These effin masks are the bane of humanity. I will never get over that part of the whole covid cult and it's numerous rituals. So much of what has gone on reminds me of words in the Old Testament of the Holy Bible when it often says things like, "Pray to your idols made of wood and stone and ask them to come and save you." The other thing I won't ever get over is how people who are not experts on anything medically related suddenly became experts overnight. Gates, Schwab, the corporate media, institutions of "higher learning", and thousands of other skills that we are now supposed to laud and worship as some kind of saints/gods of medicine... Yet the average guy/gal doing their own research and truly looking at the numbers and those who actually have experience with things like masks were not allowed to say one word. We were banned, censored and deleted from society as we watched our loved ones die behind plexiglass and watch our communities be divided and destroyed. I'll never let this go if I live one more day or 30 more years. We can NEVER let this kind of insanity happen again. If we do, we deserve what we get.

Yes. Insane. OK. Sure. I guess we can go with that; it's said a lot. "It's so insane!" And what can we do when something is insane? Why, we can forgive it because, well, we can all experience a bit of temporary insanity, right? And once that passes, all returns to "normal," right? Forgive and forget.

Well, I suggest that what we have all witnessed and endured are moral failings -- moral failings so deep as to be an ongoing threat if we fail to call them what they actually are -- and address them. In place of an abiding adherence to principles and the sanctity of basic human rights, we saw the vast majority indulge their inner coward, their inner bully, their vanity, their sanctimony. This conduct was not insane. It was the indulgence in long-recognized vices. It was immoral.

Even today when an article was recommended to me about precautions needed following the easing of COVID restrictions, I found a comment (probably one of many) blaming the unvaxxed and unmasked for lack of hospital beds owed to virtuous citizens of Canada who need them. This comment, a clear example of intellectual and moral failings of the majority of the populations in - likely - most countries in the world, shows us that we can no longer win this battle. Don't we live in a democracy, or rather idiocracy? What the tyrants want, our friends and neighbours will gladly do, and all remaining resisters will be dutifully reported to the saviour - the tyrannical state. It took decades to dumb down and demoralize these societies, but the progress has been steady and very successful. The pandemic leaves no doubt that more are planned, and that the tyrant knows just how easy the next stage in this war against us will be.

I was in my early 20s during 9/11, watching as even my most die hard "question everything" friends and allies were supporting the Iraq war (Iraq had, um, nothing to do with it). Quoting things about how all the freedoms taken were "cuz terrorism". And I realized back then that who people believe themselves to be and who they actually are are completely separate identities. In the words of Vonnegut (sigh), "and so it goes."

government, FOR freedom of speech. My frustration is mostly about my side losing their god-damned mind.

Religious forces have always been authoritarian, and in countries like Canada, NZ, Aus, Conservatives did absolutely nothing against this bs because conservative parties are by definition parties of "law & order".

People are trained to trust the authority of the person, rather than the authority of the evidence.

We are controlled through language, because all language is functional. That's why authority figures have to change the language before they can change minds. Repetition is extremely powerful.

The narrative...

Bad apples...

Terrorists...

Viruses are real...

Etc.

Beliefs are formed with emotions. It's very difficult for most people to change their minds when presented with evidence once beLIEfs are formed. That's why fear tactics are so effective.

Because people are social animals, aligning with the majority provides a sense of protection. Most people are averse to outliers because it's disruptive to the idea of safety.

Religions are successful because they use they tactics. So do governments. There is very little difference between the two in practice.

I am comfortable being an outlier.

Yes, we are apes, we are groomed into mimicry by our parents, we have the longest grooming/infancy period of any living being, some individuals rebel after puberty, but not enough. We are weak animals, coerced into conformity by the tribe, in order to assure longer survival.

It's all pretty sick IMO.

The CDC 2007 report about flattening the curve never recommended lockdowns or masking:

"The effectiveness of individual infection control measures (e.g., cough etiquette, hand hygiene) and the role of surgical masks or respirators in preventing the transmission of influenza are currently unknown."

It was the freemason Economist in early 2020 which pushed masking and lockdowns:

<https://www.economist.com/briefing/2020/02/29/covid-19-is-now-in-50-countries-and-things-will-get-worse>

Psy-op purposes of face cancelling:

1. Show fear of others: they are a potential threat to you
2. Create fear in others: you are a potential threat to them
3. Create psychological distancing
4. Dehumanization
5. Destroying individuality (our face makes us unique)
6. Massification (mass formation)
7. Reduce social interaction and communication
8. Induce social pressure towards the rebels and show massive compliance
9. Reinforce political and police authority
10. Increase acceptance of an unquestionable police state

Cloth civilian masks:

1. Increase contagion by keeping the virus active for a longer time due to moisture

2. Increase re-inoculation when infected by virus, bacteria or fungi
3. Reduce oxygen intake
4. Increase carbon dioxide intake
5. Increase bacterial and fungal colonies
6. Hospital masks were found to contain magnetic fibres with high melting point (graphene oxide?) and were sterilized with ethylene oxide (EO) classified by EPA as a human carcinogen in Dec 2016.1

Well, Tracy, I can say we are experiencing the end times as Revelations starches us. The world government has already begun. Our so called trade agreements that has to do with us wil joins us together with Mexico and Canada to for a one block nation. In fact, none of these trade agreements are about trade. The USCMA treaty that Trump signed does just that. Today, we have less and less people who know what's going on in government or who let our legislators know we are "watching" them! I would advise everyone to join The John Birch Society. I learned many years ago what was being planned for the world. So far, everything has come true! That was over 40 years ago that I learned the plan my these globalists. With this organization—JBS—you can actually gather with others of like mind who are fighting against this. Also, do not fall for any constitutional convention. It is a very dangerous move and we could lose our Constitution. Right now the COS led by Mark Meckler or Constitution of States are trying to sign up many of our states in order to have a convention. Let your Governor know you do NOT APPROVE! At the age of 80 I am probably not long for this world, but many of you and your children are going to be around unless Jesus comes first. God Bless you all.

the big BS tip off should be (but I suppose isn't, with the cultists) that these people are computer hacks and sociologists. NOT trained nor versed in medical science nor any natural sciences. so their opinions matter exactly WHY?

here in the Chicago area, mask wearing seemed to dwindle down to near nothing about 6 months ago and then for some inexplicable reason, creep back up in recent months, to at least one-fourth to one-third of people slapping one on again. and I'm still seeing sad elderly folks, in filthy paper masks, walking alone and moms forcing masks on their little ones. the only thing that this 'signals' to me is that these people are either mentally ill or incapable of independent thought.

Sociology involves the study of the psychological forces driving the behaviors of society. This leads an understanding of ways in which societal behaviors can be influenced and manipulated. Sociologists would logically be in the forefront of mask propaganda, not medical evidence-based science, since masks are about changing societal behavior, not about health benefits. Hence the sociologist led, the CDC followed, not vice versa.

These last three years have unmasked plenty of everyday people, organizations, institutions, politicians, journalists, policies and governments.

All covid policies did not just happen. They were prepared well in advance, just like a theatrical play.

Every actor entered the stage at the scheduled time, with the prepared speech or article.

Sadly, the audience was told that everything was spontaneous.

Nothing was real and honest except of the socio-economic consequences and the suffering of ordinary people.

At the same time, not accidentally, all those who opposed, were ridiculed, cancelled or punished.

Thank you for exposing the dirty story with reasoning, proofs and names.

I totally HATED that night because I HATED seeing all these previously normal people pretending to be part of the show just because the planted actor at our table egged them on. That is actually how covid unfolded. The government actors on TV and in each state's bureaucracies egged normal people into participating in a FAKE show. The only problem is, it was a fake show, but the hospital murders and vaccine deaths are real. Wake up you Tony and Tina fools. They are killing us for money.

Ancient Greek theater's purpose was not just to entertain but educate, as well, even in retrospect.

Let's hope that the complying audience will realise their illusions, even in retrospect.

Excellent article. You're right about the only two possible explanations. I surmise that it was, and nearly always is in these cases, both.

Our cabal of monsters is so good at what they do, the vast majority of their enablers are not actually required to be in on the agendas. They are handpicked and vetted early on, cultivated and brainwashed. Then, later when they are needed, vanity and other false rewards are used to manipulate them, and they play their parts perfectly.

If it hadn't been these individuals, the cabal would have had their pick from among hundreds of other useful fools, who think themselves intelligent, to be the first to push the mask narratives.

Ironically, it's sort of along the lines of what Tufekci herself wrote when she argued that "censorship today involve meddling with trust and attention". The cabal simply amplifies attention and projects trust in the pawns that push its narratives. When the pawn makes a wrong move, they forfeit/cancel it and use the next one.

my niece has a 5 yr old daughter with severe autism and put off getting her into special ed and/or therapy because there's no way the little girl would keep a mask on.

I know of at least 2 students locally, who were literally kicked out of public special ed programs because they could not tolerate masks. its completely against state and federal IDEA (special ed) laws. so not only are healthy little one being harmed, the kids who already have issues, were denied appropriate educations.

But this should be a lesson learned. One of the major flaws of the resistance movement was focusing on exceptions to the rules, rather than ending the nonsense rules entirely.

Exceptions are NEVER a solution to bad policy.

For the first year I used no medical exemption note, just NO. But by May 2021, life was becoming impossible, that's when I sought my first medical exemption, to support my stronger NO. But I attended as many protest rallies as I could, in many cities, to fight against the entire shebang. I don't want religious people to have exemptions, I want NO ONE to be under such idiotic mandates.

my local library was mask-nazi central. not only did they shut down completely for over 8 months (!!), when they opened, it was 'order online' only (no walking thru the building) and books were handed to you thru a plastic barrier (think heavy vertical strips, like in a food processing plant). I was actually approached by a security guard & told to put my mask up higher on my nose! it was first thing in the morning, there might have been 4 people in the large building. Librarian was masked & behind a plastic wall. you could have seen the smoke coming off my head, I was THAT angry. next time I went, there was a morbidly obese woman checking out about 20 DVD's, chatting away with librarian, NO mask and nobody said a thing to her! WTF? they were the very last place to finally drop the mask requirement.

Yup. I was basically thrown out one day after we finally opened again in summer of 2021. Books were only picked up OUTSIDE on a cart during the closure. I went in without a mask cause gov PrickSter dropped the masking statewide said we could. Not at my library. I was called a danger out loud in front of others and if I clamped a Kleenex over my mouth I could stay. I walked out and picked up holds on a cart outside from September to spring of 2022. BTW I worked there with these people for 14 years until 2019. I go in now but my joy is gone and some I barely talk to. The director is nuts.

Sadly, librarians are some of the most brainwashed among us. The county library system in the Minneapolis area was like that until sometime last summer. Where I live, in a very small town in western Wisconsin, the library had mask signs up until last summer, too, but I never wore a mask when I went in and no one said anything. Actually, only the librarians were ever masked as far as I saw.

I've told this before how a good friend of mine, an entrepreneur, had informed me in October, 2019 that he'd be out of reach for a few weeks. He was going to be out of the country and couldn't tell me where or what for. Okay I thought but it got my curiosity going so when asked upon his return, he mentioned he was in China on a business trip but once again wouldn't tell me anything about it.

When word of the plandemic was spreading that winter of '20, I mentioned to him that it sounded like another hoax just like N1H1, SARS, Zika and all the rest. "No no" he replied - "this is gonna be the real thing. By the way do you know anyone who's looking to buy N95 masks? I have access to a huge supply!" At that moment the dots were connected; the mysterious trip to China, the assurances that this was the plague, and now his new venture helped me understand that it was all definitely and deliberately planned. At the same time, there were reports coming out from a journalist named Spiro about Event 201 where the WEF, Johns-Hopkins, and the Gates Foundation were doing a practice run at the same time he was in China. No one knows how many people were in on this scam, how many NDA's were signed or how many billions were spent in advance to such this surprise attack of nature (not or how many billions were spent in advance to push this surprise attack of nature (not reallocation) on the gullible people of the world. My friend made out well although our friendship has not been the same. This anecdote is probably quite commonplace.

Another point of view beyond the obvious issue of .1 micron viruses or whatever it is being contained by a N95 mask with .3 holes. You don't need to be a Doc to know masks don't work 99% of the time except in surgical environments where you don't want someone drooling into your open wound. I'm a safety engineer familiar with OSHA's respiratory protection program. Many mask mandating (woke) companies are in violation of 1910.134 whereby it states that if mask use results in less than 19.5% O₂ in breathing zone it is a violation. Tests show that O₂ levels inside masks REQUIRED by employers is a violation subject to fines and for repeated violations these are willful and can exceed 200k per violation. From OSHA: Oxygen deficient atmosphere means an atmosphere with an oxygen content below 19.5% by volume. If you get less than 19.5% OSHA considers this to be an IDLH (Immediately Dangerous to Life and Health) exposure.

The CDC 2007 report about flattening the curve never recommended lockdowns or masking:

"The effectiveness of individual infection control measures (e.g., cough etiquette, hand hygiene) and the role of surgical masks or respirators in preventing the transmission of influenza are currently unknown."

It was the freemason Economist in early 2020 which pushed masking and lockdowns:

Psy-op purposes of face cancelling:

1. Show fear of others: they are a potential threat to you
2. Create fear in others: you are a potential threat to them
3. Create psychological distancing
4. Dehumanization
5. Destroying individuality (our face makes us unique)
6. Massification (mass formation)

The leftist voices on TV and NY Times etc suddenly became the rallying point for all things Orange Man Bad. Progressive urban dwellers and hipsters alike just couldn't get enough of it. And the more deeply they bought into it, the easier it was for the lying media deep state agents to sell them the pandemic - fear mongering led to unquestioned compliance and a devotion to masks, PCR tests and of course the world saving Fauci Ouchie. Science and reason no longer mattered. Those of us who clung onto our sanity and humility were astonished at how easy it was to sway someone who rejected GMO food to get shot up with 3,4 or even 5 doses of mRNA. Great article.

Two points as FYIs:

1) Three days after Zeynep's Feb 27, 2020 article is when New York City's "first" covid case was announced to the public, which appears to have triggered a rise in visits for Influenza-Like Illness (ILI) to NYC hospital EDs.

<https://twitter.com/EWoodhouse7/status/1635856567060041734?s=20>

2) Re: "Overall, mortality among COVID patients in New York hospitals fell by over two-thirds between spring 2020 and summer 2020," per data cited by the WSJ in December 2020. Here's the truth: After NYC hospital protocols killed an extra 15K people in 11 weeks, all-cause hospital mortality dropped back to (and even below) baseline and didn't rise to excess levels until after the shot debuted. That should tell us something.

An interesting footnote to this issue is an NIH paper from 2007(?), co-authored by Anthony Fauci, describing a forensic reexamination of the 1918 Spanish Flu epidemic. Apparently there were tissue samples still on file. It was determined that most deaths were the result of bacterial pneumonia, not any flu virus. Of course, habitual mask wearing encourages the buildup of bacteria right under your nose. Further indication of a twisted intentionality in the program. We have psychos leading us to hell.

Another factor in 1918 was the severe overuse of aspirin in the sick. That's why so many young people died, especially in the military. They were given something like 38 grams of aspirin daily, well above a lethal dose. Pills we buy today are measured in micrograms. Since aspirin was somewhat new at the time, they possibly didn't know about safe dosage, but at any rate they were experimenting on sick people who probably would have survived without the intervention.

Oh there's nothing "dubious" about it. Public Health in America has been about the power of the wealthy elite, coercion, and control. Not the clinical health of the human population. The ultra-wealthy oligarchs have been obsessed with control since 1789.

Again, look at the war on "drugs" specifically cannabis, the most vital and effective medicinal herb in human history. Did arresting tens of millions of people and building a massive gulag improve public health? Or did it comfort the oligarchs' fears of the burgeoning labor and anti-war movements?

If we care about "public health" then why are we the only wealthy country without single payor health care? Why does insulin cost 10 times here what the rest of the world pays, in the midst of a diabetes epidemic?

How did we Americans allow ourselves to be so banefully influenced by these... foreigners? At some point any sentient human being must stop and ask, "What good have our humanitarian immigration policies done for us?" We allow these people whose background, history and life experience are bereft of standard American virtues like self-reliance, independence and, dare I say, Biblical Christianity into our country and they have managed to destroy the very fabric of our lives! Were it within my power to do so, I would not only stop ALL immigration immediately, but deport anyone who has arrived since the Hart-Cellar fiasco! America did just fine under the immigration laws that prevailed until 1965, but look what an utter disaster we have experienced. The current regime that has decided against enforcement of even the feeble immigration controls that were in effect before it usurped power should be deemed an act of treason and the perpetrators treated accordingly. Sic semper tyrannus!

Many immigrants have come for economic benefits, with hate for the USA in their hearts. Any chance they get, they seek to destroy the land of those who colonized and abused their home countries. American politicians and traitors have perpetrated injustice and abuse not only on their own, deliberately dumbed down people, but also on people of many nations world-wide. We see this clearly in the proxy-war against Russia in progress.

C.S. Lewis called Islam the greatest of the Christian heresies.

The Koran, although not consistent all the way through, explicitly rejects Judaism and Christianity and devotes Jews and Christians to dhimmitude at best and death at worst. Allah bears very little relationship to the God of the Bible, utterly lacking the love for mankind expressed most completely in the Bible by God loving us so much that He sent His only Son to die for our sins. One cannot imagine our Constitution, or indeed Western Civilization, arising from a Muslim perspective. Anyone raised in a Muslim culture will have zero understanding of the American perspective on freedom and limited government.

We just have to hope their place in history, once the adults return to the room to take a sober account of things, will be firmly cemented as a pair of dogmatic busybodies who peddled anti-human measures rooted in pseudoscience.

It's funny. When masks started to emerge on the scene, I immediately noticed overt language in social engineering and set to research masks. Along the way, I came across Howard and couldn't for the life of me figure out where he came from and what his background was. Later I saw he was a Weffer (red flag) which explained a lot to me. Jefferson wrote in the declaration "He has erected a multitude of new offices and sent hither swarms of officers to torment the people and eat out their substance". The framers took this grievance so to hart that the very first thing they did in the Constitution (article one, section one) was to say that ALL laws come from Congress.

I never once put a mask on, never got jabbed and never got sick.

Masks are regulated by the FDA as medical devices. When I was pressured by some Karen to put a mask on I called the police and reported someone practicing medicine without a license.

The "science" cited in the viral Masks4All video was a single anthropology article from 2013, which concluded: ""Our findings suggest that a homemade mask should only be considered as a last resort to prevent droplet transmission from infected individuals, but it would be better than no protection.".

This was the "evidence". It was clear that any human actually reading it would come away dubious about the efficacy of masking. So we became aware of the AI connection early on.

The bizarre global campaign to muzzle the world is an infrequently discussed aspect of the global psy-op, thank you for this report.

Masks, from the beginning, have not only been a manipulation tool, but a money maker for many, especially those who were tied to those pushing the propaganda. Here is the WHO's official guidance for masks 5 June 2020 :

potential social and economic benefits. Amidst the global shortage of surgical masks and PPE, encouraging the public to create their own fabric masks may promote individual enterprise and community integration. Moreover, the production of non-medical masks may offer a source of income for those able to manufacture masks within their communities. Fabric masks can also be a form of cultural expression, encouraging public acceptance of protection measures in general. The safe re-use of fabric masks will also reduce costs and waste and contribute to sustainability. " empowerment, and virtue. The human face distinguishes us as individuals, along with our DNA, fingerprints, personality, iris, and voice. Face masks destroy a major factor distinguishing Homo sapiens from other animals, the trait of individuality. We are transformed into unthinking clones, the ultimate goal.

In "The great global cover-up" The Guardian Weekly 8May2020 outlines how masks are money makers. One quote: "Among those turning to mask sales are drug dealers hoping to diversify their portfolios.

Seems like the running gag on SNL where the character Emily Litella ends all her tirades with the catchphrase "never mind". However, her ramblings were simple misunderstandings of what she heard or read--none to my memory would have caused economic or physical damage to a populace. I'm sure there are many still in "authority" that would like the people they afflicted with their arrogant ignorance to let bygones be bygones. This can not be allowed. The only way for the medical authorities to regain the confidence of the people is to perform a thorough house cleaning of these mediocrities through revelation of their actions during the pandemic--somewhat along the lines of South Africa's truth and reconciliation process performed after apartheid was revoked.

Another point of view beyond the obvious issue of .1 micron viruses or whatever it is being contained by a N95 mask with .3 holes. You don't need to be a Doc to know masks don't work 99% of the time except in surgical environments where you don't want someone drooling into your open wound. I'm a safety engineer familiar with OSHA's respiratory protection program. Many mask mandating (woke) companies are in violation of 1910.134 whereby it states that if mask use results in less than 19.5% O2 in breathing zone it is a violation. Tests show that O2 levels inside masks REQUIRED by employers is a violation subject to fines and for repeated violations these are willful and can exceed 200k per violation. From OSHA: Oxygen deficient atmosphere means an atmosphere with an oxygen content below 19.5% by volume. If you get less than 19.5 OSHA considers this to be an IDLH (Immediately Dangerous to Life and Health) exposure.

It is uplifting to read this. But it is also frustrating to realize that many of us who have not fallen for the propaganda and the lies think that revelation of truth will bring about a change to the approved narrative. There is no reason to think it. All the institutions are corrupt and no evidence of the machinations and corruption they have practised has resulted in admissions of unprofessionalism, corruption, fault, guilt. The narrative they have created has not changed. No accountability, no responsibility has been taken. This is very upsetting because the WHO is planning a top-down global pandemic response (declared by the WHO for no good reason, if they so decide) for the next time (and we are told by Gates among others that the next time is very near), when we will be forced to accept all their pandemic measures. If I heard correctly, WHO declarations have removed a paragraph affirming our basic human rights.

There is nothing new under the sun. These same things happened in Philadelphia in the summer of 1793. And the famous or maybe it would be more accurate to say Infamous Dr. Benjamin Rush was responsible for advocating bleeding as the cure for this disease, which we much later came to know was Yellow Fever. 10% of Philadelphia's population died probably helped by this so called treatment. What actually probably saved the city was the average folks trying to keep the mosquito population down by pouring oil on their standing water barrels. Little did they know.

So here we are centuries later and same old, same old, the so called experts telling us and selling us remedies that are unproven and yet touted to be the answer we all seek.

The other thing that is that same as 1793, politicians were involved then and they are involved now.

Medicine and politics are a very bad combination and should be taken in very small doses if we are to save ourselves from power mad ignorant people who look to make a name for themselves rather than any good for others.

My feelings about these so called experts is pure disgust but you can hardly blame them when the siren call of fame and celebrity not to mention the big bucks of speaking engagements and book deals lures them into this cesspool.

Once again a call for common sense. Let's think about the good Dr Rush, bleeding makes you weak, how can your body fight a diseases when it is weak? Today, put a mask over your face, trap bacteria, fluids, cut your own air supply which helps cleanse your lungs, essentially walk around with a petrie dish over your face and somehow convince yourself that this is a good thing.

... examine everything you have been told... and reject what endangers your soul. And that is how I felt from the beginning. I quit a caregiving job in January 2020 because I was told I would have to wear a mask until April if I would not get a flu jab, and this even before the mandates for all. As a Tai Chi student and instructor for many years I knew the value of deep breathing without impairment.

I guess for some people, it will NEVER be 'over'.

back in '21, when restaurants opened up, I deliberately walked past the temperature check person at the door. he followed me into the bar area seating, pointing the 'gun' at my head. I asked him if he had ever actually 'caught' anyone with a fever trying to come in. 'cuz ya know, so many people feeling like going out to eat when they are sick.' all I got in reply was a sheepish grin. (morons!)

Copying China brought us lockdowns, masks, iatrogenic deaths, violation of basic rights. Fantastic. Normally the Chinese are the ones copying, or to be more specific stealing, information and technology from the western world for their consumption. We don't have anything to copy from China. But unfortunately our bureaucracy are populated by people who hate our societies because they are (were) free, so they ignore history, they ignore common sense and science to implement their communist agenda. Another well researched piece on 'masks' but let us not forget a couple of things. When this voodoo nonsense started (here in the UK at least) the 'guidance' was to wear a 'face covering' so what we saw was people wearing all kinds of snotty rags over their noses. Obviously not a whiff of science there. Secondly, even before the mask mandates were introduced, I came across a website 'masks4all.org'. Take a look at the assorted misfits and psychopaths that make up that group, a variety of 'activists' that clearly get off on telling everyone how they should live their lives by bending and twisting their warped version of the 'truth' completely out of shape. Next stop 'climate catastrophe' ...we need to halt them in their tracks right now.

Irrelevant. The burden of proof in scientific methodology is on the one claiming a procedure works, the ones demanding face covering should provide evidence of how it could even work in the first place. There simply no justification.

didn't matter how much 'science' I presented to my uber-crunchy, un-jabbed bff (of 45 yrs!), she still found reasons to INSIST that masking made sense. 'its like wearing a seatbelt'. uh, not. seatbelts have no downside. surgeons wear them, she says. in a sterile environment where viral protection is NOT the goal, I say. serious bicyclists whizzing by at 30 mph, hampering their breathing? sure why not? people alone in their cars... well maybe there was somebody in the backseat you couldn't see.

I sent her science on why it was BS, she sent me videos of somebody spraying an aerosol can of something, stopped by a paper mask. at one point, she was actually putting her groceries in a closet with a UV lamp overnight! if she went anywhere, her husband made her text him as she moved thru their house so that they wouldn't

I despise all safetyism, not just for contrarian or anti-woke reasons, but because vanity safety actually induces behavioural changes that make people LESS safe.

-Seatbelts. I don't usually wear them, but if I plan on hopping onto the highway and driving 40 km/h over the speed limit, I buckle up.

-Bicycle helmets: ample studies have shown that helmet users have more accidents, because they have a false sense of safety. They'd rather the fake head protection (because those stupid helmets don't actually prevent concussions, they only prevent bruises/cuts/scrapes) while increasing their accident risk, which is way more likely to HURT them!

-face veils (please, they aren't "masks") make people bump into others, and talk right into people's faces, I swear doning that idiotic thing makes people into morons, more invasion of privacy bubble than in 2019... on top of not being able to hear them, so they move in closer).

I can't describe the intensity with which I hate all safetyism and lies.

Now, this is like going back in time, when investigative journalism was the glorious norm. This is an epic article, should be required reading for us all, and I hope it takes a place in history as a remarkably incisive revelation of the cascading repercussions from flawed guidance, in this case RE Covid but instructive about every field of human misadventure. This comment about Zeynep says so much: "Zeynep's indifference to harms..." Why didn't/doesn't she/we care about harms? Because we're disconnected from the fundamental guidance operative everywhere in the cosmos except in self-active human minds, silo'd as they've become in their steel traps. I've heard that planes are off course about 80% of the time but reach their destinations through constant course correction. What we read here details the horrible results of no course correction, except for heartless leveraging for personal benefit and profit and face saving and career advancement. "... indifference to harms..." could be a candidate for humanity's tombstone inscription if we fail to course correct away from the precipice that looms ahead in our near future. My go-to strategy? Be in nature as much as possible and express gratitude for this gift of life. In this case, specifically, thank you Michael Senger for writing this and thank you Naomi for posting it. Hi Michael,

Great article!

I've been wondering if someone would do a deep dive and rebuttal of the NYT piece by Tufekki, it was clearly a disinformation piece, which IMO is aimed at continued to get every to argue about masks. And that is a distraction.

Tufekki, and every other promoter of masks are I believe trying to distract us from the real truth about masks that nobody has written much about - and that is this:

Transmission is a red herring and always has been.

And it created the additional fake narrative "to slow the spread."

An Australian virologist, (whose name escapes me in this moment but he produced a vaccine for Covid and struggled to get funding or approval as it was not mRNA), he pointed out a simple truth that rebuts the transmission argument. He compared a face-mask to a ship's hull - if the hull of a boat is not watertight and water seeps in then the ship sinks.

And it's the same with a facemask - all masks let viruses in, they only stop some of the particles.

If the virus gets through, and let's say a mask stops 40% (which is about the best number I think anyone came up with-the Bangladesh study said 11%, meaning 89% gets in) then 60% of the virus gets in.

If the virus gets in you can get infected, get sick, be hospitalized and die.

Transmission is not the key issue - it is a red herring which is used to back up the 'slow the

A Letter to a Generation - DO YOU REMEMBER MARIO SAVIO?

THE CURRENT HORRORS will not be stopped by politicians and/or lawyers. Those efforts were tried unsuccessfully during the Vietnam era, which you may be too young to remember. They will never work today despite thoughtful analytical essays, websites, petitions, conferences, etc.

Here is a little history from a guy turning ninety this year. Roughly twenty years prior to the Vietnam War there was a murderous dress-rehearsal in Korea. Civilized efforts to stop the terrible bloodshed being done in Vietnam failed repeatedly. Jim Rhodes, Ohio's State Auditor, for whom I saved a Sunday "New York Times" newspaper (when I worked on weekends at Cole's Pharmacy in north Columbus, Ohio) after moving up from State Auditor to become Ohio's governor, called out the Ohio National Guard that shot and killed four students, wounding eight or nine others, at Kent State University where there was a small anti-Vietnam-war demonstration. Believe it or not, the public was overwhelmingly critical of the students, not of the National Guard or of the Ohio governor. The famous Peace Symbol was viewed as despicable and the war escalated. A remarkable young President who opposed Vietnam war planning was killed. Given that atmosphere, how could our government's murderous military activity in Vietnam be brought to an end?

Here is how a free people who became fed up with their own government did it. Colleague students held military draft cards. When any war protest arose they were happy to support it. Many fled to Canada to avoid being drafted and sent to the jungles of Vietnam. The antiwar protest was a campus centered thing. Starting at the University of Wisconsin, it spread to the large land-grant state colleges, and then to Berkeley in CA, Columbia in NYC, and elsewhere. Christian clerics became outspoken protesters and tossed animal blood around a draft board office. War protesters chained themselves to columns of government buildings in Washington D.C. Protests, riots and violence (against property, not humans) erupted throughout the country. That is what was required to finally stop the war, active mass protests. I left my job, taking earned vacation time in NYC to return to my college (Ohio State University, in Columbus, Ohio). Growing a ponytail, I joined the long-haired kids. Many respectable Americans were horrified and unsupportive.

Here is how a younger generation changed America's international policy and stopped that war. Every year a bill came up in Congress to fund the war. It was euphemistically titled something like funding for aid to South Vietnam. Guess what! When President Ford sent it to Congress for signing, he was shocked and amazed when the politicians (although compromised as ever) declined to sign it. There was no more money to continue the war. Simple as that. You might wonder, why did the lobbied guys in Congress not sign the bill, as usual? They were terrified to return to their districts if they signed it. Their hometowns were partially ablaze. We did that. The NY Review of Books had great anti-war articles by Noam Chomsky, Howard Zinn, and others. They were read by a small intellectual minority. Mass protests that required resistance stopped the bloodshed, not philosophy, peace marches, essays, car signs, tatoos and T-shirts.

Without increasingly violent defensive mass protests who knows how much further and longer the Pentagon's war-mongers, the CIA, and the U.S. Congress would have gone, even after more than fifty thousand young Americans had been killed and tens of thousands injured and crippled? The Pentagon's top military career men, and many American corporations holding government contracts, were getting richer and richer. It has been disclosed that U.S. corporations, supported by their bankers, made and financed equipment for the enemy that killed U.S. troops, just as they had done during both of their two previous World Wars. (If you require confirmation, read the research of Antony Sutton (at bigeye.org/antonysutton.htm). Professor Sutton was attacked by the IRS, which is in the picture today, as usual.

Petitions, a vote, lawsuits, etc., are interesting. Drafting, presenting, defending, and implementing litigation is like watching paint dry. More talk just encourages the usual suspects, letting them sense that all is well for themselves as long as they continue to hoodwink Americans with propaganda (news broadcasts) on their television networks. We need to do the job through online recruitment and active protests regardless of what others think or say. There are enough persons using the internet today that when this program becomes unacceptable to the dreadful few, we will have provided the seeds for massive organized resistance. Perhaps violence (against property only) will be unnecessary. They are few! We are many and we are armed to the teeth for defensive purposes, unlike unfortunate disarmed nationals (such as in Canada, Australia, etc.). Americans are able to protect their Liberty thanks to the predictive ability, historical insight, and foresight of the writers of our great U.S. Constitution, particularly its Second Amendment (which was designed specifically for a time like this).

Young Americans came together, Whites, Blacks, Jews, Gentiles, Hispanics, Asians, etc., those who valued laws encoded in our U.S. Constitution's Bill of Rights. They confirmed the fundamental rights given to us, not from any government, but that come from God, "to institute new Government, laying its foundations on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. . ." We Americans are blessed, protected by a legal right to assemble, albeit in justifiable anger, for Liberty, Peace, and basic survival (including personal health decisions). Remember the Vietnam era. Look up the speech by Mario Savio in California. It is applicable today.

These are again "the times that try men's souls". We, Americans of all ages and of various and differing political/social viewpoints, must respond in numbers, defending ourselves when necessary to save our own lives as well as the lives of our companions, our children, their children, and of future generations, not only on this continent but throughout the world.

Note: Just so you don't have to look them up, here are Mario Savio's closing words:

"There is a time when the operation of the machine becomes so odious, makes you so sick at heart, that you can't take part; you can't even passively take part, and you've got to put your bodies upon the gears and upon the wheels, upon the levers, upon all the apparatus, and you've got to make it stop. And you've got to indicate to the people who run it, to the people who own it, that unless you're free, the machine will be prevented from working at all!"

Another point I feel hasn't been brought out is the role of the psychopathic nature in our doom loop

Psycho/sociopathy is a spectrum of severity; from the chap who wants to plant an axe in to your skull to the more common person who is quite at ease if you lose the use of your arm but they make a $1,000

The 'wet' (woke) nature of society provides an ideal climate for the psychopathic nature to thrive - without qualm taking advantage of weakness

In the 'olden days' the psychopaths would be removed by the now emasculated strong yet benevolent

How else do we explain a Society where we are willing to give ineffective experimental drugs to children and pregnant women, on the face of it to save them from a disease they don't suffer harms from?

Other than to enrich myself a few million dollars

The psychopathic nature operates at three levels:

Individual

Corporate

Nation (eg US State)

To all these morons who used the droplet theory to push the " mask works " concept, I am amazed that the " experts " that agree with this idea forgot that, hey, droplets are not steel / iron mini balls that drop to the ground as soon as it leaves the mouth / nose. Droplets are so light and small that they will float in the air and get blown by the slightest air movement for perhaps several miles at least. Maybe more. For quite sometime.

So 2 obvious reasons why mask don't work against viruses : One, these viruses have extremely small particle sizes. Try stopping mosquitoes with a window blocked with several metal bars. Go figure.

Two : How many people go to sleep with their mask on ? And if droplets float in the air in huge quantities as more and more people got infected and thus emit so many of these droplets everywhere, simple common sense will tell us that there is no escape from these droplets.

Unless one vacuum ones home air space and totally no outside air enters. Maybe bill gates's and schwab's home have such a system ? I doubt it.

And george gao is looking like he is the Huang Gai in the Romance of the 3 Kingdoms saga, the old general who pretend to defect and give snake oil advice to the invader to ruin their invation plans. Maybe under orders of xi.

Imagine so many of the world's population have been on masks for like 3 years, and still so many got infected, including myself. biden, fauci, etc all got it too. So much for masks work to block these things. So anyone with any brain cell left should start to realise these masks are totally useless. Worse it reduces O2 intake and increase CO2 intake, not good for health if done too frequently, for too long.

Last, do try to recall, how often does xi and his top henchmen wear masks ? Only for a while at the beginning to put on a show. After that, no more.

And klaus schwab himself, how often do you see him wearing these " mouth underwear " that I now call them ?

I agree with the concept that masking is ridiculous and why is there so little said about the fact that if it was so effective, why so many infections??? The absurdity continues with respect to these two people and how they influenced/shaped policy at so many different levels is even more disturbing. How did supposedly reputable news agencies (IMO not so reputable and especially so after the last 3 years) even publish their bogus so called scientific information? What they have done to denigrate legitimate scientists and others who know how to review real data is appalling. The CDC 2007 report about flattening the curve never recommended lockdowns or masking:

"The effectiveness of individual infection control measures (e.g., cough etiquette, hand hygiene) and the role of surgical masks or respirators in preventing the transmission of influenza are currently unknown."

It was the freemason Economist in early 2020 which pushed masking and lockdowns:

3. Create psychological distancing
4. Dehumanization
5. Destroying individuality (our face makes us unique)
6. Massification (mass formation)
7. Reduce social interaction and communication
8. Induce social pressure towards the rebels and show massive compliance
9. Reinforce political and police authority
10. Increase acceptance of an unquestionable police state

Cloth civilian masks:

1. Increase contagion by keeping the virus active for a longer time due to moisture
2. Increase re-inoculation when infected by virus, bacteria or fungi
3. Reduce oxygen intake
4. Increase carbon dioxide intake
5. Increase bacterial and fungal colonies

What an informative article!

The CCP successfully influenced western scientists who stopped asking questions bc fear.

If masks worked then BSL-3 labs would use a cloth mask or n95 when working w/coronaviruses! I realized masks were a failure when I saw my breath escape & fog my glasses when wearing a mask. I also touched my face more when wearing a mask. I knew I wasn't putting on a mask like a surgeon. Millions of people probably got covid bc they touched their face more masked.

The worst scientists were amplified by project covid fearmongerers that mortality rate Michael cites was only through April 2020 and most patients being tracked were still in the hospital either alive and being taken care of or still ventilated. Yes, the mortality rate for ventilated patients was far far too high but it wasn't 97% overall. It's important to look at the broader picture of data for ventilated patients and their outcomes, not this single study that only looked at a snapshot in time.

I mostly noted the 26x times more fatality than the not-ventilated over 65 group. But indeed, the reason the resistance failed so miserably, is too much of the resistance focused on exemptions (religious, mental health, immunocrompromised, etc) instead of focusing on the big picture.

ALL lockdowns and mandates are WRONG.

Even if the virus lethality was 90%, lockdowns and mandates would still have been wrong!

This was the death knell of the resistance, exceptions and exemptions.

I have no issue with "choice" for non visible actions. But with visible actions, like covering your face, it serves as a tool of propaganda, and I'm against that. Fear is contagious. You allow face covering for fear, and it WILL spread.

The ONLY people who should be allowed to hide their face in public should have a medical note required professionally fitted N95. None of this silly homemade bs and surgical masks.

Fear is not a choice, it's a hallucination, and should not be encourage. The messaging around hiding your face should be DON'T (unless you have an extreme circumstance... that didn't just conveniently happen in 2020). These "maskers" were not hiding their face previous to 2020. It makes no sense.

Everything that has transpired in relation to the Covid scamdemic makes me both outraged and deeply saddened. It also makes me wonder how we arrived at this place in history. I've concluded it's what happens when we elevate science and experts to god like status and neglect the truth about human nature; we are all sinners in rebellion against Holy God. As we trust and believe mere humans our lives are devastated by deceit, destruction and death. That is what happens when we elevate progress to miraculous standing and worship the purveyors of "miraculous" progress. Idolatry always ends in corruption and destruction. Time to repent of our sin, turn to our Creator, and cry out to Him for forgiveness and receive that forgiveness from His Son Jesus Christ.

This is a great read! but completely fails to address why two social media influencers had so much sway on public policy

I also ended several friendships based on their sudden OCD Mask-Production-Operation.

It also fails to address the FALSE FEAR that made all of this possible.

1- Whether lab-leak or zoonotic makes no damned difference (legally yes, but not epidemiologically). Every year 0.8% of humans die, SCV2 only killed less than 0.04% annually, and we knew this low fatality in March 2020 from Diamond Princess and Italy data.

2- "Flatten the curve" is a lie. It's a squishing of the illness, less intense but last longer. This is because all the graphs presenting the preposterous flatten the curve showed taking advantage of spare hospital capacity. But that's a lie, all hospitals operate at maximum capacity all the time, it's the way to profits, and the reason why every winter hospitals everywhere see overflow from flu.

3- All respiratory illnesses are transmitted by air AND by droplets, the entire debate was moot.

4- All respiratory illnesses have some transmission before noticeable symptoms, this is normal

5- Lockdowns and mandates are ALWAYS wrong, no matter how lethal a virus is

6- Masking fashions in Asia, mostly used for bad air quality, do NOT lower flu rates in those countries

So tho this was delectable, because it's fun to find people to blame.

The real blame lies with all the fools who went along with all this nonsense whether only for the first month or months or year or until the I IF of "I changed my mind because the

Not until we train them in schools not run by the government.

The point of schools used to be to teach people how to think, not what to think. That would signal the death of most submission to government control, so obviously that's not what you're going to get in a government school.

I wish I had started my Substack earlier... Even when I did last May, I started it as a farce (as my name indicates), but it turned out soon that there was a dire need for people who are willing to face retribution for speaking their minds (I do not parade

I think for people used to being amiable, and "well liked" and viewed as empathetic and compassionate, they are unable to stand by themselves, they are bound by group think, so it ain't easy for them to behave differently.

Every generation of school children is incessantly subjected to a coordinated social message specific to their times. Black lives matter, stranger danger, DARE to stay off drugs, just say no to sex, stay in school, etc. etc.

I grew up in the age of "juvenile delinquency." Our zeitgeist propaganda was "resist peer pressure, think independently." And at that time, schools were still actually teaching students how to think, not what to think.

I consider that confluence of circumstances extremely fortunate in my life, and wish I could bring it back for the benefit of children today.

My K-12 was 1970-1983. I was an atheist in a Roman Catholic school system. In elementary school, we had Catechism, and in high school we had Catechism AND theology! For years we asked the school system from the indoctrination, and they refused, until I was in grade 11. Hell on Earth. At least in 1969 the Pope declared that all science was included in faith and science did not contradict Catholicism in any way. So at least the actual teachings were valid. But those extra classes, arg!

Those in power ALWAYS seek to indoctrinate.

It's the Homo sapiens way. We are apes, expert mimickers, and parents invest near two decades into indoctrinating offspring, more than any other species.

to create a policy, you must OVERWHELMINGLY surpass the confidence bar.

The reason face covering will never work is the context of LIFE.

Respirator use has very limited effectiveness in a hospital contagious ROOM bc the wearer is entering a limited space, for a limited time, and the respirator is bruisingly sealed to the face, and is trashed and not touched after single use.

None of these standards apply to the nonsense of "community masking".

Dear Dr. Wolf,

Thank you for the acumen and persistence to puncture the fraud of the Administrative Deep State.

The basic lie here is that Wuhan somehow conquered the virus with a lockdown. I was reading the Epoch Times avidly during the first months of the Pandemic. The CCP "admitted" to 3000 deaths and then when pressed upped it to 4000. In reality 2 million cell phone accounts from Wuhan disappeared. There is record of 700,000 body bags being shipped to Wuhan. All citizens were locked in their apartment buildings with the doors and windows epoxied. Anyone caught roaming about was captured, put in a body bag and cremated. Crematoriums were running 24/7 for 2 months. 2 million deaths. 5 million were sent Internationally to infect the rest of the world. "The China Model".

The entire healthcare community is still masked to the hilt. Still testing routinely also, desperately trying to find an excuse to continue masking. For the first two years of this I was nursing in a community setting. I adamantly refused to wear a mask and neither I nor my patients got sick the entire time. While there is some logic in the idea that respiratory viruses may be transmitted through the air, and via droplets, I think there's better evidence that it's not the ONLY mode of transmission, and that fresh air and sunlight are the cure for all respiratory ailments.

Florence Nightingale must be rolling in her grave over this. She's often cited as the first nurse to conduct scientific research, the first woman to document infection control measures, and has historically been considered the mother of nursing in Western culture. Nightingale theory is the basis for many a nursing program, here in the U.S. and elsewhere in Western culture. So we've tossed aside two centuries of evidence and practice, for what this turkey from Turkey has deemed superior - Communist Chinese forced masking.

The others who are to blame are well known writers such as Naomi Klein, who wrote Shock Doctrine. It was an excellent book, she should have understood what was happening with this virus, but nope, she not only fell for it, but belied her own book and fantasized that "the people" could "use Shock Doctrine" to do their own thing. What a joke.

Another notable author who should have known better is Jared Diamond, author of Germs, Guns, & Steel. He understands the place of viruses in society and social narrative, he understands differential immunity between different geographical and ethnic populations. He too erased all he knew and fell into hysteria.

I am so depressed about humanity.

But I am also discontent, that people who "went along for the first month or 2 or 3, 6, 12) changed their minds WITHOUT mea culpa for their initial delusions. Too many influencers and journalists hopping on the gravy train without self-criticism.
