Dear Lord, let this be a prayer for all of us who are suffering after watching this documentary. To all the people who desperately want to help and stop this for good. And above all, please, please help all these poor babies and children who are subjected to this horror. Come back soon Lord and save us all from this dark, terrible, evil world we're living in. In Jesus name, Amen.

This was truly heartbreaking. I grew up in foster care and this triggered so many deep seeded emotions. I'm actually in tears. This has so many similarities with my origin story. I know this needs to be shown to the world. I'm a father now and there is nothing more precious than my children. I would burn in hell fire to protect them. I'm so very conflicted after watching this. But I want to give praise to the creators of this documentary. This took something not many people possess and I'm glad there are champions for those who have no one at birth. 🙏 & ❤️

I watched this last night and I had a hard time sleeping. Woke up in sweat. I don't even feel right running my daily routine knowing this is all going on every day. The only thing that slightly gives me peace is knowing the children suffer is temporary and these demons will suffer for eternity. I wouldn't be upset if God came back today. As a mom of 2,3,4 year old boys and a 1 year old daughter I had a hard time even listening to this entire thing. Thank you Patryk for sharing this story and raising awareness. Thank you for saving Marcelina. Any child saved is a huge victory. I hope more people see this every day. We need ...

You know I was genuinely considering giving mine up for adoption during my pregnancy and received brochures for agencies through a free pregnancy clinic but something always felt shady to me when I would go to meetings and talking to them. I ended up ghosting them and not going back bc I felt watched every time I went and watching this made me realize what I avoided. Even in the US I think young and alone mothers are still targeted. I ended up keeping my son and Im so grateful i never gave him up especially not knowing where he could've ended up since one of the options they told me about was having my ...

This has got to be the most horrific thing I've ever heard. I'm utterly speechless. May those innocent babies rest in peace and May those devils rot.

To all of you for being brave and strong enough to be able to watch this entire video—kuddos 🙌❤️ it's the hardest thing I've ever had to watch, but my husband and I sat down and finished the whole thing. I don't give a damn how uncomfortable I am while watching it, and how much it haunts me afterwards. As human beings we owe it to these children to become aware of their daily reality. When are we going to stop just "watching" and finally do something to stop these terrible atrocities? It's beyond time .

Whenever I hear things like this, I always wonder how mentally messed up these people are to be able to sell your child or infant to a child brothel/organ donor. It actually makes me sick. Hearing that man talk about molesting babies and children makes me want to cry and I'm full of anger. I hope these people suffer a thousand times more than those poor innocent children. This world is sick.

This made me puke . I am a university student majoring in criminal justice with specialized classes in child abused and substance abuse. This documentary made me question everyone and everything in my life. I asked myself if I could really make a difference being just one person. I broke today, I cried, I was triggered , I hugged my child so much tighter than I ever have. ...

I would love to see this documentary shown on television. It would aid in spreading the word and educating people about this immensely. Share it far and wide! I'd love to see this go viral. God bless the children 🙏

These people are the epitome of evil. Demons incarnate. I struggled to finish watching this documentary and it made me feel physically sick, but I figure if children are suffering like this the least I can do is listen to their stories and share. This can't have been an easy project. Thank you for saving Marcelina. 🙏

Absolutely MIND BLOWING. As a mother of 4, w a 6 month in my lap at this moment, I cannot imagine being in this "mother's" state of mind. Or ANY of these people's minds, especially considering that the rest of the people involved in this process have children themselves! It's insane.

As someone who experienced years of near daily abuse and torment - of course not in the same circumstances as these children are... this documentary has stirred up a lot of thoughts and emotions for me, a lot of memories (not that they are ever far away anyways) and a lot of fear. ...
