying. I'll stick with my fundamental assumption of truth, who also has threefold witness and has a name: the Lord Jesus Christ according to the scriptures. I realize that divides from every antichrist, whether naming the name or not.....which brings us back to fundamental assumption truth....

fundamental, Ex-cia operatives are running the vaccn rollout!! According to David Martin, a company was formed specifically to handle the shot rollout across the US, they were funded by the govt then funnel funds to each shot manufacturer. And this company handles lot deliveries to states for final deliveries. Can you see the war here? Maybe you want to review Nicaragua in the 1980's?

I do see the war. Leaping from misplaced trust & hope placed in corporate craft to another arm of corporate craft solves nothing & only goes from bad to worse. The common ground is capitulating to some self-flattering & -justifying form of deceit by which men are taken into bondage; or doggedly clinging to truth even when it exposes one's own tendency to sin which ends in freedom indeed. Dr. John Coleman's address helps us to avoid being defected into self-defeat, & in his own words: second only to the preserved word of God, the Bible. Thank you to earlier poster. https://youtu.be/ZsbZ3AdFxSM

At the risk of sounding like Columbo, 1 more thing....on reviewing Dr. John Coleman's address& research, a TON of spin& disinfo has 'piled on' the whole Merovingian/Carolingian, Club of 300 thing which is totally beside the point& which only would matter if Rome& her Babylonian/Augustinian system were the legitimate head& authority in Christianity which she most definitely is NOT; or if the new pagan craft revisionism that the Judeo-Christian scriptures were a late invention, an 'evolved' invention, or even the result of alien/angel 'seeding' a la extra-biblical source were. The Queen of Heaven, cookie jesus/Tammuz commodity of craft does not save,& Rome is out of line w/ the true authority which is scripture. This is why she has worked endlessly to corrupt or hide it,& to murder those who had it.

We are not Jews. We do not replace the Jews& all of the New Testament apostles were Jews by blood which no longer matters in the church where there is neither Jew nor Gentile. We do not hate the Jews, nor do we join them of the circumcision who've rejected the Lord Jesus Christ who fulfilled the Old Testament& abolished it in his flesh,& seek to reason& warn their descendants in hope& w/ the same spiritual seed by which we were saved: the true seed, non-gmo variety. We have nothing to do w/ endless & futile genealogies which were solely to identify Christ who has come. Every ruler& soul claiming to be Christian yet not submitting to the scriptures, even while refusing to impose it by the sword of steel, is antichrist whether he calls himself pope, prelate, pastor, or king.

The church of God is comprised of anyone who has been born again by the grace& power of God thru belief in the Gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ according to the scriptures. No hierarchical, covert system of initiations& mystery which does not permit light to shine into its layers & corners, nor bow to proving& limitation by the New Testament scriptures informed by the Old, is legitimately Christian.

Now a couple weeks later it's getting more difficult to push the "pandemic of the unvaccinated" line when the hospitals are overflowing with the triple-jabbed. They'll have to destroy people's abilities to speak and hear. When watching the football games I was amazed to see ads on the TV still pushing to get children jabbed to "prevent the spread", now that's so obvious it doesn't that even the government talking heads have admitted so much. Evidently false advertising does not apply when the the platform and the advertiser are under the same ownership.

But I bet many times more people are now tempted to spit at the TV than are persuaded by this hogwash. As for anarchy, it couldn't come soon enough. We can certainly govern ourselves better than these corporate stooges.

Sadly, I am not optimistic as you. I don't want to live through a war where 11 million die for America to wake up and take hold of our G-d given rights. We are way past the slippery slope. The election was fraudulent, the pandemic is a scam. The problem with Don Fauci's science is there is little science to back it up. And the Medical Community are good little brown shirts, compliant with the Medical Tyranny. Doctors who voice a dissenting voice and question the messaging have had their license revoked. Corporations are following the Pied Piper Don Fauci and taking draconian edicts a step father. Brainwashed pharmacist are refusing to dispense legal prescriptions for Covid19. The courts are corrupt. Chief Justice Robert's is beyond compromised. Note, the Supreme Court upholding Obamacare is a slap in the face to the Constitution and our Freedom.

It's clear as day that placing a moratorium on vaccine mandates is the right thing to do. Yet , the Supreme Court once again demonstrated that they are not the defenders of the original intent of the Constitution. Both parties are bought and paid for by China. And most heart breaking, President Trump has demonstrated through his support of the vaccine mandate that he is no longer a leader of truth, and sadly compromised. It is not possible for Trump not to know the serious health effects of the Covid19 vaccines. Even the Corrupt CDC, notes the vaccines are not a 100 % effective. It takes only a few extremist to move society. We've watched the pendulum swing the last 20 years, going to the extreme left. The left is always violent. The Police, the National Guard, and the Military have failed their oath to the constitution and are supporting the tyranny. In Florida Governor DeSantis holds a weak line against the tyranny. America's compliance is consent. If you are wearing a mask you are an enemy to Freedom.

Government operators who have been imposing and enforcing mask and "vaccine" mandates must not be sued. Hiring attorneys, who are officers of government's courts, to file lawsuits in government's courts presided over by government employees is futile. Instead, every one of them, and their armed enforcers, must get the Ceausescu treatment. Eliminate the commanders, and their armed goons who protect them, and their foot soldiers will scatter like cockroaches.

"If you are wearing a mask you are an enemy to Freedom." That may step on a few toes, but not mine. I have never worn a mask in public, not in stores, not on public transit, not in government buildings and I have been in about 6 states. I am a strong believer that you are either part of the solution or part of the problem, and I fully agree with your statement!

When Rochelle Walensky, the head of the CDC, said, 'We're going to cut the quarantine back to five days because that's about all we can get people to do.' So, in other words, our new policy is as much tyranny as the public will swallow." * Isn't that what Fauci has not only done but admitted on multiple occasions?

* "She also made a stunning admission their research showed compliance with quarantine was less than 30%. That goes to what I've been saying all along, which is that the resistance is much bigger than most people realize." * Sure seems that way here. * "And I had this epiphany one night. The No. 1 thing these people don't want us to do is congregate, which means the most important thing for us to do is congregate." * True, & local, local, local.

* "I like an enemy that's on the defensive. It's gone from the offensive to the defensive. That means, and I'll give you another caveat, that there are probably more horrifying things in store as they flail about and try to hang onto their power." * They're most dangerous to not only us, but themselves. They are not used to "losing" & have structures all around them to allow the delusion they never lose, always win, they don't have the experiences in Life or Living we have that awaken our deepest & most aware selves. Shallow people surrounded by clever people are no match for those in tune with those who have gone through the School of Hard Knocks, & have graduated with Bull Spit detectors that get evermore fined tuned for as long as one lives.

Steve, do you get the idea that the current CDC's childhood vaxxn schedule is toxic and dumbing kids down? Then they go to high school and college and learn "lord knows what" about imminent collapse of the environment that may take ages to reverse and all about how to act in the current "cancel culture" and now these things are true. Now force jab a bunch of them, and what do you get as an end result?

We get what we have been getting...one once unknown dis-ease after another exploding into larger numbers each year. Sterility climbing. As kids grow up disconnected separated from families & larger social structures, more drug despair, more violence, more of all the things we are told have nothing to do with toxins in our food, water, air, in our mouths, med's...decades of it and still climbing.

Just watched it all and wow! If people can't put two and two together and tie this in to today's shenanigans, we're in series trouble. As the man said, the true definition of paranoia is the ability to piece together two or more seemingly unrelated occurrences. Definitely worth watching but for those "attentively challenged", at least watch minutes 20 to 55.

Hi Umfuli, here is what Henry Kissinger foretold in 2009. "Once the herd accepts mandatory forcible vaccination, it's game over! They will accept anything - forcible blood or organ donation - for the 'greater good'. We can genetically modify children and sterilize them - for the 'greater good.' Control sheep minds and you control the herd. Vaccine makers stand to make billions, and many of you in this room today are investors. It's a big win-win! We thin out the herd and the herd pays us for providing extermination services. Now, what's for lunch?" Henry Kissinger, speech to the World Health Organization Council on Eugenics, Feb 25, 2009 And yes it makes me sick, too!

Umfull - that was a very interesting video by Dr John Colman. I watched it all the way through and found it so very true to everything that has come to pass since the Clinton time in the White House. Now we know who actually puts the presidents in the white house such corruption. Thank you so much for the link.

If someone is left wing or has socialist sympathies, but isn't interested in the toxic politics at present. What will they be interested in - good education, good health care, helping people out of the gutter, workers rights to fight unfair working conditions.I'm instinctively right wing, but I agree with all of the above. Left and right is dead, unite and crush to covert corporate billionaire / corporate giants.

I can work with true, old school liberals. It's the neo leftists I can't find any commonality with. Nothing LIBERAL about that kind. I agree mega corporations are a threat thanks to cronyism. Politics are toxic on both sides. I voted for Trump but never liked him and realize now he was part of the problem. Controlled opposition. Today the liberals are misers and conservatives are saving nothing. Don't expect any help from anyone in Washington!

It baffles me to no end that the vaxed people judge the unvaxed. This has been a great strain on my friendships. The fear they have is causing them so much anxiety. I cannot believe that they don't see through all this propaganda. And not see how history is repeating itself. I have not held back my feelings about this whole  show. I was also told that I was a threat to society!?!? By my gay cousin who lived through the AIDS and the stigma of being gay. I was like WTH?

I never ever shunned him or threatened him. This is a virus, but not a "pandemic'. Its here to stay and it will evolve into different strains. Thats what viruses do. I am really worried more about our societal breakdown than a virus. And the vaccine does nothing. I try to tell people that. A vaccinated person can still carry the virus, spread it and get it. So why are you so worried about an unvaccinated like myself? And do not even get me started on the MRNA! And they want to give it to our children. I cannot wrap my head around it all!

I quit associating with brainwashed/braindead lemmings last year. They are ALL going to die withing 3-5 years depending on the toxicity of the frankenshot that they got inoculated with. I also do NOT want to be around the "inoculated" because they are shedding deadly "spike proteins" from their frankenshots, and I don't want to get infected with their spike proteins that they are shedding through their breath and bodily fluids (sweat and other). Most of these lemmings are ignorant libtarded demoncRAT scumbags, and I just can't lower my I.Q. enough to relate to them.

There are towns like mine where life goes on. No one worries about the unvaxxed. Few people are vaxxed but they figure it protects them and respect our choices. Red town. No face masks. We decided this is just a really bad flu and can face it better together than apart. Only the symptomatic sick quarantine themselves. Voluntarily. Neighbors bring groceries to their doors.

People unconsciously scapegoat others to preserve a virtuous self image. It really is the result of fearful projection. You cannot force others to be brave, but when the brave start winning the cowardly will follow them. People are weak for all sorts of reasons, some people have truly been victimized in earlier years, to where healthy ego development never occurred.

It takes a strong healthy ego to admit to being wrong. It takes strength to let go of ego defenses. Not everyone can muster the courage. Others have weak characters because they don't want to compromise.

I think Mattias Desmet is right to encourage those who are not hypnotized to without antagonism, clearly communicate the truth as a matter of fact, refusing to waste energy in vitriolic argument. Those who have participated in the experiment have hurt the collective, history won't view them kindly.

this term "parallel society" - is this the modern version of "counter culture??" - people cast out into the wilderness and finding solace in other lost souls - who has the right to reside in Eden?? - in a God forsaken planet where humanity is driven by the winds of abuse to cower with FEAR the outsider takes his/her place in the sun - we are mortal - we have limited time on this planet - to make sense of the manipulative forces that push and pull us there is only one option - the renaissance of thinking that shows the direction - gives light - allows for broader horizons - going to Mars is a waste of time - discovering a form of cooperation that ensures more progress and freedom of thought are the only effective instruments that will allow the LEAP into the Future that Mankind is now so desperately in need of - psychic enhancement pushes the human experiment forward - instead of the atavistic inclinations now predominant

"We have limited time on this planet", as you remind us, Stan, which is what makes it all the more important to act now to protect the young and the next generation from the evil that has for the moment gained ascendency. When I look at the sweet innocent face of my first grandchild, the need for action, not just words is driven home to me and a duty to her I cannot shirk. Pam Popper's strategy makes sense and I suspect would work in the Disunited Kingdom as well. One glimmer of light - a forthcoming workshop organised by a prominent and highly respected international doctor is asking recently vaccinated applicants not to attend. Could this be another key to creating a parallel society - where we respectfully exclude those who may present a danger to those of us who have championed the truth and resisted the agenda of the criminal conspirators?

Cabochon - thank you for the reply - the past is memory but the Future holds promise - I also have obligations to my grandchild - this is the traction that pushes one forward - my thoughts at my age are centered around what has been experienced but the resolve to resist somehow forces the struggle to be mainly / exclusively about the Future - "we shall overcome"

Not the same at all, the "counter culture" was a CIA, etc., created satanic conditioning operation with free LSD, corrupted Eastern mysticism/religion, and some of the Rock bands contained people in-on-it e.g. The Grateful Dead. The Beetles had a record album cover www.udiscovermusic.com/stories/whos-who-on-the-beatles-sgt-peppers-lon.. showing Aleister Crowley , a degenerate British Occultist and intelligence agent.

"Parallel societies" are formed by people who live with tyrannical governments, such as those of Eastern Europe. The concept is well illustrated in the book "Live Not by Lies: A Manual for Christian Dissidents," by Rod Dreher. Freedom loving people in many places lived this way for years. Governments like the one in Poland for example were brought down because people were dedicated to resisting tyranny. The rat finks who now think they are in charge of our lives definitely do not want people to assemble.

It is the true rationale of all the public reminders for social distancing. Such was true in communist societies. But people found ways to challenge the tyrants. It breaks my heart, but now we here in the United States of America must learn to do the same. We don't want to think it, but now were are in the same position that Soviet citizens and citizens of communist bloc countries were before the Berlin Wall was disassembled. ut instead of feeling sorry for ourselves, we must learn to have unwavering resistance.

Keythong - the 60s were hugely experimental - compared to the DEAD END we now face - the 60s signified BIRTH while contemporary times signify DEATH - switch off the TV - there is more to life than propaganda

roseann - I have not resigned - resignation is out of the question - I offer daily perspective - we live in the penal colonies we create for ourselves {Kafka}- I have always lived on my feet and have no intention of dying on my knees - I am proud to be alive and reject the DEAD BRAIN SYNDROME so prevalent in the Zombie Culture

Leahoz - I didn't find the video "new agey" - just because it refers to biblical quotes - the associations are kabbalistic and linguistic - the message is clear that the Third Temple is the self - this notion is quite acceptable and the sanctity of the human body is at stake - this spiritual demystification is warranted in times of materialist delusion - an enjoyable short philosophical journey

As I said before, the mainstream society buys the lie that contact kills, so they'll be socially distanced from each other. And masked. They will be unable to assemble due to swallowing the Big Lie. This will not be a deterrent to us. Avoid being seen by the local Snitch or posting stuff on Big Tech platforms. I no longer use SM.

I have placed an email to dr Popper as stated in the article to understand what type of support and direction her organization can give to the great citizens of the tyrannical province of Ontario, Canada And also request to be put on her weekly conference call where she lays out the strategy and steps on how to create your own group. The good doctor said to start local but at least province wide it's a start. I'm asking all the other people in Canada to send the email and get on her conference calls because even though the US is having a lot of victories, seemingly, we're not having the same thing in Canada so we must start acting on our own

Thank you, Stan. Are you equally good with punctuation 😊? I was actually thinking of unimpeachable when I wrote it but impeccable is probably a better fit. Earlier today someone more literate than me wrote that something didn't "jive" when the correct word should have been jibe. Oh the things large and small we learn from one another. Cheers !

epi - Jive has enormous versatility in American speech. As a noun, it means a dance performed to swing or jazz music, but it also can mean insincere, pretentious talk, or words meant to flatter or deceive. As an adjective, jive means "worthless," "phony," or "contrived." Hahaha - I had to look that up because I use jive also! :) whew!

I am recovering from Covid and it has been much more serious than a common cold. My doctor previously informed me that I would be eligible for monoclonal antibodies, if I tested positive. When I called his office, I was informed that I could not receive the early treatment because it did not work against Omicron and that I should take Tylenol and Mucinex.(Who knows which version I really had?) Fortunately, I had contacted Frontline Doctors last summer and had some early treatment. I also contacted sevencells.com just before I was diagnosed.

Their early intervention pack arrived within 7 days and made a huge difference because I was dealing with fevers and it helped to bring them back to normal. I am 3 weeks into this illness and still struggling. I was taking Vitamin D3, C, Zinc, NAC, Quercetin, and my doses were upped after I was diagnosed. I also used a nebulizer because I have asthma. This has been a very humbling experience and I hope that everyone will prepare prior to being afflicted with Covid. I was not vaccinated but I was exposed by someone who was vaccinated. I believe we will all eventually be exposed and get Covid. I strongly urge everyone to prepare in advance.

truthseeker, sorry you have been so sick. What makes me cross is that almost everyday someone posts a similar story here, but still there are posters who either insist it is a hoax, or just a cold, only because they haven't had personal experience of Covid. That's harsh and unsympathetic. I don't know anyone who has had this either, but I still accept your story and others like it. Supposedly 'sheeple' and 'zombies' are in denial, but there's a lot of denial here too. I hope you recover soon. Best of luck, seedsaver.

We had it here, too....and commiserate. Key is early treatment & optimizing the terrain. It wasn't pleasant, but no hospitalizations. Nebulizing isn't just for asthmatics: it delivers hydrogen peroxide & iodine with the saline deeply into the sinuses where the disease takes hold, & into the lungs. D3 is crucial like Dr. Mercola's been teaching us for years: our bad here for needing a biowarfare attack to realize HOW crucial & integral to our own innate immune response that really is. Folks want something complicated, conditioned to worship THE SCIENCE (really what powerful interests present as science, unproven and untested by the naive), & the treatment is really simple. Seems too simple! Reminds me of the Gospel versus all the complicated fakes of ritual and works, which is how sorcery works.

Lifestyle is also huge. Worst case we saw was a totally mask compliant, 19 year old female living the college lifestyle while also working in eldercare. Booze, vaping, promiscuity, poor sleep, living the no sunshine nightlife, & obesity won't see you through well....and not saying that's you, still needs said for the sake of others. Nor the less obvious dependence upon the chemical medical system coupled with nutritional ignorance, blind faith in 'the system'. Even so, steroids, nebulizing and finally, one dose of ivermectin, got her through the worst of it & put her on the mend, finishing the course of ivermectin, of course. All of that said, & with empathy: There is still no excuse for personal irresponsibility, denial of truth, such that it demands total conformity of all to the LCD & worst case scenario ensured w/ mistreatment & propaganda which gives tyranny an excuse & a foothold to lord over all. I have cancer. I've crossed the line into what the world considers 'senior' : -) ....& I treat outside the system& do not expect everyone& the entire medical system to cater to& treat all as though they also were an elder & had cancer. Distinctions matter.

Dr. Mercola and all, I need help, i bought a nebuliser - I bought hydrogen peroxide 3% food grade - I bought distilled pure water. I looked on Dr. Mercolas video and followed the 1 pint of distilled water 1 ieaspoonful of salt and 3 quarters of a teaspoonful of Hydrogen Peroxide into the 1 pint to make the solution - but noticed Dr. Mercola used 12% not 3 % so what should I change also I'm in the UK so do teaspoon sizes vary in size in the US compared to the UK. I'm confused and I want to help my daughter who had covid in Oct 2020 and is plagued by chest infections and breathing difficulties often. She works in a children's nursery and mingles with so many germs and people. She takes all the vitamins suggested by many on this site. She also has trouble sleeping so constantly tired. She is not vaxxed Any helpful suggestions would be very welcome. Thank you -

I also acquired it from a triple vaccinated person. I want to recommend in addition to the protocol you mentioned, nasal irrigation with salt, h202 and a drop or two of lugol's iodine. Also, high doses of vitamin C. I never got a fever, the rest of the household did.

Reply to MoMac46 - I've tried to reply with help you asked for before but not been able to. Sympathies to your daughter having problems sleeping - I have two possible bits of help - one, to look up everywomanover29.com Trudy Scott's website and look up the amino acid questionnaire - it is really a list of amino acids (theanine, GABA, 5HTP and melatonin) all needed by the body and make a list of which one/s you need most and try those - preferably one at a time so you can see which ones really work. Another is to try energy medicine (Donna Eden and/or Madison King) - Donna Eden has a 'five minute energy workout/routine' that makes the energy in the meridians (as in Chinese medicine) run smoothly - she has a YouTube video with over a million hits - and also has ones which improve sleep.

Madison King has a YouTube video called something like 'how to get what you want' and it is how to programme the body to do what you'd like it to do - ie sleep more easily!!! I use her actions with my own words to help me sleep - you can't expect it to work immediately - after all your daughter's stress must be great, and has probably been around for a while, but I have found it to work over a week (repeated five times a day minimum, but it only takes a couple of minutes) - but you must also remember to keep doing it for a month after it has started to work, to really get into the subconscious (or the mini-me as Madison calls it). This technique has restored stomach acid and digestive enzymes in three days for me - a mere several decades after my doctors' incompetence turned them off, it has helped me to sleep, and sleep better and longer at night, but it has yet to make much of a dent in the Parkinsons I have got after being repeatedly spike proteined earlier last year - that makes me constantly shake and makes every day a nightmare

I'm so sorry truthsekker ... it's a hard one! I've watched my daughter take ill (vax inj'd as a baby) I think we're up to 6 times since covid began - who knows on the PCRs? The only time she tested positive was after being exposed over NYE by a newly boostered, flu shotted doc at the house she was staying at, he took ill and tested positive, and of course it was my daughter who got back home to us and then took ill. Did the home test. Positive.

But then the fever only lasted two days and she was better. Huh? This is so hard to understand. As for you - did you get the lung kind?

And did anyone give you Ivermectin? Soooo many of my friends (I'm in horse country, mind you, so that's actually the form they were taking) said they felt so much better after knocking it out with that. Also - even though we've had success without it, I'm wondering if you did Lugol's iodine with your HP/Nebulizer treatment?

Glad to read you were recovering. If you went the strictly mainstream route, you may not have been able to post this. I hope you are fully recovered now, 2 weeks later.

People who try to use constitutional rights in courts will never win because there are no constitutional courts. They are operate under military (admiralty) jurisdiction. You can tell this by the flag in the courthouse - it has a gold border on 3 sides. Since the 1950's, courts operate under Uniform Commercial Code (UCC) - ie. contract law, which is the highest level of law now used in the courts. UCC underpins all contract law. You cannot use constitutional law in a court operating under military jurisdiction. If you do go to court, in order to have the best chance of winning, you have to thoroughly familiarize yourself with yourself with the UCC, and you MUST notify the "judge" in advance that you will be entering court under UCC. If you don't, the judge will automatically assume that you're entering under constitutional law. Watch some videos on this topic on various alternative video channels to educate yourselves.

MAFA (Make Americans Free Again) I like that. Though, I like MAFIA better (Make Americans Free Individuals Again). ;) You are right about "rampant lawlessness" because this is NOT even a vaccine, it's experimental, and worse, it's NOT really needed (there are better and proven alternatives). Yet, people are being required to take it and some of the corrupt people up there want it as mandatory. A better explanation when looking at all the facts is that this is something more sinister. Can I say EVIL??

I knew from the beginning this was a set-up hoax. My husband a biologist, zoologist in college-computer guru by profession. He knew at the get-go the architecture of the virus was man-made. Tell that to others and, we were a couple of lunatics! We prayed for truth to be revealed—well now, more answered prayer thanks to the steadfast efforts of so many. Hope is coming into plain view for the masses. Let's all snap our fingers (way more than that as Popper explains) and get the masses to awaken from this psyops! Today is a new day. God's mercies are new every morning. Live it, embrace it, and have no fear!

Your husband is a treasure; I'm a scientist and every single freaking one of the biologists/scientists that I know and work with has followed the narrative from Day 1. I've been under fire for "questioning the science"...I ask WHAT science doesn't allow one to question it?! If it's science, one looks at the data. The data I've seen certainly indicates a man-made bioweapon (vax) is killing people (especially Craig Paardekooper's analysis, and so many others).

San - holy moly, you just gave me the words I needed. Every time I hear "let's not question the science" I shut up, I don't know what to say back to that without bringing up all the deaths around me. Deaths of healthy people in my own town! What is going on when I can't say - this is a DANGEROUS game?!!! I love how you said it - "What science doesn't allow one to question it?" !!!!!

From the MAFA website: All donations go to The Wellness Forum Foundation, a 501c3, and are tax-deductible. The Wellness Forum Foundation "sponsors" various endeavors, all linked to Popper, such as the Wellness Forum Institute for Health Studies or the Wellness Forum Health. "Participate in programs offered through The Wellness Forum Foundation; Ongoing training and support to help you build your business." Popper always uses pampopper@msn.com as sole contact address. A business domain address is really cheap.

For anyone doing business, clients with generic email addresses instead of their own company domain are red flags. wellnessforumhealth.com looks like an MLM money making scheme. At the bottom of their Programs page it says: "Operating a Chapter is Profitable In addition to membership, program, and product sales, you can charge for cooking classes, pantry clean-outs, the Food Over Medicine Consumer Course, and special events. We recommend that you have member and non-member pricing for your paid events in order to incentivize people to commit to a longer-term relationship with you/us" They offer a "Certified Health Educator program", with the requirements of purchasing an annual membership and taking the Wellness Forum courses for a total of over $5000.

Here you can find the actual requirements for certification: www.careersinhealthcare.com/health-educator "To become a Health Educator, learners must complete a Bachelor's Degree program in either health education or health promotion. During these programs, learners will receive instruction on theories and methods of health behavior, and will also be required to complete an internship. After graduating, professionals may choose to become certified by taking an examination administered by the National Commission for Health Education Credentialing, Inc. To maintain this certification, Health Educators must complete 75 hours of continuing education every five years." Do your own research!

Pam Popper mentions, very early in the video, the disappearance of many communities - and then appears to offer a single community as the solution. A single community is the problem. The pandemic is all about creating ONE community, where everyone follows the same rules, where, although individuals might have different opinions, different personal rules, all "communities" follow the same rules. Humans naturally live in many communities. Throughout our lives, we change and our communities change naturally evolving. Communities, small, medium, and large, are essential to healthiness. Focus on a single community to solve problems is a disaster. We need to revive our communities, all of them, for the health of it.

The irony is it won't be much of a community either. The Reset folks want to keep their community (the one they allow and control) mostly online in isolation at home. Masked whenever they encounter each other. This idea is great in controlling and quelling rebellions. BUT since part of their strategy is to turn us against each other the New Normies will have a hard time organizing to fight us. Say there are 30% of us opposed to 70% of them. The 70% can spy through the curtains and call the police or report FB or phone conversations. But they are by nature afraid to meet even with each other and have already proven themselves to be great physical cowards. And our numbers will grow as more people get sick of the current state of things. But the dollar is collapsing. Setting up a parallel economy is also essential.

Incredible, heartwarming article! I've made a number of observations of our state and our governor and they jive with what Pam Popper says. I've looked at the utter disdain that so-called brilliant people have for our freedoms, how they simply deny the existence of true, actual, solid science in lieu of their gibberish. What the the Deep State does is wallpaper the truth over with a feeling of disdain, they aren't interested in truths, only their perverted ideologies.

If you compare peer reviewed scientific papers with the glossed over lies of the potentates who rule like nickel and dime rajahs you realize that they are but diaphanous power seeking schwein that attend kindergarten at Klaus Schwab's home for wayward power drunk freakazoids. I was amazed to see the perceived archangel of the Democratic party from Hawaii has studied at the knee of ol' Klaus so she can keep pretending to be some kind of savior for the putrescent Democratic party.

Ya gotta just love the Israelophiles and those who see themselves as being so valuable that they deserve to be one of the future kapos genuflecting somberly at the altar of globalism and totalitarianism. Newsom, Buttergig, etc etc. They have thrown in with the Deep State hombres and the day will come where they will vastly regret doublecrossing the freedom lovers of this nation and the world. Turncoat politicians being Cabinet members? Being senators, representatives?

One last thought. There are people who insist there is no greater insult than being forced to wear a mask when entering a store or other aedifice. Governors facing reelection this fall have allowed mayors and storekeeps to "do as they see fit". If I see fit to do brain surgery, will the governor be OK with that? My point is that if I am forced to wear a mask by a particularly brutish store manager, I won't get angry, this actually galvanizes me and as I leave the store, I say, "you won't see my kind anymore nor will you see my drachmas again".

lol....drachmas! Love it. We told them they were losing the wallet cuz this butt in the pew had a Bible, head and feet: one Lord, & we're walking. The second time around. The first church in transformation we were in the dark as craft took it by stealth & deceit through small groups worked like the confessional & deceitful, stealth attack. The second one we better understood what we were dealing with. And by the third one, we saw the handwriting on the wall.....Three Self Patriotic Movement arm of Rome, American idol version. They speak like lambs, but cut people off at the knees from the shadows like dragons. Ruthless. Porneia and power, manipulative sorcery the name of their game: scientized, philosophized, then hardened into 'tradition'.

But I see the broader application. Also cautiously optimistic, loosely connected. The problem with cronyism is that the real problems don't need your business....the dollars extorted at the point of the sword of steel & handed out to cronies props them up, while the demoralization has hardened their consciences & simultaneously flattered their self-righteousness that they have a 'cause', it's cultic. As the corporatists acquire & control local businesses, they will keep the old names deceptively until it's too late. Like they did with the free & local churches. It's by design, deceit & stealth...so those distracted don't realize what's going on. Anyways, your strategy will work w/ local, middle-class owned businesses not realizing they're serving their destroyers by being blind faithers in 'HUMANITY!!!!!!' ...but not global corporatist owned & controlled. Gotta watch your back.

A call to action here in WA state! The WA State Board of Health is having a live webinar on Wed, Jan 12th to discuss applying current infectious disease WA codes to include COVID-19 for all WA State residents. The proposal allows local health officials to use law enforcement (WAC 246-100-070) to force an emergency order to involuntarily detain a person or group of persons (families) to be isolated in a quarantine facility following refusal to voluntary comply with requests for medical examination, testing, treatment, counseling, vaccination. These specifics come from WAC 246-100. It also includes the COVID-19 injections as part of school immunization requirements using WAC 246-105. Webinar ID: 894 7406 4216 Passcode: 957396. Details at sboh.wa.gov/.../January 12Online. There is a website called CAPR.US for more info; I'm in Spokane. Excuse typing errors. !

Here's some of the latest analysis-news: PROS AND CONS OF OMICRON - www.bitchute.com/.../V9GH03IuBCBC - forewarned is forearmed! Watched in amazement as the DOJ head solicitor basically gave the SCOTUS incorrect information and bad data. These shots are ineffective and dangerous, and do not stop transmission or infection. Find the references in govt.'s own data, on websites or with their letterhead. And shove it in their faces. If necessary, obtain the Oct 22 2021 FDA slide deck, showing on page 16, all the injuries expected from these shots. AND find the Pfizer safety review from 3 months after shots rolled out. (someone has this document, marked confidential.) Shows 1200 deaths from the shots and that was, apparently acceptable, just fine with Pfizer. add'l: you may want to find out if ICAN Network (Del Bigtree) is aware of this action.

Most choose the path of least resistance. That's not necessarily a bad thing but it can be dangerous if we don't engage our brains. Those in power know how to control the population. Pushing the right buttons at the right time. This is where critical thinking becomes crucial for survival!

There is positive news out there. But the fear mongers want us in fear so the news is all about fear. Yesterday I was hoping for Dr. Mercola to publish positive for even his posts can instill fear; and here this is posted. There are many groups fighting everywhere. The SEALS won their court case against the vaccine mandate. Now we have the USPS asking for an exclusion from it because if they have to fire the people who will not take the shot... the post office will be crippled. These next two points are positive but the fact they are getting out is. We have the Insurance report out of Indiana stating that there was a 40 percent rise in death (mostly non covid) among 18 to 64 that stated in 2021. This is unheard of. The report states that even a 10 percent rise would be considered unheard of. And now from the UK, 46 percent rise in deaths in 12 to 17. Stay in hope... if you find yourself overwhelmed in negative; then STOP reading, listening, speaking! In other words do a cleanse and choose hope.

Pam Popper's no-nonsense, logical approach to this horrific global travesty is a welcome breath of fresh air. As she described, forming a parallel society that operates locally, with cohesion, rules, and positive strategies, gives a whole new meaning and definition to the 21st-century operative term "Smart."

I found this article incredibly inspiring! Many of our neighbors who are like minded, unvaxxed, have started meeting every few weeks for wine night. This, though, is a real plan of action. Thank you Pam and Dr. Mercola for a fantastic article. Also, parallel societies already exist in the form of the Amish and Mennonite and they are successful, thriving communities. They take care of their own, that's for sure!

I'm in Canada but very excited about the small group thing. Pam's strategy makes it very simple. I'm already working in this area but am going to take a page from her playbook. imo, in every way it's Participation that changes things. Not great analysis or comments. Without active participation nothing changes. It's risking speaking our voice for change that does it. We can do it folks!

Looking to the future, I think this quote from Frederick Douglass in the past is still totally appropriate. If there is no struggle there is no progress. Those who profess to favor freedom and yet depreciate agitation, are men who want crops without plowing up the ground, they want rain without thunder and lightning. They want the oceans without the awful roar of its many waters. This struggle may be a moral one, or it may be a physical one, and it may be both moral and physical, but it must be a struggle. Power concedes nothing without a demand. It never did and it never will. Find out just what any people will quietly submit to and you have found out the exact measure of injustice and wrong which will be imposed on them, and these will continue till they are resisted with either words or blows, or with both. The limits of tyrants are prescribed by the endurance of those whom they oppress.

The FDA gives Pfizer 8 months to comply with disclosure. Doesn't this mean vaccine mandates are illegal, not only because the drug is experimental, but also because people cannot possibly have informed consent?

Informed consent went out the window with emergency use. My take is their drug/shot doesn't work well against delta and doesn't protect much against omicron, so the longer the info remains hidden, the longer it takes any researchers from blaring out the bad news.

Also, to echo what others have said for reinforcement: Since ingredients are allowed to be "Trade Secrets", if you don't know what these are, you cannot give informed consent. Some ingredients are listed, but not all. Even "Approved" drugs have caused damage and been given black box warnings after the fact, when side effects that were described as minimally occurring ended up being more frequent, e.g. fluoroquinolone antibiotics.

Accessable information is blank, redacted, data and statistics have been found by independent research or scientists reading their actual data to be misrepresented. The internet search for more information starts with many pages of vague and only basic limited information. This is where most people stop and trust. This is where the independent researchers with knowledge and medical equipment have been able to shed light.

We thought we had watchdogs elsewhere. So grateful for the humanity here, sharing wisdom for helping and not harming. I love this community for sharing the scientific references, which helps with more informed decisions.

Despite the complete and utter ignorance of the liberal Justices on the SCOTUS, who are completely misinformed about the virus, its variants, and the vaccines, there may be enough adherence to the Constitution to nullify the mandate I keep telling my patients to remember that the old phrase from investing has finally come to pass with this blown-out of-proportion crisis, "The trend is your friend". Omicron is making all overreactions in Public Health policy look more and more ridiculous. Soon the putsch to vaccinate will be moot. South African studies show mild illness and immunity from Delta with Omicron. England is of January 01, 4% Delta, 95.7% Omicron. IDRs (Infection death rates) are a fragment of previous waves. The same graphs are appearing in the US.

The hysterical response to this entire viral infection was based on stubborn adherence to the WHO and CDCs wild predictions of fatality, the insane belief, especially here in the US and a few other formerly free nations, that locking down and testing healthy people was a good strategy, rather than protecting the frail and vulnerable. Of course, forbidding early treatment--actually outlawing it in some places added real deaths to the ginned up, incorrect counts Deborah Birx was presenting all through 2020 at the COVID Task Force meeting in Washington.

The strategy now remains the one I have advised since the crisis began. Among others, boost Vitamin D serum levels above 55 Ng/mL, add magnesium and zinc to daily supplementation. Shed body fat, the absolutely largest factor in COVID morbidity and mortality. Since the data detailing Quercetin as a zinc ionophore comparable to HCQ and ivermentin, I have recommended that as a prophylactic and as an intervention. All of these recommendations are non-specific. They are protective from all viral illness. There will be life with endemic COVID, and all forms of upper respiratory infections. Here's hoping we can move along soon.

I have to credit Dr M with helping me “wake up” very early on in the Plandemic. I would have eventually but he really set me free and on the right path as soon as he new what was happening. I’ve been following Dr M for years and years and trust him. If I had one complaint it would be this one thing. It’s a minor thing but it still is annoying. Whenever I forward any of his articles, whether by text or email the recipient must usually sign up in order to read the article. I myself would not want to do that either. So a lot of his articles don’t get read by some people I send them to. I wish they could fix this …

"I mean, our government resembles more the government of China or North Korea than it does what we used to have." Actually, North Korea has rejected twice the corona vaccines, millions of doses, that were offered to them free of charge. The reason? North Korea deems the side effects of the vaccines to be so serious that they don't want to expose their citizens to them.

Thank you dr. Mercola for this great article. It's so nice to read something about someone who is efficient and effective, and who can point out the difference between just being inspiring and actually being effective and how easy and important it is to be effective. This plan will work. Thank you for bringing it to our attention so that each and every one of us can start a Thursday group if we want Solutions in our neighborhoods.

Dr Mercola; I want to say after this podcast, that they are indeed still killing people ! I watched, argued and Prayed that the hospital would not kill my husband, for 6 weeks he daily went downhill. First he went in, they jabbed that test up his nose. oh, C*v! D positive ! we have one protocol, they would not do or try anything else. I know he had pneumonia, which is treated differently! they gave him remedesivir, even though we initially said no, but after 5 days he was in not getting better, and was still making his own decisions. He said he wanted to try it. He was in quarantine, so I was not allowed to see him for 25 days ! 5 days after that evil drug, he was moved to ICU, and intubated. week later his kidneys were failing, he went on Dialysis, had G.I bleed, blood clots in his legs! few days later, he went in to A-Fib , threw a clot, and had a stroke . He never woke up, sadly I lost him on December 9th.

23rdpsalm ~ What you both went through was horrible, and all because these doctors aren't allowed to deviate from the instructions they're made to follow. My niece is going through nearly the same thing right now, and it's so sad. I'm so sorry for your loss and adding you to my prayer list as well.

23rdpsalm - I'm so very sorry for the loss of your loved one. I know how ruthless hospitals are. My husband was in hospital (in the UK) he was put on the Liverpool Pathway which drugged and killed him.That was 9 years ago, and I missed him so much. My heartfelt thoughts are with you.

The foot soldiers of the world's goliaths need to be convinced that they are on the wrong side. They need to see they too are slaves. Without these foot soldiers, the goliaths simply can't carry out this tyrannical agenda.

Wait until you see the foot-soldier slaves these mighty men of the earth, men of renown, will reveal & bring into the battle next who are spirits...after he who now letteth is removed with what men have rejected so that the Lord gives them over & they get their desire: when the veil between spiritual & temporal is rent & the terms of salvation change as well from faith to sight with many lying signs & wonders, men's hearts failing them for fear of what is coming on the earth. It won't be bravado, presumption & allegory then.

Yes it is descending into a two tier society over here in the UK. The vaxxed/masked and the unvaxxed/unmasked. Luckily I know a lot of the second half and the jab is NOT mandated in the UK for most. So life continues pretty OK so far.

I have lost most of my old friends due to being 'unjabbed' but have found new like minded true friends! It is sad and shocking how we have been victimised and shunned just because we prefer not to be Guinea pigs in this medical 'experiment'! Thank you Dr M and your team for helping to keep us sane!

Stockbridge, You said, "I have lost most of my old friends due to being 'unjabbed'..." I aver that you haven't lost much of anything worth holding onto. Consider this: Those "friends" deny your rights to self-ownership, personal liberty, and bodily autonomy. They revealed themselves to have been your foes all along.

In South Africa, the government wants to curb home schooling by requiring that an official needs to give permission to parents for home schooling. Can this same thing occur in the US as well?

The premise is that the state is the proper guardian of the child, not the parents. It is part of a larger problem where govt has decided our individual rights no longer matter.

i am not an attorney but i believe the answer is yes. i have a vague recollection of when teachers tried to make homeschooling illegal because they wanted a government-imposed monopoly on teaching. my recollection is that their argument was that only a government-approved teacher was able to adequately teach. i do not know what ended the effort but I suspect it ended because at the time voters did not support the idea.

The effort to squash homeschooling in the '70's (US) failed because the independent, freely assembling& associating, local churches were still strong. In the '90's-'00's the powers that shouldn't be had made progress in moving people from the Bible, historical roots remembering what Rome likes to hide& pretend didn't happen, doctrine& literacy, to the 'from a distance' ecumenical model& LCD doctrine, & confounding 'conservative' w/ 'faithful'. All they had to do was hold course.

You can't fight corporatism w/ corporatism: once the power centralizes, it corrupts. The response of the powers that shouldn't be in their cloistered planning sessions was Dole's deal seducing the churches under State control; infiltrating homeschool groups; placing sodomites/pedos w/ resistance to light, freedom& protecting the children into positions of power in social services&elsewhere finding ways to override family& community...while redefining it; infiltrating ministries& denominations organized according to the Babylonian corporatist order where every connecting layer is easily controlled by taking the top& inner circles.

Richard Wurmbrandt's Voice of the Martyrs is 1 example of that; the SBC another. They held "retreats',seminars'& 'leadership training',& worked it like they did dishonestly removing people from the KJB: don't tell the 'little people', 'let them down easy'. New pastors. All they had to do was find the equivalent of Birx & Fauci above& convince them their faith was vain, that deceit was good 'leadership'....'kinder& gentler',& the game was on. It's no mistake that Rick Warren is CFR.

We became like the unvaxxed when we held& stood. You must fight from separated ground, or be corrupted. Strategy was to fly under the radar, identify the deceiving influencers, & expose them. The issue w/ socialism is dependency, & the challenge is convincing folks that freedom & fear of God is far preferable to dependency & fear of Man. They have to choose truth, forced is tyranny.

navisos34, Yes, it can. In the form of government operators requiring private tutors to obtain their permission in the form of a license to teach. HOWEVER, Since no human being is a slave to others, including government operators, no human being legitimately requires another human being's permission to tutor his/her children at home--dictates to the contrary notwithstanding. Many parents have been giving government operators the middle finger by hiring private tutors whom they vet themselves by asking for proof of their competency in the subjects they tutor, hiring them to tutor their children at home, and paying them in cash "under the table".

navisos34, that's terrible. This has been going on for a long time in many countries. In the early 2000s, I heard a well-known minister on the radio one day on the topic of home-schooling and how it was being threatened. Then, sometime later, perhaps a couple more yrs., they were saying those who had been home-schooled wouldn't be allowed into colleges, since they weren't socialized not qualified, with the '"proper"' education ! I remember thinking how evil these people were, trying anything to maintain control, and keeping parents out of the picture.

We were in upstate NY in the 70s & our church had started a school, but only through grade 6 for awhile until they added on. In the late 70s, it was completed when our son was in 9th grade, and thankfully, we moved him there. Today, so many parents both work, making it difficult to homeschool, but I hope and pray many are able to make the right decision, as those kids are so important. The gov't is afraid the parents will have too much influence on their children that doesn't match what they have in mind, especially if God and morals may be mixed in.

In some states, that's the case. My daughter home schools in NY. She had to turn in a detailed teaching plan that needed to be approved. Her kids had to take a foreign language starting in first grade, but in-school kids didn't.

She even had to detail what their health/gym program would be. Then there's the every other year testing. I don't know if there is a requirement for education level of the parent. My daughter has a bachelor's in Fine Arts.

To get official accreditation, perhaps, but in the US one can still get a G.E.D., and attain high school graduate status. But universities are so up to it in BS and cost, trade schools are quickly supplanting them anyway. A shame because of the usefulness of a broad education, but what does it matter anyway if it has been replaced by indoctrination?

Ordinarily I agree 100% with your positions on health and politics. But why mention Chinaa and N Korea? Just focus on on the creeping authoritarianism in our own country without dragging foreign states into the picture. I wouldn't want to live in those places, but if those people wnat that type of system, so what? Once you buy into demonizing thier goernments you play right into the deep state objectives, viz., war and regime change. MIC wants you to focus on those nations to justify raising taxes to feed the military budget and ignore the widening security state aparatus that circumscribes us here in the homeland. It also weakens you in the fight against an ever deepening deep state that seems to have already seduced the democrats.

Pam's video hit hard. I've been going to the Oregon legislature for nearly 25+ years to get them to look at the science. It made "zero" difference. In fact I had a Democratic Senator tell me "its not about the science". Its about what the mostly Democrats believe and they could care less about the science. Ordinary citizens do not matter when all they have is science. It didn't matter if you showed up by the hundreds. The public hearings were just perfunctory. If you brought up human rights it didn't matter. If you brought up the medical ethical principle of informed consent, it didn't matter. If you brought up the repeated fraud of the pharmaceutical industry, it didn't matter. Pam's video hit hard when you realize all the sacrifices people have made to engage elected officials where they though evidence they presented somehow would get people to see. Nothing mattered.

In this recent dialogue between Mike Adams and Patriot Nurse she states "there has been a fundamental shift in the role of health care provider and patient./there are a couple of things going on, a lack of empathy in the past two generations by health care providers (notably, doctors)/and the shifting family structure within the U.S./the absence of a father figure . . . . ". The doctor then becomes the surrogate authoritarian, the "father figure". This dynamic explains a lot. Instead of the doctor-patient relationship being a "partnership, it has become a power structure" . . . . . Mike Adams notes that this trend toward authoritarianism has spilled over into other areas of society like the school boards, and media censorship. www.brighteon.com/01b92804-b7c3-43e4-9635-a39f1c290a6f Cue up circa 12:00 for a salient 3 minutes.

Epi-cure, all these unelected people need to do, when the going gets too hot to handle, is declare there is no longer an emergency. (An emergency for a bad cold??) add'l: PROS AND CONS OF OMICRON - www.bitchute.com/.../V9GH03IuBCBC The question is what's going to make it too hot to handle? Cannot imagine how much longer these tyrannical Agencies can keep it going. My guess is a bevy of angry mom's camping out on the CDC's doorstep and simultaneously the FDA's front and center revolving doors (doorstep) might just do the trick.

rose, a battalion of angry moms armed to the teeth might work even better. All in all, IMO, the moms are gonna win this thing, at least in the U.S. because what passes for men over here is largely pathetic. So if one in 200 batches/lots of vaxxes is especially toxic/lethal then why are so many people getting ill? Is omicron hysteria pushing droves of me-too-ers to these inhospitables (malapropism)? Is a sizeable portion of the E.Rs. now comprised of overreacting cold/flu patients? I'm placing D.E. Martin's 2 questions, which I'm exploring to underpin a lawsuit, before our county commissioners at their next meetup. ourtube.co.uk/.../Fm3NQxfOsDppDrK (thanks to MaxDuncan for the link) cah1248 I spent the better part of a year in a group that splintered as a subchapter toward the goal of raising enough money to hire a constitutional attorney. Overall, the donations trickled in too slowly and the wait was too long. In time the Thursday meetups seemed like an end in itself instead of the means toward the primary goal. Since then we have individually risen from the ashes and are more resolved than ever to forge ahead by being aligned with coalitions like Stand Up Michigan. The takeaway lesson is to remain sober to the rate of progress and not waste time on too lofty ambitions when there are simpler ways to move forward like Notices Of Liability and lawsuits served.

Dr. Mercola, thank you so much for this. I've only heard Dr. Popper's name vaguely once or twice. It was so wonderful and reassuring to watch this interview. Where I live, my husband and I feel so isolated. Literally everyone we know is in the Branch Covidian cult. Moving is not realistic right now, maybe in the future. I feel hopeful now that we can start to build some community. Thanks again!

I feel the same way. Only my husband and I are "vaccine" free. Everyone we know, friends, relatives (even adult children) and neighbors have all gotten the jab. It's a very isolating feeling. I wish to be able to find a "Stand up" group in my area.

Great article, it feels good seeing a lawyer question the legal basis for declared emergency powers. I figured this out early in the pandemic and I'm not a lawyer. Why aren't other lawyers thinking this way? Here's something I wrote in early, 2020.

The 'conditions' for declaring the California Emergency Services Act(CESA, § 8558 section (b)) of 'extreme peril to the safety of persons' over an epidemic were never met. You know why? Number 1. There is no live sample of this virus labeled SARS CoV-2.

It doesn't exist. It doesn't have a complete genome. It was made up from 37 narrow DNA sequences from a patient in Washington State, and stitched together using a computer. wwwnc.cdc.gov/.../table-of-contents Number 2.

Back in April during the peak of the pandemic, deaths by all causes took an abnormal drop to accommodate the myth that there was a pandemic. notthebee.com/article/a-few-days-ago-johns-hopkins-published-a-study-s.. Meanwhile, an examination of vaccine adverse events quickly describes COVID-19 symptoms to a T. pubmed.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/26021988 Under "Results." And this has been going on for years, as you can see by the 'Death by all causes' the past few years. The most popular coronavirus tests were never peer reviewed, and have consistently produced false positives up to 97%.

A peer reviewed study of the testing protocol has emerged from scientists around the world proving 10 fatal flaws in the test and demanding it be axed. www.rt.com/.../508383-fatal-flaws-covid-test Why, for the love of God won't a lawyer challenge the California Governor and it's Health Departments to define "extreme peril to the safety of persons" in the context of all previous and concurrent causes of death, and explain why COVID is more important than the others?

Don't 'donate' to any of these fake 'churches' and organizations of 'leaders'. Nothing but competing parasitical crony managing levels. Build food 401k's & yoke up with no one you don't know & trust with YEARS of evidenced reasons why you should do so. Ultimately, for the Lord's people, there will be a Red Sea moment & we're finding one another.

Laodicea will go on with the rest and MYSTERY as the Lord tries them all & gathers them to either the destruction of Revelation 18, or that of Revelation 19 at Armageddon. Genesis 18&19 parallel Revelation 18&19 KJB. So much for bloody Pax Romana and her 'salvations', leavened bread and cup of blood.

Hi! I just bought Pam's book and haven't read it yet. Will begin today. In certain parts of Maine over the weekend, masks are again required to enter some stores. I avoid going into those stores UNLESS I "really" need something urgent, and then I rush to get out With this happening, I will have more dollars in my purse Love your website Very informative Thank you Lies ... Lies ... and more Lies ... When will this end? Maybe when we stop paying hospitals to write covid19 on everything? When we stop putting people on ventilators and Remdesivir ... When we stop wanting to participate in the world's great illusion?

A very important article, thanks Dr. M. I've admittedly been too focused on surviving within the system to pursue these alternatives to the extent I should. Even though my state is still not that wacko, it is most important we support each other, especially businesses that have been hit hard by this insanity.

Yes, excellent point. Supporting businesses has been my number one. After my GF's son committed suicide (was a server and lost his job and didn't want to be a burden on the family :(as they were only barely surviving at the time) I started doubling tips to servers. You just never know what is going on in the life of the person sitting next to you, you know?

Reply to Momac - Using 3% hydrogen peroxide and saline, mix 1/4 (one-quarter) teaspoon peroxide with 7 1/4 (seven and one-quarter) teaspoon saline. This will give you a concentration of 0.1% peroxide. You must add the H202 to saline solution, H202 is not healthy to take alone. #1: Make Saline Water: Put one pint of water into a canning jar, and add one teaspoon of salt.

stir to combine. This makes 0.9% saline solution. #2: mix peroxide solution: (gives 0.1 % end concentration) 3% HP — 1/4 tsp HP + 7 1/4 teaspoon (7.25) tsp saline Can add a drop or two of iodine #3: add your 0.1% solution to the nebulizer

Do you have a fast and easy way to take down 15% - I don't know why it was sold to me in that concentrate, it's so very powerful :(and so I am down to drops into the nebulizer - I can make the saline portion, can't figure out the other in American measuring LOL

Here are my formulas to get 0.1% H2O2 in 0.9% saline (US and metric): 1) Make 0.9% saline with 1tsp salt per pint (16 fl oz) of distilled (preferably) or purified water. I use more potassium chloride than sodium chloride (natural sea salt, with no additives), and magnesium chloride might even be better if one can obtain it. Metric 9ml salt per liter of water. 2) Dilute the H2O2 to 0.1% (one tenth of a percent) solution in the saline.

For 3% H2O2 you get in drug stores, that's 30 parts saline to 1 part H2O2, which would be 1 tsp per 5 oz of saline. Food grade H2O2 is preferable, but tends to be much more concentrated, typically about 35-36%, in which case ¼ tsp per 15oz of saline gets about 0.1% H2O2 For food grade 35-36% H202, that's about 3ml H2O2 per liter of saline About twice as much 15% H2O2 as for 35% H2O2 would work It's all scalable Finally, how do we convince the "unaware" population? What I can't understand about this whole "project" is that the COVID virus came from a lab in China. Then, how did we deal with it....we listened to China. Lock downs, masks, stay home and die or go the hospital where it was misappropriately "treated" it, an die! Seems like right from the start (or before) things were in place to dupe us all, some of America took the "poison" apple from the witches!

It's a bit of an art to have a sense of what people can handle. My approach is to get a sense if people are reachable at all, and start with the most digestible morsels of the lowest-hanging fruit that is most likely to appeal to their inclinations, without challenging overall belief systems. Enough cracks need to form before the belief system shatters.

MoMac46, re nebulized HP, check out Dr Thomas Levy's "Rapid Virus Recovery". After reading the HP protocol on Mercola site which also made reference to Levy's book, I was surprised to find differing information related to dosage. Levy states that most people can tolerate the mild burn from straight HP which he considers to be safe. He also recommends 3% HP I have been using 1:1 solution, teaspoon of water with teaspoon HP 3% 5 mins when needed.

all due respect to Pam, I dont think she has really thought any of this through... the number ONE thing is to rally..the number one.. it drains huge amounts of resources from law enforcement.. wakes up far more Police.. wakes up huge numbers of the public bystanders..

starts confidence building in the public to take on organised crime.. starts huge networks.. make the press report through sheer numbers..and volume.. gives people voice that had none before..

i have been to DOZENS of rallies, and ALL had significant impact on massive change to policies.. NUMBERS OF PEOPLE IN THE STREET ABUSING PUBLIC SERVANTS SCARES PUBLIC SERVANTS, its very basic..I dont advocate it, but people do it.. here in Australia 2 days after we had 250,000 in sydney most of our "mandates" were relaxed, still virtually are.. us press have massively misinterpreted our "lockdowns" here in Australia..the us is just as bad as ours, the borders are horrific..we dont have millions pouring in..

and the "election" that trump gave away was beyond insane.. new zealand, israel, canada..are the big three...anywhere where large continuous rallies are being held is braking the system, and causing mass awakening of the population.. NUMBERS on the street, change things, courts are controlled oppposition, and defy reality, because you are entering THEIR company..its not a "court" its a corp.. england has chucked ALL mandates..

so has spain so has africa.. so has India.. sweden japan..has warnings on their vax..WARNINGS! in fact 75% of the world isnt even in this scam, its basically western banking countries tied to western media and movies.. by banking cartels..who admits it, less than 10% of poor countries have a vax program..this whole thing is pathetic..its beyond lame.

when pam says protests do nothing she couldnt be farther from the truth..courts DO nothing, they are designed to give you little "victories" pathetic ones..that no one hears about.. new parties emerged here in Oz from rallies!

Hi there - would you expand on "the election that Trump gave away?" for me... Just curious what you've heard. My poor GF was in Detroit witnessing insanity that was literally fraud happening and they were trying to tape everything up so you couldn't watch them ... I was shocked! And kept asking myself - how many places is this happening? Ugh! I know people were happy he's gone, but he took us out of the WHO! The whole thing just makes me grrrr.

I appreciate some of the health information Dr. Popper has put out, such as regarding vitamins D and B12, and I appreciate her apparent efforts regarding regaining freedoms lost during the COVID-19 crisis. Ending the abuse by our governments is vital, but that alone is not a true win for the victims in the overall scheme of things. If a bully beats you up and you never get a lick in, you don't say you won just because he finally stopped beating you. Pharma and their investors, and their henchmen in government and the media, only had to deceive and abuse people long enough to make out like bandits, and they did that. They're the winners. A true win for the victims would be winning monetary compensation for damages suffered, and negating the profits that pharma and their investors and henchmen made through their misdeeds.

This leaves me frustrated. I am in no position to start my own group. I am a SERIOUS introvert. Furthermore, I am absolutely not comfortable in a group of people, and she says it has to be in person. Why? I need to be able to communicate with people remotely, because that is the only way I feel safe and comfortable. My history of this need goes back practically to my infancy, and I have already lived 3/4 of a century, so it's nothing new. So I can't start a group. But I would join a group in my city, especially if I didn't have to go to meetings. I hate meetings. My hearing problems are virtually impossible in a meeting, even with hearing aids. I can't understand a thing!

So how do I find an existing group? We really need for all the groups in one city to network with each other. This is on a par with the fact that although I get her emails, everything she does is videos. I don't have the time, patience, or hearing for a video. Give me a ton of reading material, and I'm good. So how do I mesh with her efforts? DernedifIknow. Everyone starting little groups, even if they grow, still fractures us. I need for her to tell us how to find existing groups, if she won't refer us. And in fact, this is the first time I ever heard of people refusing to refer anyone. Usually, people have a map on their web site. You choose your location, and they list all the things going on at your location, with contact information. So that leaves me out in the cold. Please ask her to address this.

I wish the article would have mentioned getting a free website like at tapatalk.com A messageboard is a good option, but it has free software to build a website. A messageboard would be great for homeschooling which seems like a good idea in the times of spike proteins in the schools. The article could have called for a librarian effort and anybody in a librarian effort should have a website since it is free and a useful thing. Everyone needs a place to tribe.

You don't have to start your own group. Every contribution has an impact. The 'pen is mightier than the sword.' You said you like to read, so if you participate in sharing helpful information, that is terrific. Don't apologize for your way of being in the world, not everyone is outgoing, and being introverted is not a liability, honor your sensibilities, they have their own offerings.

Challenging " the legal basis of the emergency declaration that allowed the mandates to be rolled out in the first place " Is a very good start to the legal challenge. BUT your emphasis on" separate systems" I question although thought of..... is that NOT JUST exactly what is already happening with having to prove your vaxx status? Are you then not playing into the Great ReSet's hands to obviously separate 2 groups of people?? Reminds those of us with a knowledge of history of the awful times and dreadful deaths and experiments of the Adolf Hilter Joseph Goebbles and DR>?? Mengele times…

And my amazement continues how can the majority of the worlds population it seems… be so convinced that what is happening is the only way to go>>>?? At least 1 of my Natural hat wearing MD's has left the practice… she has always been a non repeat vaxx Lady, it is patients loss but at least she made a statement not to be blackmailed into taking the experimental vaxx gene therapy falsly advertisd as vaccine>>> and as predicted Booster after booster due to the failed Vaxx in the first place... you know advertised as the 2 shots that will give the nation all its freedoms back... LIES and More Lies... be blackmailed into taking the experimental vaxx gene therapy falsly advertisd as vaccine>>>

What is oozing, creeping, lurking, deceiving, and never sleeps is the dis-ease of despair. Your addiction to the fear is equal to your reliance and allegiance to the moronmedia, Plus boosters. Face it, you have learned little, and it is you...that ruins it for the rest and the future generations. Your penance is to mask your face from the sun for an eternity. And be happy about it. Jab at it!

What a positive article! Great news, and Pam Popper sounds like she is on fire! Thursday groups sound great too. Although I don't get the part where they cannot connect people to an existing group...? Surely, as soon as there are two people in a group it becomes an 'existing' group, and so if people can't ever be added, how does it grow? So, that part doesn't make sense to me.

Dr. Pam Popper mentioned that attorney Tom Renz testified in an Ohio House Committee meeting. It was on June 9, 2021. He gave proponent testimony for Ohio HB248: The Vaccine Choice & Antidiscrimination Act. If interested in the bill: www.voteyesonhb248.com At this point in time, after our Ohio legislators doing everything in their power to destroy HB248, we now have a Petition Initiative to put the bill on the ballot for Ohio voters to vote on. If this succeeds then the HB248 language would be incorporated into Ohio law. We are collecting signatures now. Several legislators have said that Ohio HB248 has had the most public support of any bill in the HISTORY of the State of Ohio!! I call it "The Bill To Die On" and Ohio Advocates For Medical Freedom President, Stephanie Stock, calls it "The People's Bill." Both are accurate.

I actually made a good email friend, when this person asked for any treatments for the jabbed or Covid in the comment on one of the Rumble videos I was watching. He posted an email and I sent him a reply and listed all the info I had for treatment and people to listen to. He turned out to be a really nice person and he is now on my short email list that I blast out daily all the videos and emails i get from the REAL RED PILLED AWAKE people and doctors, like from Dr. Mercola (and now I also have to download the PDF in case they can't get to it in time before it's removed I put the PDF as an attachment in the email I send out). I also post them on Spreely. com and Trumpbook usa.com and Brighteon.social so I can find things fast in case I need to resend something. It is sometimes faster to go there and look up an article/video. I don't post on FB, I deactivated Twitter. I do get Pam Poppers emails, but get so many I usually delete them, but now I won't. I hope what she is doing will work.

This is so wrong in so many ways. Must every aspect of life be synthetically-controlled? metro.co.uk/2022/01/07/farmer-gives-cooped-up-cows-vr-headsets-to-incr.. "This really does, I think, remind everyone of when COVID-19 first appeared and there were such major disruptions across every part of our normal life," said Tom Cotter, director of emergency response and preparedness at the global health nonprofit Project HOPE. A Willie Nelson song is running through my head. "We Sure Could Use a Little Good News Today." Nice to read this. Thanks Pam. Worth noting the real reason the Aussies are in such a pickle. Lots of other nations don't have guns but are better off than Australia. Most of the people down under have been way to loyal, trusting and obedient to officials who deserve no loyalty, trust, or even obedience. Governor Holcomb is a bit of a RINO but is known for being the first American governor to sign it into the state constitution that churches could not be forced to close under any emergency. (Preachers and leaders may choose to cancel services in some cases.) You know why Holcomb did that? Hoosiers love going to church and probably would just ignore the mandate in droves anyhow. If they know lots of people will not comply the tyrants will often repeal their edicts just to save face. When they aren't masking up for the cameras.

Australia rising. https://youtu.be/EWazgbMum8Q Numbers count, but protests and petitions are often ignored by governments. It helps that there is widespread resistance, actually refusing the jab. Effective actions will have consequences, such as lawfare and convictions, financial costs to pharmaceutical industries, boycotts, etc. Also, vote the basturds out.

Good. Loving your neighbor is the biggest monkey wrench in this takeover. If we had really been looking out for each other--not isolated at home saying, "Let George Washington do it," this could not have happened.

Thank you Pamela Popper for being a beacon of light during these dark times🙏🏻 Also, Private Membership Associations are “popping” up. These PMA’s are private businesses that are not beholden to any government oversight and mandates. They include healthcare, legal, school and food private businesses 🙏🏻

Love you Pam and Dr. Mercola! Two long time health and truth heroes! You’re in good company and well respected by all who “get it”. (We need to get the EUA stopped - yesterday!) Del Bigtree at his www.thehighwire.com and Robert Kennedy, jr www.thechildrenshealthdefense.org The constitutional sheriffs www.cspoa.org. The truth about cancer www.ttac.com The truth about vaccines www.ttav.com These are heroes too!!! The Frontline doctors, HUGE heroes, many kudos and now we have Dr. McCullough and Dr. Malone! Tom Renz!! Stew Peters! Dr. Vernon Coleman! Heroes we have. All the other side has are liars and losers and sociopaths! You all are great examples of what courage, freedom and truth looks like.

Finally some good news!! Are there any others out there like me who would reach out and start a local group, but are in a predicament with a spouse who is on the opposite side and wouldn't understand nor agree? I want to know what I can do with limited time.

Pam Popper is correct. I live in Ohio and I work for a common pleas court judge. I want to say more, but I am not sure this is the best forum for me. I have been trying to find a MAGA meeting. I have been going to the meetings at Portia's, but they slowly turned into social gatherings instead of rallying. If anyone can direct me where to go, I can possibly be of some help.

I'm not sure which is better, Dr. Mercola's articles or the comments from the Mercola community? Both provide great insight and understanding. "The eyes see only what the mind is prepared to comprehend." - Henri Bergson Yes, we are at war. The battlefield: "Pseudo-Reality of COVID" (DR. Fauci) vs. The "Reality of Common Sense" The Powers That Be (TPTB) (Power Elite) (Deep State) creates their "Pseudo-Realities" using corporate & social media via their; gaslighting, narrative, gatekeepers, and algorithms. Their tools are censorship, half-truths, and "lies by omission." The #1 "Pseudo-Reality of TPTB" is convincing the "masses" that they, TPTB don't exist. It is all just a bunch of "conspiracy theories." Don't think (who has the time anyway) or ask questions, just keep watching your T.V. and interacting with social media.

40/50 years ago I realized that the most important word is pseudo- starting with Harry Browne's pseudo warehouse receipts- fake receipts for real gold and silver- today's "money" is nothing but an extension of these pseudo receipts www.amazon.com/s?k=harry+browne&crid=1LYGOZK95X8HH&sprefix=har..

Very insightful and impressive thinker is Pam Popper. Everybody chooses where they wish to fight and how. The resistance movement may still require a D-day invasion force. That force I believe is in elected and appointed officials who can if they have the mind set, conscience and spirit to alter the circumstances in a major way. It is a mind set that must be reached just as much as a protagonist decides that enough is enough and says " oncle" This mind set is what causes change in govt attitude and why in some countries the military has a lot of say and in others very little or how countries differ in customs and behaviors. How we reach this mind set is an all in effort at many levels and where it is deficient Pam Popper is filling that gap and wears the customary bulls eye target.

Extreme wealth and technology encourages megalomania by those few who entice government to their ends rather than the autonomy of its people. Who will ever say the government recruits the wisest and most honest advisors to examine information? Yet they should and know how to find them. Most will toe the line or are bought as this is the mind set they have adopted. Fear of being alone in their stance is another issue. But things are changing due to attitudes and behaviors changing. My belief is that those who have been captured but not corrupted they will in time speak out if not to relieve their conscience but to offer some resistance to their overlords. Self preservation in the light of continuous and obvious stupidity is a good reason to resist. But it begins with a mind set and this is occurring in the attitudes and information coming from those who were asleep before and for others who knew the courage to speak as the climate changes.

This is a MUST! "The public cannot comprehend this [silent] weapon [of control], and therefore cannot believe that they are being attacked and subdued by a weapon. The public rightly instinctively feel that something is wrong, but because of the technical nature of the silent weapon, they cannot express their feeling in a rational way, or handle the problem with intelligence. Therefore they do not know how to cry for help, and do not know how to associate with others to defend themselves against it." Bill Cooper ~ 'Behold a Pale Horse'

Pls see pubchem.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov "COVID-19 Symptoms Alert Machine (CSAM) scanner, or apparatus...employs Artificial Intelligent (AI) technology in combination with the latest mobile device technology (viz. smart phone/smart watch) to quickly help track down people who have COVID-19 symptoms anywhere and anytime, isolate them, and professionally handle them, not allowing SARS-CoV-2 virus to spread. CSAM automatically measures body temperature and assesses lung conditions such as pulmonary fibrosis and B-lines (for asymptomatic people), and other current health vital information (CHVI), furnished by the participant, such as fever, sore throat, headache, and body ache to generate an alert signal when COVID-19 symptoms are found significant and to send it out to a COVID-19 control center. The alerted participant is then immediately required to go to the COVID-19 control center or be picked up by a special COVID-19 emergency vehicle for isolation and further evaluation and testing. If the testing turns out to be COVID-19 positive, the participant will be quarantined and treated appropriately according to COVID-19 protocol until he/she is tested COVID-19 negative.

In the meantime, people who have been in close physical contact with this participant will be alerted and requested to be immediately checked for COVID-19 symptoms. If anyone is found to have COVID-19 symptoms, then he/she must go through the same protocol. The process is repeated until all people in the cluster are tested COVID-19 negative. This will ensure that SARS-CoV-2 virus for this cluster has been completely eliminated. A rapid deployment of this type of apparatus throughout communities where people tend to congregate such as superstores, supermarkets, and any other establishments, small or large, can help to contain the rapid spread of the disease...People, who pass through this apparatus without an alert signal, should feel more confident..." what are "B-lines"?

THAT is tyranny writ large. Perfect cover for eliminating 'resisters' to the regime change & transfer of wealth & power.....while not effective positively for health since the 'symptoms' for covid are being a living, breathing person having the occasional sniffle. It effectively locks down everyone except the powers that be who control the AI system & infrastructure. They haven't even isolated & revealed SARS-CoV-2 ....releasing the information so that citizens can test with certainty, or develop comparative treatment studies. Why so surreptitious? It's also a ridiculously obvious scam for constant & repetitious testing fees with potential to deliver more than a positive or negative covid response. Stupid. Who cares if colds spread rapidly, especially with a disease that then confers immunity? Unless, of course you're talking a total control loop where the diseases are created in which case criminal charges need to be filed for premeditated murder. Unacceptable.

Great video. The place to start is the stock market. It is completely corrupt, huge investment companies are using our money to buy everything. From the media to health care, from the food chain to the banking and transport industry. My favourite is that the walls we put round our computer programs, software data and personal information ie NORTON and to a slightly lesser extent McAffee is totally controlled by Vanguard and Blackrock. Over the past few years the USA government dumped trillions of dollars in to the stock market to keep it profitable for the elite. This is your and your grand kids money, that they are giving to these huge organisations, who then control us and control the government that then will steal more of your money.

@otis, @randyfast; I agree on the hoax part. C has never been isolated, and it's all been based on a computer model, and then there's the push for V, Big Pharma gets rich. Fear mongering, brainwashing, control, targeting the children & etc. My burning question is this: I know 3 unV'd people who have had "C," and 6 months to a year a later, a sudden and random stroke. If there's no "C," then what are your thoughts on why there is an increase in stroke for so many people at this time? Shedding vax perhaps? Sedentary life, masks, stress, fear?

How can it be a hoax when so many are coming down with the symptoms? Read James Lyons-weiler's articles. The earlier variants had a more damaging spike, the omicron spike doesn't seem to be able to cause that kind of earlier tissue harm. Just guessing here, but I would think perhaps the earlier variants caused some clotting issues for some people.

Nothing bothers me more than people profiting from covid. I tried to read a part of your blog but was denied because I haven't paid. Yet I've bought supplements from you Dr Merkola which I hoped subsidized a tiny portion of your costs in sharing information. I could have bought them in Canada.

While I appreciate the troubles you've been through, you have never before denied information. I know your followers will criticize me but you are the 2nd doctor that I have followed religiously who has moved to a paid site.
