

COVIDsteria: Best Covid Memes (Happy Lockdown...

MAR 16 95 30 11

Remembering COVID parks, dog walking, swimming, shopping, eating out, schooling, haircuts, music, baptisms, holidays, flying, driving and office work memes marking the start of COVID lockdowns!

Read →

30 Comments

Share

Write a comment...

Top first ▾

John Q Mar 16
Back then a busy-body hag at the shops asked me where my mask was. I said "Why, doesn't yours work?" and "If you're so worried about your health, how come you're so fat?" Good times.
 LIKED (22) REPLY (1) SHARE

KundaliniAndCellTowers just now
Yes. LOVE this collection of memes. So intelligent. People who fail to remember the past are destined to repeat it.
 LIKE REPLY SHARE

BJ Mar 16 · edited Mar 16
The best were the "outdoor" restaurants in NYC that hundreds of dogs pissed on as they walked by and or all the dog shit all over the same sidewalks (that housed the outdoor seating) that people picked up but not thoroughly removed - but the very very best were the rats that inhabited all of them at night once they closed. Or the homeless people that sought refuge inside of them. I would take video's while totally laughing my ass off - I can think of few things LESS hygienic than eating on the rat infested, dog shit and piss saturated laden streets of NYC! At least INSIDE they have to adhere to CODES! And yet people believed this was SAFER! Only in New Yawk folks only in New Yawk!
 LIKE (12) REPLY (1) SHARE

Citizen Satirist (CS) Mar 16 Author
What about San Franshhole? There its not dog sh*t.....
 LIKE (5) REPLY (1) SHARE

BJ Mar 16
Saw a great sign or poster with two dogs walking down the streets of San Fran saying be careful you don't step in the shit (human)
 LIKE (5) REPLY SHARE

Vxi7 Mar 16
I loved those times because the narcissists were extremely easy to spot.
 LIKE (7) REPLY (1) SHARE

TRM Dead Pool Mar 18
and the power tripping wankers LOL
 LIKE (1) REPLY SHARE

Kyle Kissinger (no relation) The Farce Feed Mar 16
Covid stupidity will go down in history 🤔
 LIKE (5) REPLY SHARE

Melissa S Mar 16
Thank you for posting these. They must never be forgotten. They are history.
 LIKED (5) REPLY SHARE

MaryAnn Mar 16
I had forgotten some of the insanity of those times. The outdoor/indoor restaurant tables were admittedly counter-intuitive but were the only options for dining out. Our jumbo sized governor loved the power the vid lock gave him and he abused it. He mandated us into segregated sheepdom. Thank you for this reminder of that tyranny.
Never. Again.
 LIKE (4) REPLY (2) SHARE

New Health Paradigm New Health Paradigm Substack Mar 20
What's sad is that although it was all insane and very silly, it was also highly calculated and intelligent too. The sillier the rule/ costume/ etiquette the more it pushed the public out of their normal routines and even their normal consciousness and into completely unfamiliar territory.
It was all designed to make ordinary activities (shopping, eating out etc) a completely alien experience, as if it was the first day at a new job, or the first day at a new school. Because when we are in those unfamiliar (and stressful) situations we instinctively look for CUES on how to behave and what to do..... in other words, we try to CONFORM.
All those silly stickers to stand on and arrows to follow were a kind of mind control technology to turn people into compliant robots - which is what most people became.
Without all that DISRUPTION to our normal routines people would not have been so disorientated and so they would not have been so compliant either.
Obviously as 'health and safety' it was all completely ridiculous, but none of it had anything to do with health or safety. It was really all about putting everyone into a state of compliance/ conformity by making a thousand small - but totally unreasonable - demands of everyone every day. This is also how abusive partners (psychopaths) dominate their spouses.
The whole thing was operating at a level far below the intellect, which is why so many intelligent people fell for it (and why they still can't see it was all a scam). It tapped directly into our social/ tribal hard wiring.
Check out the Asch Conformity experiment (there are plenty of videos). It was basically that on a gigantic scale.
 LIKE (4) REPLY (1) SHARE

MaryAnn Mar 20
This makes complete sense of the nonsense! My son told me to wait and see how the shots performed. I followed his advice but it was hard for me. I am, by nature, a get-along-gal so 'swimming upstream' was uncomfortable and I felt I was being less than honest with friends. Now, when I disclose I never got the shot, I get looks of surprise from those who thought they knew me 🤔
My son, however, has always questioned authority and this time he was spot on. I got to experience being a rebel and I lived to tell about it! The next time I won't need a push.
 LIKE (7) REPLY (1) SHARE

Dawn B Mar 27
I felt the same way about following rules because they are good and for a reason like for driving. However, I was always wanting to know why and suspicious. My mother would get mad at me and tell me I was negative when I would say a different reason for things, but it was not negative. It was questioning the reasons. As a child, I always asked her why. She always said "because said so." I trusted her, but hated that and needed to know her reasoning.
Now she says "everything is a conspiracy" to you and my answer is "Yes pretty much everything is."
 LIKE (1) REPLY SHARE

INGRID C DURDEN Mar 16
there are some really hilarious youtube films from France, where people are outside with mask on, go in the restaurant, then on the terrace, take mask off, eat, then put mask back on to go outside. I hope they all had a white rectangle on their faces where the mask was! How can people be this stupid?
 LIKE (4) REPLY (2) SHARE

SheThinksLiberty SheThinksLiberty's Newsletter Mar 16
My father kept going with your exact question, Ingrid. He would ponder in the face of the stunning stupidity of people, "How can people be this stupid...and still live?"
God rest his soul. I can only imagine his reaction to this display of stupidity and cowardice.
 LIKE (5) REPLY SHARE

TRM Dead Pool Mar 18
Compliant and obedient. Not stupid ... well okay. Stupid too LOL
 LIKE (1) REPLY SHARE

Eccentric Eccentric's Substack Mar 16
For me, the propaganda and obvious PSYOP really separated those who prioritize material over those who value immaterial... <https://eccentric.substack.com/p/6-ridiculous-propaganda-lines-of>
 LIKE (3) REPLY SHARE

Karen Mar 26
I took a picture of a traffic sign in Southern California that flashed "OC BEACHES CLOSED" to remind me that the police were arresting solo surfers out alone in the ocean.
 LIKE (2) REPLY SHARE

Curtis Mar 19
While things weren't quite so ridiculous where I am, if they try anything like that again I'm going full-on vigilante. They radicalized me.
 LIKE (1) REPLY SHARE

Blair Darkness to Light Mar 19
If you've ever seen the movie, "Idiocracy," you'll realize after looking at these memes that things are now far worse. The world is filled with idiots.
 LIKE (1) REPLY SHARE

TRM Dead Pool Mar 16
Great one. One of your best. "Happy Anniversary" indeed. I'm keeping this one and sending it to everyone next year too. Bwa ha ha ha ha
 LIKE (1) REPLY SHARE

taxpayer Mar 16
Some nice ones today. The squirt-gun baptism apparently was a put-on, after they "did the real thing first." https://cafemom.com/baptism/225456-squirt-gun-baptism-viral/345979-a_water_hose_was_just_a_bit_too_much_so_the_family_settled_on_something_smaller_instead the longer ago it is, the more hilarious! thankfully I did not see the masker at the store this morning. I am going to remember to go a half hour later to escape her.
 LIKE (1) REPLY SHARE

INGRID C DURDEN Mar 16
 LIKE (1) REPLY (1) SHARE

Jackie J Mar 16
My doctor still wears a mask, nor just at her office but in public. Coincidentally, her kids and my kids go to the same school and our kids were in the spelling bee so there she was. The only person in the room with a mask on. I couldn't stop staring at her as this surprised me. She's only been my doc for a couple of years but I've never seen her face.
 LIKE (3) REPLY (2) SHARE

Melissa S Mar 16
I would be wondering what other bits of "science" she believes that are total absurdity. I wouldn't trust her with my life. Does she abuse her children as well by forcing them to wear masks?
 LIKE (3) REPLY SHARE

INGRID C DURDEN Mar 16
OMG I don't think I could keep a straight face. I think I would not go there, even if she were the last doc around. I tried a new one here in town, and she wore a mask and marked my page as gender unknown - that will be my first and last visit!
 LIKE (2) REPLY (1) SHARE

Jackie J Mar 16
Yeah. I might have to find a mask free doc. But she doesn't push me on the vaxx. In fact, she ignores that it exists-doesn't bring it up at all. And she seems to know I'm female. I'd call that a win. Happy Saturday!
 LIKE (2) REPLY (1) SHARE

INGRID C DURDEN Mar 16
We are happy with the little bitties now! May be there is hope LOL!
 LIKE (1) REPLY SHARE

Momo Mar 31
"Dancing" at the memories! A great compilation, but my absolute favorite was missing. It's the photo of "thanks for the prom." The couples stand back to back, with their arms entwined behind them at the the elbows. They look like they are trying to throw each other over their heads.
 LIKE REPLY SHARE

Dawn B Mar 27
Fabulous compilation and only a fraction of the stupidity.
Like Jeff said, "Make it make sense!"
 LIKE REPLY SHARE

Michelle Mar 26
The only meme you are missing is the band students in a Wenatchee, Washington high school, each playing their instruments inside their own green standing-room-only tent...
 LIKE REPLY SHARE