No Joke, Climate Change Professionals Now Provide Goals and Individual Allowances for Transportation, Food, and Clothing

December 1, 2021 | Sundance | 414 Comments

Carbon trading is the economic platform to generate government income. That income then drives the carbon control financial transactions that will be deployed by the regulator. At the end of the financial line, we arrive at a world with Central Bank Digital Currencies (CBDCs). The digital money provides instant control over spending and carbon resource allocation.

For many years the carbon allowances for individuals were esoteric goals as presented by those who support the carbon trading platform. Now, as the world is distracted by the economic fallout of the pandemic and the energy control process, a result of the pandemic and Biden's Build Back Better bill, the control efforts are now quantifying the specifics for the individual citizen. [tdf Here]

In short, we are now putting down the brass tacks. Your resource allocation is part of the "communist intervention" consideration, where the amount of carbon emissions your consumption drives is what determines the goal for your future allowance.

|---|---|---|
| Dietary change (this intervention is documented by three major changes which are described in more detail) | 16 kg of meat per person per year* | 0 kg meat consumption |
| | 90 kg dairy consumption (milk or cheese) per person per year | 0 kg dairy consumption (milk or cheese) per person per year |
| | 2,500 kcal per person per day | 2,500 kcal per person per day |

*Private Die Abolition2 – There is a growing consensus, based on compelling evidence, that the world is facing a climate crisis and rapid action to reduce greenhouse gas emissions is a necessity. Historically, decision- makers and academics have discussed a range of options that can reduce our carbon footprint. […] Here, we focus on three major dietary changes that can reduce emissions: how options and whether it no longer competitive with meat and agriculture emission reduction.

Increasingly, all options are required, and this involves multiple actions exploring how they can respond to the climate crisis. This includes, including national government, cities, business and society. [read more]

As you can see above, the goal is to control consumption.

In the next chart, you can see your allocation for "wet clothing and textiles".

You will be permitted 1 new clothing item per person.

| CONSUMPTION INTERVENTION | PROGRESSIVE TARGET IN 2030 | AMBITIOUS TARGET IN 2030 |
|---|---|---|
| Reduce number of clothing and textile items | 8 new clothing items per person per year | 3 new clothing items per person per year |
| Reduce waste in the supply chain | 50% reduction in supply chain waste | 75% reduction in supply chain waste |

In the Transportation sector, the ambitious goal is to remove all private vehicles, and the target lifetime of vehicles is 50 years.

| CONSUMPTION INTERVENTION | PROGRESSIVE TARGET IN 2030 | AMBITIOUS TARGET IN 2030 |
|---|---|---|
| Reduce ownership | 190 vehicles per 1,000 people | 0 private vehicles |
| Optimum lifetime | 20-year lifetime for body shell & interior (shell & interior) | 50-year lifetime for body shell & interior (shell & interior) |

For airline travel, citizens will be permitted one flight less than 1,500km (930 miles) every three years.

| CONSUMPTION INTERVENTION | PROGRESSIVE TARGET IN 2030 | AMBITIOUS TARGET IN 2030 |
|---|---|---|
| Reduce number of flights | 1 short-haul return flight (less than 1500 km) every 3 years per person | 1 short-haul return flight (less than 1500 km) every 3 years per person |
| Sustainable aviation fuel | 53% Sustainable aviation fuel adopted (or other equivalent low carbon technology or fuel) | 100% Sustainable aviation fuel adopted (or other equivalent low carbon technology or fuel) |

[Abstract] – "The wide range of action required to achieve a 1.5°C scenario leaves little room for delay or inaction. Given the coming decade, other broad, supporting policies can provide a safety net by bringing about complementary emission reductions. Examples of such policies are a wide deployment of carbon capture and storage (CCS) technologies, a large-scale transition to a circular economy, and changes in societal behaviour. Although these options are not explored in detail in this study, they are crucial and must be pursued as they may be relevant, such as adopting more useful measures of societal development than just economic growth. In practice, a mix of options will be the most cost-effective emission reduction pathway, but this report provides direction on the type, scale and timescale of policies that will need to be implemented [read more]

As mentioned in the beginning, these are the allocations we can expect to see in the future.

The enforcement mechanisms will likely vary depending on government power amid the various nations that will implement the carbon control platform. Some will be more draconian than others. Nevertheless, keen eyes, gateways and permissions, and financial currency will likely be part of the compliance process for the carbon allocation as outlined.

Yes, they want revolution, and sooner than later. These are extremely evil people who have no stop button.

Yes they do. Sadly they bring their boot down on our necks, we haven't done one thing to stop them — in so many areas of our lives planned destruction of the human race …or at the very least, of the 1st World portion of it that has created the lifestyle and the wealth that they covet.

That is not quite true. There have been revolts worldwide, just not on US TV. There was a revolt in Canada, the Trucker Convoy. Macron in France is facing a revolt right now. Even some people still believe even in the Eye of Thief Sauron, that must be evil. Many more people have joined him than voted for him. This is why they are resorting to the Re-Run and Re-Count strategy in Arizona. They are trying to steal the election. They are afraid of the truth. There is an army of patriots and support which is censor the mainlines. People all over the world are waking up to the fact that the Covid and Vaccine mandate requirements threat upon the population. Some are still striving to remain what remains.

The media makes it seem like most men no head teeth 6 and the government is the only source of all lies.

"This is why they are moving in to the fix shot and other "vaccinations" in the hopes of getting it into all of you"

Lefty or anyone else:

Any hard fact on that?

Are they putting covid vaccine in flu vaccine surreptitiously?

Or are they properly disclosing a combined flu-covid vaccine?

which? Link?

How about the shingles vaccine?
Any compromising of the shingles shot?

I'm overdue, what has anyone heard?

thx

Yes, I'm sure they want to inone to make all vaccines mRNA. The inone to put the covid vax on the child immunization schedule is helping that along.

For a good synonym (on a variety of topics ) check out A Midwestern Doctor on sub stack. The author does a fantastic job digging into vaccines for all sorts and a great deal more. Also, I'm sure you've heard of Dr. Peter McCullough. He's been on a tear lately and author is also close in regards to their own homes, unlinking to comparisons to the "we know everything, trust us" BS that we are fed every day.

Here is a link, hope it works

It was not a law what covid was. Some people undertook it was a con, most did not. Having been lied to once and discovered the government lied, people will be far less ready to comply with anything else they say. This is where most people are today. A huge section will believe the 5%. A larger fraction do not.

This is what cities look like when riots and the Warsaw Pact nations looked like in the bad old days. Of course, the Communists were far too important to be denied duchies on the Black Sea or Baltic coast. Nothing has changed except the names. The rich

And it translates out in mass unemployment, because there will be no need for auto manufacturers, gas station complexes, shopping malls, banks, brokerage houses ... the list is endless. Only the Amazon delivery trucks will survive, and they will be driven by robots and stuck in auto manufacturing, but I suspect that our masters will not want us to move around very much even at the local level.

Why do I say that? Because our masters' Centipotence with the material regimes of old mina the much because the pressures was actually producing and being taxed. That were passionately will be consuming and not paying taxes. Even in a digital universe, how long can this go on before the government realizes that it is losing control? Ans: Not long.

Occam's Razor supplies only one answer to this question, and it involves mass death.

Spent time in the U.S.S.R. in 1983, right after President Reagan called them the evil empire.

Brought along suitcases full of blue jeans, guns, nylons and toilet paper to give away while there, and sold them for rubles on the black market for profit.

There we were and purchased things for people who had asked us for help, since tourists could purchase . . . an umbrella . . . but a Russian could not. So we brought the things people asked for.

Had our brought some full of stolen ware and steel flower pots, we could have come home with more money than we left with. Almost every public restroom, and the restroom on the Red Arrow, had a Russian lady attendant.

In the past ten years I have thought a lot about our time in the U.S.S.R. and how people were rationed everything they had.

Looks like "they" want to force that system on us.

So, along with stockpiling food and spices, getting a Rokey and having a supply of water (or purification tablets), I have also been buying a lot of ammunition. Have a lot of guns, ammunition (along with all reader, cutting, reader, scopes, lights, phones, solar cellars), having a decent generator and off-grid solar power, I have been collecting and storing sleeping bags (get them good and warm), tents, camping stoves, and camping supplies. Have a lot of fuel, propane, kerosene, diesel and storing multi-vitamins, multi-minerals, and keeping old winter wear, realizing if I no longer fit me, it might fit us again, or fit someone else in need.

We have bicycles to ride if we have to go beyond our yard, bug out bags for both of us, and stuff stored in different locations.

Yes, this great reset very much resembles life in the union of soviet socialist republics.

I also spent a great deal of time behind the Iron Curtain in the 80's. Nylons and toilet paper were indeed valuable commodities. I had a friend who was a Russian linguist in the USAF and was another who became Cassel Hall Commandant on my call everywhere I went (goes to remind me of the Stasi in East Germany). Even though I was a tourist and was not allowed to travel outside the hotel with the old Gelsheschaal number), I had to be careful about mingling with the locals. The KGB had a very sophisticated system of informers. Even the prostitutes were agents, when I checked out of whatever hotel I was calling home at the moment. It's hard to describe the desperation and despair that I saw in the eyes of ordinary citizens in the Soviet Union. Even the Russian soldiers that I saw looked like they were on the verge of death. For some reason, although the level of poverty there at the village level in central Africa was worse than in the Soviet Star. Without freedom, the soul withers and dies.

That's along the lines of what I have been wondering . People will steal from others in the packing lots. People will break into Nancy pelosi's house again – this time for her ice cream.

Seriously, we have to figure out how to protect what we have. In smaller towns when the police go on strike, people will rob their houses of food and stuff they need.

This is not the Soviet Union for several obvious reasons.

Yes, I remember the start dawning of Gore's rewrite as soon as it re-first grade. It is terrifying to think children like they are bombarded with "nation ones are evil." Even about first grade through graduate school if they get that far.

Somehow even the Medical Schools are as woke as the rest of Academia. No science needed anymore, only ideology today. Only "consensus" from politicians. Politicians are the dumbest people on earth.

Before civilization, the stupid were culled by nature.

Civilization has many, many benefits, but one glaring defect.

It makes it possible for stupidity to exist, and even to rise to power. Once there, it drags everyone down to its level. Civilization is then eventually destroyed.

Of course, once civilization is destroyed, being stupid becomes a deadly sin again and those who are not stupid will find themselves, and civilization can be recovered by the intelligent and hard-working, again.

Here is a couple of media manipulations. Look at any climate map of the Western United States. It will show different colors or shades showing how bad and how drastic the "drought" is. Now realize the following. The Colorado river basin is an extremely large swath of land which encompasses parts of 7 states. The Lake Mead is the largest reservoir in the Colorado River basin. The 2021 rainy season ended, which ended on October 1st, the Colorado River basin received 21% of its normal rainfall. The 2020 rainy season ended on October 1st, the Colorado River basin received 20% of the basin has received 20% of it's average precipitation. Does that sound like some kind of drastic drought? Now realize that Lake Mead is the largest reservoir in the Colorado River basin. It is currently 35% full as reported by the media. During the 2021 rainy season, again ending October 1st, Lake Mead received 22% of it's normal inflow! So water level dropped from 35 to 34% during the 2021 rainy season. Now realize that Lake Mead is the source of water for the drinks of Las Vegas, Phoenix, Nevada, Southern California and other parts of the South West. Have exploded in population over the past 50 years. More and more desert land has been developed and populated over time.

We have the supply of the aquifers, whatever name given the Rocky Mountains in some and the Sierra Nevada Mountains in others. Plus the rivers that flow from the mountains to the valleys and farmers. The supply simply no longer kept up with the demand! Split believing those manipulated climate maps!

Another point. So many stones in the drink! – Immigration. I point out the luxury of liberal California taxes to fear and watch California citizens water use to preserve water, and then on the other hand allow its thousands to millions of water using immigrant dwellers that also drain the water supply and pollute the environment. Then they (CA) have the gall to be outraged over the planet (water) and pollution with them. So all be well I need to call to be outraged over immigration.

Yes, California is a mess. LA County with residential development. Water usage is severely rationed with closed showers and no running the sink while shaving etc. but every other block of original development is being torn out for more 5 story apartments. Glendale is building a massive one block. The towers line the once quaint streets. And a bill vests for Lower + assess.

Excellent Point. In the 90's, Canada had a fellow from Newfoundland propose a canal from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic Ocean. Nothing came of it, but it was a great idea. Another Thunder Bay. A few decades ago we grew like Hogweed and slowly ran, in let less dense and more water. Time to introduce freshwater to deliver to FILTHY LIBERALS in the western US. We could refill your rivers.

I remember how Judith Curry started out as a mainstream climatologist, that is, as a supporter for the CAGW hypothesis. Then she started to look at the data. She was honest enough to admit that the data didn't support the CAGW hypothesis. Eventually, hating shadows, never-worth-talking-with, that maybe a few of them could be swayed by reason and data to understand the dangers of CO2. So talk to them she did. Then she found out that the CAGW hypothesis was not just wrong, it was deliberately wrong. It would answer their objections. Before you know it, she was being called every evil name in the book by the same colleges who formerly held her in the highest regard. And she began to be censored and shut out of the debate. Then she found out that the whole CAGW hypothesis was a FRAUD, science, invented by the REAL science, and as the years went by, she realized that the whole thing was a FRAUD, science, invented by the idiot what scientists do when confronted with new evidence. She changed her beliefs.

Good job, Doctor Curry!

One of my kids wrote a research paper on how veganism was actually worse for the environment than meat eating. He made a compelling argument. Vegans want to go to the store more, their refrigerators are unlikely to be able to hold a week's worth of calories. Their daily trips to the supermarket add to the CO2 in the atmosphere. Vegans throw away more food because of the shorter shelf life of produce over the shelves. Even more workers getting to and from the stores. Their daily calorie requirements also use more hotels, requiring more dealers and water. Their diets require more fertilizer, more land to grow crops, vegan food to the tables. And lack of concern for the bugs, well, that's outright ugly.

He drone in lots of math, but those were his basic points. He got an A.

In my environmental classes they told us that we should have zero or 1 child to save the environment. I'm not sure that's the right way to look at environmentalism. It's a very Malthusian response, or I became a pariah for pointing out the math and reality. Its all in the end that proven it

There are huge areas around the world, including here in the US, which are not suitable for farming and huge areas suitable for livestock. The only practical way for those areas to contribute calories for humans is to raise cattle, sheep, or goats. One can certainly argue that the grains we feed to livestock could be fed to humans, but the fact is that we don't. Livestock are consuming crops many people could not grow and feed. Do away with meat and you are condemning millions of people to starvation.

I feed just for the record, I have been a vegetarian for over 12 years, but I understand that my choice to be a vegetarian was not a blueprint for every human on this planet. I am not an idiot. I'll an ahole.)

Back in 2015 while I was researching various topics, I became aware of that dynamic. By coincidence, I was also aware of the fact that the Bible, in the Book of Revelation, mentions several seasons, 3rd is called Back in the well, less erosion, better water retention, etc. And, the Israel has a better project for nations for our bodies.

Plus, the New Testament, such as Hosea, Amos, Isaiahm, & Amawns can be used for children, Sunday School, Bible Study, to compare the manner for crop fertility. Chickens love going through that sand too!

Sir, there are no real innocent people. Perhaps a baby is the most innocent human and we seem to harbor babies in the womb with impunity, with minimal adult outcry. This is the fruit of the sin nature we inherited from Adam.

Yes, suffering was not part of the original creation. God created perfect. But God gave us free will and we chose to sin. Sin brought suffering and death into the world. And just as Jesus spoke to His parables, an enemy corrupted the harvest.

The Bible tells us that the end of the age will be as it was before our fathers. Our sin required God to die on the Cross to bring us back.

From the Old Testament we know that killing many from God' s commandments brought judgment. The flood, Sodom and Gomorrah, Egypt.

The faith in a benevolent God will be tested. But as was the faith of the Christians for centuries before us. Many will fall away. Many will be deceived by the lies. But the ways are not ours. Our lives are detoured from God but humbly begs His help. And in the end, we will be with Him. Not because we deserve it, but because of the love of Christ. Up. He has conquered the world, sin and death. Now, through Him, we must as well.

Onward!

My dad, a wonderful, humble, smart and kind man loved the Lord with all his life.

According to this world God "punished" my dad for committing no sin.

According to this world God appeared to give up on my dad.

According to my dad God loved him dearly and blessed him with trials in this life; trials that proved to my dad that his love for the Lord was very real.

God proves those he loves, which may sound like that is not possible. The proving does not feel good, but the glorious results in the Lord's hands cannot be measured here on earth.

We live in a world where God and every human was born a sinner, as a result of the Fall. The first is a sin nature, and the second is the sins we commit and is known like the hammer, but the sin caused us with free will, just as he did the angels. Satan was an angel who sinned and fell. He is the father of lies and the father of all who rebel against Adam, but who among us can honestly say that we would not have been deceived as he was?

For those who turn to Christ, suffering is purgative, and we have the promise of an eternity with Him in Heaven. Those who reject Him will be cast into the Lake of Fire, also without ever turning to Christ may the reward of the choice they make. I would not be in their shoes.

Never give up on Him.

Even Christ on the cross cried out, Lord, why have You forsaken Me?

Yet we know that Christ rose from the tomb and rose now sits at the right hand of His Father.

His ways are higher than our ways. But He knows exactly what He is doing.

That is what it means to walk by faith and not by sight. Even in the valley of the shadow of death, the Lord is there.

Trust in His love and in His goodness and in His sovereignty.

The enemy can only win when we no longer trust God.

Great find Betsy James. Here is the reading of a recent speech regarding Covid and evil globalists by Archbishop Carlo Maria Vigano. Quote:

"I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life," has already defeated Satan, and what remains of his power is only the ability to lead souls to damnation. This is the reason for the fierce persecution those actions which given to under the banner of Christ, on the side of Good.

I trust that this great work you are undertaking will serve to open the consciences of souls, putting an end to a time of trial in which we do not know the world will become if we do not turn to God. Only in Him can we find the strength to fight against the forces of Evil that are trying to destroy us all. The City of the Anti-Christ will be the City of Man, self-centered, and centered on the world, the city of the devil is the model of those who live in self-love, conforming to the principles of this world.

I thank you and bless you all...

Cameras are nice. Any of us who've watched criminals burglarizing our homes or businesses know that cameras are a great way to identify them. But I'm not sure cameras would have done much more anything else. I've watched criminals steal the security cameras themselves, in full view. They don't care.

Now, I'm all for technical electrical infrastructure, it's whole far from populated areas and, save for generating facilities, usually not secured with armed humans. Anyone with system knowledge can do quite a bit of damage, and rarely repaired, and likely never be identified.

We often talk about there being an armed patriot behind every blade of grass. That holds true for destructive aspects too. They're everywhere. One big industry that's been hammered hard by COVID is the oil industry, and pipelines in particular. Pipelines are old, eventually, historically, a lot of work was performed pressed by electricity.

Stone was world.

If there's a crisis and the planet is doomed then why don't they implement restrictions for all people NOW? Because rich people don't seem to be cutting back at all.

These people really believe they have taken the place of God Almighty and are trying to establish a new, perverted reality over His Earth and His Creation... and elevate themselves above the rest of us humans who fear His Image... as if we are animals or pets that they own.

I do not know of any other time in history when such hubris and wicked sin was displayed to such a degree publicly and openly by the leadership of those who claimed divinity and demanded to be worshipped by human citizens...

These wicked people are manifesting more and more the evil will of the one they serve, Satan, who became so powerful as to decide to become not only equal but greater in power and authority than God Almighty Himself. Satan is the ultimate narcissist.

I hope and pray these perverted, deviant sinners repent and put their Faith in the Savior, Jesus Christ, the Son of God before it is too late for them to turn... for sinner makes it clear that those who do not believe in the Son of God are already condemned. The verdict has been passed, they are guilty of sin, and the Wrath of God abides on them. Only by the Blood of Jesus Christ, the hanging over them... they only hope is the Pardon offered to them in the Blood of Jesus Christ. I pray they will repent and turn to Him and receive His Grace by Faith.

And may we, those who are His people and have been baptized by Christ with the Holy Spirit continue to love our enemies, bless those who curse us and do good to those who spitefully use us. Our Redeemer lives and He is coming soon.

They don't care about the profits anymore. They are all getting payoffs from the corrupt government in exchange. The carrot and the stick keeps them in line.

I suspect there will be huge retail job losses from Christmas and stores will close. The corporate leaders will get their payoffs and golden parachutes.

I hope the geniuses at the WEF thought about this

People who are rich are not necessarily smart. Put an starving-out and angled-kill other billionaires in charge of the food distribution in America, and we may be the government! Look at Sri Lanka for a current example of this, Sri Lanka even had a page up being "role models" for the rest of the world. Then they banned chemical fertilizer, and their food production plummeted. Their government has no money to buy cannot give bankrupt, so their "USDC tokens" will become useless and hyper inflationary central bankers, can you print food yet? What about blankets and shelter? Sri Lanka is a failed state because of the WEF's "environmental" policies, and the country was much less good as your Neoliberal Globalist Utopia! Sri Lanka was still dispersed an civilization to have a meaningful lifeless they tried to believe in the USSR to have centralized resource allocation "Five-Year Plans" like Jones!

The USSR collapsed!

The best way to manage an economy is decentralization and free market. Let the market decide where resources are needed. But I can see, that would mean the bankers and Global Elite would be out of play as world tamers.

If the bureaucrats think they have a problem with the underground economy now ... well, history tells us again, how it will go. It will be Prohibition all over again, with innumerable black markets and gangsters and violence and corruption. It's hard for the state to enforce laws when the cops are on the payroll of the crime lords.

Death and destruction is their actual goal, it is not an unintended consequence.

We all say "Deny really want a revolution" and we would be right - however, truth be told, 95% of us will not be here following the "decade of pandemics" and genetic death-shots currently being forced on us. Those who are left will be the ones who will be forced to deal with the real societal collapse, there's not enough to fulfill. Take a lesson from Brazil people. Don't like it? Then stand in the street until it changes. Become UNGOVERNABLE. Chance of success of this strategy goes up the sooner it is tried.

Well now, I'm going to go against the grain here and state that I think this is a wonderful idea and it should be implemented with a pilot program immediately here in the United States.

But we, the condition. There will be no carbon credits or carbon offsets allowed for any persons, businesses, or entities. Everyone must participate in the program by the law and we are all treated equalize have equally or something like that.

OK, with that condition met, we need to have a pilot program to see if it is scientifically feasible. Now, I'm not a scientist, but I'm willing to bet that it is not feasible and that's why the federal authorities look at the pilot program with, but we need a large cross section as a sample to see and examine the results and benefits and I have just the pilot program group in this.

All those that "believe" in this science and these type of remedies are in the pilot group. The scientists, colleges, and all other involved in this "science" and funding shall be in the pilot group. Everyone else is exempt from the pilot group. Let's see how the federal government use of science in their program turn! Hocus turn and prove this science before, making the general populace citizens.) That should make up a good working group of at least 100 million people.

So, all in the pilot program, with no exceptions, can start tomorrow and will see how it goes in the 10 year as we citizens watch to see how it works. We wish all of you good crossings good luck/good skill in implementation and appreciated your sacrifice!!

Think of the fun of sitting in a DC restaurant watching our congress and staff walk by the window. Or watching the president and his staff walk by the window. Or going to the gallery on 1/3 representative group over which he is members get to have a car?

Just imagine how well this pilot program will work for the benefit of both the environment and We The People. It should be a great fun and educational experience as we see how it works for this whole group of people who have science on their side?

Now that's a truly "For the public good" and "national security", don't ya think?

This ends my modest proposal.

Yeah, I forgot the condition that none of this pilot group can use the services or supplies of those that are not in the pilot group, as would be true if at all in the country were to do this? Now think of all the technical problems our faceless leaders and experts would encounter in the pilot program!

I'm interpreting the "short- haul return flight" to be 930 miles ROUND TRIP meaning one could fly 465 miles before having to return.

If this is accurate I guess it was sort of a waste to box light back to Disney since it's 465 radius around Orlando includes many many people??

If my assumptions on the ROUND- TRIP is incorrect, then most people living north of Philly -- in essence the whole northeast will soon be included!! Of course that would also mean no snowbirds to Florida -- ugh

And foreign about international travel from Europe

The reason they want to so California from Florida either. I think ending international travel is intentional. I suspect they were considering European distance with the low number of miles. It is not workable in the US. Most of us have extended relatives all over the country, which is your point. Also, I suspect that the real reason for banning travel is to control the narrative in Mexico. They have not said anything about limiting crime though, so there's that. Lawrence

Romania example for you
1955 Ceausescu elected
1965 - 1975 first education. Government placement of graduates where the Party dictated. The economy was in ruins. By 1975 the Party had full control of the economy, financial institutions, the orthodox church is financed by the government and works with it.
1975 - social fractures become more vocal, many died
1980 - 1989 - food was fairly cheap, 500 gr of sugar and family per month and 1 kg of flour per family per month
1989 - revolution
1989- food and fuel water are severely restricted
1989 -the procedures and rules were broken by leaders and the coup happens

Can't see the same time frame here. The program is escalated because the earth has a fever Wake up everyone before its too late.

They have been telling us we were going to be out of oil since the 1970s. We are at least 30 years past the dried up stage. Left to itself humanity will find more oil and ways to conserve it. Under the current regime, we are all looking at death.

Gimmer 0 December 6, 2021 12:09 pm

Look up D Simon nicholson on youtu. He does a presentation that shows the green electric future is a fairy tale. The only oil is also gone, there is half left but it is far more expensive to get. The choice will be do we mine materials or grow food? Although the computerized crop management system is also a fairy tale because it requires the electric grid to be up in the future, so as that does not seem likely. Changing if used under cybercrime. Everything else will go back to the way it was before the industrial revolution. Only the rich will have the energy to grow their own systems. Forget that tracking and chit, electricity is to complex. World without plastics, computers, etc. The entire complex system is a ten year blip in history brought about by cheap energy. The human is will be what we are measured against.
