STORY AT-A-GLANCE

- A key concern that vaccine passports bring to the fore is related to privacy. If implemented, they will strip us of most of the privacy we're used to, as they are a precursor to digital identity and a far more invasive digital surveillance apparatus
- Another key concern is that vaccine passports and digital IDs can force compliance in any area of life
- The vaccine passport is a platform to which they can add a digital ID and central bank digital currencies (CBDCs). This would give them near-total control over your life, as they can "cancel" your existence and ability to live if you dissent
- If we accept vaccine passports, we're basically giving our consent to everything that comes after
- Another global economic crisis is a mathematical inevitability, so work on improving your resiliency, food security and self-reliance through community

In this interview, we take a deep dive into vaccine passports with Nick Corbishley, author of "Scanned: Why Vaccine Passports and Digital IDs Will Mean the End of Privacy and Personal Freedom."

In my mind, there's little doubt that the primary reason for the rollout of the COVID jabs was not for public health but to justify the rollout of vaccine passports, which in turn are just the first iteration of a much broader mechanism to surveil, track, manipulate and control the population of the world.

Corbishley has been a journalist, writing about politics, finance and privacy issues for the past decade. While based in Barcelona, Spain, he's been contributing to two U.S. blogs since 2013.

> "Israel was the first democratic country to launch digital IDs, in February, 2021, and when I started to see what was going on there, I began to get very concerned," Corbishley says. "I wrote an article in April 2021, raising my concerns about the risks these vaccine passports posed.
> Then, little by little, I began to see what's happening in Europe. I began to see what was happening in Italy, in France, when the so called Green Pass was launched in June. This was a document that was supposed to be created to enable travel between countries in Europe.
> Very quickly, it began to be used to control access to public services, access to public places within one's own country. We were beginning to see restrictions that we'd never seen in our lifetime.
> So, I began to write more and more and this brought me to the attention of the Vermont-based publisher, Chelsea Green. We had some conversations and we decided that there was an opportunity to write about something that everybody should know about. Even at this stage. It's not being talked about anywhere near as much as it should be."

Two Key Concerns

One of the primary concerns vaccine passports bring to the fore is related to privacy. If implemented, they will strip us of most of the privacy we're used to. It's quite clear that they are a precursor to digital identity and a far more invasive type of digital surveillance apparatus.

> "The passports essentially function as a gateway to allow government to herd us into a totally new reality where our actions, our movements, our thoughts, our behavior are tracked and surveilled," Corbishley says.

But it's not just about surveillance. It's also about forcing compliance, and that's the second key concern.

> "If we've learned one thing about the vaccine passport, this is about changing the way we relate to government, and it's about changing the way government relates to us, the governed.
> If you do not do exactly what the government says going forward, whether that is putting one jab inside your arm, whether is putting two jabs inside your arm, or however many jabs inside your arm, you will be deactivated. You will not be able to access the most basic services and the sort of places that we need to be able to participate in society and economy."

Surveillance on Steroids

Of course, we've been under surveillance for many years already. All Google-related technologies are tracking and surveillance technologies. Our cell phones track and surveil us. Ditto for Facebook and other social media platforms. They're all harvesting personal information and keeping tabs on everyone's whereabouts.

We also know these technologies have been used to influence and manipulate people's thoughts, beliefs and behavior. Up until now, however, all of that manipulation has been covert. The system that's being erected now is unique and new in that the forced compliance will be, in many cases, overt — blatant and indisputable, as punishment will be tied to things like your personal finances and travel privileges.

Clearly, the vaccine passport is a platform to which they can add central bank digital currencies (CBDCs). So, as an example, the government could put out a political narrative, and if you vocalize disagreement, there goes access to your bank account. Or your travel privileges. Or your loan application.

With Google-based smart homes, it's not even impossible to foresee a future in which you could simply be locked inside your home if you were to be labeled a dissenter. Or locked out of your home. Or they could shut off your utilities.

The possibilities to punish dissenters are endless when everyone and every THING is digitally identifiable, trackable and wirelessly connected. With a single keystroke, someone you don't know can shut down your life, rendering you homeless and helpless.

Chances are, there won't even be a live person anywhere for you to contact with your grievances. Much of the system will be run by artificial intelligence and various algorithms. It's important to realize that if we accept vaccine passports, we're basically giving our consent to everything that comes after, Corbishley warns. We're accepting that this is our future.

Why We Must Reject Digital IDs and CBDCs

We must also remain alert to the rollout of other control mechanisms that are just as problematic as the vaccine passports, especially digital IDs and CBDCs, but also any number of other digital and biometric controls. As explained by Corbishley:

> "Right now, in Canada, we've got the premier of Ontario saying that they are going to withdraw the vaccine passports. We've got Alberta saying it's going to withdraw the vaccine passports.
> This is the message we're getting from all over the Western world. It's like, 'It's time to take a step back. We are now going to let you live your life. We're going to let some kind of normality return.'
> You're seeing Scandinavia talking about doing away with vaccine passports altogether. So, it's interesting to see some countries using that language. But I think you have to be very careful because as they're talking about doing this, they're ushering in digital identity systems, which are going to be on a much grander scale than the vaccine passports ...
> They are instituting digital identity that is going to allow not just this kind of control of your vaccine status, but control of your tax records, control of your employment records ... And they will include ... your vaccine status. So, it's extremely disingenuous. I think they are misleading their populations in a very dark way ...
> All of these things are happening, but the ultimate step is probably the central bank digital currencies, which are likely to come on board in the next three to five years.
> The chairman of the Bank of International Settlements, Agustín Carstens, who used to be the chairman of the Bank of Mexico, openly said that the wonderful thing about central bank digital currencies is that it allows them to track everything you do.
> What he didn't say is that it allows them to deactivate an account. It allows them to stop people from being able to transact. They didn't go that far. But he said that this is so different from cash. So yeah, people are not realizing just how this control grid is being built, little by little, piece by piece, but they need to start paying attention before it's too late."

They're Building a Social Credit System

By now, many are familiar with the social credit system in China, or have at least heard of it. How does this system compare or relate to vaccine passports and digital IDs?

> "I think that the social credit system in China is, to a certain extent, a template. It's where governments probably want to go. They would like to be able to use the new technologies we have to nudge people into the right sorts of behaviors without having to use more overt punishment.
> You can either reward people for doing the right sort of things, or you can give them a little digital spank every now and then when they're doing the wrong sort of things. I think that that is where China is leading the way.
> Ironically, in the research I did for my book, I found that while China's ambitions with the credit social credit system are essentially unfettered — they want total control — they're not there yet.
> They're still running quite a few pilot schemes. So, it depends where you are in China, the extent to which you are exposed to this kind of system, where you're getting points for good behavior and where you're getting points deducted for bad behavior.
> But the template is there. You've also got companies like Ant Financial and Tencent. These are the equivalents of Google, Facebook, whatever, that are running their own social credits schemes within their own little universe. So, it's a very complex situation in China. It's not as complete as some might believe, but the intention, the ambition, is huge.
> I would say that we are definitely seeing examples of this beginning to feed through into the West. We're seeing banks talk about using our social media behavior to determine our credit score, which is very similar to what they're doing in China. There's clearly the means, and there's clearly a desire to push in that direction."

Unity Is the Challenge of Our Lifetime

The challenge we now face is that, to have any chance of preventing this control grid, we need to be unified. The problem is, many simply aren't able to see the dangers. Most people under the age of 30 are used to doing just about everything on their phones, and the convenience of digital IDs and digital banking is alluring.

Organizations such as the World Economic Forum and many of the central banks that are pushing the rollout of this control grid can also make it impossible or near-impossible to live without a digital ID and CBDCs. Already, we've seen leaders saying, out loud, that their goal is to make life as difficult and inconvenient as possible for anyone without a vaccine passport. They'll do the same for digital IDs and CBDCs.

> "One of the best examples is Italy," Corbishley says. "If you want to see a country that has really gone into sixth gear with the vaccine passports, it's Italy. They've said, 'Look, if you don't have this document, you cannot work. You cannot get on a bus and go across town. You cannot get on the metro. You cannot access retail premises apart from supermarkets, pharmacies, petrol stations and pet stores.'
> You have basically closed down, narrowed down the existence to such a limited one that most people end up just saying, 'OK, let's do it. I don't have an alternative. I'm not going to survive this way.'
> If you have a mortgage and your finances are already tight, and your government is telling you, you're not going to be able to work, most people crumble, and so they're able to do it ...
> A journalist in Canada was talking about the truckers, the Freedom Convoy. He was saying, 'These guys don't represent Canadians; 90% of Canadians have taken the vaccine and they're all perfectly happy with the restrictions, the mandates.' It's like, how do you know how many of those 90% actually took the vaccine because they had no choice? It was a very disingenuous argument."

How to Prepare for the Inevitable

While the situation is bleak and dire, Corbishley doesn't believe vaccine passports, digital IDs and CBDCs are inevitable. "I think we're in the midst of a major battle," he says.

> "I think there will be this creation of a parallel community, a parallel society, where people are able to function. We're seeing signs of bartering beginning to take place within a community like that in Italy. They are surviving as best they can — and we're talking about millions of people who haven't crumbled. They've not given way yet. ~ Nick Corbishley"

The question is, how can we win when all the cards seem stacked against us?

> "I think that we have to, No. 1, inform as many people as possible. That's why I wrote the book. I wrote the book hoping to reach people who maybe had been vaccinated, but were beginning to have certain doubts, people who were on the fence.
> I mean, I know plenty of people who have had two shots, who are wary about having a third one. I know plenty of people who have had two shots, have had Omicron, and they're now thinking, 'Why the heck am I having to take a third shot?' People are beginning to question this.
> I think that we are in the midst of what can only be described as an existential battle. If we lose this battle, it can be very difficult, as individuals, to protect ourselves because the degree of control they will have over us is going to be huge.
> I think there will be this creation of a parallel community, a parallel society, where people are able to function. We're seeing signs of bartering beginning to take place within a community like that in Italy. They are surviving as best they can — and we're talking about millions of people who haven't crumbled. They've not given way yet.
> That gives me a certain amount of hope. I think the fact that people have grown tired of the restrictions means that government is having to, to a certain extent, reconsider, but at the same time, they are pushing through digital IDs.
> I think this is what is really important for people to understand. While they're saying, 'We are going to abandon the vaccine passports,' in most countries where they're saying this, that is not the case. In the U.K., they've not done that. They have simply shifted from a mandatory vaccine passport to a voluntary vaccine passport.
> You've got vaccine passports very much in use for international travel. So, if you're British, you want to travel to mainland Europe, if you've not got your vaccine passport, you're not going to be able to go mainland. It's the same if you're European and want to go to the U.S.
> So, there is so much happening it's hard to keep track. That is coming from somebody who spends most of his day trying to keep track of these things. If you are just someone who is working a 9-to-5 job and you get home and you've got three kids to look after, it's going to be much harder to keep abreast of these developments.
> I have a certain amount of hope that they haven't won yet. But it's an immense amount of power they have. We are talking about organizations like the World Economic Forum, which represents hundreds of the most powerful companies on the planet. We're talking about the most powerful governments on the planet.
> So, it's going to be a huge battle, and they've got most of the advantages in this battle. But I do think that what's happening in Canada suggests a resistance can be formed. I think that resistance is growing in Germany. It's certainly growing in Austria. The government is beginning to have second thoughts about the vaccine mandate."

Expect Economic Collapse

There are also the growing economic risks, globally, to consider. The central banks around the world have painted themselves into a corner and they can't get out. We are almost certain to see another financial crisis. It's only a matter of when.

There is already clear evidence we are in the early stages of economic collapse, and that's a parallel issue that needs to be taken into consideration when trying to predict what might happen with digital IDs and CBDCs, as they're all connected. To prepare for an inevitable economic collapse, I would suggest focusing on improving your resiliency on a local level.

For example, make sure you have access to water supplies other than your tap, grow your own food and develop relationships with other local growers and farmers to build your food security.

These are very basic things that can save your life when everything collapses and your dollar, drachma or euro becomes fit for use as toilet paper. Having food, water, shelter and community makes you far more resistant to tyranny because if you don't have these things, you need the government to provide them for you.

> "I think the community is essential," Corbishley says. "Having people who are of a similar mindset, of a similar worldview, people you can definitely count upon ...
> Resilience is going to be very tough. As a result of the lockdowns, small businesses are in serious straits. They've had to take on huge amounts of debt just to weather the lockdowns … There's no doubt that large companies have much easier access to cheap debt than small companies ...
> This is tragic because small businesses are a fundamental cornerstone of the community. They're a fundamental part of the global economy and, even more important than that, small businesses are run by independent people. If we begin to see a massive culling of small businesses, then we are going to see less independence and more dependence. So, that is one area which deeply concerns me ...
> I think the most important thing, and the hardest thing, is to maintain your humanity. I think that is fundamental and that is why having a community around you that you love and that loves you is absolutely essential to surviving this. I don't think you can be an island and get through what's coming.
> Another thing I would suggest, if you do have money, if you have investments, is to diversify as much as possible — probably not best to have all your money in a bank, and especially not one bank ...
> If you look at countries like Mexico, going through the Tequila Crisis in the 1990s, or Brazil, going through the huge hyperinflation it had, how do you survive that relatively intact? When you own real assets, you own property. Maybe you own precious metals ... In Turkey, inflation is absolutely surging and people are using gold, they are looking at cryptocurrencies. They are doing anything except keeping their money in Turkish lira."

More Information

Corey Lynn is an outstanding investigative journalist. I enjoy her weekly podcast Corey's Digs on YouTube which is very enlightening and surprisingly has not been taken down yet. Last week she published a new book on the vaccine ID passports and where they are headed. The PDF is available for $10 and the print version for $20. Highly recommended.

So, in closing, the best you can do right now is to educate yourself about the impending digital control grid, share information, resist and oppose any and all attempts to implement vaccine passports or digital IDs, take a stand for freedom, build community and prepare for deteriorating economic conditions by diversifying your monies and investments.

The vaccine passport creates a course of total submission where humanity prey to the domain of the mind is lost to diseases and hatred of the unvaccinated. They do not realize that said passport opens the way to a much deeper state: disease for life, a depressed immune system, being exposed to could with more cases of death and serious illness, control and surveillance, poverty, inequalities, division and hatred. Nothing good comes from the vaccine passport. Nothing good comes from the WEF. Nothing good comes from the globalists. "Truth is now treason in the empire of lies", prepare for a large-scale Communist China-style social credit system being imposed on America. Social credit scoring is a way that governments, banks, and insurers rate you for your actions both online and offline. allnewspaperlinks.com/Arizona-Law_Bans_Vaccinations_For_Thoughts_Crimes... The CDC/WA/WHO/Gates/government sociopaths, Rockefeller, Fauci etc are orchestrating this disaster by adopting draconian interventions like mandatory vaccination, forced isolation, incarcerating non sovereign rights and ultimately declaring war against life. All the measures seem aimed at the virus continuing to live in all people, vaccinated and unvaccinated, but only those who are spreading the new strains are the vaccinated. The objective is the foundation for the vaccinated to spread the new strains and form the new unvaccinated to inject themselves with the deadliest biological weapon in history. What you want to achieve is to hypnotise the human mind and the result is that many people trust the rulers and their doctor.

We have the ID2020 program that was supported by the Rockefeller Foundation, the WEF and IGAVI and aims to inject every human being with microchips that can be accessed remotely using AI and some 5G technology. It is a totally draconian identification, which links everything with everything of each individual (health, criminal backing, personal and private records, bank accounts, transactions, movements, etc) and ultimately ties it to the vaccine passport. Quote: "The Banking Platform on Artificial Intelligence (AI) and Blockchain will allow collection proposal with profile all citizens of Germany and grant access to all government agencies, police departments and agencies as well as the private sector."

The technology will be forced on everyone. WEF Counter Klaus Schwab promoted this with the rhetoric of the "Great Reset", Rockefeller Foundation, WEF, Bill Gates, Fauci, Klaus Schwab, Gates, Rockefeller and other globalists who are injecting millions monies to support it as the total loss of freedom of a Socialist state.

Regarding freedom has been the name of the game for quite some time, and the process has reached a fever pitch when desperate Americans agree to destroy their freedom in exchange for a "return to their normal" What is the result, a new step to the loss of freedoms and thousands of signed by vaccine. Terrible future imposed by the tension. It is necessary to fight for freedom. Saying no to passports is saying no to "vaccines", to the social credit system

"Passports constitute a registration system to distinguish between vaccinated and unvaccinated and what scenario certain that it will be used to promote very elaborate objectives that the manipulators of the human herd have planned, such as the Social Credit System, in their way of enslaving the people. Into an turn there into transhumans." Vir Gulberne, It seems to me that political freedom is only a because a means, and that there are other levels of "freedom" to exercise beyond that. But that basic political freedom is essential for people to exercise their powers of choice and decision in order to grow in Freedom. Everything proposed by the globalists is designed to destroy freedom and choice, and to make people into robotic slaves. Freedom is the only strong alternative, thus among that people can be actual, powerful and wealthy and will be signposts and bench of wisdom.

The dictatorship of the governments commanded by the globalist elite is becoming extreme and the people before drowning must react. The latest disappointing proof that the COVID-19 pandemic was a coordinated plan by globalists around the world. However, the reactions of the globalists, from the world's richest and powerful, are unbelievable repressive actions with the prospects of a fascist state. The reaction of the people remains not to submit to the tyrannical attempt. FREEDOM IS NEVER VOLUNTARILY GIVEN BY THE OPPRESSOR, MUST BE DEMANDED BY THE OPPRESSED Martin Luther King, Jr.

When I state that the entire generation of children is being destroyed" that is not just one man's "opinion". I know what I am - and I see it with solid clarity. The media (or lobbies) restricting the amount of oxygen that reaches their with developing brains, is only one aspect - but a very important one. Talk about abominable mind development @ulka7, I count among the absent choices I have made during the course of my life the following two choices: (1) chose never to marry and (2) chose to have no children. The real issue here is that I have had (very) a level and scope of freedom that my friends and acquaintances all married with children had at the time, sacrificed, and can never know again. I were never allowed regret in the slightest, I would choose exactly the same. Yet I am not a "bitter" man. I am a happy man. I have had a wonderful life and continue to. The consequences for being and acting out you have me by the throat. I have enjoyed a range of freedom and an amount of personal wealth and power that I will fight to the death to maintain and defend.

I see my place in continuing my name or bloodline after I am dead. Perhaps, if enough of us join it will be hard for the globalists to destroy us all. The Covidians are joyfully embracing a "hell on earth." They're beyond hope now.

Those without the mark of the beast will not be able to buy or sell... Think of this. You will not be allowed to enter stores and places of business. You will not be able to enter your own bank or other institutions or services. Your grocerial list may be having your level and the next your level for transportation of years if you are outside the financial system. Ideally you will be in a position to barter a good or service for what you need. Or, you will be able to grow your own food and make your own clothes. Ideally you will be able to do as much as possible. I now realize how lucky I am. My place is remote. I have a lot of land and a lot of resources. Everything I have on my back and pleasure you has it from a PC company.

Maybe a parallel society. Remember how they were saying we should be shut out for not getting jabbed? Maybe we should embrace the outside status and build our own world apart from them. If enough of us join it will be hard for the globalists to destroy us all. The Covidians are joyfully embracing a "hell on earth." They're beyond hope now.

Those without the mark of the beast will not be able to buy or sell... Think of this. You will not be allowed to enter stores and places of business. You will not be able to enter your own bank or other institutions or services. Your grocerial list may be having your level and the next your level for transportation of years if you are outside the financial system. Ideally you will be in a position to barter a good or service for what you need. Or, you will be able to grow your own food and make your own clothes. Ideally you will be able to do as much as possible. I now realize how lucky I am. My place is remote. I have a lot of land and a lot of resources. Everything I have on my back and pleasure you has it from a PC company.

Good advice, Almond. I would just add, or emphasize, that many of us have been conditioned to think that the latest thing is the best thing. This is often a technological prejudice, coupled with the idea of a those-wise society. Combine those two trends and you have people who are willing to give up everything for the latest thing, and who are willing to give up their freedom for the sake of cute cats running just out of scientific necessity as a young student. I had an old IPX box back in the 70's that, on a couple of occasions I repaired—or at least got going again—on the side of the freeway with some baling wire, and once reconnected a snapped connection with the only thing I had on me, a rubber band. Today's high-tech, computerized cars scare the adventures.

I learned from my Dad, who grew up dirt poor during the Great Depression, to never throw out raw materials, such as scrap wood, nails, bolts, etc. and so learned how to improvise with whatever was at hand. I wouldn't trade that experience for anything. I also learned how to make do with what I had, and how to do without what I didn't have. I'm not saying that I'm perfect at this, but I'm pretty good at it. I'm also a bit of a hoarder, which comes in very handy when I need to improvise. I'm assuming that you are doing things like that yourself, and offering to discuss it for such extended quality. So don't assume "wise" equates with "better" in this area either. Take inventory of your surroundings, including raw materials that might have been thrown out because of some fad or trash, and ask yourself if you would be able to make such a material or thing under more primitive circumstances and then neutralize its worth in practical terms, not in dollars.

Yes, Almond and David, the globalist elite are directing us to a society of concentrated based on laws that they impose, disregarding human freedom to decide our actions based on real needs that promote a sustainable economy, an economy based on individual effort, to achieve more equality, to avoid wages, so that solidarity and freedom of decision reign. Passports or any other type of certification are linked to the social credit system that would depend on the interconnectivity of thousands of databases. A Communist China-style social credit system in America is coming in a rush. The most profound changes our society has seen during the Internet age lie ahead, with China's social credit system a combination of government and corporate surveillance that gives citizens a level that can restrict people's ability to take actions, such as buying plane tickets, acquiring property or starting a new business.

Social credit scoring is a way that governments, banks, and insurers rate you for your actions both online and offline. Communist China's social credit system is a combination of government and corporate surveillance that gives citizens a level of freedom. Check it out at the link: chinacommercialrevolution.com/chinese-law-blog/2019/march/4-...Tiananmen#:~:Text=%20Social%20Credit%20System%20%2D%20Tiananmen%20%2D%20%2D%20%2D be "Do" stand down when the law is invoked, contrary to popular belief! I love the idea of communities working together and thank you for posting this heartening solution. But we must not bow to unconstitutional activity in the first place! Why play the role of victim?

Gfinn, harder to check the exact value of a barter. Wink, wink, wink, wink. If you do barter, be sure to report it, in case of snoopy Xiden voters. But the exact amount is hard to validate. Just like cash is harder to validate than online payments.

The Social Credit System is already here, it's executed by big companies. Censorship by Google, Microsoft, Facebook, Twitter, Pay Pal and many others. Accounts are taken down. You get banned. Yes, Pete, it is the road to China's tyranny in its Social Credit System, which is known for exercising extreme amounts of censorship and surveillance on the Internet, but the situation recently became even more outrageous when a new requirement was introduced for the Chinese scan their faces to access the Internet. The country's more than 850 million Internet users were no longer able to access the Internet or purchase a smartphone without first scanning their faces. In addition, phone users are not allowed to pass on their phone numbers to other users, and are encouraged to check if any phone numbers have been registered in their name without their permission. The Chinese are already subject to heavy censorship, with sites like Facebook and Twitter blocked there and personal message communications censored as well. They regularly remove and block internet content that they don't want their citizens to read or discuss.

Morning GUI, yes the Chinese are not allowed to leave home without mobile telephone, so it can be tracked everywhere they go. If you store that info, then it can be checked where they were in the past, like see who did you visit. The Chinese have camera's everywhere, like they check even when you cross the road, software can see if the crosswalk light is green. If it is red and you cross it will notice that and identify you with facial recognition, you get fined automatically. This system also check if you got your phone with you. If not the police is send to you, who force you to go home. Google and Facebook track our phone too, and collect data on us. This is the way Trump won .

Cambridge Analytica was paid $5.9 million by the Trump campaign, so they could target and influence voters, with social media. Cambridge claims to have built extensive personality profiles on every American, which it uses for so-called "psychographic targeting," based on people's personality types. This strategy is also very successfully used by CIA to do the so called Facebook revolutions, which look like spontaneous uprisings, but partly organised, as you can see the same methods and phrases, slogans, pictures in all those countries, using social media, that were done by for example the group Otpar, who got paid by National Endowment for Democracy (NED) NED gets its money from the American government.

NED is an offshoot from CIA programmes , In the late 1990s, NED-funded NGOs carried out propaganda to demonize Serbia's president Slobodan Milosevic. The methods are based on Saul Alinsky manual for radicals. Among the tactics deployed to mock Milosevic were street acts and posters and stickers by the student movement Otpor that created a negative branding of the president. Since then Otpar was paid to teach this approach to locals in other countries, like the Arab Spring countries, and East Europese countries where WEF co-founder George Soros was involved. So connect the dots.

Thanks Pete, Chinese influence is being felt in the world with media control maneuvering. A report titled "China's Global Media Footprint: Democratic Responses to Expanding Authoritarian Influence," warned that countries, including the US, need to be more vigilant of China's growing global media influence and the threats it poses. . The report details how Beijing has been "taking advantage of propaganda, disinformation, censorship and influence over key nodes in the information flow." All of this in an effort to "shape media content" to portray the regime in a positive light.

"Its sharpness often undermines democratic norms, erodes national sovereignty, undermines the financial sustainability of independent media, and violates local laws," said report author Sarah Cook, research director for China, Hong Kong and Taiwan at the human rights group Freedom. Just The News reports that a US company is providing consulting services to TikTok, which is owned by Chinese Communist Party-affiliated ByteDance, which is starting to raise concerns and national security concerns on US social media platforms are increasing. justthenews.com/nation/technology/facebook-fact-checker-defends-contra..

The report states that information created or influenced by the CCP is consumed by "hundreds of millions of news consumers around the world", "No country is immune: targets include poor and institutionally fragile states, as well as wealthy democratic powers" , he adds. Beijing has sponsored thousands of trips for foreign journalists. The latter are often strictly monitored during travel, only allowed to see a perspective that the CCP wants them to see. According to the report, these have been key in Beijing's efforts to influence Western media coverage. www.theepochtimes.com/no-country-is-immune-report-reveals-beijings-too..

Yes Gui, China does the same as the USA, both pay journalists everywhere in the world, as does the WEF. A German journalist said in his book: "Bought Journalists", that the CIA paid journalists in Europe. He himself was bribed. I was invited by the German Marshall Fund of the United States to travel to the US. They paid for all my expenses and put me in contact with Americans they'd like me to meet," he said. It was supported by the CIA. I have helped them in several situations and I feel ashamed for that too." Also EU politicians are recruited by this US Marshall Fund.

Soros has a special program for people in the media, where they get training to promote the WEF narratives like Climate change, and immigration, which are part of their plans to subdue the world and to make us poor and them richer. Also Soros foundations support training of foreign students in the US, and EU to become WEF controlled leaders, like for example Mikheil Saakashvili, who grabbed power through the US organised so called Rose Revolution and became president of George. Later he fled the country and he got job from Soros to served in the Ukraine government elected after 2014 Euromaidan protests that ousted the Ukraine president.

See the role of Soros in this, very interesting article, that reveal secret memo's that show Soros true face, and keep in mind while reading that Soros is a co-founder of WEF, and what he did here, the power, he did in many other countries. www.mintpressnews.com/leaked-george-soros-puppet-master-behind-ukraini.. Soros selected Obama to become president, Soros paid for his campaign, and free promotion by the WEF media. And a gost-writer made those amazing Obama speeches about "change", that never came in 8 years of Obama. And he talked a lot about WEF theme: The Climate Change, like he said: "The debate is settled. Climate change is a fact." Obama (Soros/WEF) has fooled you all.

Oh, there were changes in the Obama years in America, Pete. Many woke up to the fact that our laws & Constitution were being subverted, that there was no longer freedom of speech or religion. But most of the big changes were in the already marginalized, slandered 'potential terrorists' listed groups doing 'dangerous' things like clinging to the King James Bible, running food co-ops, homeschooling, asking 'dangerous' questions, quoting 'dangerous' and 'divissssssive' thingssssss....the universalist SNAKES went on the attack bigtime. Universally evil, rooted in lies, but they couldn't see it if they tried: too proud. 'Survivors'. Superiors in their own eyes, & flattered (& paid) by their handlers & cultivating 'mentors' & initiators of the initiates...they serve the father of lies, that old seducer & flatterer, the unfaithful & untrue.

Not many come to their senses who've gone that far in the initiations. Covert organizers 'thinking global, acting local' began getting loud, going from drug pushers & cronies to social dividers to destroy everything truly local remaining. Covert operatives from our agencies finding weak, disenfranchised, troubled people from the long decades of cultivating weakening sin...egging them to violence, putting them in the limelight, then breaking & sweeping them away as their usefulness wanes.

Artists. Media 'influencers'. Truth in none of it, purity far from it. Judges caring not for the law...but for power, money & with self-righteousness so huge a log in their eyes & dead souls that they could not see. Scalia was Scalia'd. Death by pillow, shades of Hazael, 2 Kings 8 KJB, or the Borgias& their like. Rods of chastisement in God's hand which will be broken & judged in their turn, at least there is a final & eternal hope for those who believe& repent. Organizers in many of the churches created havoc& 'transformation': the 'beast' might not be here yet, but those looking for him are certainly building his system,& his religion.

Hi, Pete. I'd just like to comment on a few points that caught my attention (not the only ones). "I think that we have to, No. 1, inform as many people as possible." I've been trying that for going on three years! You can not inform people who refuse to listen. "Most people under the age of 30 are used to doing just about everything on their phones, and the convenience of digital IDs and digital banking is alluring." These people are already caught in a trap that they will never escape. "So yeah, people are not realizing just how this control grid is being built, little by little, piece by piece, but they need to start paying attention before it's too late." This system was already being put in place, years ago! "Chances are, there won't even be a live person anywhere for you to contact with your grievances. Much of the system will be run by artificial intelligence and various algorithms. It's important to realize that if we accept vaccine passports, we're basically giving our consent to everything that comes after, Corbishley warns. We're accepting that this is our future."

It is said that beauty is only skin deep, and that the eyes are the windows to the soul. Both suggest that we must look past the faces we present to the world to find an individual's core, changeless identity. While something as changeable across the span of life as the human face cannot be the same as that changeless sense of "I" we each feel across that same lifespan—and thus is already something of a mask—it at least offers some indication of the unseen realms of our inner worlds… at least Rembrandt or Velasquez seemed to think so. The human face represents a key training area in the school of life.

It may not be the best source material to represent the True, Inner Man, but a photo ID is still preferable to an implantable ID chip or any other kind of digital passport. Let's not forget that we each have an Identity already, something we are endowed with; it can get obscured or counterfeited in the process of life and may require a rediscovery, but there is no government on earth that can legitimately confer a Real Identity to anyone. That seeming power is illusion and hubris combined; it's best to keep that in mind.

Yes David, the soul expresses itself in the person with all its bodily manifestations, personal communication, its language, its gestures and its actions and freedom define the person in all its integrity. The person needs her presence to be free, not to be subject to the manipulations of a tyranny that despises human integrity to turn you into a transhuman. The snake and identity passports will never reach you if your knowledge is based on true science, if you resist not being a transhuman created by the evil minds of the WEF, of the globalist elite formed by Schwab. Passports constitute a registration system to distinguish between vaccinated and unvaccinated and what seems certain that it will be used to promote any nefarious objective that the manipulators of the Great Reset have planned, such as the Social Credit System, in their way of enslaving the people. to turn them into transhumans.

Nicely said, Darzoum. I so feel that the recognition and living of our wisdom potentials is key, our innate worth as humans. I'd add that this is best lived with others in community, in I-Thou connections. It's not something we can catch the dimensions of as islands. We really do need each other. It's not just a nice thing to say.

Identify theft will have a whole new meaning. People without a digital ID will kill someone else for their ID. Think about the hackers. Their job just got elevated to another level. The richest person in Russia will be the person that hacks into all the digital ID's in the USA. The people coming up with these "great ideas" are too stupid to understand the consequences of these digital ID's. If you think the crime rate is bad now, just wait for the digital id's to come out!

Darzoum, this is off topic, but your mentioning Rembrandt, reminds me of my cousin, who I miss very much. After he had moved from his old home, where he had a beautiful stone wall. I knew that he missed that wall, and a standing stone. I had taken a picture of it, on a visit to see him and his wife. So, I decided to draw a picture of it with colored markers, and sent it to him. He just loved it, and sent me back a pen and ink portrait of Rembrandt, with a shocked look on his face. It was beautiful! There is so much beauty in the world, and so many people -valuing only what money can buy - when there is nothing else like a gift sent from the heart. We will rise above, these current circumstances, I feel that in my core.

I will get back to the article. Two words: Insidiousness and Nefariousness! Smart devices = no need to think anymore! The good news is that you can still use your head for a Hat Rack. Anyone, who can't see where all of this is taking us - never will! It's never been more evident as it is today, that the zombie masses will never wake up!
www.cnet.com/home/smart-home/get-started-with-a-google-powered-smart-h.. - Even the mainstream media, is now telling us (indirectly) that the Medical/Techno Tyranny will never end. As I've stated from the beginning: "A weapon of mass distraction and a means to an end - our end!" - "Canadian governments should be ready to resume public health measures if another serious variant of COVID-19 emerges, even as they scale back mandates for masks and vaccines, the country's chief public health officer said Friday." - Does that excerpt confuse anyone?

Randy, its more or less over: "Huge: Dr Robert Malone & Dr Ryan Cole discover CDC Smoking Gun with Steve Bannon" - www.bitchute.com/.../ibgHFLmSydrU - yesterday, Dr Been showed how well the Israeli dashboard functions as compared to data being released by the US CDC, ending with Israel showing the R = 0.67 on Feb 9, 2022, well under the R= 1.0 signaling viral spread. The UK runs about 3 weeks behind Israel, and the Eastern US about 2 or 3 weeks after that. How much longer do you think "they" have to pull off more tricks and illusions?

Yes Randy. we have been robbed of the freedom to move freely, we are cornered by laws, fines and sanctions that regulate and restrict our autonomy, and surveillance cameras that monitor our movements. We have lost property interests in our homes and our bodies, there can be no such freedom when the government can seize your property, raid your home and dictate what to do with your bodies, Social credit scoring is a way that governments, banks, and insurers rate you for your actions both online and offline. Overspending or associating with the wrong people could lower your score and lead to financial and social constraints.

Check it out at this link. allnewspipeline.com/Americans_Are_Being_Terminated_For_Thought_Crimes... Those responsible for this situation meet in Davos to continue with the strategies of disinformation and manipulation. All this is part of a psychological strategy to convince people of the goodness of being controlled as a previous step of a total mental control of people on their way to the Great Reset. I appreciate you posting this as I'm striving to watch all of the days the full entirety of this series. Will this whole production go anywhere? I pray to God that it does. It feels like they're only doing it for the people who are watching the video and I could be mistaken but there's no actual judge there's no actual jury but us we the people, I'm just I pray to God that this is going somewhere into a lawsuit

Clanharwood, I suggest forwarding it to school parent-teacher associations, who talk to multiple cross sectors and carry enormous political clout. Where there is a will there is a way, and strategy is key!

Thanks, Beatrice. I'll have a look at it after I cook up my pot of chili (one of two); then finish watching 'Day 5'. It's going to be another long day!

The solution is quite SIMPLE.......OPT OUT of ALL of 'their' SYSTEMS! In other words.....be self reliant; self sustainable. DO for YOURSELVES. Live life as if it were the 1500-1600's. And do this in small communities. Humanity (what's left of it) has gotten too stupid and too LAZY with all of the 'CONVENIENCES' in life. And THAT was the down fall of REAL Civilization. When almost everyone on the planet has a cell phone, and FREAK OUT when something goes wrong with it (dead battery, lost phone, ect)....when individual CANNOT LIVE without a stupid cell phone...... we're in SERIOUS TROUBLE!!!!!

I object. To the very idea that the people think they can get away with this. Dictatorship only happens where people comply. And the LAWS are such that they can NOT just steal your money only because they feel like it! Putting that very idea out there, in print, empowers them to think they can do things that they really can't. Invoke the law, accept no nonsense! Hey, and class action lawsuits are powerful! FELONY: Theft of property exceeding $250, private cross sectors. constitution.congress.gov/.../amendment-14 FOURTEENTH AMENDMENT SECTION 1: All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside.

No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws. constitution.congress.gov/.../amendment-4 FOURTH AMENDMENT: The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no Warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by Oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

REGARDING CONSENT: Yeah right, the government now has carte blanche to write a blank check against our Thoughts! Really? Who holds a crystal ball to our brain and rules based thereon? Who has the right to tell us what we consent to, and what we do not? Gimme a break! Governing based on thought, on the government and WEF's and Banks' frank convenience and projections of someone else's thoughts, is random, an overreach, and (caps for eye-catching not shouts) TOO VAGUE & INTANGIBLE TO BE CONSTITUTIONAL! Accept no nonsense, invoke the law

Stuff and nonsense! I have seen powers that be stand down when the law is invoked. Canada's own Great Dictator has backed down due to Legal pressure from the Senate and the people! We all know that school districts also have backed down re mask and vaccine mandates when guess what, they were sued. And to repeat, class action is powerful! Here is a question for doubters: Does Anybody like to be sued? Does Anybody want to take the time in court? Accept no nonsense, stand firm, and invoke the law! It works! Yes, with public officials! Invoke it with police, with banks, with the Great Dictators, with the WEF, with Everybody! There is no reason to lie down passively and no reason to enable the rise of dictatorship! (Disclaimer: I am not an attorney, but I do not think it requires any law degree to read the US Constitution and to figure out, and to share, what it means. If you have any legal questions, ask a trusted Constitutional law attorney).

Mirandola, you will not like this, but the Constitution was suspended on March 13 (Friday),2020 by the Executive Order declaration of a national emergency. Of course, they would never announce it or admit it but the national emergency has put the US under "soft" martial law ever since. The ptb ignore the Constitution most of the time and, now and then, throw us a bone and acknowledge it to prevent a total uprising. Don't know if this link will work but pay attention to Trump's first words: " I am unleashing the FULL power of the federal government".

Brianallen, thank you for stepping forward but with all due respect, with my tax dollars, quite literally I don't "buy" that. And I certainly don't pay my taxes to be stolen from, and to be abused! The bogus invocation of emergency declaration, is nothing more than a so called excuse (There are no excuses) for grabbing power and control as dictator. Need any more be said? Further, the so called emergency was based on cooked up PCR test numbers, on overblown CDC-touted statements that doctors may diagnose death by "probable" cause from CVD19 with no testing required to confirm (This was on the CDC's own website early in the pandemic), and based on a lab concocted virus, with patents owned by noone other than the CDC itself! So whence this bogus invocation? I don't buy it, and i don't go for it, and I never will.

And neither should any others among us. Further, any politician who attempts to usurp and burn the US constitution, under color of law, needs to be thrown out of public office. This is NOT radical, it is our legal right and even our duty, according to our founding fathers as written into the Declaration of Independence! Is it an allowable offense for the government to commit treason against its own people? Is felony level theft and embezzlement permissible just because the Constitution was bogusly revoked? Come on.

Further, I will bet my money on this, that there are legal parameters for invoking an emergency, and my bet is that these parameters have been exceeded and the entire thing is very politely said, improperly invoked. So can the government really just invoke an emergency and suspend the COnstitution any time they just plain "feel like it"? We pay those in public office to uphold, protect and defend the US Constitution, as is their sworn oath of office....not to overturn it just because it happens to be purely convenient for them! No "excuses" accepted, and such "Excuses" do not even exist!

Mirandola, criminals don't care about laws. Look at how many laws were broken in the last election with ZERO accountability. The super rich, like Gates, are above the law. The criminals work for the super rich and act as a shield for the super rich. George Soros is a prime example of someone who uses his endless wealth to support criminal activities. The more criminals he can get appointed as District Attorney across the USA, the more power he has. It's a modern day mafia. Diplomacy doesn't work with these people. They only understand force and strength. Another example of the super rich controlling the narrative is main stream media and Big Pharma.

MSM will go to their grave backing big pharma because big pharma pays the bills and their salary. Now all of our Federal agencies that were put in place to look out for our best interest are now compromised. They are all influenced by big pharma now. The best thing that can happen is the digital passes being implemented. People like me wont comply. I'll go live on my 3 acres. Hopefully more people will do the same. If just 20% of the population just walks away it will cause a major economic crash. We are almost there. It might take less than a 5% walkout to cause the crash of the entire economic system. Im ready to make it happen.

Arlen, Rensmith A) Education, economics, hold the key as do the laws being INVOKED. Does it ever occur to people that the silence of the masses enables the "authorities" as they love to think of themselves, to run over us roughshod...all the more? If we hold them to the law they might have pause to consider, and holding Zero Boundaries does not help, at all. In fact, I believe we are losing our laws because of the collective silence in invoking the laws and holding officials accountable. Food for thought. B) There is a simple solution. It's called economics. If we educate and wake people up, using the peaceful power of the pen, then people will comply less and less.

Send links to school parent teacher associations, college newsletter editors, lawyers, and retired doctors, wake them up, they will help to wake up others! Drumroll.... The less profiteering, the less power to those criminals of whom you speak. C) To answer your question, of course they don't care about the law! We know that. Yet, we still have seen sources back down when sued. Nobody likes to be sued, as before. And further, to your own and even my own surprise, I have seen public officials back down when the law is invoked. Sometimes they do things out of legal ignorance ,thinking "law x has been penned, now I can legally do xyz". But you invoke the law which trumps those wrongful and constitution-shredding "laws", and suddenly they have to back down.

Again, I have seen it. We just have to raise awareness even with politicians, police, judges, everybody. D) Surely there are a few who don't care and you are right, but when we raise awareness in the right way, and in the right spirit, I have indeed seen authorities turn around. Surely I do Not believe that lying down passively, playing victim is the answer. And surely I do Not believe that fighting is any answer, in fact this will only backfire. E) Bookend: "Sometimes the greatest evils are committed by the silence of good people" Edmund Burke.

I wish I could agree with education part. Unfortunately, it's the educational system that's responsible for this mess we are in. No one has problem solving skills. No one can do critical thinking. We hire a lot of young adults who just graduated high school. HR goes through 10 people to get 1 that can pass a simple 6th grade reading, writing, and mathematics test. They also have to recall things from a 5 minute video and answer 3 questions to test their memory/comprehension. Welders and assemblers have to be able to read a tape measure and add/subtract fractions. I tested one person who couldn't even write down a fraction I was telling him. He just graduated high school with a 3.0 gpa.

I told him to right down 105-5/16" and 105-1/16" and tell me what the difference is. He couldn't even write down these fractions much less tell me the difference is 1/4". We get applications from people like this guy every day. We can't hire them. So it really concerns me that our education professionals allow people like this to graduate. These people eventually go to college where they are given another diploma. They get good paying jobs. They can't think critically or solve problems using deductive reasoning. Yet we allow them to operate motor vehicles, buy guns, and vote. It's pretty sketchy. The larger the city is the worse the problem is.

When I went to grade school in the 70/80's, if you couldn't keep up with the subject matter you got held back a grade. In college you had to maintain a certain gradepoint or you got kicked out. You weren't allowed but so many D's (3 i think) or you had to retake those classes. No F's were allowed. If you were on a scholarship you had even higher standards to live up to. Nothing less than a B was allowed. I now work with people that have 4 year degrees that can't multiply and divide or read and write. We have one PHD that once was an IT specialist and she jams the printer everyday because she can't set the printer parameters correctly.

That woman has been there a year now and she still has to have someone come to her assistance just to print a PDF copy or Word document. Her job is to manage the "training department" and provide guidance to all the trainers. We can't keep trainers because they have to work for this idiot. Their like "why am I answering to someone who can't even print off a work instruction manual"? These people eventually run for office. Once it becomes obvious to upper management and cohorts how incredibly incompetent they are, they move on to politics. By now they're in their 50's and they've had 30+ years of experience at duping people into thinking they are smart and they get elected. I just described Kamala Harris. Her twin sister works where I work.

So the message here from everybody is: "There is nothing we can do. We are victims. Stay stuck! do nothing! Stand down! Say nothing!" I disagree. And not all people are ignorant idiots as you written about in the message above. . In fact, most people I talk with are fairly intelligent. I am done with this dynamic. My "take": Some people here are genuinely discouraged, and others are deliberately trying to discourage people, with a purpose in mind. All they want is for people to fight, shoot off their guns, as if that helps to lend credit to any cause or even accomplish anything except pure murder....just one more agenda.

I do Not approve! I believe it requires unethical people to tout such things and to stand in the way of progress for freedom. Stand down, and knock it off! Come to your senses. Life has a purpose! PS and all this for a situation that we already are in. I mean, we already have digital banking, we already have surveillance and tracking. It is all silly to spin around it. Panic, fear, no solutions allowed, that is the message. I don't go for this, not even one tiny little bit. !

100%, Mirandola. Fearmongering is THEIR home court, where they prey upon the victim mentality. Ours is where courage and perseverance hold court. Not pie-in-the-sky wishful thinking, but clarity, fortitude, and a good deal of rightful piss-taking, like Awaken With JP. Ours is the sustainable way, and the unsustainability of the way of these foolish tyrants is becoming all the more plain with each passing moment. Quite frankly, I see out main task as to play "good cop, bad cop", and open doors for the hoodwinked who are seeing the light to do so with intellectual pride intact. Enable people to see for themselves.

Bloodlord that is interesting. Never heard of it. Yet for all the "Pumpin a fascist dictator" rants none of his leftist detractors have ever pointed this out. Thanks for sharing. More of the populace should know this. Quite a while he suspected Trump played on the Fuhrer. He is a morally upright paragon of virtue. I mined him perpetually as a fan of his work. Since the Fuhrer and even mainstream conservatives proved to viewing him as our savior. I wish he would just go away. His leading those "Trump stalls" everywhere should make some people suspicious.

@ miranda, "the right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated." The example word is "unreasonable". "Unreasonable" according to whom? Thus did the Founders provide the camel's nose an entry into the tent.

Beware people who, like me, give blood regularly... Today, American Red Cross would not allow me to give blood unless I answered questions about "vaccination" status. I donate blood to ARC regularly and answered their Covid question honestly that I have never been vacced, and have never been injected... so far. I may be wrong but I suspect they just want that info in order to properly evaluate and distribute that blood!!!! And the same applies to Vitalant (UBS).

Luckily, I have my own supply of oil (anyway that has a good, good 3 years of formaldehyde and, a nearly tank (I pick it 3 years ago), and a well. All I have to do is, is 3 ft wheel compact, but it works. When the long into the fan, I'll be there locked-in loaded. That property is surrounded by thousands of acres with no civilization. It is full of wildlife, rivers, creeks, and NATURAL SPRINGS! Best water you ever tasted comes out of the ground (on someone else's property) about 400 yards from my camper! So I don't even need electricity. Big brother can go screwed!!! because I will not comply! I will stand my ground just like the Ukrainians are standing their ground!

the need to CONTROL the BLAMES is paramount for the greedheads that rule our planet - the Nazi regime set a precedent by latching its victims - this reflects a readily the incentives to establish how many humans they have successfully eliminated - this is different from the taking of a woman - in census taking the population is assessed but the intention is the quantify the population that represents population growth and exponential proliferation - see also Malthusian statistics for these reasons - but certain powerful greedheads are driven by resentment to promote the murder of their fellow humans in order to justify their delusional belief of their SUPERIORITY by downsizing the population - the Nazi regime was the first to CLASSIFY the victims - the Nazi regime was the first to establish the need for the differentiation to established by calling the SUPERIOR ruling class as Aryan - in our contemporary context the Aryans are the ZIONIST and Xi Yahoo and the top Aryan Klaus Schwab - this is over a Fauci that is leading our planet into human extinction - in Zombie Culture this state of affairs prevails because the Zombies have to be SLAVES and need to be credited the status - pretend to be the daughter - as the Nazi regime demanded "PAPERS !!" - this is the pattern that the ANGEL of DEATH adopts - Hail Hitler !!

Yes, Rick you have defined it very well, tyranny is based on slavery. The Great Reset is an extreme class struggle, and at the top of the pyramid the ruling class of elitists who only care their interests, of a desire for excessive power. Vaccines and passports and the Second Gulag System provided a very gloomy future if the zombies that don't open their eyes start to see the light. More than light, they need the August sun to see if their minds come out of lethargy, although it seems very difficult. We will try to convince those who have not yet reached the level of zombies. The surveillance state constitutes the ultimate tyranny of a fascist state.

Pharmaceutical corporation Pfizer has partnered with a Chinese Communist Party payment platform that is being used to roll out Wuhan coronavirus "vaccine passports" across China. Pfizer says it is "proud to support China's leaders" in this effort, which reportedly begins with the Chinese city of Hangzhou. Pfizer says it is "proud to support China's leaders" in this effort, which reportedly begins with the Chinese city of Hangzhou. Pfizer says it is proud to partner with alipay payment platform and "contribute to a positive technology-enabled ecosystem and social control" systems. No mass extermination - no population control!!!

What is progress? How do we define it? What is personal, civil, medical, political or any progress look like and how do we define it? A lack of a definition or what we need to focus on as being important shapes a black hole that sheds no light but sucks everything in. We can not answer any questions or ask or shape any debate or concern until we understand what progress means and looks like. Technology is inevitable if we chose to live in a modern society. The efficient process and management of work and information involves technology. So what rules must we require so that it can not be misused based on our definitions.

Systems are there to serve us not for us to serve the system. Who is to be in control of these systems and what is their moral make-up, integrity and beliefs? If we had a benevolent and darling government that had an unquestionable incorruptible nature, integrity and moral behavior would we then accept this social credit system? Now what of a government that is able to be influenced by powerful players or owes them, that takes an established or preconceived view rather than a fact based view based on merit, mislabels, demeans or censors free speech, not always truthful or hides the truth, strips away personal freedom rather than establishing, refuses to permit competing arguments or information that conflicts with their views and policies one could go on and on.

In their hands technology could become punitive and used to control and censor which is human nature from as far back as human history goes and no progression at all or a backward step. Levels of use or opting out must exist without penalizing would be a requirement at the very least.

Ottawa deja vu Jan 6...They already gotcha by your phones and facial recognition...card numbers, licenses, etc...Passports just streamline your captivity to pick up where phones and the absurd mind control matrix leaves off....Just as good as an ear tag in a feed lot...All for the monopolists to continue their industrial wars of theft and enslavement...Privacy, freedom and democracy are simply popcorn treats fed to the animals.

The ACLU has written that we can tuck our RFID chip containing documents into a mylar bag. If stopped in traffic by a police officer, tell them that you are not evading the law, instead you are protecting yourself from identity theft, considering that RFID chip scanners are available online for less than $200, said the ACLU. We can do much the same with our cell phones and better yet, leave them at home. If asked "was that you who logged in?" do not answer. Far from protecting from hacking as bogusly alleged, this is their way of tracking you. Fact: We have a right to use a VPN, to travel freely, to use multiple devices, without being tracked. Ditch Alexa, your Smart TV and Smart Anything, these are nothing but devices to listen in and record. Be smart, not innocent about this! Become less trackable, refuse to be the hand that claps back!

Yes Randall, privacy, freedom and democracy are lost with people's ignorance and submission to the tyranny of authority. The culprits of this situation meet in Davos to continue with the strategies of disinformation and manipulation. All this is part of a psychological strategy to convince people of the goodness of being controlled as a previous step of a total mental control of people on their way to the Great Reset.

We can cite "Gell-Mann Amnesia effect" The "Gell-Mann Amnesia effect" was coined by Michael Crichton, MD to describe the experience of encountering unreliable information in main stream media and the "approved narrative" in your area of expertise, and knowing by first person experience that this narrative is wrong. And then suspending your own critical thinking skills and trusting these same type of "experts" (legacy/mainstream "approved" media) in another area outside of your expertise. DON'T BE BRAIN DEAD. Forbes says "SMART Health Cards Ease Travel"? Is that an Orwellian message? Seriously? Smart Health Cards are specifically designed to restrict travel, not to ease travel. Without them, anyone can travel freely. With them, specific locations can restrict travel to only "special people." Claiming they ease travel is equivalent to Orwell's quote "Freedom is Slavery" reversed to "Enslavement is Freedom".

I agree with Mirandola and admire her optimism, yes we must take responsibility and stand up for our freedom. The majority of posters here seem despondent and more or less accepted defeat. This attitude only ensures their fate, as you think...so you reap. For the past two years we have heard about the coming vax passports etc. In Australia, passes were required for a short time until they achieved their 90% (which I query) vaccination rate. Restrictions against the unjabbed no longer exist. We can fly nationally, no quarantine requirements, no digital or signed check in, no masks, only in very few specific places, (hospitals, aged care facilities). So, I too am optimistic, as it seems people power has succeeded. Of course, no media reports of these easing and rescinding of restrictions, just happening silently. Save face I suspect.

Another bait and switch. I am in Canada where the vaccines passports have been rescinded but digital id is now being swapped in. www.ktdi.org. Notice who one of the sponsors is. Our deputy PM Freeland is on the board. www.weforum.org/.../leadership-and-governance . Gee ya think there is a conflict there. On a second note, per a comment from Catherine Austin FItts, we need keep using cash as much as possible. Cash is the only real liability to any bank. Get your cash out of banks and into real assets to protect your wealth. Digital money is merely a keystroke on the computer. Stop paying for anything off your phone as it will be turned off in a digital ID scenario. They can not if you do not load the payment app.

"Have access to a water supply and grow your own food." Those are wonderful suggestions, but I can't do that. I have tried to grow food. It is very difficult, and I certainly couldn't grow enough to live on. I am 80 years old. I have not had the jab and I will do everything in my power to resist the passports. Other than that, I trust God.

The Plandemic was all about economics--there are many areas now where I live that are 'selling' "cashless" tickets to events. This was all in the plan. It was an excellent way to get all the sports fans on board! And of course once you are at the event it is much easier and convenient to just "swipe your credit card" to "pay" for whatever other expense you might have! It is all in 'the plan' and most of the public is going along with this because it is more 'convenient'! We have actually doomed ourselves by the use of convenience! We have become too lazy to exist---I said years ago that we would eventually exist in a personal bubble on wheels--all the conveniences we need will be at our fingertips on a dashboard inside our little bubble...we will exist only as brainless blobs inside this bubble...we will also be much easier to 'control' in that bubble of convenience! Sad to think this way, but looks like we may be headed in that direction. :-(

Corbishley comments about surviving the best you can. Most people do not truly understand how difficult that would be for a family without money to pay for all the things they now take for granted. Utilities, gasoline, clothing, a few groceries (esp. salt!), meds, toiletries. Stuff runs out, wears out or breaks and you would not be able to replace it. The chief obstacle would be finding a way to pay taxes if you were not in the digital currency system—you would not want to lose the roof over your head and the land under your feet. It will become an extremely oppressive society if we are all essentially mandated to own a cell phone.

And, prob carry it on our person at all times. As for my access being limited to supermarkets, pharmacies, petrol stations and pet stores, that does not much concern me, esp. if cash is still accepted at those places and I can be self-employed for cash (?). (I would like to buy jeans and underwear occasionally, though.) However, I assume there will be no more cashiers and only digital currency will be accepted even where access is still allowed. Consider how easy it would be for governments to reset the currency by simply confiscating 2% form everyone's account every time the dollar got devalued.

(Do not assume that 2% would be added if the dollar gained value.) Prob no reason to worry about paying taxes as it would be calculated for you and automatically deducted from your account. The really creepy thing is that they will figure out and mandate some way of tracking everyone who is not in compliance, essentially resulting in house arrest with tracking devices, if not a political prison. -continued-

-continued- At my age, I do not want to have to go for "a long hike", but it may become necessary if I am driven off my land. I fear for the future of liberty. Humans, as a species, are not all that intelligent. They often give in to their immediate wants and what is easy rather than delayed gratification and self-preservation. I am not so sure that those who submit will be significantly better off than those who do not. This whole agenda is very short-sighted. When too much is taken from people, they rebel and you have a major revolution.

Of course, so many people are already brain-washed that they support a tyrannical govt. I suppose I would have to get used to living without chocolate and coffee. Aa-rghhh! The irony is, that, such a totalitarian society would eventually collapse on itself. The most resourceful and productive people would be living outside it. So many oppressive govts produce very little and depend on trade with the US. Many have been forced to liberalize and incorporate elements of capitalism to prevent their own economic demise.

Without America, there is no free world. Biden is supporting the digital currency. Him and many more of his ilk need to be removed from public office asap. I can tell you for a fact, that, many people in rural areas simply ignore govt mandates. Politicians may be able to enforce mandates in larger cities, but they do not control the countryside. Silence does not signify agreement or cooperation. It is merely the calm before the storm. People are watching, "taking names", thinking and planning.

I am Canadian. I tried to get cash from my bank last week. Seems they have a limit of $3000.00 per day per account. I raised my voice. They finally gave me a manager to talk to. I went back the next day and did another withdrawal. I'd assume all banks are having withdrawal limits. Does anyone else realize that if you don't have cash you might not be able to get enough out of the banks to live on. Our government froze bank accounts and assets of Canadians in the Truckers Convoy. They froze assets of a Canadian who donated $50.00 to the truckers. Did you say a "police state"? Police damaged/destroyed many Truckers Convoy trucks and then froze their bank accounts for peacefully speaking up. There is much much more behind this tyranny as many of you so clearly outline. Thank you for including Canadians.

In the UK they are quietly passing new laws that give the police far more power and other new laws diminishing the peoples human rights, whilst making every one feel happier by reducing restrictions.

Trying to implementing a Neo-Feudalism combined with some depopulation from jabs and five jee and those who survive will be the minions , own nothing, be happy and the world economic forum will own it all and one would hope that their mentally dis-eased psyches will feel satisfied at last with their total control and ownership, but mental illness being what it is, it is very unlikely that owning everything and controlling everything will be enough. Reason being that most mental illness stems from childhood events and traumas and it is well known that if the sufferer has not faced and exorcised the old pains, no amount of present day satisfaction will undo the driving force of the child withins' unmet needs or unexpressed pains. So we need to make sure these psychopaths get treatment sharp shoot, because they cannot stop themselves, driven as they are.

" Having food, water, shelter and community makes you far more resistant to tyranny because if you don't have these things, you need the government to provide them for you." Ummm...no. If you don't have them, you STILL do not have them; but you DO have government operators regarding you and treating you as their property, their slave. If you don't have those things, seek thm in the private sector, and in the underground economy, NOT from the government. Also, remember that whatever you want the government to provide you, government operators must first rob it from you.

I'm a Canadian and doing the same. Stocking up with dry goods and seeds. Prices skyrocketing so I go to 3 good stores every week and look for the specials. I can grow a lot of food on my balcony and in my community garden, 4' x 6'". Small but easy with good soil. Good to know how to do grow a few fast growing green veggies. Then how to use their seeds to keep growing them. Get a few natural antibiotics, basic first aid and essential oils and make a kit. Pray.

This is merely a foretaste of the coming Mark of the Beast. While it will require (probably) a chip in the forehead or the right hand, the results will be what you are seeing now: freezing of bank accounts and other things to basically cancel you from every day life. What Trudeau is doing shows for all to see that the technology is there. It just needs to be honed down more to fulfill Bible prophecy.

there are a lot and lot of unknowns, many questions. Israeli vaccines passports have been abolished long time ago. Yes, Israel was the one to introduce these "passports", but also the first one to cancel them. New israeli government without Netanyahu, is much smarter. PM Bennet is a Hi-Tech guy, who has developed few very successful startups in the past. So he understands very well what's going on in the world. He obviously has chosen his advisors accordingly.Regarding digital currency, it's been here for a long time already. Very few people are carrying paper money. Probably 80% of all transactions in the world are thru credit cards either online or at point of purchase. Hopefully it stays this way.

Another threat in the USA is the massive expansion of civil asset forfeiture as USA law enforcement departments seize property and money that exceeded $3 billion in 2020; no due process, no charges filed, no conviction. They seize on suspicion alone. The 4th and 5th amendments no longer apply to private property and the victim must prove the assets were acquired legally (arbitrary).

So grateful to have Dr. Mercola say that conventional medicine is as corrupt as the mainstream media. It seems that once big pharma was able to bring Prozac to market there's been no stopping them. Whether it was Bush Sr. on the board of Eli Lily, massive lobbying money, FDA and media money takers, or all of this, since the binding assay for certain receptors was discovered to create mind altering, diabetes, and immune modulating drugs, there seems to be no end to their field of medical influence. Not to mention statins. It's heartbreaking that so many patients are hypnotized by the lure of cures or a longer life. Hopefully, some are helped, but ultimately, there's no immunity from mortality.

The author says make sure you have access to water and grow your own food. How can one have access to water if there is none on one's property? I am 80 years old and I try to grow food. It is not easy. I have planted fruit trees that don't bear. I grow herbs, cucumbers and tomatoes in pots, but I couldn't survive on what I grow and they don't grow year round.

I also have noticed that the Christians are getting the vaccines. However, those from the small independent churches seem to think for themselves. The Christians who get vaccinated from where I sit are the Catholics and the Mormons. Interestingly those big churches are invested in big pharma based on my cursory searches, which makes sense as they're all about the money.....

Big churches with hierarchies are easy to infiltrate. My church is about 100 people and locally run. Decentralized network. Churches of Christ/Christian Churches. Few mega churches. Talked my preacher's family out of getting shots. No segregating or masks. We distrust the MSM.

Only if WE let them. The problem is too many are letting them. The solution is happening right in front of us, as the triple-jabbed are getting sicker and dying at rates not experienced since the 20th century sanitation revolution. And it is only the mere tip of the iceberg. Stay strong, the momentum of reality is very much on our side. And the economic collapse will become abundance not known since post-plague Europe (but likewise fraught with perils from remaining predators) for those of us who can navigate the gauntlet. That is the real meaning of the road to hell being easy and the road to heaven being hard and tortuous. balhawk, Some govt systems were left antiquated (for example the "do nothing congress for 30 to 40 years now", in other cases, new bills were passed or old bills were gotten rid of, for the benefit of those aware. Systemic corruption and rot eventually set in. So many possible players, so little time? 5 or 6 main puppetmasters? Most likely we know who they are.

The USA government currently has an active social credit score plat form. Under the guise of a private entity called, MyLife.com. The reason I think this is government backed entity is that they have unique pieces of information that I only used once and that was the 2010 US Census. The US Census says they will never sell or give out the personal data of an individual but MyLife.com has it in my profile. I call these unique pieces of info "tracers" as I only use them once so I can determine the leaked source. In this particular case I listed my religious affiliation as druid/wicca (I am neither and this is the only time I ever made this claim).

So besides gold, silver and cryptos, what are some assets likely to retain value and still be transferable/trade-able going forward? Owning land? Do we consider the stock market will be wiped out as part of the economic collapse? Will all debt then also be wiped out? Is this economic collapse of ALL currencies, or might some currencies in countries less on board with WEF plans perhaps stay afloat? Would love to know what you all think.

Eminent domain can be used. And paying property taxes can pose a challenge. My hope is the System will collapse within a few years. Buy land and homesteading equipment. You can't eat precious metals. In a constricted local economy barter is best. Metals may be useful if civilization survives the Reset's collapse. And I believe it will.

Weeheen, I theorized this about a year ago that the great reset is designed to cause an economic crash. What really got me thinking this way was a comment Biden said. Part of Biden's "build back better" plan is to strip away any extra property people own. I have 4. His plan is to tax anyone that owns property they dont live in massive amounts! In his own words he said no one should own more than one house! I have 2 houses, another property with a camper on it, and some land that has no services, but has a lot of trees. The way he worded it, I would be charged for 3 of those 4 properties as if they were children I pay child support for.

That would force most people to sell their properties. There's the catch! No one will buy these properties for fear of financial penalties. That's when you have to file bankruptcy and give your property to the state. Anyone living in/on these properties will be relocated to the big cities. Its basically what they are doing today with the illegal immigrants crossing our borders. Then that explains all the massive construction projects for new apartments in all the major cities. These will be our future homes. It's all part of the "great reset"

Weehen, read Rensmith and Arlen1's replies carefully. Also note whatever Almond says when she posts b/c she and partner have well-developed survival skills, and are arable-land owners.. Your profile suggests you're a single parent. This puts you at a disadvantage if you don't have household members who are skilled with firearms, both for hunting and self-defense. I reluctantly agree with any poster who hopes for the best but prepares for the worst.

weehen, you asked, "So besides gold, silver and cryptos, what are some assets likely to retain value and still be transferable/trade-able going forward? Owning land?" Answer: The asset of knowledge. Knowledge that is in demand. Knowledge of how to fix things; make things; grow things; trade goods and services without leaving a paper trail; knowledge of arithmetic; of how to speak and write intelligibly and powerfully, persuasively. Knowledge is private, stored in one's brain until it is shared. It is portable anywhere on earth. It cannot be stolen. The physical products of knowledge can be stolen, true, but not knowledge itself. It cannot be lost or destroyed except by someone blowing one's brains out. That is why tyrants--sociopaths and psychopaths all--round up the educated people, the intellectuals, and murder them, and burn their books. Want to take down tyrants ? Withdraw your consent to provide them your knowledge, and your consent to be tyrannized.

Russia has the lowest vax rate in Europe... I would think Putin is not in on this Great Reset, can you imagine how he feels, they are trying to digitally steal his country!

Putin is/was a member of the WEF Young Global Leaders. How much he buys in is impossible to know, but you can consider that this entire war is the latest "scamdemic". I'm not saying real people are not being horribly hurt and killed etc, but I'm saying that the reasons and motives we are presented with by any and all media are perhaps a total lie. This war of 2 sides is the globalist way....Red vs. Blue, Vaxxed vs. Unvaxxed, Dem vs. Republican, CNN vs. Fox...they love to set up 2 "sides" so we can choose our team, and net result is we are distracted, inactive and fearful, never realizing that they control both sides anyway. I see the whole thing as a sleight of hand, a clever magician's trick. Perhaps this is like the wars of 1984...perhaps it will even be perpetual?

Putin--regardless of morals or motives--opted out of the Reset. The globalists want to teach him a lesson and gobble up Russia.

Every road to hell was paved with "good intentions". Remember that "feel good" Age of Aquarius song from the early 70's...I must have missed that part about being face down in the street with a jackboot on my throat watching my family being carted away "for their safety"

Just a clarification, it wasn't a journalist in Canada talking about the truckers, the Freedom Convoy who said 'These guys don't represent Canadians; 90% of Canadians have taken the vaccine and they're all perfectly happy with the restrictions, the mandates.' It was our vile human of a Prime Minister, Justin Trudeau.

He's not "my" PM. He's a piece of Deep State, WEF excrement! When this idiot says: "I actually admire China for it's dictatorship"; how can anyone 'believe' that he is working for the best interest of Canadians! That utterance alone - leaves no room for doubt as to who he really works for!

Winston Churchill said "never ever give up". What is happening to the truckers? I hear their bank accounts are okay, but are they out of jail?

I read the quote and thought, "If a journalist said it how can we know it's really that high?" Worth noting a lot of vaxxed people I know oppose this kind of ID. They can see everything about you on the app. But good luck telling the vaxxholes that. They enjoy that secure feeling they get from a warm boot stomping in their faces forever.

Ducking for cover will not put psychopaths like Bill Gates and Klaus Shwab in prison. Nor will ducking for cover wrest control of National currencies from organizations such as the IMF or Bank for International Settlements. Control of currencies needs a REAL reset, and the public needs to get a clue about whom they allow into the public spere of finance. My suggestion is to simply follow the suggested methods employed by the "Great Reset". That is: Confiscate all assets held by the current perpetrators and Nationalize profits. Refuse access to ALL public infrastructure, including aircraft and shipping. Force them to be injected with the failed concoctions they now approve. Dress them up in orange suits and black masks... These bastards need a complete exorcism from our financial and legal systems. Quit ducking for cover and take up the offensive position they hold so dear.

Paul well said! And if it can be said that civilians would be in prison for the very things you mention, grand theft, embezzlement, and much worse, then if the banks can allegedly get away with t his, if the public officials can get away with it, well can they really have it both ways? Oh really? We have to invoke that and hold them to it. Just ridiculous! I think the trucking convoys hold a big solution and I hope for more very peaceable resistance, which will cause the entire structure to fall. And we the people have the power to wake up others in very strategic circles.

I said, strategic. I did not say, write to your family members and friends, who will only turn against you. Instead, send links and books (RFKs and Dr Mercola's books) to School Parent Teacher Associations. They talk to principals, health departments, officials, teachers, their kids, and wake up multiples of cross sectors. They are very strategic, especially now. You can bet the other side will try to fell this plan, prepare for rebuttals to the rebuttals and keep the education going! Accept no nonsense.

We can also write to lawyers, retired doctors, ask them to speak to the underground news media. Ask underground news media for news coverage. Where there is a will there is a way! To foil the plot, simply work by economics, help build the great resistance! The truth: The suffering caused to the masses has already caused a great wakeup of the masses. This is only going to continue. At first it may seem like the tyrants are winning but in the end, they are going to fail in their power grabs, just as Ghandi said.

Oh yeah, and this thing with Russia and Ukraine is just another tool in the tool box of the economic downfall. Already we are seeing prices here in the US affected by this "see the monkey" kind of thing. We have become so blinded by our great economic system that 'allows' us to have nearly everything we want 'on credit' that we can't realize when we are being played for suckers!

Any rule of law based on Fraud must be addressed by citizens of the world. The whole narrative of terminology (fear porn) must be addressed. If you know about patent laws (Monopoly creation) , you cannot patent nature-hence you cannot patent water but can patent an invention to analyze water quality or contents. How can Pirbright Institute (UK Imperial crown) patent coronavirus (US 10.130.701 B2 applied for 7/312015 granted 2018 for a VACCINE treating a disease such as infectious bronchitus? Coronavirus is being used by so called scientific community as a virus in nature causing bronchitus.

Same holds true for SARS Cov 2. Pfizer started the patent process for Sever Acute Respiratory Syndrom Ceritificate Vaccine -2 (Book nrevelations Chap 2. Which Modernas patent 2016 cherry picks gene sequencing. This goes beyond belief that these 2 so called bioweapons are of and in nature! The best is the COVID-19. as the fake PCR test was first filed by R Rothschild 2015. which describes analytical and detection of a coronavirus such as COVID-19! Never existed in nature. hence the fraud is not allowed to be exposed by corrupt institutions.

It is clear that vaccine passport is to enforce governments and manipulate aka control people. However it lacks any logic and people do not react against. Restaurants continue asking for it, crazy.

The so called “smart health card” is coming. So far, 30 States have signed on. Rumor has it that now even Texas and Florida have signed on to this? Who in those states is the one who actually signs on to this? Is it the Governor? I read somewhere that CA's Governor Newsom is a 2005 graduate of Klaus Schwab's Young Global Leaders just like Trudeaux, Merkel, Putin and Ardern (different years though). California is not the best state to be in, but then again: which state is? If FL and TX are out, what is left? And what happens after the March 1st deadline to sign the treaty with the WHO? If that goes in effect in August of 2024, it means that all member countries will have to surrender their own constitution as the WHO overrides it. If the WHO (or rather it's funder, and please look up which foundation the next largest private funder after the U.S.

is) declares that the “green fog” is coming upon the world or some other environmental or health threat, and because of that everyone has to be injected with something or be in lockdown, every member country who signed this treaty will have to follow that demand. Search for Dr. Astrid Stuckelberger. She spoke at a 5-hour meeting with Dr. Sucharit Bhakdi and others, and she explained the urgency of this treaty very well. She is talking from about 2:21 to 2:45 hrs, but if you have the time, please listen in on the whole session. default.salsalabs.org/T251e49a0-6b48-4ef4-a6fd-1251ce313979/f993575f-d..

Anyone traveling still has to show proof of vaccination. The WHO has to call an end to the pandemic before any government drops the vaccine mandates. Even then, it doesn't mean they will drop the vaccine mandates. I personally don't care. They can mandate their way to hell and it won't affect me. It is so stupid, it's funny. They want to punish the unvaxxed by denying us services. How retarded is that? I just laugh at these idiots. That just means I wont be spending any money for their services. THAT'S A WIN WIN! I keep my hard earned money, pay fewer taxes, and watch the entire world file bankruptcy. You cant fix stupid, but you can put stupid out of business.

Even I wasn't expecting this one: COVID-19 case and hospitalization rates increased among people who got a COVID-19 vaccine following the emergence of the Omicron virus variant, according to newly published data from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). According to the data, which is submitted to the CDC by health departments across the country, the COVID-19 case rate in fully vaccinated people rose by more than 1,000 percent between Dec. 11, 2021, and Jan. 8, 2022.

I'm not surprised at all. If you look at the history of coronavirus vaccines, they all failed due to ADE. The reason vaccinated people are getting sicker from Omicron than unvxxed people is ADE. The people who got boosted are getting even sicker than the unboosted. What bothers me is that not one single government is admitting this. There were some reports out of Japan's Ministry of Health back in Aug 2021 that said ADE was the most likely culprit for all the Delta breakthrough cases. Big Pharma's "Fact Checkers" immediately jumped on that report and declared it as "fake news". Japan dropped the jabs for Ivermectin in Aug 2021 and by the end of Oct they had ZERO new infections! You can't even look that up now. Even Japan's Ministry of Health retracted that statement from their website. Why would they do that? MONEY! Im sure Pfizer paid them to retract that statement.

It looks like 300.00 people over 60 are being fined for resisting the jab and most of them, hopefully all, are going to sue for damages in the EU courts. A law has been passed to the effect that debt to the revenue dept of €500 or more justifies asset seizure so considering the number of unemployed or low income pensioners, they're going after our homes. I haven't met that many people who have a clue about what's being discussed in the video here today. There's another new law that will send you inside for six months if what you say makes someone else uneasy, afraid and that makes people laconic. Our gofer boy is one of master's best.

Yes Mihail, the Austrian Government announced this Sunday that from February 1 the mandatory coronavirus vaccine will be applied to all residents over 18 years of age, that is, for about 7.4 of the 8.9 million inhabitants of the central European country. After an initial phase of transition and information, the Austrian police will start on March 16 to carry out random checks on the vaccination status of people. From that moment, unvaccinated residents of Austria may be fined 600 euros. If the citizen persists in his intention not to be immunized, the sanction can go up to 3,600 euros a year, but it will not imply the possibility of going to jail. The authorities will send a reminder letter to all unvaccinated people, according to the law that establishes compulsory vaccination. If you ignore this letter, a mandatory appointment to be vaccinated will be imposed, and in case of ignoring the authorities, the fine will be applied automatically.

I'm in Athens Greece. Unjabbed of all ages haven't been allowed inside anywhere except food & drug stores for the last four months and parliamentary opposition is in on it so it's up to us to spread the word. A couple of friends are now refusing the third shot, willing to be fined, best news I heard in years.
