Bird flu has always been a fraud, which is why I wrote my New York Times best-selling book "The Great Bird Flu Hoax," nearly 15 years ago. President George Bush spent over $7 billion dollars and warned that more than 2 million Americans could die.<sup>1</sup> The reality is that no one in the U.S. died from bird flu.

Fast forward 15 years, and now global biosecurity is one of the primary tactics chosen to usher in a totalitarian One World Government, so more pandemics are undoubtedly in our future. In the spring of 2022, Bill Gates warned that another pandemic will emerge, and that this yet-to-come pandemic "will get attention this time."<sup>2</sup>

Based on the news chatter emerging right now, a weaponized bird flu seems likely. In a March 30, 2022, CenterPoint interview, former director for the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Dr. Robert Redfield, more than hinted at this possibility, saying:<sup>3</sup>

"I believe the great pandemic is still in the future, and that's going to be a bird flu pandemic for man. It's going to have significant mortality in the 10-50% range. It's gonna be trouble."

Avian Flu Posed No Threat Until Scientists Weaponized It

Historically, natural avian influenza (H5N1) never posed a threat to mankind, but then scientists started tinkering with it, creating a hybrid with human pandemic potential.<sup>4</sup> Some of that research has been undertaken in Pentagon-funded biolabs in Ukraine.<sup>5,6,7</sup>

Gates and Dr. Anthony Fauci, former director of the National Institutes of Allergy and Infectious Diseases (NIAID) have also funded gain-of-function research on H5N1.<sup>8</sup> One scientist whose work on H5N1 has been funded by both Fauci and Gates is Dr. Yoshihiro Kawaoka.<sup>9</sup>

In one experiment, Kawaoka mixed bird flu virus with the Spanish flu virus, resulting in a highly lethal respiratory virus with human transmission capability. Kawaoka has also played around with mixtures of H5N1 and the 2009 H1N1 (swine flu) virus, creating an airborne hybrid<sup>10,11,12</sup> capable of evading the human immune system, effectively rendering humans defenseless against it,<sup>13</sup> and this extremely risky research was done at a biosafety level 2 lab!<sup>14</sup>

“ The bird flu has been manipulated and tinkered with in a variety of different ways, making it both airborne (which it was not initially) and capable of cross-species infection.”

Fauci also funded the work of virologist Ron Fouchier, a Dutch researcher whose team created an airborne version of the bird flu using a combination of genetic engineering and serial infection of ferrets.<sup>15</sup> So, the bird flu has been manipulated and tinkered with in a variety of different ways, making it both airborne (which it was not initially) and capable of cross-species infection.

In 2012, the work of Kawaoka and Fouchier sparked widespread concern about gain-of-function research, as it was readily recognized that it could accidentally cause a human pandemic.<sup>16,17</sup>

As a result, the U.S. government issued a temporary ban on gain-of-function research on certain viruses in 2014, which remained in place until December 2017.<sup>18</sup> We now know this ban was circumvented by Fauci, who continued to fund gain-of-function research on coronaviruses in China during those years.

It now looks as though weaponized bird flu might eventually be released to achieve the geopolitical aims of the technocratic cabal that is trying to give the World Health Organization a monopoly on pandemic decision-making.

Bird flu is widespread among poultry and wild birds<sup>19</sup> in the U.S.,<sup>20</sup> but the natural virus is not very transmissible or lethal to humans. So, if we do end up with a lethal human bird flu, there's every reason to suspect it was manmade. There's also every reason to suspect a bird flu vaccine will be either ineffective, hazardous or both.

Bird Flu Has Spread to Mammals

According to a February 9, 2023, ABC News report,<sup>21</sup> H5N1 (bird flu) is also affecting mammals at a rate not previously seen, including skunks, bears, seals, foxes, minks and even dolphins. University of Massachusetts Boston virologist Nichola Hill told ABC News:

"The size, range and number of species affected by this outbreak is unprecedented ... That's not really how bird flu should behave."

While sporadic infections among mammals have been reported for 20 years, the virus now appears to be spreading between mammals, as opposed to being limited to individual mammals being infected from eating an infected bird.

This is a brand-new development that has scientists worried. If the virus is mutating (or being mutated) to spread among mammals, the jump to humans may not be far behind.

Are Humans Next?

In 2022, the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's Influenza Division tracked more than 50 human avian influenza cases in seven countries and, while extremely rare, the CDC does anticipate more infections to occur. As noted in its March 17, 2023, H5N1 update:<sup>22</sup>

"To date, HPAI [highly-pathogenic avian influenza] A(H5N1) viruses currently circulating in birds and poultry, with spillover to mammals, and those that have caused human infections do not have the ability to easily bind to receptors that predominate in the human upper respiratory tract. Therefore, the current risk to the public from HPAI A(H5N1) viruses remains low.

However, because of the potential for influenza viruses to rapidly evolve and the wide global prevalence of HPAI A(H5N1) viruses in wild birds and poultry outbreaks, continued sporadic human infections are anticipated.

Continued comprehensive surveillance of these viruses in wild birds, poultry, mammals, and people worldwide, and frequent reassessments are critical to determine the public health risk, along with ongoing preparedness efforts."

Canadian experts also fear the bird flu's current momentum has the potential to become a human pandemic. As reported by Global News March 25, 2023:<sup>23</sup>

"The current outbreak circulating North and South America is known as H5N1 clade 2.3.4.4b. It has killed record numbers of birds and infected mammals.

Although human cases remain rare, Shayan Sharif, a professor and associate dean with the Ontario Veterinary College ... warned the virus is 'gathering momentum' and becoming more of a human threat.

'Various pieces of the puzzle are coming together for this virus to become transmissible among humans, he told Global News. 'This particular virus has the potential to become a pandemic virus, and if it does, then we have to be absolutely ready because the fatality rate of this virus could be far greater than what we saw for COVID-19.'"

Current Bird Flu Countermeasures Are the Wrong Approach

Just as we've seen with the COVID pandemic, health authorities insist there's only one solution to bird flu epidemics, and that is vaccination. Meanwhile, that strategy is making the situation worse.

By culling all chickens whenever a single case is detected basically guarantees that natural immunity will never develop. A far saner strategy would be to eliminate the chickens that die from the infection but keep those who survive it alive.

An interesting article by regenerative farmer Joel Salatin, in which he discusses the bird flu cycle, was published by Brownstone Institute in mid-March 2023:<sup>24</sup>

"If thinking people learned only one thing from the COVID pandemic, it was that official government narratives are politically slanted and often untrue. In this latest HPAI outbreak, perhaps the most egregious departure from truth is the notion that the birds have died as a result of the disease and that euthanasia for survivors is the best and only option ...

To be sure, HPAI is and can be deadly, but it never kills everything. The policy of mass extermination without regard to immunity, without even researching why some birds flourish while all around are dying, is insane. The most fundamental principles of animal husbandry and breeding demand that farmers select for healthy immune systems. We farmers have been doing that for millennia ...

But in its wisdom, the US Department of Agriculture (USDA—Usduh) has no interest in selecting, protecting, and then propagating the healthy survivors. The policy is clear and simple: kill everything that ever contacted the diseased birds. The second part of the policy is also simple: find a vaccine to stop HPAI ...

The scorched earth policy is the only option even though it doesn't seem to be working. In fact, the cycles are coming faster and seem to be affecting more birds. Someone ought to question the efficacy."

Bird Flu Solutions That Make Sense

As noted by Salatin, it's well-recognized among farmers that cramped quarters and having too many chicken farms too close together, geographically, is the problem. "The USDA and the industry desperately want to blame wild birds, backyard flocks, and dirty shoes rather than looking in the mirror and realizing this is nature's way of screaming 'Enough!'" Salatin writes.

The answer is relatively simple. Save birds that survive the infection and breed them. That way, future generations will have natural immunity. "If a flock gets HPAI, let it run its course. It'll kill the ones it'll kill but in a few days the survivors will be obvious. Keep those and put them in a breeding program," Salatin writes.

Secondly, chicken farmers can also ward off epidemics by focusing on optimal herd sizes. For example, wild turkeys stay in flocks of no more than a couple of hundred. Wild pigs rarely exceed groups of 100. For chickens, optimal herd size is about 1,000, according to Salatin. He goes on to explain:

"An elderly poultry industry scientist visited our farm once and told me that if houses would break up chickens into 1,000-bird groups it would virtually eliminate diseases.

He said it was okay to have 10,000 birds in a house as long as they were in 1,000-bird units. That way their social structure can function in a natural interaction. Animals have a hierarchy of bullies and timids. That social structure breaks down above optimal size ...

While I don't want to sound flippant or above HPAI susceptibility, incident rates definitely indicate less vulnerability in well-managed pastured flocks.

Creating an immune-building protocol surely merits research as much as overriding the immune system with vaccines and trying to stay ahead of disease mutations and adaptations with human cleverness. How about humbly seeking nature for solutions rather than relying on hubris?

The parallels between HPAI expert orthodoxy and COVID orthodoxy are too numerous to mention ... The HPAI worry feeds food worry, which makes people clamor for government security. People will accept just about anything if they're afraid ... Think it through and then embrace a more natural remedy: well-managed decentralized pastured poultry with appropriate flock sizes."

Pay Attention to Upcoming Narratives

As we move forward, keep an eye on the narratives we're being fed. Again, if bird flu becomes a human epidemic or pandemic, there are plenty of reasons to suspect it's a weaponized virus, and the "solution" offered will be the same as that for COVID-19: "Get vaccinated."

Considering the widespread harm caused by the COVID-19 mRNA shots, can we really trust that fast-tracked bird flu shots will be any safer or more effective? Already, the U.S. and other countries are stockpiling H5N1 vaccine<sup>25</sup> "just in case," which is telling.

While some traditional vaccines are in the lineup, mRNA shots tweaked to target H5N1 are also being planned, and they probably won't need to undergo additional testing over and beyond what was already done for the COVID jabs.

This even though recent attempts to make an mRNA-based influenza jab have met with failure. As reported by Reuters:<sup>26</sup>

"Some of the world's leading makers of flu vaccines say they could make hundreds of millions of bird flu shots for humans within months if a new strain of avian influenza ever jumps across the species divide ...

In a pandemic, vaccine manufacturers would shift production of seasonal flu vaccines and instead make shots tailored to the new outbreak when needed

Many of the potential pandemic shots are pre-approved by regulators, based on data from human trials showing the vaccines are safe and prompt an immune response, a process already used with seasonal flu vaccines.

This means they might not require further human trials, even if they have to be tweaked to better match whichever strain does jump to humans. Data on how well the vaccines actually protect against infection would be gathered in real-time ...

Experts have long advocated for new approaches in developing vaccines, both for seasonal and pandemic flu. COVID proved the potential of mRNA technology to adapt more quickly to changing viruses because the vaccines use genetic information from the pathogen, rather than having to grow the virus itself.

Moderna's mRNA vaccine research actually began with pandemic flu, and was modified for COVID, said Raffael Nachbagauer, executive director of infectious diseases at Moderna.

The company plans to launch a small human trial of an mRNA pandemic flu vaccine tailored to the new avian influenza subtype in the first half of 2023, he said, adding Moderna could respond 'very quickly' in an outbreak scenario. The results will be closely watched, as the data on Moderna's seasonal flu candidate was mixed."

To think that an mRNA-based jab against a weaponized bird flu will be any safer than the shots for COVID-19 would be naïve in the extreme, if you ask me, yet you can be sure we'll be told otherwise, if bird flu does end up spreading among the human population.

Be Prepared

One of the best things I did in my youth was join the Boy Scouts. Their motto "Be Prepared" has been enormously useful my entire life. Well, it applies to bird flu as well. While we don't know for sure, as no studies have been done, it is highly likely that many of the same protocols used in early outpatient treatment of COVID will also work for bird flu, since they are both viral respiratory pathogens.

As a first basic prevention step, optimize your vitamin D (the ideal range is between 60 ng/ml and 80 ng/ml). Be sure to measure it to confirm, as there is no way to know what your vitamin D level is without doing a blood test.

Summer is nearly here, so ditch your oral vitamin supplement and strip off your clothes and get out in the sun around solar noon, which is 1 p.m. for most people in the U.S. To learn more, download my "Vitamin D in the Prevention of COVID-19" report, available on stopCOVIDcold.com.

In case you do get sick, I would strongly advise you to purchase a nebulizer so that you can nebulize hydrogen peroxide at first signs of symptoms. Just go to my Bitchute channel and look for my peroxide videos. They have full instructions on how to do this.

At present, the Front Line COVID-19 Critical Care Alliance (FLCCC) seems to have one of the best COVID treatment protocols. It's called I-CARE and can be downloaded from covid19criticalcare.com.<sup>27</sup> They also have a treatment protocol for RSV and influenza. Print them out and make sure you have the basic supplements in your medicine cabinet.

More plandemics are needed, more fear is needed for people already mesmerized by the propaganda of the Covid-19. What at first was just fear can become another plandemic that helps the Great Reset in its diabolical program against humanity. The evil handlers need to fabricate a new crisis to sell the fake meat, previously slaughtering the cattle by vaccinating them to death. "What this means is that we are really playing with that complete corporate takeover of protein production, where only a licensed poultry producer, who has the latest Pfizer bird flu vaccine, on all of their birds, can produce chickens." Atlas said Fauci was creating fear deliberately and often on purpose, stating that he felt he was "immoral." Redfield corroborated with Atlas regarding Fauci's scaremongering.

I believe that the great pandemic is still in the future, and it will be a pandemic of avian influenza for man. It will have a significant mortality in the range of 10-50%. Bill Gates, as early as 2008, was awarding grants to a Wisconsin physician, Dr. Yoshihiro Kawaoka, to examine 'mutations in avian influenza viruses that could lead to a pandemic or global. flu outbreak. This same researcher later published a study explaining that he mixed and matched those strains with the Spanish flu, creating a very deadly disease.

The following year, Gates provided exponentially more millions of dollars to this research group. All indications point to the fact that the human bird flu was created in a laboratory financed by Fauci and Bill Gates. Some of this research, in fact, has been carried out in biological laboratories in Ukraine with funding from the Pentagon.

Everything has its continuity, more plandemics are needed to enrich BigPharma and continue with depopulation. The vaccine industry, along with the powers that be, is currently planning the next pandemic, which some argue is already fully planned and waiting to be unleashed when the appointed time arrives. Some of the biggest vaccine corporations on the planet are reportedly preparing their new H5N1 human avian flu shots in preparation for what Dr. Paul Cottrell says will be the release of some kind of chimeric bioweapon made up of SARS, HIV and bird flu. Vaccine giants GlaxoSmithKline (GSK), Moderna and CSL Seqirus recently told Reuters they have already started or are about to start testing the new shots, which are designed to target a hypothetical "mutated" version of H5N1 that is transmitted to the humans.

Sanofi, another pharmaceutical competitor, says that it already has H5N1 vaccines in stock and that they are "ready", meaning they are ready to be released at any time once the government is ready to announce the upcoming Pandemic 2.0. Moderna has indicated that its H5N1 injections will be made using the same messenger RNA (mRNA) technology found in its covid injections, which means even more spike proteins inside people's bodies.

Well said, Just, we are what we eat and people are being fed junk food and now they want to sell us fake meat and genetically modified fish to add to the industrial agriculture of glyphosate. In his 2014 book on the American poultry industry, "The Meat Racket," Christopher Leonard describes modern poultry houses "are connected with automatic feeders, ventilation systems, water lines, and thermostats, all controlled from a centralized computer system and a room control on one side of the coop "Feral chickens, when left alone, lay about 10 eggs a year. But through genetic manipulation and selective breeding, laying hens used on factory farms can now produce more than 300 eggs per year. This overproduction of eggs seriously affects the body of the hens. Many chickens develop osteoporosis, tumors, uterine prolapse and other painful and often fatal conditions.

Workers from one of the world's largest egg factories arrived at the plant in Rembrandt, Iowa to find they were about to be out of a job. As they gathered in the huge barns that housed scores of caged chickens, the workers were told to forget about their usual routine of collecting eggs and feeding the birds. Overnight, the factory had started culling more than 5 million chickens using a gruesome method of slaughter after detecting a single case of avian influenza. More than 22 million birds have been killed in an attempt to contain the outbreak, the majority in Iowa, the largest US egg producer. The culling of 5.3 million hens at Rembrandt is the largest culling of any country industrial farm. Former CDC Director Robert Redfield recently warned that gain-of-function research and bioterrorism will inevitably lead to a future bird flu pandemic. The US government is already mapping a suspected new strain of bird flu that is spreading from wild birds to mammals and causing strange behavior. Oddly enough, a blockbuster drug is already in the works to "treat" this upcoming bird flu. This drug is called Peramivir and has the brand name Rapivab. The pharmaceutical company behind the treatment, BioCryst Pharmaceuticals, has already prepared a list of common side effects for its blockbuster drug. These side effects include: "having false beliefs that cannot be changed with facts" and "seeing, hearing, or feeling things that are not there." The drug's package insert might also say that "other side effects resemble a zombie apocalypse." The bird flu is just another ploy to get PEGylated nanotech (graphene oxide and other metallic nanotech) into us via chickens that have been vaccinated with the same type of PEGylated nanotech used in the covid jabs. It's that nanotech that's now causing the jabbed to give off blue tooth MAC signals. secularheretic.substack.com/p/its-the-trojan-horse-technology-not As Joel Salatin correctly pointed out, its the crowded conditions and terrible diet that makes chickens in factory farms sick. Same with us.

Thanks Segstar, yes, when the mandates and lockdowns of people to cause a food and health crisis are not so effective, the gain of the function in the end will be able to cause another new pandemic. For now, the media are already scaring the population. The tragedy is that the Great Reset will continue to enhance the mistakes made with the C-19. THE MEDIA IS FINALLY BEGINNING TO COME CLEAN ABOUT COVID-19 Scott Atlas provides an insider's account of the horrendous mistakes made throughout the first year of the pandemic. Thanks Krofter and ROSE. There are several even more obvious reasons why, if there is ever a human H5N1 outbreak or vaccination push, we will know we are in the midst of another Plandemic:

1) H5N1 almost never infects people. News about highly pathogenic avian influenza usually starts with how deadly it is. 2) There has never been an H5N1 pandemic and no human infection has been identified. So far in 2022, that's an extraordinary safety record, given how dirty US factory farms and slaughterhouses are and how quickly infection spreads among crowded birds.

3) H5N1 is not transmitted from person to person. There are only a handful of There are only a handful of "possible" cases in the entire world So put it by the CDC. The research suggests that virus hunters like the Gates Foundation's Scott Dowell exaggerated the truth in their search for communicable H5N1. 4) There are no food safety risks associated with H5N1. There are no food safety risks associated with H5N1. handle raw chicken If farm workers and meat packers don't get bird flu from dirty factory farms or slaughterhouses, it's no wonder the rest of us don't get bird flu from eating raw eggs or handling raw chicken.

5) Anthony Fauci has made significant investments in gain-of-function research to realize the pandemic potential of H5N1. Gates also contributed!, making it easily transmissible from person to person. In this video from IceAge Farmer, Christian Westbrook talks about Russia's claim that the U.S. Funded Ukraine experiments with engineered strains of bird flu that could kill 50 percent of humanity organicconsumersassociation.substack.com/p/stop-plandemic-bird-flu

Gui, So this is the reason Epoch Times had an article yesterday on the CDC watching a Marburg outbreak in parts of Africa? WE have no definitive proof what's going to happen, 20 plus years of gain of function dual-use vaxxn and bio-weapon research has already been financed...in the privacy of laboratories all over the globe. "They" can distract and point everyone to pay attention to bird flu, then release Marburg instead! All the while, Banks will be failing, consolidating, setting the stage for CBDCs and more controls on general populations, leading to one world governance. All this sounds insane, right?

Guillermou - Do you know of any scientifically documented cases of viral contagion from animals to humans? The word "capable" was used in the article. Rose - Attorney Todd Callender has been saying that the gear up for marburg has been under way for some time. It's being implemented via nanotech in the jabs that's easily manipulated by the certain EMF wave lengths. Dr. Mercola wrote a book warning about he dangers of EMF's. They can generate a myriad of symptoms, including marburg. Callender has provided a lot of research about this as does my previous link.

Yes, Rose, the globalists are fighting humanity with pandemics, depopulation, famine and war. Madness meets in some psychopathic minds guided by the conditioned and interested vision of BigPharma to create vaccines to save the world from a generation of pathogens that must be destroyed and what they achieve is to generate new, more lethal strains. Russia's ambassador to the UN, Vassily Nebenzia, presented evidence that there are at least thirty suspected biolabs in Ukraine. These biolabs are jointly funded by the United States under its Defense Threat Reduction Agency. Nebenzia accused the United States and Ukraine of working on strains of plague, anthrax, tularemia, cholera, leptospirosis, coronaviruses, and other deadly diseases using synthetic biological enhancements.

These projects also include enhancements to pandemic H5N1 influenza, which can cause a 50 percent fatality in human populations.

.-----Although we cannot trust what the WHO says, it seems that they are not creating another plandemic: "The outbreak of the Marburg disease in Equatorial Guinea is being controlled," said the acting director of Africa CDC, Ahmed Ogwell, in a conference telematic press. Since last day 2, he specified, "No new cases or confirmed deaths have been reported" due to the disease.

On February 28, the Ministry of Health of Equatorial Guinea reported on its Twitter social network account the death of two other people with symptoms of the Marburg virus disease. Equatorial Guinea declared on February 13 an outbreak of the Marburg virus disease, which, until the 21st of that month, had left at least nine accumulated cases, including one confirmed, four probable and four suspected, according to the data collected. by the World Health Organization.

Dr. Mercola saw through the bird flu hoax 15 years ago, while others are still fooled today. There have been so many times I've read something presented in the media, even the alternative media, as new, bombshell information and I thought "Heck, Mercola readers knew that years ago". Dr. M saw through the COVID hoax and the jab debacle from the beginning, and warned us with clear, precise, accurate information. Is anybody else irritated by the fact the most publicized jab critics were so foolish as to have believed the lies and actually been dumb enough to get jabbed?

Like Malone, McCullough, Malhotra for example. Seems like all those presented as wise and brave enough to challenge the narrative were not nearly as wise and brave as Dr. M. Why are they trotted out as such thought leaders for the movement when they were so easily fooled? Millions of us saw through it from the beginning - it was obvious, for God's sake. I appreciate their contributions and I'm very glad they came around. But I, for one, never forget how easily fooled they were.

Yes, humanity faces the business of plandemics. In 2017, the United States imposed the "Coalition for Epidemic Preparedness Innovations" (CEPI) on its partners in North America, Western and Nordic Europe, Oceania, and East Asia using the Davos Forum. CEPI is the "public-private" organization that aims to "derail epidemics by accelerating vaccine development." It was founded in 2017 by the Davos World Economic Forum or "Davos Forum". This "coalition" is made up of and co-financed, among others: The American Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation and a consortium of States formed whose laboratories in these industries are dedicated to the production of vaccines against Covid19 and have already signed commitments for their marketing receiving multi-million dollar subsidies.

The CEPI-WHO duo demonstrates the "understanding" between the Davos Forum and the UN. They are the organizations in charge of instrumentalizing the terror generated by the pandemic to adapt society, its populations, the environment, the economy and the States, to the Power of the New Capitalist Order in the so-called IV Industrial Revolution and to the new sense of world governance.

Kennedy brilliantly counters all the fictional narratives used by the ruling elites to perpetuate an endless crisis. He carefully documents the massive damage an anti-scientific Covid political regime, most notably its vaccine mandates, has caused great destruction. Brutal lockdowns, unscientific vaccination mandates, mask requirements, school closures, myriad coercive edicts, ongoing propaganda campaigns full of lies and myths, censorship of dissenting voices, harsh punishment of those who they simply want to make their own health decisions. How could these people have so easily, so quickly, and so totally aligned with all the crude propaganda from Big Pharma? How could what passes for a robust liberal intelligentsia have so ritually embraced the continuous stream of lies, myths and fairy tales?

Yes, three years and the meter is still running. While it is on one hand extremely welcomed It is also extremely beyond irritating to see one timid voice after another express the notion, we just uncovered this or that about C-19, when Doc and just day to day people who visit here knew or had enough information to see through it all from nearly day one.

Seriously people. You do not need a man made anything to herd billions into accepting a bioweapon jab. Just create the perception that there is such a thing, which very cleverly even deceives many of the conspiracy theorists, and its job done. Articles like this help propogate this fear. I would say articles like this are a particular virus, which herds more people into the dead end chamber. When you understand that germ theory is one of the biggest perception deceptions holding humans in slavery to the system it all makes sense. Stop believing the lies, the truth really does set you free. The truth is your Holy Grail.

I often say 'when in doubt, check if it gives more power to the king/gov/warlord'. Which germ theory obviously does. You want to poison your subjects against their will? No problem. 'But they'll resist or at least try to kill you, no?' Not if you make them perceive the threat as invisible (= unverifiable) and within them, so they will fight against their own and leave you well alone. Our handler makes us do all the work for him. So I ask people: 'What do YOU really want in your life?' 'If you would die tomorrow, what would you do today?' Party and see my loved ones.

The day Allopathic Medicine provides uncontaminated and healthy food in its hospitals and tries to cure instead of cover up illness, is the day I'll start believing in it. Germ Theory was chosen as opposed to Terrain because it fitted Allopathy's aim to sell drugs and operations to customers and for life. I still can't understand why Dr Mercola, who is pretty critical of most psyops seems to be stuck with Pasteur's dogma. Fear is the bioweapon and at the moment you have a choice of lurking deaths. You can be afeared of being nuked, of bird flu, succumbing to a 'weather bomb', starving to death, being imprisoned in a 15 min city or there's probably a terrorist or an alien attack in the offing, there's another 'huge' hole in the sun or there's sure to be a meteorite passing along shortly. Meanwhile in the our beautiful world, the sun's out the birds are singing and my first artichoke plant has pushed through the soil and so many people are missing all this. We're all going to die of something but how about we try to live in freedom before we do?

Has any one ever proved that bird flu exists? This is just the same old fear porn..oh and it also to make the masses frightened of keeping poultry....and/or to try to stop those who aren't. Birds are healthy and long lived, I have a friend who has massive funding to research into why they are so healthy and live so long...I wonder why? Anyone on here ever kept birds? If you do, then you must know the first symptom of stress in a bird is respiratory detox and if you don't deal with that stress, by giving a simple electrolyte, then death occurs within 24 hours - there's your bird flu.

Oh and just to top it all 'bird flu' is 'diagnosed' with the wonderful pcr test. If there are wild birds dying, then it's poisoning and a a great way to cover up and avoid difficult questions on industrial and agricultural pollution. Finally ask yourself this question: how can you weaponise something that is a detox ... answer - by pushing fear and stressing people out so they can no longer think straight. Any one who falls for this is building their own prison.

Right on, Sue! Next time one of is talking to a biologist, and they mention bird flu, try asking them if they know that the error prone RT-PCR test is used for diagnosis. Next, enlighten them how the PCR-test works, and that the inventor Kary Mullis said to never use it as a diagnostic tool for any diseases. Then, continue by sharing with them, that you can get the result you want, by dialing up and down the Cycle Threshold, and create 1. No crisis, 2. A medium crisis, or 3. A HUGE crisis. Oh, and then ask them if they know what Koch's postulates are, and if they have ever replicated a virus themselves.

Yes, another engineered plandemic is taking place, this time against US poultry and the US government diagnoses chickens with bird flu through fraudulent PCR tests and then euthanizes them. According to the government, bird flu, or bird flu, is ravaging chicken and turkey farms, meaning officials must cull these birds to prevent people from eating their meat and eggs, even though cooked meat and eggs are certainly safe for consumption. . The latest poultry genocide has occurred in Iowa, where 5.3 million chickens and 88,000 turkeys were killed for allegedly being infected with bird flu. Nationwide, some 22 million egg-laying hens, 1.8 million broilers, 1.9 million pullets and other commercial chickens, and 1.9 million turkeys have been culled so far amid the panic.

. The corporate media blame it on "bird flu" which is caught from "wild birds" that fly across the country, they claim. Because of these wild birds, tens of millions of chickens and turkeys have to be slaughtered. Bird flu serves as a cover to destroy the food supply and hasten shortages of both chicken eggs and chicken meat (as well as turkey meat). More than 40 million laying hens have died in the current outbreak, according to USDA data. Importantly, it doesn't say they died of avian influenza.

They died by being sacrificed. Put another way, the reason so many birds die during an outbreak is because health authorities order farmers to kill them. In humans, jabs are the kill shots. Mass slaughter of chickens is often carried out by mass asphyxiation. They turn off the fans and the chickens are trapped in their production prisons, being cooked and suffocated. Chicken production farms don't bother running around injecting every chicken with a kill shot.

I've been saying from the beginning that killing the whole flock when they find bird flu is a ridiculous way to deal with the illness. They should isolate the flock from others, then let it run its course. The survivors are now protected from future "epidemics" and may pass on some immunity. How can scientists in the USDA be so stupid? They aren't. They're following an agenda. They tried to hit backyard farmers too by messing with their feed. Chickens suddenly stopped laying. But once the chicken owners switched to local feed, the chickens resumed egg laying. All part of a food conspiracy.

Sue: It is just another way to explain the supply shortage and inflation. The big farmers who kill their flocks are subsidized so they do not lose money and may even make more through artificially inflated prices. It is simple. The .00001% banksters can make as much money as needed digitally. True wealth; land, and resources, human and mineral cannot be created digitally. In order to get and control that wealth, it has to be available. Almost all the troubles in the world can be linked to the bankster .00001% in control. I like your solutions. Keep backyard chickens and bees and grow your own.

I have done all for more than 30 years in the suburbs where it is against regulations. A little honey and a few eggs work wonders to keep neighbors and even officials content. Probably the ubiquitous Roundup ingredient, glyphosate is harming all living things. Glyphosate chelates cations like  $Zn^{++}$ ,  $Mg^{++}$  that are necessary for a healthy immune system. Even wild animals are poisoned by it and DDT and lead. Vaccines will not fix that. Banning glyphosate would probably reduce gun and suicide violence, because people would feel happier.

Yes, Industrial farming with antibiotics and constant stress produces undesirable bacteria and diseases in chickens that are then transmitted to people, as well as promotes a serious crisis of antibiotic-resistant diseases. The mistreatment of animals is part of the contempt for the environment and nature. It is estimated that 99 percent of the chickens currently raised in the United States are confined to factory farms. This estimate becomes more approximate for chickens raised worldwide, although an estimated 74 percent of farmed terrestrial animals are raised in factory farms. Factory farms in the United States produced more than nine billion broiler chickens in 2020.

In his 2014 book on the American poultry industry, "The Meat Racket," Christopher Leonard describes modern chicken coops "are wired with automatic feeders, ventilation systems, water lines and thermostats, all controlled from a centralized computer system and a control room on one side of the coop" Wild chickens, when left alone, lay about 10 eggs a year. But through genetic manipulation and selective breeding, laying hens used on factory farms can now produce more than 300 eggs per year. This overproduction of eggs seriously affects the body of the hens. Many chickens develop osteoporosis, tumors, uterine prolapse, and other painful and often fatal conditions.

Every stage of a farmed chicken's life is fraught with treatment that many people consider inhumane. Chicks start their lives in mass hatcheries, along with thousands of other chicks who are never allowed to meet their parents. The lamps provide artificial heat to replace the mother's body heat, where the chicks would normally spend the first few days of life nestled under her wings. After being transported from hatcheries, both broiler chickens and laying hens spend the rest of their lives in intensely crowded, often unsanitary conditions.

Hi Capt'n, You may want to review the entire Joel Salatin article (an excerpt in the above) on "Why Are the Chickens So Sick?" - - brownstone.org/.../why-are-the-chickens-so-sick its a 9-minute read, and covers the gamut from overcrowding to stupid response by USDA...every govt agency has been captured for quite some time, making silly decisions, run by marketing agendas, non-elected politicians instead of animal experts.

In rearing barns and egg-laying facilities, they are prevented from getting adequate rest or participating in normal social activities. Forced molting is a layer of particularly inhumane treatment that chickens endure. The process begins when the birds are about a year old, before being sent to the slaughterhouse. Forced molting involves depriving the chickens of food and water, which can last anywhere from seven to 28 days. The process is meant to force the hen's body to produce as many eggs as possible before killing them. While still common in many regions, forced molting is considered so cruel that many countries and states have banned the practice. Chickens are also prevented from engaging in virtually all behaviors they would normally do, including scratching in the dirt for food, dust bathing, perching and nesting, resulting in psychological damage. A common method of slaughtering factory-raised chickens is known as live shackle slaughter.

Chickens are hung upside down and their legs are forced into metal stirrups, often causing broken bones. The chickens are then passed through an electrified water bath intended to render them unconscious before their throats are slit and their bodies thrown into a vat of boiling water intended to remove their feathers. Antibiotic resistance is considered one of the biggest threats to human health worldwide. Factory farms are also an ideal breeding ground for pandemics. The Humane League is working to end the most harmful aspects of industrial chicken farming, including live shackles and genetic manipulation, through the Better Chicken Commitment. So here we have it, how to bring hell to this planet by tricking the brain of those supposed to have 'higher' brain functions. You poison the whole world, make everything sick, and then blame it on some magic boogeyman. They might as well call it witchery again to accuse and kill... 'legally'. BUT.. but... fortunately, those fearmongering politicians and world 'leaders' turn out to be self proclaimed 'heroes' who understand everything, outsmart 'stupid' nature, and will save us all by all their (illegal to verify) 'measures to counter'. So besides poisoning the world, they'll inject you (or whatever final 'solution' they 'offer' you) with some more poison.

To 'save' you. Everything evil/destructive has been ready since forever. The only thing keeping it under control is daily decisions and resistance. If you don't care about truth, you don't care about life, about yourself, about love. As pointed out by arthur firstenberg, some magic virus is also wiping out entire bird colonies near the netherlands. And that magic virus is only present where they increased the amount of 4G and 5G radiation (by installation and activation of new antennas). The magic virus goes further than 200 miles, but magically doesn't affect a 30 mile nearby area (some of the islands of the waddenzee eilanden) bird resting place, where they didn't increase the artificial (meaning man made) radiation.

But no worries, in the end, the 'scientists' working for the cell tower companies will 'figure out' that their towers 'need' to be chemically treated to kill the magic virus and all of their employees be vaxed for the same reason. I guess life always leaves an initial choice between truth and lie, which means we can defeat it and realize what other lies we are born and burdened with.

I had the bird flu (as far as I can tell) around 1970. I was very sick for about a week then recovered the second week. This was before I took any vitamins or supplements at all and I was using pot and alcohol regularly. Pretty sure I'm immune to any bird flu. My body was working very hard to fight off the flu and it did. Not worried at all about any bird flu or any flu, cold or covid whatsoever. Now I maintain a robust level of Vitamin D3 of around 100 ng/ml, along with plenty of Vitamin C and other nutrients as needed. I am NOT afraid.

The covid orthodoxy will be running another scheme. I know this because they have found a profitable model that works. They will continue running this narrative until it no longer works. With all the shortages we are seeing, the one thing that is not in short supply is human stupidity. Humans, as a species are not all that intelligent. You can observe behaviors in the human population that rarely exist in the wild kingdom. The only "real science" that exists is supporting and working with nature.

As Hippocrates said, "The physician treats, nature heals." So, it is important to look to nature for solutions. Joel Saladin's, observations. Also, bolstering human immunity by people living more natural lives in greater proximity to nature, growing their own organic food in clean soil, uncontaminated water. I am not referring to "the experts", maybe urban arborists who propose planting trees along an arcade, but actual contact with the wilderness. Not just looking at the wilderness, but working and making a living on the land.

In the wilderness, we will find the preservation of the world. To start with, people should be producing at least 50% of the food they consume. This alone would limit the control of the food/pharmaceutical industries and govt over our lives. We need to return to the concept of victory gardens to reassert control over our lives and health. Too much "tribal knowledge", that was once passed down from one generation to the next, has been lost.

Skills, knowing the reasons for doing things, the stories and legends. There are many other solutions as excellent alternatives to vaccines--that do not work anyway. Everything, from enhanced nutrition and the cheap cost of vitamin D-etc. supplementation, to every household keeping a homeopathic nosode kit (to neutralize epidemic/pandemic diseases) stocked in a home medicinary. I think globalists set up a killing industry. seeking to starve/malnourish us, control our minds and steal our assets, and steal our souls

Knowledge is power. We need to question why so much information has been withheld and people have been told lies. Why should we be expected to "trust the science" rather than to "review the research" and ask questions? Truth can stand alone and needs no authority to approve it. How is it that govt could contact every household with AIDS information or send out census takers, but not the same kind of attention with covid? This is not the first flu pandemic. Why have the lessons learned from earlier epidemics been forgotten and not broadcast and implemented?

Media has no incentive to publish information that reduces the marketing of drugs and vaccines when as many as 70% of their advertisers are pharmaceutical companies. For example, during 1918, hospitals in warmer climate put patient's beds on balconies and outdoors to reduce the spread of disease. The army has traditionally had soldiers sleeping head-to-foot with windows open during pandemics. There were (and are) special diets for many diseases. Daily outdoor exercise was standard for school children. Housewives were ordered to change sheets and bed clothes frequently, open windows to air rooms out and let in the sunlight.

This is no longer possible in many climate-controlled buildings where windows do not even open. It is one more example of how distanced from nature man has become. How many people, esp. the elderly, spend their entire lives indoors, never walking far anywhere... like chickens confined to cages? Then, people eat food that is not healthy. For many millenia, city people understood a need to flee the cities during times of epidemics--to at least to send their children to the countryside. Too much crowding has always led to disease outbreaks.

Living on the land is a fine idea, but these days there can be very small ticks present that if infected can transmit Lyme disease and co-infections, making people quite sick and sometimes killing them. No, we can't just live on the land. We need to protect ourself and our pets from these bug bites. Ticks hang out on the edge of vegetation questing with their two front legs to grab onto anything that comes by, usually small animals. We need to stay away from touching vegetation, walk in the center of the path, do not lean up against trees since ticks can be on them deposited by birds, squirrels and chipmunks - here in the SF Bay Area someone got Lyme disease from hanging out against a tree in the Great America amusement parking lot.

We need to learn about where ticks are, how they behave and then avoid touching those habitats. Learn as much as you can about protection for us and pets at www.lymedisease.org, www.lymediseaseassociation.org, Bay Area Lyme Foundation.org. www.lymenet.org offers discussion, archived discussion threads and referrals to Lyme-literate doctors, since regular doctors don't know what to do and ID docs - infectious disease doctors are standing down.

And why? Because Lyme and other diseases are bioweapon diseases too. Read Michael Carroll's book "Lab 257" about that history - the US brought Erich Traub over from Germany after WWII to the USDA Plum Island lab where they tinkered with ticks, etc. Birds landed on animals kept in open air pens and flew the ticks 10 miles north to the Lyme CT bird estuary area where it was reported 20 years later by Polly Murray that her family had gotten sick in the late 50s and kids age 12 were getting arthritis in their knees.

A few years later it was identified it was ticks spreading Lyme and also the co-infections babesia, bartonella and ehrlichia, and more. This is serious stuff - we just had a well-known DJ commit suicide here in the SF Bay Area because he couldn't handle having Lyme in his brain anymore.

www.westonaprice.org/health-topics/anthrax-arsenic-and-old-lace/#gsc.t.. this is just one of many of the same type of articles and papers that question the narrative of 'infection' and 'disease'. For Lyme's and yes I too have read the papers concerning Operation Paperclip and Eric Traub and his original remit to create a 'Foot and Mouth (herpes) epidemic' but I also read of the similarities between Lyme's and mercury poisoning and Shingles and mercury poisoning. My contention is the whole agenda we are living under at the moment is opposed to the natural world, so the narrative it to instill fear into the populace by the suggestion that being outside is somehow 'dangerous'.

Even linguistically, this is forced upon us, the word 'panic' deriving from a fear of the forests and meadows, fear of the countryside, fear of the god Pan. Technocrats hate the natural world because they neither understand it nor importantly can they control it. That is why, as Almond suggests, a knowledge and understanding of the bounties provided by the natural world in the way of food, medicine, shelter and happiness is key to survival, mental and physical.

The crisis of the C-19 plandemic adds to the Ukraine war and now to the avian flu plandemic. It is part of the 2030 Agenda, and the purposes of Davos. This is a great help to the sale of fake food, transhumanism and the Great Reset. Egg prices increased 70% in one year: a dozen is now more expensive than a pound of ground beef. The price of a dozen eggs, a breakfast staple in the US, has now surpassed the cost of a pound of ground beef. This followed the global outbreak of bird flu which killed an estimated 100 million poultry worldwide. In December, the US Department of Agriculture (USDA) reported that the deadly bird flu had decimated nearly 53 million birds in the United States alone.

As a result, the recent Consumer Price Index (CPI) indicated that prices rose 70 percent in one year. On the other hand, ground beef prices have fallen from a record high of $4.64 from a high of $5.12 last August, resulting in a dozen eggs costing more than a pound of ground beef. As the Los Angeles Daily News reported, the National Chicken Council trade group filed a formal petition with the FDA asking officials to remove a rule passed in 2009 that prevents chicken producers from selling excess eggs because they are not refrigerated properly immediately.

Avian influenza has already killed 15 million domestic birds and caused the culling of an unprecedented 193 million more since October 2021. The virus has traveled from Europe and Asia to North America, soon after spreading to bird populations in South and Central America.

Wow! Propaganda in the Bay Area sure is effective. If you are brave enough to venture outside, don't lean against a tree in the middle of a huge asphalt parking lot. You can die!. I've never hugged a tree before but that is what I'm going to do today. Communing with nature does not kill.

Jeremiah.8

Agree, but they own the weather. We can talk on and on about growing our own food etc. , but last year the drought in the northeast took everything. Hay was cut with only half the yield of the year before. There go the cows and horses et al. More gmo feed will be necessary with all the poisons etc. We cannot outrun Revelation. The Pestilence is coming.

Sue12Cross

Jeremiah.8 It was only at the beginning of the 20th century that grass hay took off as a winter feed up until then it was mostly tree hay that was cut for herbivores. In drought conditions trees with their deep tap roots will still find water. Cows 'paleo' diet is actually a mix of aquatic plants and tree fodder, as the original 'cows' were swamp and forest dwellers. Grass-fed in the past would have meant foraging on old meadows with both grass and hay containing a vast assortment of nutritious native leafy and flowering plants and with the former, would provide invertebrates too.

Modern pasture contains just a few varieties mostly of fescue, rye grass and clover if meant for poultry and a few more varieties if for cows and horses, this is neither as nutritious nor does it do well in all climates. For thousands of years we've had different cycles in weather, with resultant droughts and floods but because we were more self sufficient and more aware of the nutritional needs of our poultry and animals, we and they survived.

Even non--GMO grain is junk food for animals, in the case of corn/maize it will shorten their lives significantly but most industrially farmed animals are so sick anyway as to make no difference and it keeps the grain industry in business. I take your point about weather manipulation but I am skeptical of how advanced in this we actually are. My belief is the technocrats who push this agenda are neither scientists/academics and have no idea whether what they are funding will work or not, nor what the limitations are.

Almond

Jeremiah and all... We also had our struggles last year. It was fortunate we are on a well and could water our garden. Although we had more crop failures than usual, we also had some abundances. However, we have learned over time that when domestic crops fail, we turn to nature and find wild foods to harvest. One sign of human intelligence and survival is adaptability, whether finding new food sources, migrating, or other. Once again, knowledge is power. I work with nature on many levels... calling in my deer herd year around so they will get used to it--if the does come when called, the bucks will follow during hunting season. Spring is rabbit clean up time--actually, year around.

Regularly walking the roads to observe when wild foods will appear, watching the moons for the best fishing days, saving my own seed that is acclimated, etc. The challenge is to beat the birds to the wild fruit. This level of involvement with nature is much different than just choosing a nice melon from the supermarket. You may not always eat what you choose, but there should be good healthy food available. For example, I am growing a cold hardy variety of mustard greens that we have been eating over the winter. So, lots of cooked greens. And other greens. I have not had to resort to sprouts or indoor microgreens this winter. We have been totally without fresh food for only about 3 weeks, even though we had some snow fall.

(Still had cold storage during that time.) Planted radishes last fall and they are up. Homegrown mushrooms slowed during the coldest days, but keep producing. Just this week, I ran out of cold storage carrots. Ran out of potatoes, and pears about a month ago, but have more canned. I have frozen Jerusalem artichokes as a potato substitute and frozen squash from our garden. Also dried and frozen foods. I plant a short season native corn for cornmeal. Our new nature year is already starting as we are planning a fishing trip soon. I find little to buy in supermarkets.

Almond, that ability to adapt to change and to recognise and be able to use the wild foods that surround us is something that has been lost by too many and made them as captive to the whim, food quality, availability and pricing of commerce as they were in the Industrial Revolution. Here in France, the majority understand that because of the central position food takes in everyone's life here and the push of the big supermarkets to grab the total market share. This was particularly obvious in lockdown when the big supermarkets went all out with the agenda and made shopping so unpleasant that afterwards people remembered and kept away.

This was even before the supermarkets started to hike the prices of fuel and food. There are so many ways to obtain food here and everyone uses them from markets to gate sales, to hunting and gathering. There are also gleaning rights here, I'm sure there are in every country but mostly people are uninformed. As I live by the sea most of our rights revolve around that, so I can glean mussels and oysters within a metre of the poles or beds, i.e.

those young ones who slipped through the 'nets' and continued to grow on the sea bed. I can also glean crops (organic of course) after the pickers/harvesters have been through. As so many people grow their own food, I can also do swaps, so seeds, eggs, cuttings... When the prices of organic straw and hay went crazy, I stopped buying and collected leaves and moss from the forests and woods, my hens and quail actually prefer it.

If the worse came to the worse, I could collect fodder crops from common land. There is masses of food at every season, even the Winter if you just know where and how to look and an ever increasing number of people ready to teach how to do just that. Now is the time to hone/acquire those skills. Interestingly enough many of our wild hedges here were planted with food crops, which probably weren't even producing for those who did the work, they looked forward to us!

Almond

Sue12Cross... You make many good points. In our case, I must admit that our diet might become a bit monotonous living off the land without a garden or supermarket, but we would not go hungry. We would be limited to how far we could walk on foot, not being safe to travel far from home. There is abundance in nature. However, it should be a way of life as the learning curve can be quite steep if people need to learn all at once. Another key thing is to harvest whatever is available in-season and not wait until your cupboard is empty. I esp. recall the stories from WWII and was very impressed with what brave French housewives could do to feed people when refugee relatives suddenly had to move in with them.

They could stretch their basic supplies well and wild harvest the other foods they needed. Foraging was dangerous in war zones and coasts were mined. One other thing to mention is the wisdom of having a well-stocked wine cellar. If there are water shortages, it will be good to have wine and other beverages. Brewing is an excellent way to preserve the harvest. You would need bottle caps or swing-top bottles. You do not need a lot of expensive ingredients, either. Just some kind of sugar and yeast. While I prefer to spend $3 per 5-gallon carboy (worthwhile investment) to get top grade specialty wine yeast, there is also a powdery yeast on blueberries that will work for making wine, if necessary.

Likewise, herbal ales can be made with certain herbs (not hops) and honey. Living foods. Many ancient cities were grown near rich delta lands that also attracted wildlife for hunting and eggs. You find many domestic crops along fence lines because that is where birds sit and poop out seeds. nature's version of a seed with a fertilizer casing. ; - ) After the covid fiasco, it is hard to imagine anyone trusting govt again. no reason for that since Mt. St. Helens blew and Truman did not listen to evacuation orders.

Almond I live in Basse Normandie - so cider country. Organic cider is 1 euro a bottle here straight from the farm but its fun to make and we have a cider apple orchard although we grafted on eating apples to some of them. We also make cider apple vinegar which is easy too. We do make wine but from elderberries, which our neighbours consider either eccentric or heresy but we are foreigners so it doesn't matter. I'm seriously thinking about beer and there are a lot of organic micro brewery start ups here and master brewer courses available. If the fuel crisis carries on as I'm sure it will be made to do, my suggestion is a donkey, there is someone with an exceedingly fancy donkey cart around here, he uses it to go shopping but also he goes on holiday in it.

I'd just be satisfied for it to carry stuff and I've seen a magnificent donkey ploughing exhibition at a harvest fair. As for electric vehicles, what a joke they are, all that plastic and wars over resources and to top it all here in France run on 80% plus nuclear power, which the government has just had declared a 'green' fuel. Good luck to you, this will be won one family at a time and it's good to know that all over the world people are working with intelligence and kindness for a much better future.

Few take advantage of the opportunity to spend time outdoors in the natural world, anymore. It's true that it's difficult to find areas which remain relatively pristine these days, and the ticks and aerial spraying have removed much of the enjoyment for me but I'll continue to get outdoors and take my chances, regardless. (Re: ticks - on this forum someone mentioned taking a few drops of Oil of Oregano before hiking as a repellent, which it probably is since it's very strong and I can't imagine that they'd stay on anyone who'd ingested it. Also, Stephen Buhner's Lyme book recommends taking Astragalus daily during tick season to prevent infection so there are things one can do about ticks.

These remedies are available in easy to take tinctures, too.) - btw, thanks for the reminder about having some homeopathic remedies on hand, Almond! -- It's the geoengineering which is clearly unavoidable, though I still garden, hang clothes on the line, etc. -- There's no way to escape the horrendous destruction wrought by the MIC, WEF, and other various and sundry sociopaths so one simply needs to decide to live as best as one can, hopefully to find meaningful employ (or a volunteer opportunity), to continue to call out injustice, essentially just to do the right thing even if you don't think you'll change anything.

- I'm in my 60's and still find myself shocked now and again to learn how many people out there simply pretend that they know what they're doing and/or don't care about doing the right thing. So much graft is to be found, just about everywhere... Verify, then trust. -- Well, the Earth is in trouble, folks, so do try to enjoy it if possible while it's still viable, though most important, focus on your spiritual pathway. - "We should make use of this precious opportunity to purify our negative karma, not to create more!"

Years ago we had a disease called Mareks run through our chickens for over a year. The fatality rate is 100%, we lost over 30 birds. The vaccine didn't work, we lost birds that were vaccinated right along with those that weren't. We ended up breeding and cross breeding those who never contracted the disease and ended up with birds that were Marek's resistant.

Check riboflavin deficiency. This has exactly the same symptoms and is really easy to fix with beef liver and/or yeast flakes. I'm afraid I believe in Marek's as much as I believe in bird flu, that is not to suggest your birds weren't ill - it's just the cause was perhaps not what you were told. Riboflavin deficiency will kill a bird and quickly and it is a deficiency that often comes from the parent, i.e. the egg is deficient. I came across it first 23 years ago, it showed up early in quail chicks I'd hatched from commercial hatching eggs because my quail have a big space and use a lot of energy from day one.

Commercial quail are on grain diets with synthetic vitamins added and with an average life span of 6 months, they can lay a lot of eggs in that time and pass on all those deficiencies. When my quail chicks became paralysed, I read up on Marek's and found a post from a guy who was the only in his area not to vaccinate his hens, when they started to show symptoms he was pressured to cull his whole flock but he refused, did the research and bought the beef liver, his whole flock recovered in 24 hours, as did my quail.

With quail chicks I usually did a follow up with a drink of coconut oil and turmeric, for potential neurone damage repair. Apart from stress and heavy metal toxicity, grain diets are in my experience at the root of the whole problem for poultry illnesses, none of them should be eating grain, particularly dry . Grain diets unlike a wild invertebrate diet are deficient in essential amino acids like L-methionine, a deficiency in which will cause aggressive behaviour and feather pecking.

There are 13 vitamins a deficiency in any of which can induce neurological illness in birds and that is not without consideration of all the minerals essential for the transport of such. The joke in organic poultry farming here is you can't get organic status without feeding pelleted organic food, which is grain and field beans thus a totally unsuitable diet.

You are so welcome. Here is a little film I made years ago about the condition, which is officially called 'curled toe paralysis:

www.youtube.com/watch?v=SWurWb3--FA&list=PLHgg6wrWg6dedER4JF4EYs85.. There is a written article too which goes into much more detail and on my site you will also find films on thiamine deficiency and how to deal with torticollis /wry neck. All these are nutritional problems and all fatal if left untreated and easy and quickly remedied with food. According to allopathic veterinary medicine you will find a named disease associated with each and a vaccine, you will also find suggestions to kill/cull your birds if they show symptoms.

This last year I did an experiment with my quail chicks, I fed them no grain whatsoever as chicks and juveniles, they had just foraged/cultivated greenery and wild invertebrates plus my home-raised organic meal worms. They grew up to be very happy, solid looking quail but as adults they would not touch grain. In the Winter I got them onto seeds and finally a little five cereal because I was running out of invertebrates but they really turned their beaks up at what I was offering and this year I'm going for maximum meal worm production for the Winter. All the very best.

personally, I don't feel vaccines are ever the answer. Our own immune system can and will protect us from any germs, so how can a vaccine which weakens the natural immune system ever be the answer. I feel that if people would stop abusing their bodies with processed foods, processed sugar, highly processed dairy and factory farmed meats which are raised on unnatural GMO grains, then supplement with the right vitamins to provide your system with all the nutrients it needs to operate efficiently, helping out with sambucus (concentrated black elderberry syrup) when you feel a cold coming on..... well, you just would never have believed you could be so healthy. You know, a strong immune system will even beat cancer??? That's something Max Gerson figured out back in the 1950's.

Obviously the pig is pushed through the village to make people panic and make people not eat meat anymore. "Allopathic medicine is based on the "germ theory", that microbes and viruses, cause disease. Medical science bases the use of vaccines on the theory that the body forms antibodies to "fight" natural viruses. They believe that these antibodies live on after the virus is contained, thereby creating immunity. First we must consider the facts known to evaluate medicine's viral theory. Science has proved that virus are not alive, that they are predominantly protein but that they contain organic DNA.

Science has proved that virus increase only in the presence of live cells, and that they cause certain cells, and/or parts of cells to dissolve. What is believed and taken as fact but not proved, is that viruses are nondiscriminatingly destructive "things" that self-replicate. That is like saying that laundry soap, because it is found in homes inhabited by humans, self-replicates. Those assumption and conclusion are shallow and ludicrous. Medical science operates from fear, and it attacks the body. All medical procedures for treating disease are written by pharmaceutical-related individuals and groups.

That is a severe conflict of interest. Self-produced health or medication-dependent profit, which do you think that they want? A rational and logical conclusion would be that virus are solvents (cleansers) manufactured by individual cells to dissolve degenerative tissue (disease) caused by accumulated waste and industrial toxins, including medicines. Virus contain DNA because cells have used substances within themselves to synthesize virus; DNA is a part of that. When the cleansing and healing processes cease, cells stop producing large amounts of virus...."

..."Normally, healthier bodies symbiotically utilize bacteria and parasites to cleanse themselves of cellular degenerative tissue and organic waste. They are the bodies preferred janitors. Bacteria and parasites consume the degenerative tissue and organic waste and reduce it to a tiny fraction of the original mass eaten. They can consume 100 times their weight and reduce it to 1-percent excretion. When eating a healthy raw diet, our bodies easily secrete and/or excrete the 1-percent excretions from bacteria and parasites. However, when bodies become too toxic with industrial toxins, including medicines, the bacteria and parasites are poisoned to death. Under such toxic conditions, the only cleansing method that the body can utilize is virus. So, cells synthesize viruses. I reiterate, viruses are solvents that dissolve degenerative tissue and organic waste. They are beneficial in preventing disease; they do not cause disease."

The bible might also be a good one if it's KJV and English seems interesting, that i.e. a mile was called thousandsteps which brings up that the mile wasn't always 1.6km meaning 1.6m per step as that would have been some kind of Nephilim.

Feel free to chop in as I find would find that interesting to get more info about. The sarcophagus in the Cheops Pyramid, well what they call it, but it seems not to have been one, no pictures in there and the volume of it seems by 'coincidence' just to be the same as if you take four quarters an old English volume and the 'hallway' getting to the chamber if watched outside from below, can be seen the stars of the actual cosmic age....

I noticed the bird flu articles were written in the MSM just like COVID trying to use brainwashing language so that you wonder if they are talking about birds or humans. I even pointed this out to people. Adding a bird flu vaccine would just cause worse things to happen as we have seen. Every time they come out with a COVID shot or booster, the virus mutates to evade. Notice the new variant of concern articles that flow out after shots introduced or boosters. I have said before, how many birds and animals are actually dying from bird flu. Are the PCR tests even correct? I have noticed NO extra randomly dead animals or birds and I live in the country. With huge flocks of Canada geese migrating all the time, you should see dead geese here and there in fields and ditches or floating on ponds.

Never see a dead bird. The massive death toll is always associated with "culling" because one bird was pcr positive. That has a hundred percent fatality rate but the death isn't from bird flu, it is from the killing of potentially exposed birds. I have said before why hasn't there been a single program to vaccinate birds, leave out antiviral bird seed, or cull wild bird populations AT ALL. Ie if you have a flock of Canada geese land in field and they are supposedly transmitting bird flu left and right so much you are told to switch from pasture raised to birds in a barn...why haven't they said cull any geese you see.

Why is it cull any domesticated food poultry. When I was reading about the UK bird flu, run for your lives, news article about how it has been raging in their country, I was shocked how small the case numbers were. I had no idea this is what they were hysterical about. One person got bird flu from humans ducks he had living in his house with him??? How about the countless other bacteria and viruses and parasites he probably contracted from naturally explosive poo ducks living in in his personal space. He didn't even die from it and was elderly.

I honestly wouldn't be surprised if they haven't tinkered with the virus so much it is weaponized. I have never heard of anything so silly as tinkering around with dangerous viruses to see how bad they can get if they unnaturally are spliced with other things....then once it is created, it now exists rather than having micro remote chance of existing. "In this latest HPAI outbreak, perhaps the most egregious departure from truth is the notion that the birds have died as a result of the disease and that euthanasia for survivors is the best and only option " when I read this part in the article....I thought about humans.

Have people accept large scale culling of animals....then what happens if human get it. At what point will they start culling humans because it is "for the common good" to "protect the uninfected". Genocidal extermination has been carried out in history especially against people who were considered contaminated or diseased or dirty, so I am not saying it isn't unfathomable. And yes, Joel Salatin is totally correct in wondering why they aren't breeding for disease resistance. It is the most basic and common of breeding considerations for any breeder....dogs, cats, cattle sheep, horses....anything really.

Look at La Croix sheep for example. Greg Judy experienced herd losses heavily at first then the strong resistant ones are the breeding stock. It's not rocket science. Who is paying scientists to come up with solutions like let's fire fighter foam 50,000 chickens in a barn poisoning everything and continue to worry about every sparrow that flies by indefinitely. If you culled an entire barn every time one chicken was under the weather, eggs would be $1000 an egg. It's a very uncreative solution.

These two lines jump off the screen: "health authorities insist there's only one solution to bird flu epidemics, and that is vaccination. Meanwhile, that strategy is making the situation worse." When does it become safe to say that making things worse is the goal? In the past few years, we've had the Covid debacle, govt actions have put the dollar into a death spiral, more govt has created the conditions for a widespread war, further govt actions have drained the petroleum reserve while reducing our own energy-generating capacity, and the list goes on. There are too many lousy outcomes for them to be labeled as incompetence or stupidity.

Stupid people can botch one thing, maybe two, but this level of result can only be intentional. And how shocking that, once again, Fauci is involved in gain of function research, the very thing he claimed was not happening. As to culling large flocks, there is this push to lower meat consumption, right? What better way of affecting that than by attacking the supply, and planting seeds of doubt in consumers' minds along the way. This is a two-for-one proposition for this cabal. And they'll use fear to gain compliance again, as with Covid. The CDC is still pushing jabs for kids as young as six months, there are still adults ready to get their next booster, and some folks still wear masks.

I'd like to think that the public won't be fooled again but there is little reason to believe that. I'm a bit surprised that ABC aired the doctor saying this is not how bird flu behaves. When people said that about Covid, they were called all sorts of names but no matter. That person will be long forgotten when, or if, this virus is needed to stoke another panic. In the meantime, we get the distraction of a Trump indictment, as if that makes the far more serious things that threaten to harm millions go away.

I'm not too worried about it. I know they will release another pandemic. A lot of people will probably die if they make a hybrid version of bird flu that can infect humans. I can't remember the last time I caught the flu (over 30 years). However, I won't be coerced into getting any shots! I'm willing to bet that they offer people money to get the jabs. What's sad is that they are killing the people that TRUST them! The very sheeple that graduated from their indoctrination camps and believe that everything the NIAID and NIH are doing is great, are the same ones who will get sick and/or be the first to get jabbed and die. Eventually, they will become the minority and those of us that have stepped away from Big Pharma will be the majority.

I'm afraid we won't. We'll just die later. Geoengineering [ drought, flood ], 5G - 6G - 7G, toxic poisons spilling all over the place contaminating the soil, grid down, starvation, resistant infections and anybody who needs any medication to live..... will eventually get the job done. Gates et al take no shots. Child sacrifice, adrenochrome etc. are just the conspiracy theories of today slated to be proven as old news tomorrow.

H5N1 (bird flu) is now affecting mammals at a rate not previously seen, including skunks, bears, seals, foxes, minks and even dolphins. The infection is also spreading between mammals.' How do we know this is true? Could it not simply be more theatre, of the type used to instil in us the fear of catching COVID-19?

It's all a lie. They know us way better than we know ourselves. Even better today with all the datagathering and people exposing their whole life online. Their tool is fear, as it's a very handy tool. It works way quicker than direct threatening (not enough manpower) and in sufficient dose it can persuade even the most logic person. The whole virus boogeyman paradigm is a bunch of illogical nonsense. I mentioned many arguments before but I'm sure some site made a list. If it was enough to just artificially infect one (or another small percentage) individual, to threaten or kill an entire species, would there be ANY life left on earth? (after all this time) Except viruses themselves of course. Which are absolutely everywhere. Because they might be a part of the necessary building blocks of an organism.

Just like this or that chemical sequence (called genes) might be a part of life. But they are (IMO) not the final determinants of life, because their 'makeup' changes over time, all the time. Because the building blocks are by nature (resonance etc.) adapted (= in sync, in harmony) to the environmental conditions (which is a lot more than can be measured by manmade tools). It is utter reductionism to define life on the basis of a few measurements and ignore all the other unacknowledged conditions that make life possible. If for example you'd live in an oven, you'd only notice when you finally get out and shout 'damn, it's cold outside!'. Or dry. Or wet. Or any unacknowledged factor in the constellation. Even our mind is in some sort of oven. And those 'in power' love to play with the thermostat to get the desired result.

Jake..

There's a lot of sense in what you say, and I don't doubt that it is possible the Chinese have played with the H5N1 genome. However to say H5N1 has never been a danger to humans is just plain incorrect. As Dutch [idiot] scientists proved some years ago in a laboratory, only two changes are needed for H5N1 to be human to human transmissible -and they couldn't understand why it hadn't happened naturally. When I was studying this virus back in 2005-2010, the thing that struck hard was the incredible sustained mortality rate no matter which clade it was.

The best [lowest] mortality rates were in Vietnam at about 40-46% but in Indonesia it was clade 2.3 and that hit 83%. Small human to human outbreaks have happened out there and back in the time I was watching for it, it only seemed a when not an if. It is known to have been co-habiting in pigs with H1N1 which of course has human to human ability and the revelation that both had been cultured from the same pig was alarming. All HPAI's have the potential for major deadly pandemics and the H5N7 seems another candidate.

I came to the conclusion along with many others that quarantines wouldn't work on a population basis, but would work on an individual basis if you became a 'prepper' as they were called in the states. Modern society [esp in cities] mitigates against family sized quarantine units but is likely the only way to effectively wait out the storm. I was always envious of the US in that prepping is a lot easier and your ability to defend yourselves so much better.

That's important because society as we know will cease quickly if one of these does make the jump, billy Gates and his pals will not be excluded from vulnerability even if they rush through an mRNA jab because as Faucci himself said, it's a waste of time making vaccines for respiratory viruses. Strange maybe, but ever since that time I have maintained 6 months worth of dried foods [rotated of course] and the ability to sterilise water by filtration oh, and the covid thing might just have been about crying wolf for the big one. Wouldn't put that past them. But I won't have and mRNA jab no matter what they say. The only problem the preppies had was when to pull the plug or haul up the drawbridge given how poor the truth factor of news is.

Jake..

Jake I remember hearing about this sometime ago and thinking thank goodness I don't eat pig, then being told that even if you don't eat pig you could still get it. And like you I have been maintaining a steady stash of food for 6 months or more, which some I have to throw out now because I forgot to eat it. But nonetheless, I will continue storing up because I do believe they're gearing up this coming winter for it or possibly the next so that we can't vote. Either way this is their next plandemic, however, with this one we will want to stay indoors and stay away from the masses.

Except...viruses (as in non-living fairytale organisms that float around in the air & make us sick) are complete BS. Deficiency & toxicity are the only two things that make people ill. The word virus just means poison (or venom, basically, if you look into its root). They have taken that word and turned it into something they can use to control people with fear. There are no such organisms floating from person to person making them ill, only toxins in our air, food, water, household products, and vaccines, of course. Those are what are making people ill.

Nothing contagious. Contagion has never been proven. No "virus" (as in an actual organism) has ever been truly isolated/purified and proven to cause illness. Look into Stefan Lanka's experiments (formerly virologist, now microbiologist b/c he realized virology is a complete sham). Rosenau experiments - tried to prove flu was contagious and failed. Now, I love what Dr. Mercola stands for, but why is he pushing virology fraud? A bit off-topic. This is no April Fool's joke, although we have demented fools in govt. Biden admin moving forward with light bulb bans in coming weeks.

www.foxnews.com/politics/biden-admin-moving-forward-light-bulb-bans-co.. Natural sunlight is the best for your vision and health. Incandescent is the next best. You do not want to be exposed to the energy fields of many other forms of lighting, esp. fluorescent lighting and compact fluorescent bulbs (those horrible pigtail lights). How many people dispose of them properly? Further contributing to landfill and water pollution. Briefly, the problem is the frequency and resonant energy that interacts with cells, ceasing all life functions for the fraction of a second when the wave crosses zero on the x-axis.

In sensitive individuals, this oscillation can also inflame the optic nerve, impairing vision, cognition and sensory perception. Are we really free if govt can mandate what kinds of light bulbs we can buy for our homes, what kinds of stoves and refrigerators? It is no secret that these newer appliances are not made to last. How can it be energy efficient when planned obsolescence is built in? Is it more environmentally responsible to build an appliance that will last 30-50 years rather than mine more materials and ship new appliance while needing to recycle old broken ones?

My old 32 cubic foot upright freezer lasted 42 years--replaced it with 3 smaller ones. Who wants a refrigerator with a 5-year life expectancy--that usually breaks down over a holiday?! Then, a mad scramble to save food in the midst of other chaos. (I do freeze a lot of food, but that is why I also can a lot of meat.) If you have the space and can afford it (do much of your own work with recycled parts?), it may be good to build your own walk-in cooler with 2 compartments that you can regulate for either freezer or refrig at different seasons of the year. We plan to do that. It is not a free market. More of a nanny state.

Coil stove tops will soon become obsolete. There are few models still available. Glass top stoves are not made for heavy kettles or large pressure canners. Not recommended for canning. Your best options are a digital pressure canner or an outdoor propane cook stove. If you have older appliances, keep them running. An appliance repairman tells us people are going out and buying used older appliances instead of new because they are better built. Making it difficult to can food at home is one more step towards dependency.

I once removed the panel of a dishwasher that was the wrong color and spray painted the front panel to match my other appliances. Appliance touch up paint or spray paint is available from manufacturers. Refrigerator doors can usually be switched from left to right. You may need a special screwdriver. Changing the direction the door opens can help fit it into the only space you might have in your kitchen if you find a good older model. If you can buy discounted scratch-and-dent appliances where damage shows, consider whether an auto body shop can make repairs.

Some repairs may be simple enough to do yourself. You may not need to bring in the entire appliance in to a body shop if it is just a panel or drawer. Side dents may not even show if covered by cabinetry. Many older model appliances can become a decorating focal point with a certain vintage charm. A good cleaning and polishing also works wonders for older appliances. There are oven top cleaners and polishes.

Factory bird farming, as with feed lot farming of mammals, has proved to create too much infection and waste, probably making it less profitable for the big investors, so let's end mass bird production...fake meat sounds far more viable and controllable. Scare everyone with a bird pandemic, maybe it's a real one due to the birds factory habitat, or maybe it's from GM grain and anti-biotics fed these poor birds...these profiteers have no soul, no morals or ethics. They won't tell the truth about this dis-ease amongst some chicken flocks, about all this so called bird flu thing. Even the gain of function machinations may have been allowed to become public in order to scare people...bit of a psy-op???

As no virus has ever been isolated, what IS called a virus is most likely a variety of toxins in the food and environment, or even just the spike proteins they manufactured with gain of function. Making sure people are scared of the bird flu idea is a good excuse to kill off many birds; they're killing whole flocks, not bothering to see which stronger ones survive whatever it is effecting them, be it their miserable existence, the indoor life, or poor hygiene and food! Fear sure worked with the covid scam which killed off as many as flu often does, and anyway, what happened to the flu figures for 2020-21? They disappeared in that period. Time we took control of our own well being, us the ordinary person in the street. Resist. Grow as much as you can of your own food. None of us need to live under the yoke of maniacal profiteering tyranny if we don't want to. Enough kowtowing to insanity.

Let them gain of function or weaponize the heck out of any freaking virus and it won't do any harm to healthy people. Healthy people won't even feel their supper weaponized crap. What kills healthy people is the so called "vaccines" or supposed treatment/cure against their "deadly virus". Covid is perfect example of a benign, harmless virus, which Evil spent so much time weaponizing, and a poisonous and harmful "cure". "Vaccines" kill and disable a heck more people than the virus they are supposed to protect against. In an every fake pandemic Evil has orchestrated there was always a harmless virus and a deadly cure, always. Never Fear the Disease but Always Dread the Cure(aka "Vaccines")

I used to think this tbh. But now I'm not so sure. I think things are being weaponized in such a way that it cripples immune function. Starting in 2021 and continuing to present, it doesn't matter if people never wore masks, whether they associate or don't associate publically, where they live geographically, whether they are young or old or have recaught tons of bugs since the things disrupted by lockdowns and masking....something is different. People are sick ALL the time. This includes unvaxxed.

They just tend to be less sick it seems. We used to predictably get sick every fall and spring. It's hard to not ever get sick with children. But now it is totally unpredictable and weird too. One person in the whole family will get horrible leaky virus, and yet no one else contracts it. One kid got a virus and it was a whole respiratory thing and coughed for a month and the kids sharing a room never caught it. More bizarrely sometimes an adult will have something and the kids don't catch it?

Or people get something and they all have different symptoms (COVID style but no covid). It takes forever to catch things, 7-9 days before someone else gets sick. Multiple relapses where they will have crazy leaking one day and wake up completely dry not even nasally. Then two days go past and a headache crops up. Then it disappears, then two days later feeling slightly warm, then disappears, then sudden sneezing fits and leaking again. None of this is normal. I am starting to wonder if the 5G widely spread out everywhere (hard to avoid its coverage now) is weakening us to this degree or the manmade covid did leave our immune functioning damaged. And yes, we and loads of other people take all the right body supports, supps, eat grass fed organic, liver, non GMO, lots of probiotic and exposure to environmental bacteria like playing in dirt, having animals etc. It doesn't seem to matter anymore starting 2021. Everyone, everywhere is sick all the time whether a lot or lightly.

Dr Mercola reports: > Fauci funded the work of virologist Ron Fouchier, a Dutch researcher whose team created an airborne version of the bird flu. < * Fouchier is Deputy head of the Erasmus MC, Department of Viroscience, headed by Prof. Marion Koopmans. Erasmus is a big hospital in the city Rotterdam (has the biggest harbor of Europe) where they do research also. So Koopmans department got funded by Fauci via Fouchier. Then Marion Koopman was selected to be part of the WHO team to trace the source of the virus in Wuhan, but surprise found no evidence, but they did look at the Wuhan wet market. What a joke, because the market was closed already since a year before their visit, so it was completely empty.

Why to look there for pangolins? So no surprise they found nothing about the origins of the virus, because their team leader was Peter Daszak from EcoHealth Alliance, whose Wuhan Institute of Virology collaborations were funded by Anthony Fauci. So you see, its a very small world. Later leaked emails between Fauci and Koopmans revealed that they tried to cover-up from the very beginning of the pandemic that the virus came from a lab. Why is mass murderer Fauci is not yet arrested for his lies and crimes?

Bird flu has been in the UK all through the winter, millions of hens massacred, eggs in short supply and high price, but nothing about it passing to humans at all and it hasn't spread to humans. The stupid thing is not letting the hens recover and be immune and probably would pass on the immunity. Same as foot and mouth disease. They kill them all here but in Argentina and Brazil they just separate for a while, then back into herd and immune. Humans eat all that meat. No probs, well I don't as I'm veggie but others do.

Terrain theory in poultry & Greenhouse production is more relevant today than germ theory. 5th generation warfare with CCP, WEF, WHO, UN & NGO's like Gates & Soros leading the charge. Dr. Tom Cowan is more correct on the virus issue than others who seem to push the fear! Envenomation, nanotechnology & poisons like fluoride & cyanide = Remdesivir & mechanical ventilation were the tools for the COVID plan demic!

Fully agree! How people can believe you can poison the world and then blame a designated boogeyman goes beyond me! Brainwashed and locked in fear, hate etc instead of checking out for themselves and making friends along the way, escaping the box. The lies leading the flock to submission are on many levels, one lie covering for the other, to avoid the house of cards falling. Imo I will not figure it all out (do I care to unravel a full book of fiction?), I can only say the impression it gives me is that it is up to me to live my life and that my main tool of keeping evil under control is to do it myself, choose good and refuse bad.

So, can they spray it from the sky? Please pay attention to those artificial striated clouds formed by gridding our blue sky. Serious too, our weather, is it controlled and weaponized?

I wonder if this is a cover story for using 5G to kill humans and animals because we are full of synthetic biology. These nanobots are designed to be controlled by 5G. Alana Freeland and Dr. Ana are my sources of information.

I would like to hear the good Dr. Mercola speak more on terrain theory instead of promoting this virus craziness .

I don't understand why Mercola is posting this? Does he not do his research?
