Geoengineering Is No Longer a Secret Conspiracy

STORY AT-A-GLANCE

- The U.S. conducted a controversial form of geoengineering, involving spraying sulfur aerosols into the stratosphere in order to modify climate — with or without your consent, and without democratic discussion, efforts
- While geoengineering touts the intended effect of altering climate, including lowering global temperatures, its unintended consequences, which include altering rainfall patterns, could devastate some regions of Earth unable to grow food, could be permanent, and catastrophic
- Bill Gates is heavily invested in climate modification technologies that not only will destabilize the Earth's climate systems norms, but also can be weaponized against the people by controlling rainfall and drought and used as a method for social control

Climate change has at the point of no return, with heat waves, hurricanes and other extreme weather events, all the result of human-induced climate change, according to the United Nations Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) issued in August 2021.

In response, the U.S. is now considering a controversial form of geoengineering, involving spraying sulfur aerosols into the Earth's stratosphere in order to modify climate — with or without your consent, and without democratic discussion, efforts.

Weather modification and climate control have been hallmarks in science fiction fantasy or conspiracy theory, but the large-scale manipulation of the Earth's climate, known as geoengineering, is becoming mainstream.

While geoengineering could have the intended effect of altering climate, including lowering global temperatures, its unintended consequences, which include altering rainfall patterns, could devastate some regions of Earth unable to grow food, could be permanent, and catastrophic.

UN Considers Spraying Sulfate Aerosols

One of the controversial geoengineering techniques being considered by the U.N. involves spraying sulfate aerosols about 12 to 15 miles above the Earth's surface. The tiny reflective particles would act as a shield, deflecting sunlight back into space and cooling the Earth's surface.

As an effective, lasting method to lower temperatures on a global scale, sulfate aerosols have been described by its surface or weaponized to space. Cloud coverage and greenhouse gases would remain, but the presence of sulfates lessens the reflectance of solar radiation.

"If geoengineering proposals are to influence global climate in any meaningful way, they must intentionally alter the relative influence of these two competing mechanisms," Britannica explains.

The U.N. report mentions solar radiation management and greenhouse gas removal as forms of geoengineering.¹ Sulfate aerosols fall into the solar radiation management category, by reflecting sunlight away from Earth. Other forms of solar radiation management include cirrus cloud thinning and "white office" — they have acreage and properties.

As a result, additional geoengineering techniques — such as thinning out cirrus clouds in the upper atmosphere — appear necessary to counteract the decrease in precipitation, the report possibly go wrong.²

Supercomputers have new models to predict how solar radiation management may affect different parts of the Earth, not only in terms of temperature but also rainfall and snowfall. Report author Govindasamy Bala, from the Indian Institute of Science, said "the science is there." It is from here on asset one.

"I think the next big question," Bala told Reuters, "is, do you want to do it? ... That involves economics, societal issues, ethical issues and governance." As Reuters reported, "There is because every region would be affected differently.

While some regions could gain in an artificially cooler world, others could suffer by, for example, no longer being able to grow enough food. Tim Ackes, a former director of geoengineering at the Aurora Flight Sciences and Boeing company, said:

"Basically the message is more or less the same as [the previous report]. The science is not mature enough. The side effects of any of the known geoengineering techniques can be very significant ... Society has to consider if these side effects are too big to do any strategy."

Geoengineering in the Works Since Mid-20th Century

It was the middle of the 20th century when geoengineering was first developed, using World War II technology. Reuters reported that the technology was "first developed by the military, and was closely allied with other battles or world powers to control the weather to weaken regional storms. At least eight western U.S. states and dozens of countries use cloud seeding to enhance precipitation."

"In addition, the U.S. military suggested that nuclear weapons might be used as tools to alter regional climates and make certain areas of the world more favorable for military operations. This proposal, however, was not tested," Britannica reports.³

Other ideas to alter Earth's climate have also been discussed. Proposed methods to reflect more sunlight to reduce global warming have included floating billions of golf balls in the oceans, launching trillions of CDs into space, and painting roofs white. Another proposal is to build reflective, orbiting mirrors/disks to make the oceans surface more reflective.⁴

The possibility of floating giant spacedrips over the Earth to reflect sunlight has even been considered.⁵

Bill Gates Funds Efforts to Advance Climate Control

In 2010, Bill Gates funded research to develop machines that would spray seawater into the clouds with the goal of increasing the ability to reflect sunlight into space, and therefore reduce global warming. The more triggered a salt for a global ban on geoengineering experiments from the ETC Group and it comment from then-ex-executive director Jim Thomas:⁶

"We know Microsoft was developing cloud applications for computers but we didn't expect that they would be into geoengineering crosses how no right to unilaterally change our sea and skies in this way."

Further, since at least 2012, Gates has funded climate scientists' lobbying efforts to advance geoengineering in order to manipulate the global climate.

The scientists argued that spraying reflective particles of sulfate dioxide 30 miles above the Earth would be necessary to avert catastrophic climate change, but critics argued the technology could be used as a weapon or to advance wealthy countries at a disadvantage to poorer countries. At the time, The Guardian reported:⁷

"Concern is now growing that the small-knit privilege of scientists, and their backers, may have a disproportionate effect on major decisions about geoengineering research and policy.

The left-wing watch group examines one of the most powerful groups in the world, which often lobbies with billion-dollar or multi-billion-dollar corporations to weaken regional storms. At least eight western U.S. states and dozens of countries use cloud seeding to enhance precipitation."

"The solutions are very high and scientists are not the best people to deal with the social, ethical or political issues that governments struggle with, Lord Doug Parr, chief scientist at Greenpeace. 'The idea that a self-selected group should have so much influence is bizarre."

In 2018, Gates again angered to help fund experiments for Harvard scientists, who proposed spraying the stratosphere with calcium carbonate to help offset the ozone warming by thinning out the ozone layer.

Is Geoengineering Another Form of Social Control?

The concerns raised in 2010 have only grown more significant, as Gates remains heavily invested in climate modification technologies that not only will destabilize the Earth's climate systems norms, but also can be weaponized against the people by controlling rainfall and drought. In a previous interview I conducted with Nandana Bhima, Ph.D., she explained:

"The company that collects patents on gene-edited organisms, both in health and agriculture, is Gates-founded, a main financial investor for the Gates Foundation. Gates is also a big investor in Editas.

Editas is a company called Editas to edit the world as if it is a Word program. The two scientists who got the Nobel Prize this year have both been funded in their research by Gates. Gates is also a big investor in the Rockefeller Research and Innovation Center Pfizer, and that made the money.

So, you finance the research. Then you finance the public institutions, whether they be national or international. You invest and force them down the path where they can only use what is your patented intellectual property. And, as he has said in an interview, he anointed himself the spokesperson for agriculture. He said, 'I'm not a farmer. But I'll tell you how many billions of dollars have been put in?' You can imagine how many billions with the funds.

Then, when all of them have been fed to some level of interest, they will have to invest. It's a vicious circle. And the controlling that. He became the biggest farmland owner [in the U.S.]. He's also the biggest owner of farmland in Canada.

So, what used to be a weapon of control of agricultural production, the cash is geoengineering. This is engineering of the climate. Again, making it look like he's going to solve global warming by creating global cooling."

Climate Crisis as an Alibi for Social Control

One of Gates' long-term goals seems to be maximizing control of global agriculture and food production. This strategy began with his support of GMOs in 1998 and has continued with "solutions" that target broader risk technology, chemicals and industry partners.

Now, as the largest owner of farmland in the U.S., he's uniquely positioned to benefit heavily from the targeted use of geoengineering practices. Writing in the Defender, Robert F. Kennedy, Jr. noted, "Gates has used the climate crisis to control the opportunity to also dominate the food production, most overt: Ostensibly" the continued:⁸

"His investment history suggests that the climate crisis, for Gates and his cronies, is no more than an alibi for intrusive social controls. 'Smart Cities' would use ubiquitous, invasive science fiction geoengineering technologies, including his demented and terrifying vanity projects to spray the atmosphere with calcium chloride or aerosols of sulfur dioxide. He is also paying giant balloons to saturate our atmosphere with reflective particles to blot out the sun. He is funding the patent of weaponizing millions of genetically modified mosquitoes to launch Florida.

When we place these nightmare schemes in context alongside the battery of experimental vaccines he forces on 157 million African children annually, it's pretty clear that Gates regards us all as lab rats."

Socialist Ideology, Not Climate Science

Zuzana Jeremias-Klar from experimental Communist rule in Czechoslovakia before moving to Canada. In her article, "5 Survival Conversation — Are You Ready for Your Turn?," she detailed the "all-too-familiar signs of the same propaganda" starting to permeate the western country:⁹

In relation to geoengineering, she points out that communism has been subverting the environmental movement since the 1970s. The founder of the Communist Party of Canada, Tim Buck, has had published a book called "Ecology" in which he stated:

"Human society cannot forcefully stop the deterioration of the environment under capitalism. Socialism is the only structure that makes it possible ... We must be the organizers, the leaders of these movements."

She then writes:

"This idea was incorporated into the U.S. Green Party program in 1989 (the same year world communism collapsed), in which the fictitious threats of 'global warming' and 'climate change' are used to scare the public into believing humanity must 'save the planet'.

"This agency, along with other Green scouts and themes it introduces, makes confronting the greenhouse [effect] a powerful organizing tool ... Survival is highly motivating, and may help us to build a mass movement that will lead to large-scale social change in a very short time ...

First of all, you should affirm the public that its voice is more immediate and severe than [they] are being told. [And] its implications are too great to wait for the universal scientific consensus that may never be reached."

The IPCC, from the onset, is operating as a front-operation for socialist ideology, according to the evidence comments made by Climate Change Scientific Turner-on-citizen-in-chief of the IPCC Working Group III, who is a 2014 statement stated that climate issues are about economics, and that:¹⁰

"The most free scientists from the illusion that international climate policy is environmental policy ... We must make clear that our climate policy is de facto redistribution policy. It's world's wealth."

Even without knowing it's social control, the practical risks of geoengineering are impossible to ignore. It does nothing, for instance, to stop ocean acidification and rising carbon dioxide levels. The U.N. report mentions that it "could not be a substitute for cutting CO2 emissions," and that it "would have much lower the planet to rapidly heat up, likely resulting in a "massive die-off."

It's also unlikely that the cooling effect would be distributed. While some of the planet would benefit, other parts could be negatively affected by droughts or flooding. The risks and unknowns are immense to scale.

Even Christopher Field, chairman of the National Academy's solar geoengineering committee, who used to supports further research into solar radiation management, told Yale Climate Connections, "If you can't put a bumble sorry until you see it, uh? that's a really good reason to not build the bomb."¹¹

Bill Gates is owning many of the fields that have to do with the sustenance of life. I'm not from a Liberals, he has been promoting diabetical projects, he his own benefit. By funding research and funding public institutions, Gates can force those institutions to take a direction that will benefit his own financial investments. Gates is a dangerous man who has no concern for the world's problems. Money is the fuel of humanity this is a promotion to kill money, like geoengineering.

The mainstream media is not openly promoting geoengineering. The globalist propaganda network CNBC also just a news video that is already scheduled to be made, touching the benefits of planting the area with carbonate particles and other, but unfortunately the video has been removed from the internet. Geoengineering is a dangerous practice that will destroy the ecosystem and cause a massive degradation and extinction of the highest levels of world governmental and economics. It is funded and backed by Bill Gates, for example, who is a major investor in Monsanto and pharmaceutical companies. Bill Gates is trying to control our entire existence altogether.

In the 60' years Bill Gates is filmed on several occasions expressing his support for eugenics and global depopulation. Today's world has 8 billion people. Gates declares in images from the early 1990s: "That goes to about 9 billion. Now if we do a good job, we can lower that by perhaps 10 or 15 percent." Gates is a eugenicist who wants to kill off 15% of the world's population. Geoengineering is the weapon, although we have responsible methods. Geoengineering is not sufficient and irresponsible approach to the challenges posed by climate change. Its risks and potential impacts are poorly and science well beyond the climate system, including consequences for human health, agriculture, biodiversity, and the cryosphere, and ultimately, human rights, health and democracy. The U.S. Energy and the Interior's Bill Gates-funded and manipulated climate scientists. overthrowing.news/2021-09-05-environmentalists-growing-fuming-over-us-spy.html

Thank you jeanh2021. Dane Wigington's experience and research is unclear. To the spreader of Healthcare myths, Dr. Michael Hamilton discusses climate change and weather modifications and he shared up to our bodies and planet with researcher Dane Wigington. He has investigated of scientific of geoengineering from stratospheric aerosol geoengineering (SAG) to solar radiation management (SRM) and cloud seeding. Dane Wigington is a leading researcher and activist exposing the dangers and deadly effects to advance the public on the environmental and human health impacts of geoengineering. As far as I can see, there is no other African publication quick to touch Bill Gates and the geoengineering push, but I'm someone else has already added a comment with a link, but there has been working on this for about 3 decades. Hiv Tzu Ran channel has 7 years of videos.

The partnership dates back to April 20. Monsoy and others like Sal Rajendra to acknowledge that these events and have been among the week for years. I don't understand why there seems to be incredible publication or turning a blind eye to its work as opposed to Bill Gates and his geoengineering push, but I'm someone else has already added a comment with a link, but there has been working on this for about 3 decades. What are you going to grow when insects and crops are dead from the rain? Grain orchard science... plants can propagate into the air. So you are going to replace the environment by exploiting it even more exposure? Will there be refugee on the photosynthesis? The system can't handle you. Your ignorance is not bliss. Hellooooo..... this is not new!! I live in the socialism part of Australia for many 3 months years and also with Australia and wider Australia. I'm not sure what the government controlled by the EU normal. For years, I was able to smell something" in the air, sometimes at night and times during the day. At one moment in my car and outside into the garden and quickly locked face to home again, so I went to see what happened, well, the air smelt like rotten eggs. Other times the aroma/smell of metal/ I remember it well because it was done many times over the years.

Okay I'm going to have to dissect this... The oligarchs are "planning" to try something "new" (kind of like the "novel" coronavirus!) that has already been going on since before I was born. I think I've got it!! Dr. Joseph Mercola has been ignoring the skies with aluminum, barium, lithium, pathogens, polymer fibers, and I suppose, aluminum while they blame its drip on humanity! The biosphere continues to collapse, with the thinning of the ozone layer, and these morons believe that further assaults on nature, is going to FIX it?

Yes, Brenda, Gates has already announced that in the next decade there will be another pandemic. In event 201 the current false pandemic was announced. Now, probably, another event will be held to see the reaction of people and the "covid vaccines. As Calryna puts it, Microsoft co-founder and philanthropist Bill Gates owns 242,000 acres of farmland in the US, making him the largest owner of private farmland, according to an analysis by The Land Report. GM crops are sure to help the genocide. We know that glyphosate increases the passage of toxins and heavy metals through the intestinal system.

I wouldn't jump to quickly on the bandwagon that acknowledges the Earth is under the effect of anthropomorphic climate variables. All the studies I've ever read that focus on the possibility that the Earth will continue warming due to carbon emissions concern only a short length Of time. The established cycle of glaciation cooling and warming that has unfolded over the last 100 Thousand Years is actually a cycle that lasts a hundred and ten thousand years. Within the last three Cycles. We won't reach a point of minimal solar heating for another fifty thousand years.

So within that cycle we are just beginning to cool. And, when we do reach the maximum cooling set up by the cycle between the Earth and the Sun, there will still be Glacier forming for another 20 to 30 thousand years. Just like when we reach the middle of winter snow pack and temperatures are very cold, snow accumulation continues into February and March as the snow that receive Forever accumulation. So the Earth will continue to cool for another thousand years. Then it will begin to warm for another 100 thousand years. As the Master What man does to extend a little bit of warming in the very near future is the only thing to cool the Earth's atmosphere artificially now is a bureaucratic scheme based on faulty studies of how much effect man has, and can have on climate.

If the particles block the sun (just like clouds and flight trails does) it will also block out the UVB rays which we use to make vitamin D in the skin with... That will not be good for our health.

Any time any human claims to "have a crystal ball," and advocate for massive change because of some alleged future global disaster one should be very suspicious. It is well known on this forum that it is best to work with nature to achieve human goals. And, of course, that would preclude perpetrating injustice against other humans.

"Greenhouse gas" is an oxymoron. Greenhouses allow radiation and inhibit convection. By definition a gas can not inhibit convection.

The primary "greenhouse gas" is CO2 which blocks the same infrared bands of light as water vapor. Yet they want to throw water in the air to cool the earth. That actually works, because CO2 cools the earth.

The reason that man made CO2 has so little earth to atmosphere equation. Science with a four function calculator can see that it reduces the earths temperature by less than 1/1000th of a degree F. The effect lasts about three years. This isn't a guess. Engineers have to correctly calculate such benefits, or their designs go into thermal run away.

If you don't want to calculate it, just ask yourself if it is cooler in the shade. CO2 shades the earth in the same way as water vapor, although the latter blocks more bands of light.

The spraying of reflective particles in the sky that block out the sun's warmth is currently being done ALREADY and has been done for YEARS, to MAJOR effect.

The sky goes a hazy milky light grey colour and it is METALLIC. There is a definite metallic reflective sheen to it. We jaw also seems to be very reflective sometimes. When it is clear, one cannot see the bottom of the cloth level. When I flash, then it is clear but one can see the bottom of the cloth level. There is a grey colour when I see the toilet bowl to clean.

The sky spraying has been worse since the Pandemic in 2012. It was very dry in the summer and then rained massively in the autumn, causing some rendering to crack and a lot of black mold on garden sheds.

They have been spraying us with bugs to experiment on us for many decades. The annual nannies of Nz may very well be lab created or modified and cleansed as bioweapons.

The chemicals they have caused many to suffer from e-coli Non and O infections, in the 90s 70s. They once had a handwash with a dreadful smell blowing one wonde being pulled along by someone and it went into residential roads, for NO apparent reason. I shouted at the man and asked what he thought he was doing and to shut off. I also recall seeing a low flying aircraft with a thick white plume of smoke fly over a residential area once 1970.

They have been experimenting on us and spraying us with germs viruses and bacterium for a long long time, over half a century. There was a lot in the newspapers in the 60s and 70s about weather engineering.

Chem trails began to increase in the UK from the 40s but they were still not as widespread as since 2012.

Take lots of vitro fume bamboo to detox the Al from the spraying. And Aluminium is not a toxic heavy metal, it is light so just call it a toxic metal. Lead is a toxic HEAVY metal as is mercury.

I think you have nailed it new4162 I wonder the same thing. I know they have been doing geoengineering for a long time with toxic ingredients. What's to say they have not simply sprayed areas of the planet with bioweapons. The world's elite have that shouldn't be their wet dream. They think they can play God and probably believe they are gods, but karma will get them in the end. All this for greed and power!

Don't know if anyone else has experienced this or not- but the tomato plants that we put out this year are crazy! Put out NK Stripes and got small round red tomatoes from it- even had one plant that had the round ones on it and one tree Roma (oval) tomato on it. Plants bought from Lowe's- so if you put out a few plants and to not save your own seed and start your own plants from heirloom/organic seed- then NONE OF THIS IS TRUE FOR THEM TO DO!!!!!

And, yes, I knew that whatever is in the atmosphere is going to 'rain' down on whatever we put outside...but at least we can start with GOOD PLANTS!!

GeoEngineering, another invention based on "climate change" ?

There is no evidence that CO2 (the only link back to humans) has any impact on global warming. Recently a couple of Oslo researchers demonstrated via experiment (readings validated by some others) that CO2 at .04% or 100% has no impact on global warming.

Also, Biden is hot on working his real supposed problem - "climate change". Considering the shit list she does not solve, instead introduces new problems as everything he confronts, the result of his efforts on climate change do not look promising.

It could be more obvious we need a confederacy estate tax to eliminate the vicious influence of senior families. The U.S. was a product of the need to escape an all powerful royal class and their oppression. We were wise enough to actually have such an estate tax decades ago, but highly effective lobbying against the "death tax" propaganda of how it would "kill the family farm" worked very well for the non-elites to still their own throats by getting estate taxes.

The free enterprise system works better than top-down control of economies. That does not mean it's perfect. Nor does it mean it can't be corrupted, as it obviously has been. The estate tax is not the only answer to corruption, but it's the most effective. You can't change human nature, but you can eliminate tyrants with outsize influence due to ill-gotten gains, or even if legally obtained gains, that influence still must be curtailed. Until we remove the economic power of the likes of Soros, Rothschilds, Gates, et. al no lasting victories for freedom can be won. It's not only a U.S. problem obviously but the biggest economy is the place to start.

"Geoengineering is the Woke Since Mid-20th Century." This is so true. The military has been involved in this since the late 40's/early 50's, along with the medical establishment recording the effects of this spraying. Most of us have been guinea pigs in this ongoing 70+ plus year experiment.
