

Shocking Case of Academic Censorship

Analysis by Dr. Joseph Mercola

✓ Fact Checked

STORY AT-A-GLANCE

- › Propaganda is an organized attempt to get large numbers of people to think or do something – or not think or do something. It’s not like classical rhetoric, which is about persuasion through argument, but rather a means of sub-rational manipulation
- › For the past two decades, professor Mark Crispin Miller has taught a course on propaganda at New York University, in the Steinhardt School of Culture, Education and Human Development
- › In September 2020 after urging his students to look into the scientific rationale for the mask mandates, to assess the truthfulness of the propaganda drive promoting them, he was subject to an administrative “review” for that and other alleged crimes
- › Miller is suing 19 of his department colleagues for libel after they signed a letter to the school dean demanding that “review” of Miller’s conduct, falsely accusing him of “explicit” hate speech, mounting “attacks on students” “advocating for an unsafe learning environment” and discouraging his class from wearing masks
- › Miller’s case shows that the infringement of academic freedom is inimical to independent thinking and free inquiry. Without such freedom, higher education is more than likely to teach students only to believe what they are told by state and corporate powers, which means not educating them at all – a failure damaging to them and catastrophic for democracy

In this interview, professor Mark Crispin Miller, Ph.D., provides us with a startling example of a crackdown on academic freedom, with dire implications for free speech in America today. Ironically, it was his teaching students how to question propaganda, and to resist it, that brought on the curtailment of his academic freedom, after over 20 years of teaching that important subject at New York University.

His experience at NYU in the fall of 2020 culminated in his suing 19 of his department colleagues for libel – a case that has become a major flashpoint in the larger struggle to defend free speech and academic freedom, not just in the United States, but throughout the West today. Miller explained how he had come to teach the study of the media, and propaganda in particular:

“I had learned, as an English major, how to read literary texts closely and carefully to discover their hidden depths ... and I discovered to my delight that you could do that with great movies as well. The more closely you watch them, and the more times you watch them, the more you see in them.

I then began to notice that TV commercials were also extremely subtle. As propaganda messages, they were really very carefully done so that they would appeal to you on both a conscious and an unconscious level. So, I started writing about those, and then about political rhetoric.

I started writing more and more about the media, and I was favoring magazines for [a] public readership ... I wanted to reach more than just an academic audience from the beginning. And I quickly felt the urgency of alerting people to what the media was doing ...

By the '90s, it had become a crisis, as a handful of transnational corporations were controlling most of the content that everybody was absorbing, news and entertainment alike, and it was getting worse and worse. So, I started to become an activist for media reform. I wrote a great deal on this and lectured about it very widely.

This is through the '90s – and you can see how successful I was. The Telecom[munications] bill of 1996, signed by Bill Clinton, set the seal on the creation of a media monolith, The Media Trust, which had already started in earnest under Reagan. Now, it was really getting serious.

Fast forward to 2001 ... I shifted my interest from media concentration to the urgent need for voting reform, because it was becoming ever clearer that the outcome of our elections does not necessarily reflect the will of the electorate ... As you can see, my interests were becoming more and more taboo.”

The Rise of State-Corrupted Corporate Media

Signs of trouble emerged in 2005, when Miller published the book “Fooled Again: The Real Case for Electoral Reform.” Miller and his publisher had hoped the book would open the door to nationwide discussion of the need for radical reform of the election system, but to their surprise, the book was instantly “blacklisted” by the corporate media. No one would review it.

“I even hired my own publicist,” Miller says. “This is the woman who is the publicist for Paul Krugman and Bob Herbert. She came in full of piss and vinegar, [saying] ‘We’re going to really make this [book] famous.’ And she’d never encountered such resistance. She couldn’t get anywhere.”

Oddly, it was the LEFT press – for which he had often written – that now labeled

Miller a “conspiracy theorist” – a stigma that’s stuck with him ever since. The slander drove him to investigate more deeply. “I asked myself, when did this become a thing?” he says. “When did ‘conspiracy theory’ come to spring from everybody's lips?”

Miller went to the archives of The New York Times, The Washington Post and Time magazine, searching for the terms “conspiracy theory” and “conspiracy theorist.” Up until 1967, “conspiracy theory” was used only from time to time in various ways, while the term “conspiracy theorist” was never used.

From 1967 onward, however, “conspiracy theory” was used with increasing frequency. Why? Because, in early 1967, the CIA sent a memo – No. 1035-96 – to all its station chiefs worldwide, instructing them to use their media assets to attack the works of Mark Lane, Edward Jay Epstein and other investigators who were questioning the Warren Report for its ludicrous assertion that “lone gunman” Lee Harvey Oswald was solely responsible for the assassination of President Kennedy.

The memo advised the use of certain lines of attack – what we today call “talking points” – to help discredit those dissenting voices. One was that “If there was a conspiracy that big, somebody would have talked by now” – a dismissive claim that’s still in use today, especially concerning 9/11. Another tactic the agency advised was to associate the “conspiracy theories” with communist subversion, thereby casting wholly reasonable inquiry as a threat to the “free world.”

“This raises a profoundly important issue about democracy in general,” Miller says, “as to whether it’s possible when you have the media, the press, covertly manipulated by the state. And, it is part of this hidden history of America that ... we all need to understand if we want to get a clear sense of what’s happening now.”

As Miller started advocating for media reform, he was hired by the late Neil Postman to teach at the NYU.

“He hired me in part because he wanted another public intellectual on the faculty ... who was critical of the media. He shared my view that the whole purpose of media study should be to help inform people generally about the urgent need for a properly functioning democratic media system,” Miller says.

“I used to feel that media literacy should be taught in every high school and college. I still believe that, but I now realize that a key component of that curriculum has to be propaganda study. It’s crucial.”

Over the years, NYU’s media studies department ballooned and shifted direction, becoming more diffuse, more theoretically inclined and more fixated on the pieties of “social justice” – a phrase that Miller points out has been appropriated to mean something other than what it used to mean. Indeed, the “social justice” issue has a great deal to do with the censorship – the “canceling” – of professor Miller.

COVID Propaganda

While it acquaints his students with the history of modern propaganda – its birth in World War I, its use by the Bolsheviks and by the Nazis – Miller’s course on propaganda is primarily concerned with teaching students to perceive and analyze propaganda in real time, or to look back at very recent propaganda drives.

This is not an easy thing to do, he warns his students, since, while it’s easy to spot propaganda that you disagree with, it can be very difficult to recognize it as propaganda when it tells you something that you want to hear, and want to think is true.

“That's the most effective propaganda,” Miller says. “It works best when you don't see it for what it is. You think it's news. You think it's entertainment. You think it's information. You think it's expertise. So, you will agree with it. Someone else out there is spewing disinformation, but you're getting the real thing.

So, it's hard to study propaganda, because you must make an effort to pull back and be as impartial as possible. Read comprehensively, do all the research you can [on] all sides of that issue. See what the propaganda has blacked out. See what the propaganda has stigmatized as fake, as hoax, as junk science, and look at it objectively.

What's hard is that you have to move out of your comfort zone. Sometimes you discover that a thing you'd fervently believed for years was false, or half true. I've had this experience myself many, many times.”

Miller made these points at the first “meeting” (via Zoom) of his propaganda course in September 2020, noting that such a thorough and impartial propaganda study can be difficult, not just because it makes you question your own views. Such a study can also pose a social challenge, as your discoveries may come as a shock to those around you – friends, roommates, family, even other of your teachers, who've never looked into the matter for themselves.

“ Propaganda is an organized attempt to get large numbers of people to think or do something – or not think or do something. It's not like classical rhetoric, which is about persuasion through argument. It's a kind of sub-rational manipulation. ~ Professor Mark

Crispin Miller”

What Is Propaganda?

“The COVID crisis has been driven by a number of propaganda themes,” Miller says. However, the word “propaganda” does not automatically mean that the information is false or malign. Propaganda can be true and used for benevolent ends. Public service ads encouraging you not to smoke, for example, are a form of propaganda.

The problem with propaganda is that it’s inherently biased and one-sided, which can become outright dangerous if the other side is censored. This is particularly so when it comes to medicine and health, and the censoring of COVID-19 treatment information and the potential hazards of the COVID vaccines is a perfect example of this.

“Propaganda is an organized attempt to get large numbers of people to think or do something – or not think or do something. That’s really all it is. That’s an informal definition but it’s a good one,” Miller says.

“It’s not like classical rhetoric, which is about persuasion through argument. [Propaganda] is a kind of sub-rational manipulation. It’s been with us for a long time, but the rise of the digital world, our absorption into the digital universe, has radically intensified this kind of effort and made it successful beyond the wildest dreams of [Nazi minister of propaganda] Dr. [Joseph] Goebbels or [profession public relations pioneer] Edward Bernays.

This incredible technological sophistication enables them, first of all, to move people at the deepest level. It also enables them to suppress dissidents with remarkable efficiency, spotting the word ‘vaccine’ in a post and then blocking it.

At the same time, it gives them an astonishing advantage when it comes to surveillance of every single one of us ... It is going to require a tremendous amount of skill and sophistication on our part, to organize under that watchful eye."

Academic Censorship

One topic Miller suggested studying in that first meeting of his propaganda course last fall, was the mask mandates. Miller made it clear that he was NOT telling the students not to wear masks, but that this would be a purely intellectual exercise.

Such study (which was not an assignment, but only a suggestion) would consist of reading through the scientific literature on masking: specifically, all the randomized, controlled studies of masking and the use of respirators in hospital settings – studies finding that those face coverings do NOT prevent transmission of respiratory viruses; and, as well, the several recent studies finding otherwise.

He also offered tips on how non-scientists can assess new scientific studies: by looking at reviews by other scientists, and by noting the university where a given study was conducted, and to see if it has any financial ties to Big Pharma and/or the Gates Foundation, as such a partnership may have influenced the researchers there.

The following week, a student who missed that introductory talk (she had joined the class late) was present when the subject of masks came up again, and she was so enraged by Miller's emphasis on the importance of those prior studies (whose consensus had been echoed by the CDC until early April 2020, and by the WHO until early June 2020), that she took to Twitter, accusing him of endangering the students' health, and of posting on his website (News from Underground) material "from far-right and conspiracy sites” – and demanding that NYU fire him.

“I was kind of floored by this,” Miller says. “This has never happened to me before. It was unpleasant, but it was her First Amendment right to express herself on Twitter, so that per se was not such a big deal. However, what happened immediately after that is not acceptable.”

The department chair, without consulting with Miller, responded to the student’s tweet with his thanks, adding: “We as a department have made this a priority, and discussing next steps.” The next day, Carlo Ciotoli, the doctor who advises the NYU on its stringent COVID rules, and Jack Knott, the dean of Steinhardt, emailed Miller’s students, without putting him on copy, hinting that he’d given them “dangerous misinformation.”

They also provided them with “authoritative public health guidance” – i.e., links to studies recommended by the CDC, finding that masks are effective against transmission of COVID-19. Thus, they told the students to believe those newer studies that Miller had already recommended, whereas he encouraged them to make up their own minds.

Shortly after that, the department chair asked Miller to cancel next semester’s propaganda course, “for the good of the department,” on the pretext that Miller’s film course would attract more students, so that he should teach TWO sections of that course. (Both courses admit 24 students.) Miller agreed, as the chair has that prerogative, but he did so under protest; and, he couldn’t let the matter go.

“I mean, I’m teaching a propaganda course, and look what happened,” Miller says. “So, with the help of some friends, including Mickey Huff, who runs Project Censored, I wrote a petition¹ that people can find at Change.org. The only ‘ask’ in that petition is that NYU respect my academic freedom and set a good example for other schools.

But I did it in the name of all those professors, doctors, scientists, activists, journalists and whistleblowers who have been gagged or persecuted for their dissidence, not just over this last year, when it's reached a kind of crisis point, but really for decades. It's been going on for far too long, initially on the fringes, but now it's happening all over the place."

'Slanderous Lunacy'

A month after the student attacked Miller on Twitter, he received an email from the dean, informing him that he was ordering a review of Miller's conduct at the request of 25 of his department colleagues, whose letter to him was attached.

"I thought I'd seen everything," Miller says. "[The letter] starts by saying, 'We believe in academic freedom.' The email from the dean and doctor also started saying 'We believe in academic freedom,' so I've learned that when somebody comes up and says, 'I believe in academic freedom,' you need to brace yourself because there's a big buck coming. And that's what happened with this letter from my colleagues.

'We believe in academic freedom, BUT, as the faculty handbook points out, if a colleague's behavior is sufficiently heinous, it can obviate his or her academic freedom. And we believe that's the case with Professor Miller,' it read.

Now, I think what the faculty handbook is referring to is if a professor tries to rape a student or uses lynch mob language against minority students or something like that. They put me in that category. Why? First of all, they said I discouraged students from wearing masks, and even intimidated those who were wearing masks, which is false to the point of insanity.

It was a Zoom class. I've never heard of a student wearing a mask on Zoom, although maybe that will be mandatory at some point. But my mask heresy was the least of it. They went on to charge me with 'explicit hate speech,' launching 'attacks on students and others in our community,' assailing my students with 'non-evidence-based' arguments or theories, 'advocating for an unsafe learning environment,' [and] 'micro-aggressions and aggressions.'

I read this with increasing wonderment. If they had decided to craft a description of a professor completely antithetical to the way I teach, they couldn't have done a better job. This was slanderous lunacy. They basically picked up where that student left off."

Libel Suit Underway

In a Zoom "meeting," Knott informed Miller that he had ordered the review at the behest of NYU's lawyers, who told him that he must — a revelation that Miller finds significant, there being, in fact, no legal grounds for that review.

Soon afterward, the Foundation for Individual Rights in Education (FIRE), a nonprofit dedicated to protecting academic freedom, sent Andrew Hamilton, NYU's president, a detailed letter going through the case law, demonstrating clearly that the dean's review is illegitimate, and that the president should intervene, and quash. He did not reply.

Knott told Miller that the "review" would end with the semester — i.e., by mid-December 2020. Yet, seven months after it was ordered, Miller still has not heard anything about that putative "review" — which may have been put on hold, or quietly called off, because of what Miller did about his colleagues' letter.

“After I talked to the dean, I went through the letter they wrote with a fine-tooth comb and crafted a cordial point-by-point rebuttal. I asked for a retraction and an apology, and they ignored it. A week later, I sent it again. I said, ‘Please, by November 20th I’d like you to retract this and apologize.’ Nothing.

So, I decided I had no choice. I certainly wasn’t going to let this go. It was outrageous, and represents, inside the academy, the kind of persecution and suppression that we see going on worldwide, throughout so-called democracies. So, I decided I had to sue them for libel.”

Support Free Speech Rights and Academic Freedom

At the time of this interview, Miller was waiting for the judge to rule on the defendants’ motion to dismiss the case. All of the documents relating to this case can be found on Miller’s website, MarkCrispinMiller.com.² If you want to make a donation to help fund Miller’s legal case, you can do so on his GoFundMe page.³

“I’m trying to raise $100,000,” he says, “because I expect this to be a protracted and costly fight with depositions. The money goes directly into an escrow account that my lawyer manages, so I’m not profiting off this personally. Nor am I only doing it on my own behalf, as with the petition.

They have hurt me greatly. Not only professionally, within the institution and beyond, because word of this has traveled, but also physically, because the stress of that ordeal has really slowed my recovery from Lyme disease, which I’ve been battling for 10 years.

I became so ill from this that I ended up in the ER at NYU, in January. So, I am on medical leave this semester. I’ve just been working on my health and telling my story, so that I can prevail in the court of public opinion. But it isn't just about me, my health, my career. It really is about all of us.

It's about you, it's about Bobby Kennedy, Sucharit Bhakdi and John Ioannidis. It's about the Frontline Doctors and the signers of the Great Barrington Declaration. It's about what appears to be a majority of expert opinion on some level, while the medical establishment, like the academy and the media, is utterly corrupt.

There are a lot of people of conscience, doctors who observe their Hippocratic oath, professors who believe in trying to teach the truth, journalists who have no place to publish because they're actually trying to report the other side of a narrative that is increasingly preposterous and lethal. It's for all of us because, as many have observed, once free speech goes, and with it, academic freedom, that's the whole ballgame. That's the end.

If we can't even talk about what's happening, if we end up being accused of conspiracy theory – which is now openly equated with domestic terrorism – if we're accused of hate speech (which is out of the social justice playbook), and if we're accused of dangerous misinformation about the virus, which has been happening all year, if we encounter any of those three responses to our attempts to tell the truth, then we are vilified and marginalized.

And my colleagues managed to hit me with all three in that letter. They accuse me of conspiracy theory, they accuse me of hate speech and they accuse me of doing the students harm by discouraging them from wearing masks.

All false. All I did was urge my class to read through all the literature on masks and make up their own minds as an example of the kind of thing they should do with all these narratives.”

Beyond infringing on freedom of speech, Miller’s case shows how censorship ultimately ends up chilling independent thinking and curbing your freedom of inquiry – the freedom to ask questions and ponder an issue or problem from multiple angles.

And, without the ability to think freely and express one’s thoughts, life itself becomes more or less meaningless as well as dangerous, while higher education becomes nothing more than training for compliance, as students are each trained to “do what you’re told,” as Dr. Anthony Fauci put it so gleefully November 12, 2020.

Big Lies Are Protected by Public Incredulity

To learn more about Miller’s case, visit markcrispinmiller.com. Miller also publishes a daily newsletter of banned news that you can sign up for. In closing, Miller notes:

“I believe that what’s happening now is the culmination of a quiet history of eugenics in the West that starts at the beginning of the 20th century – a movement that was forced underground by the Holocaust, because that was a big embarrassment, and [that] reemerged in the early '50s as a movement for population control.

People don't want to understand this. They want to see Bill Gates as a benign figure, as a kind of Father Teresa bringing happiness and health ... They don't want to know that his father was an intimate of the Rockefellers and sat on the Board of Planned Parenthood, not because he was a feminist, but because he really did believe ... that abortion is one tool for getting rid of the unfit.

There is a eugenic discourse now being floated on the op-ed page in The New York Times where Dr. Ezekiel Emanuel writes that we shouldn't expect to live past 75.

He treats it kind of half-jokingly, but if you then look at the toll that this crisis has taken on the elderly – in particular what's happened in the nursing homes in California, New York, Michigan, Washington and North Carolina, as well as in Canada, Britain and Sweden.

They housed COVID patients in nursing homes. This has the look of what Dr. Vernon Coleman has called eldercide, but nobody wants to think that's what's going on. Marshall McLuhan said, 'Little lies don't need to be protected. But the big lies are protected by public incredulity.' That is to say, 'Come on, you're crazy, they wouldn't do that.'

It's easier to call people 'conspiracy theorists' than it is to face the likelihood, or even the remote possibility, that what we're saying is true. There are many 'conspiracy theories' that over the decades have turned out to be completely true. So, we have to make sure people know it through every means available. And now it's quite urgent."

Well done to Dr. Miller for making the decision to sue for libel. Students today may lack critical thinking because teachers like him are being hampered with unnecessary controls that seriously impede the ability to present course content in the best possible way. My elevator adventures continue. Today I travelled downstairs with a young black man who told me he was "vaccinated" two weeks ago. Then I travelled upstairs with a young woman who has chosen not to be "vaccinated." I told her about Dr. Mercola's website. But when I got home I decided that I must do more because today our attention span has become limited due to the barrage of psych op material surrounding us and retention of information, unless you are brainwashed (!), is threatened.

So I've made up some business cards to keep in my pocket and share. I've used fairly simple wording, not to disturb any pro vax fanatics. It's as follows and if you have any suggestions, please let me know.

Dr. Joseph Mercola Osteopathic doctor - Mercola.com The "vaccine" is gene therapy and there is evidence from doctors proving this. Information on this website may be helpful.

I think it is great! I have been sharing information from Dr. Mercola's website to all I care about but it is very eye-opening to see who your real comrades are...so many have been badly influenced by the mass media propaganda, even the ones who you thought would be immune. Very scary and insane time right now. I feel as if I am living in an alternative reality and cling closely to the ones who are on the same page. I like your comments..keep them coming!

Retsbew 10/10 for trying to spread the word but I caution you to be careful, VERY CAREFUL. This is WW3 and I think it would serve us well to remember what happened during WW2. Quislings and informers everywhere. These people who have orchestrated this attempt to install the Fourth Reich are playing for keeps. They mean business! And they have the means, the money and the knowhow to make you disappear without a trace. Be careful. Don't give up your resistance but, I repeat, be careful.

You May consider including links to The High Wire with Del Bigtree or The Defender by Robert Kennedy Jr. I find a lot of info on the HighWire with weekly live videos that are very informative. Maybe this way the person getting the card has options

Translated from German Newspaper DWN. Nothing added... Hard to believe..

"Media suppress trend-setting meeting: Are Sino-US financial elites preparing digital central bank currency?"

Members of the International Finance Forum (IFF) met in Beijing, which the media completely ignored. Yao Qian said on Monday at the annual meeting of the International Finance Forum (IFF) in Beijing: "We can imagine that the digital currency of the central bank runs directly on blockchain networks such as Ethereum or Diem."

This is nothing more and nothing less than a solid sensation, because Diem is the successor to Libra, the private complementary currency introduced by Facebook in 2019. One of the most important blockchain experts in China has announced a possible partnership between the largest adversary of the United States, ruled by the Commun..st Party, and the groundbreaking project of one of the largest US digital and financial groups, in one of the most sensitive areas of society, the Monetary system! Is the aggressive US foreign policy towards China just a staging? You can hardly believe your ears. Hasn't the US imposed numerous sanctions on China in recent years? Have you not only recently tightened the course in the Middle East against Iran and thus also against its ally China? Fueled the fire with the claim that the Sars-Cov-2 virus came from a laboratory in Wuhan? And has the Chinese media for their part not vehemently denied the American allegations? So we are dealing with two adversaries who apparently never miss an opportunity to stir up their longstanding conflict and are even ready to threaten one another with war, but who are now planning to work together in the extremely delicate currency area of all things. How is that explained? Obviously, by a huge difference between what the world's politics are pretending to be and what is actually going on in the economic and financial realm. So let's take a closer look at what's going on behind the scenes here.

Marinkos, your translation from a German newspaper certainly has weight.

There's a website The X22 Report with Dave, a guy with such a laid back voice.

<https://x22report.com> I followed this fairly closely when I was interested in Trump. During the transition between Trump and Biden, the X22 Report shared secrets about the Central Bank and how it has always been corrupt. But President Trump was going to fix it. There would be a new currency and it would benefit all Americans. I found this highly suspect, but it was presented by good ole Dave as such a great thing for the American people. At the time, I'm thinking digital currency.....what the, you know what.

Dave keeps this website going for patriots. I find that he insinuates that Trump is somehow still in a position of power, which he definitely is not. But one of you patriots will know about this more than I do? Not that I couldn't be a patriot, to be honest.

What's bugging me a lot relates to Warp Speed - when Trump zoomed in the "vaccinations" - and I accepted the wool over the eyes trick, that this was just to placate those people who had strong beliefs in vaccine and I let it go. When Ivanka published her image having an injection of the "vaccination" - her father had already said he also had taken the "vaccination" - that was it for me.

You know stuff like gold taps on your bathtub I find irrelevant. But is Trump just part and parcel/controlled opposition - whatever the heck he is, I'm not liking it at all now. What can we do? Ask Dr. Mercola to run for the presidency? I'm not being serious, but if any of these leaders were half the ethical man Dr. Mercola is, we would all be in such a better position.

Just to comment on interview of Miller????????????? I am actually pro women (self determination, egalitarianism 50-50), and I don't want to control women bodies and minds in any way....I tried... I find American extrem "ME TO" movement, to much for humanity and tolerance. Action-reaction. I find racist problem in USA bigger killer. This unter is out of whack false brainstorming... One yoga lover, J. D. Rockefeller (NOT from 1913!!!) wrote book about MOTHER Teresa . Mark Crispin Miller PhD?:

"People don't want to understand this. They want to see Bill Gates as a benign figure, as a kind of Father Teresa bringing happiness and health ... They don't want to know that his father was an intimate of the Rockefellers and sat on the Board of Planned Parenthood, not because he was a feminist, but because he really did believe ... that abortion is one tool for getting rid of the unfit."

Retsbew, when I was looking up the attendees for the world economic forum, I was stunned to see that Trump was part of it. It could be misinformation, but you're right, between operation warp speed and then seeing he was involved with the world economic forum, I began to have a hard time understanding what the hell was going on.

It's very curious to me. Almost like the people who are awake would have already heard his initial message. The rest of it is for sleeping people? I don't know.

I was fascinated to learn that one of the worlds largest yachts is literally the dinghy for Bill Gates actual yacht. WHAT?

Not that he doesn't have a right to spend his money however he wants, but the person who was telling me about this is very pro vac's and had no idea that Gates was getting a divorce. How is that even possible? Because left wing media is not talking about Bill Gates getting a divorce? Wtf Retsbew, yes, promoting Dr. Mercola is a very positive way to get people to wake up. It may appear as just too much to read and take in for first time viewers but I encourage friends to get off the couch and get active in taking control of their health and now as important and maybe more important get off the couch and take control of their freedoms.

Please critically think. Anyone associated with pedo Jeffrey Epstein should be questionable, no matter how they deny their association.

How can you tell when a politician, red, blue or purple, is lying? When they move their lips.

Thanks for adding to the discussion Krofter. I read the article about Trump:

secularheretic.substack.com/p/is-trump-responsible-for-the-vaccine

Lawyer, Roy Cohn, couldn't have been a good influence on Trump in his 30's and that's always concerned me. But I'm not looking for the cognitive dissonance escape hatch either..... i.e., he's just stupid. Add an 'e' to Cohn and you have the other lawyer who's determined to take him down.

The article's accurate in many instances about Trumps behaviour at the time. Trump's made in America theme was effective and he appeared to be so protective of the USA. Our Canadian dollar suffered horribly the whole time. I do think he didn't have a fair election the second time, but where do we go from here? It's obvious Biden isn't making good decisions and is a puppet. If only there was a good candidate for president waiting in the wings ready to work on this horrifying situation with a positive outcome.

Retsbew - Not many good looking candidates out there and those that are would probably be churned up by the machine by the end of their first term. That's the real problem - until complete reform occurs I'm not holding my breath about anything having to do with politics. Having said that, right now I'd consider voting for governor DeSantis if he were to run. He's bucked many of the pandemic guidelines from the start. He's also prohibited the institution of vaccine passports in Florida and just recently accused the CDC of discrimination over vaccine requirements.

Hi Krofter, I can see why you'd vote for DeSantis. We have a lot of Canadian Snowbirds who go to Florida in winter time. When Queen Victoria made Ottawa the capital of Canada, she couldn't have considered the weather. It can go to 40 below in winter and right now it's 88F and feels like 100F, hi humidity here. Even August in Richmond, VA is easier to take than here!

Spent some time with some young people working in healthcare who are questioning the vaccine & resisting. When asked about it they raise HIPPA, and told me that furthermore 'they identify as vaccinated'....and dare any virtue signalers questioning them to question that....lol. Sometimes that atmosphere of lies backfires on those driving it.

Watsonandco, I agree this is World War 3. But unlike the Holocaust all the quislings and informants are also test subjects of Josef Mengele. We should exercise some caution, and the technocrats have a lot of money and fancy tools we do not. But the minions themselves will pose less of a threat in a year or three as they start to sicken and die. Too crippled to leave their homes or too dead.

Just fake analogies:

“Has the USA again chosen another Führer, without a mustache this time, as its puppet in Europe, to divert the attention of the people from what will really happen? Did Klaus and other EU politicians really sold Europe and destroyed its industry in the name of a green revolution, just for the gullible good-natured and war-weary? Did they give Brexit to the British, to swim easier from, if the EU Titanic sank abruptly? Then, there are only two superpowers left, to decide the fate of the digital world coin. How can we be sure, that continental Europe will not be thrown under the bus, if Brussels corrupt politicians decide to switch the Green Switch on? And how then, under such super secret alliances, Russia most likely have the right to fear, that it will be attacked by China and the USA at the same time? Silicon Valley Fakebook has 2.5 billion customers. China has 1.4 billion citizens and the future "Silk Road" transit through many countries will bring China another billion. 5 billions of the world's 8.3 citizens, can start getting propaganda from one direction ...”

Completely agree Tionico and my thought exactly. They are monitoring everywhere and has a wide “internal” reporting web to respond to dissidents clearly. Goebbels wet dreams coming true....My personal experience just now too. As a private practice doctor being hauled for disciplinary action in the U.K. for a Facebook post and someone “complaining”.

My story now, as a Doctor, with my own private practice in the U.K. where in January 2021, I posted an open letter and funded its boost, on my professional business site on FB, about the lying narrative from the UK government and for colleagues to look up the World Doctors Alliance and Frontline Doctors with the honourable Dr Simone Gold. One commenter was so derogatory, defamatory and ultimately threatened to report me to my professional body at which point I stopped communicating and banned the person (many other commenters mentioned “she” was a shill!). One month later I received a letter from my authorising body and I am now going through disciplinary process clearly risking to loose my license to practice and loose my (family) business of 16yrs. The complaint was so well documented and presented (27+ pages of screen shots and accusations so far out I had to laugh - at first) but now seeing how this is handled with The XX College that I seriously think these government bodies are planning/colluding/being instructed to make an example of me as a Dr. (BIG THANKS for the immense help I have received from THIS community - to contact The Free Speech Union and other recommendations that have made me feel much less alone as I have also no colleagues, I know of, who isn't buying the propaganda).

We need to STAND TALL & fight back or forever loose our freedom and be enslaved. “Rather DEAD than RED”, a saying used to go. Now it seems a ‘colour of convictions’ has no meaning what so ever. It's not about left or right, but top and bottom, as we are fighting amongst ourselves, doing the elite's dirty work. Smart but oh so Evil

I have never in my life seen or anticipated so much censorship. It seems so much news is blocked online. I usually find it anyway, but searching slows me down. I have become quite distrustful and cynical. The lazy, indolent, dependent lifestyle with social safety nets contributes to the acceptance of propaganda. Too many sofas, junk food and tv. Too few consequences for bad behaviors. Too little individual responsibility. Abraham Lincoln said, "Thinking is the hardest work there is. That is why so few engage in it." When people become divorced from nature, they become stupid. Simple things like knowing how to produce food, predict the weather, use a shovel. Nature and hard physical labor teach lessons that cannot be acquired any other way.

The first step is to get up off the sofa and get rid of the tv. Television does to the mind what too much sofa does to the body. The bastions of free thought are more likely to be found on the family farms and ranches of America. This is where nature still exists in duality. The survival of the family farm--and getting breakfast on the table--will often depend on knowing the difference between the hens and roosters. If no one gets up to milk cows in the morning, there will be no milk check deposited at the bank. Whether farming, fishing, logging or mining, an income largely depends on productivity (and observing the market). That is the way it has worked for a long time, anyway.

I find it disturbing that, with this administration, at a time when there are shortages, more farmers are being paid for not producing. A lot of honest non-PC talk between friends and neighbors goes on behind a locked gate--esp. when you own the land and means of production. More and more land owners are vertically integrating production within their own networks or selling direct to customers, eliminating payment to middlemen. Dependency is not a good life plan. Above all, protect the children and teach them well. They are the future

Great comment. Love the quote about thinking...that is so true and so many of us humans are NOT thinking...we are just following. It can be quite depressing! I am losing friends over this whole situation..especially regarding the experimental shots, because let's be honest, that 's what they are....one cannot truthfully call them anything else. And after being in contact with Dr. Stephanie Seneff and reading her new research, I am as concerned as she is about their dangers. God, help us all!

Since the beginning, I have had the feeling that something is seriously amiss. I work with children every week running my own projects, far away from the watchful and controlling eyes of most schools. I became self-employed when I found my methods were working far better than the ones most schools were sticking with. Laziness springs to mind as a reason for their resistance to change. Since the beginning, I have welcomed school children into my private home with open arms and hands, sharing food and conversation, feelings and concerns.. all in a friendly, open environment where their voices are both heard and respected. We cook together, eat together and I am certain, we share our viruses, bacteria and fungi together as well...in the past year and a half, no one has been ill, all are well and thriving! Including myself! I have also been mask less since February 2021, and it has been a revelation! My daughter as well. I knew it was all BS and I went and got a dispense from a doctor. My daughter and I have no medical reasons to have one but I told the doctor it was an insult to my intelligence and he said it was the best reason he had heard and promptly wrote me one! Best thing I did..it is a lonely feeling to essentially be the only one in our little town here in Switzerland but I think it will be back to most not wearing one sooner than later. Slowly, but oh so slowly, people are waking up! It is about time! Thanks to all of you who make me feel not so alone in my convictions!

Almond, the restrictions on production are purposely designed to create shortages. As I have previously written, there is clear evidence of limiting electricity in Spain and I heard an advert on British radio two days ago advising electricity consumers new rules are coming. Liquid fuel will be next, then water. The lemmings who have submitted themselves to the jab will be allowed to live as slaves, the rest of us won't. Those ovens are out there!

Eileenruth, you are not alone. I have lost every friend I had and all because I asked them to consider a different narrative. Just stop listening to the TV news I suggested and consider looking at this site or another site run by doctors. You would have thought I had asked them to participate in mass murder! Some reactions have been extreme and all of them without logic. It must be heartening to the various government officials concerned that their adaption of Joseph Goebbels Eleven Principles of Propaganda has worked better than even that master of evil ever achieved. And here is something we should, all of us who fight this, bear in mind when we talk about governments - we are talking about very specific people. People such as Ursula von der Leyen President of the EU Commission. People, not the inanimate word government, are doing this. People are planning it. Time we had a list of these people.

Watsonandco...

I, too, have been watching this unfold. First our health ever moving towards socialized medicine and outlawing other options. Then, with the jab. Then, colonial pipeline as a trial run to shut down our energy. Next the hacking of the meat supply. Various shortages and higher prices stealing more of our money thru inflation. I have been asking myself, what next? In the US, there is already an attempt to "conserve energy". I was thinking water will be next. With California reaching out to get water from other states, it is already happening and will not take much more to enforce rationing. Just one more example. We are also approaching an electronic currency system where every transaction you make will be recorded and every purchase judged. Social control will be achieved as easily as deleting your accounts... your ability "to buy and sell". (biblical prophecy) It appears to me that there is a coordinated attempt to subjugate the population and starve out those not in compliance. Doesn't take a genius to understand that when all the necessities of life are being controlled... Furhter, we no longer even have free speech to protest and ask that our grievances be addressed.

People must resist and also do what they can to hold out as long as possible. It seems inevitable, that, without legal recourse putting a stop to all of this, the outcome will be very unpleasant. Yes, remember, it is not governments, but individuals who are responsible for this--just as with the atrocities that occurred in WWII. We need to rely on the majority of US troops upholding the constitution, too.

I suspect the quinine has some beneficial effect against covid, if not reversing the non-vaccine for the disease that cannot be mentioned--also some risks. Do some research and learn about all the quinine substitutes used during WWII when the quinine plantations in SE Asia were captured. I wish we could still buy unsweetened carbonated quinine water in the US.

It is claimed (?) that French Maritime Pinebark (pycnogenol) is also effective at neutralizing vax effects. Many things seem reasonable and possible, but we really do not have enough data to know much for certain.

Absolutely do rely on the wisdom of elders who lived thru the Great Depression. However, also understand that, if at all possible, you need to return to the land and nature, not just find cheap solutions using unhealthy store-bought foods. Also, think outside the box about creative problem-solving, recycling, repurposing, etc.

I assume most people have a general awareness of things they need to know how to do (or learn) and what they will need to provide. Here are some books that will at least provide interesting reading for the discriminating reader...

Storey's Curious Compendium of Practical and Obscure Skills.

The Dangerous Book for Boys.

Carla Emory's Encyclopedia of Country Living.

Pre WWII cookbooks. A file of recipes that do not contain store-bought ingredients.

The Naturopathic Formulary (not sure that is the exact title, it's not within easy reach at the moment).

A copy of Atlas Shrugged by Ayn Rand. (Your own copy so you can highlight passages and write notes in the margins.)

A copy of the constitution, bill of rights and a good American history book.

A copy of Baker Creek's seed catalog (full of basic info about heirloom varieties).

A canning book.

Winemaking at Home-by Hardwick.

Those of us who are old enough to remember the Soviet Union will also remember that the official news source for that empire was a phony government controlled agency called Pravda. For many years before the breakup of the Soviet Union Pravda was quietly being ridiculed by anyone with half a brain. People knew very well that if you wanted to know the truth all you had to do was consider the opposite of what Pravda was saying. I'm of the opinion that that is exactly where we are today in the US. Big Media corporations have bought up all competition and now only spew the official narrative put before them by their biggest advertisers. And who is the biggest advertiser? Big Pharma.

I lost my academic job after 23 years of teaching, because I introduced my students to tools for independent thinking. I'm glad, I did. I would have lost my job under the current insanity, anyway, because I would have never muzzled myself and despise deeply those, who did and do for any reason whatsoever.

It was clear already by March, 2020 that the ONLY question one must ask is whether they want to live in a world like this, even if this was the Black Pneumonic Plague, killing 90% of the population. Ultimately, people follow existential decisions, mixed with a real or imaginary sense of belonging together... "We are in this all together..."

I agree with the professor that one must look behind the scenes, but I also taught my students to triangulate the results of their research by finding out who financed a study and who profits from the results. For a simply person, it suffices to know that as long as you have something greater to live for than your life, you cannot be intimidated and you can think independently. As long as you know what you want and don't use the monsters' terms (masks, vaccines and the like), but think along with your conceptual world construct, you cannot be manipulated.

I lost my job only in the sense that I did not renew my credentials. About the time of Obamacare, I could already read the writing on the wall. Laws began to change and I lost my autonomy as a practitioner. I hung on for a while. I was not allowed to charge, but people could give me what they knew in their hearts was right. It worked very well. Then, laws and mandates became too cumbersome for me to comply with. Obviously, the agenda was to put private practitioners out of business. I chose to leave with my integrity intact rather than comply and not act in the best interest of a patient.

I have moved on to pursue many other options in my life. I believe we are all placed where we are needed and I have adapted to changes, feeling quite content with my present circumstances.

I have never regretted my education. It continues to be useful to me and others, although now, I must choose my words carefully. The measure of being knowledgeable and competent comes down to paying a fee for a license. Some of the smartest people I know who make things work do not have a college degree.

University censorship and corruption have been going on for a very long time as our hallowed halls of poison ivy maintain a unified message. Most propaganda is not so subtle, but more alarmist and unbelievable. There is usually a first-strike narrative, a leap to conclusion followed by repetitious framing of the "given." Oswald, Arab terrorists, deadly virus and "no" treatment for corona or wear-er-sunscreen and avoid saturated fats begin every newsflash. This confines debate to their original manure pile and most of the bubble-head public play catch-the-turd from there on out. Stop repeating we are a 'free democratic country', or that 'systemic racism' exists, or follow 'The Science'still folks send their money to the Jimmy Swaggerts, Creflo Dollars, political candidates and donate to age-old heart/cancer charities where finding a cure would end their existence. People begin lying as little children for protection of their fragile egos and to avoid shaming; some grow up and continue gaming the truth to fool others. They only hurt their selfish selves.

forbiddenhealing - absolutely correct wise one. In fact, as you know, the most successful propaganda, established using bribery, extortion, corruption, & illusions of grandeur, employs a multi-faceted approach that incorporates the aspects you stated, but, also, more subtle means, as well, & everything in between, to ensure 'no stone is left unturned'. The creep of marxism, relativism & satanism is commonly done through the modification of context, lack of vigilance, & the cover of revisionism, "compromise", playing all sides, "social justice", self righteousness, tribalism, "hopeism", fantasy, projectionism, "the greater good", "doing the right thing", "research", "studies", "task forces" & "committees", symbolism, rituals, idol worship, "heroism", self-aggrandizement, scapegoating, protectionism, censorship, "good vs bad", guilt shaming, "victimhood", soliciting sympathy, charity, philanthropy, endowments, sponsorship, catering to five sense perception (generate strong emotional responses), et al. "secret by public incredulity"

Regarding that, incredulity has become so effective on the bulk of the conditioned society we have today that several methods to create that desired incredulity are utilized against us particularly when the secret would be otherwise difficult or impossible to hide.

Hiding In Plain Sight: The desired assumption is it is not secret nor sinister or there would be attempts to hide it. For example, the book "Beneath The Tides" (and other books) by Ken Bowers contains a quote from David Rockefeller admitting to a list of nefarious objectives. My Ron Paul supporter friends (when he was campaigning) who are generally much more aware than most and generally have high skills at discerning truth mostly dismissed it as a claim except for some who overcame that tendency based upon knowing me and my reputation since I was the one presenting that to them. For the unconvinced, I said to publish that erroneously in a book would be libel and certainly the author of a book wouldn't want to be sued and lose all wealth in such an easy case particularly with Rockefellers quite capable of having the very best of lawyers to fight it. With that and more, I claimed that it must be true and even then most still wouldn't believe it. Frustrated that it was still claimed to be unbelievable, I decided to get the actual document that contained that quote. It gets better! That quote is contained in the book "My Memoirs --an autobiography" by David Rockefeller.

After work I will come back to list more methods of creating incredulity unless the fine people beat me to it which I encourage.

Please list them.

Reassuring to hear Prof Miller confirming my own conclusion and that of others on this site that the whole coronavirus farce is simply the eugenist agenda being implemented by the globalists and Gates of Hell. Capitalism and communism are not poles apart but are morphing into one look-alike CCP for the Western World. The "big lies are protected by popular incredulity" - of course they are and always have been from World War One onwards. Those "lions led by donkeys" take on a whole new meaning once you accept that cannon fodder is a convenient method of population control or as Prince Philipp opined, when asked how he would like to be reincarnated. "As a deadly virus that helps reduce world population." The C-19 isn't deadly but the lies and population control mandates surrounding it are and the spike protein injection masquerading as a "vaccine" even deadlier. We are lions led by very switched on, technologically sophisticated donkeys.

I wonder then why Prince Philip had four children and all of them weird and heavy on the eyes. Do we need that many royals? The only pretty face among the royals belongs to Meghan Markle. There is just one self-made millionaire among the British royals and it is her.

hi Cabochon - "lions led by donkeys" - but the donkey is led by the carrot - and the carrot is being held by a rod by Big Brother - moreover the donkey has characteristics that encompass stamina and forbearance - Snake Junior has no PATIENCE - this is why he forced the Lockdown before they had worked out where the money spinning pseudo vaccine was going to come from - and as a Snake he does not possess any of the advantages of the "donkey"

Cabochon, Recent news has reported a sharp decrease in birth rates in the US and China, maybe elsewhere across Europe and Scandinavia...gotta wonder if the eugenics missed their mark, developed this giant ruse - which in my opinion is a cover for a giant transfer of wealth, either from the middle class or from state's purchasing vaccns. As the WHO has already been captured with Big Pharma's money and support, they have become a mouthpiece, and this is the WHO's 3rd or 4th attempt at calling a pandemic, starting back in 2002.

Pfizer and Moderna are already projecting 26 and 18 billion US in annual profits this year respectively, due to their covid-19 shots (developed using taxpayer funds). Appears this agenda was pulled off to primarily to increase Big Pharma's vaccuming dollars, with zero liability for their products; thereby increase returns to their investors, most notably the Gates Foundation. Bill's already moving on to building a nuclear power plant in Wyoming...here's a link:

Sorry, I don't have in English(Tiananmen Square Massacre). With really pictures of burned soldiers. The foundation of CCP is the age old foundation of capitalism in the US - the socialization of business costs for the privatization of business profits. George Bush did this when he got the people of Dallas to pay for a new stadium and then sold his share of the team for a massive profit. Big Pharma does this when they take research done by government agencies (paid for by US taxpayers) and turn that into massive profits. Much of the research for the current vaccines was paid for by US taxpayers. Big tech does the same thing. Bill Gates got his start by taking tech research and making it his own. Same with Apple, Intel etc.

Hi Krofter, before you lump Apple in with Gates, Intel, etc., as a mac user since the I/T started, I have a word about Steve Jobs. Yes The Woz, Steve Wozniak, is the original genius behind Apple, but Steve had the Lebanese genes to sell it (his father was Syrian) and he was as altruistic as they come, plus almost OCD (obsessive compulsive diagnosis) about design. Steve gave computers to schools here in Ontario, Canada. Part of the reason being that Apple's always been so easy to understand, it's a terrific start for a child. Steve had something very special, i.e., respect for us, his market. Gates and Jobs were infinitely different. We never ever had problems with viruses on Macs for literally years and years. Laurene, Steve's wife, kept bees in the backyard. They lived in the same house for the kids to feel they had a safe base. Yes, Steve splashed out with a fancy yacht towards the end of his life, but he was never a jerk. Gates is worse than a jerk by far. Tim Cook was Steve's pick to take over his job, but my jury's still out on Mr. Cook. There are times I think he's hired a lot of Microsoft idiots with some of the interfering nonsense that comes up w/o my say so. Mostly you can get rid of it if you've been around macs a long time. But it's insulting. Steve's work was level playing field, consider everyone a possible user and treat them well. The black turtle neck that he always wore for presentations was him to a T. He didn't want to waste time thinking about dressing. Now all the wastes of space copycat that look. I miss Steve's influence so much and also because I think he'd have something decent to do about this mess today. He was not just in it for the $$$.

Retsbew, I have heard from computer programmers that Microsoft paid people to create viruses so that it can profit from the antivirus software industry. I will not be surprised if this is true. This seems to be Gates' modus operandi: create a problem and then solve it for money.

Can't argue with that, Vladimira. Invariably, the Royals tend not to practise what they preach. Four children and clearly an affiliate of the eugenist movement. And Prince Charles talks of "building back better" while talking to his plants. I don't disagree, Stan, but the phrase was originally attributed to the brave men who went "over the top" in the senseless killing fields of the First World War when commanded by their generals. Now that we are at war again, Watson and co, albeit a war of a different kind, perhaps the description would be more appropriately rephrased as lions and sheep led by donkeys, the lions being the bravely outspoken doctors and scientists and non compliers; the masked up sheep being the sacrificial lambs who willingly submit to experimental injection. A reappraisal of the reasons for the First World War is long overdue. We thought of the generals as donkeys but I'm not so sure. If the plan was a eugenist one, it would be easy to order men to face almost certain death from enemy firing. As a military exercise it makes little sense.

Transfer of wealth, rrealrose, yes but as a vehicle for transfer of power and totalitarian control through technology and surveillance. Vaccine passports, smart devices, Amazon Sidewalk - what's that all about, but more opportunities for technocratic control? Yes, I heard about the Wyoming plan, but what's an unelected business man doing building nuclear anything? What next - a nuclear bomb? I understand the Epoch Times was set up by former CCP dissidents who came to America in search of freedom, Brodiebruck. Frying pan, fire springs to mind, Marinkos. Krofter, the practice you describe is rife in the UK as well, taxpayer funded organisations being milked for private profit. "Track and Trace" the embarrassing initiative during the plandemic is one example. There is a campaign "We Own It" (info@weownit.org.uk) to stop the sale of parts of the NHS, Krofter. How can you sell what you do not own?

JohnHasse, as I have written many times in many different places, people have been educated not to think. Not to challenge. They have been 'educated' to be good little slaves to the Great Money Machines. This was a discussion I had only yesterday with two Spanish people who absolutely defended the government's position while at the same time claiming their education system was as good as anything in Europe! Spain was and remains a dictatorship and no one is in any hurry to change that. The Spanish economy is, I have read, the worst hit in the world and they defend the actions taken to destroy it! Now if that is not a definition of institutionalised 'educated' insanity I don't know what is.

Miller and I share the rejection of skewed and slanted information - this undermines and subverts all the foundations of human integrity -without TRUTH society becomes DECADENT and as Gibbon relates will accelerate its inevitable Fall - Miller must know that Propaganda is a tool of authority - surely this must have been part of his curriculum - the point is that critical thinking is abhorred by Control Junkies that advocate a narrative that goes against the struggle for human rights - this is the puppet master behind the curtains pulling the strings - so some BRAIN DEAD student who has been thoroughly brainwashed joined his academic program and behaved in a REACTIONARY manner - Miller should have seen this coming - possibly the academic setting is not the environmental field for sowing ideas that might rock the boat - everyone of these academics is worrying about tenure - I see that Miller differentiates between SOPHISTRY {which he terms as "rhetoric"} and propaganda - but the role of the Sophists was always to persuade {which is the basis of all advertising theory} and propaganda which is to LIE

but the motive for both activities is the conditioning and grooming of human thought - both of these activities use the BRAIN DEAD as sounding boards for either material gain or social control - I am unsure whether one can teach the young how to think - surely this is a matter of INSTINCT - the understanding of the contrast between RIGHT and WRONG comes through moral fluency - aberrant morality means that selfish greed which is often the result of parental interference {parents themselves have no moral imperatives} - this deficiency must be the basis of convincing the confused mind about how to discern right from wrong - but it becomes a rearguard action if the development of the child is faulty - Miller is fighting from a position of weakness against an academic system that is inherently corrupt with its commercial endowments and socializing program that.....CONTINUED

CONTINUED - favors authority and rejects self independence - academia has long insisted that the texts and learning programs are compiled with BEFORE any creative or critical thought is tolerated - academia is in the business of preparing automatons for the Corporate Fodder machine - these

"....to persuade {which is the basis of all advertising theory} and propaganda which is to LIE but the motive for both activities is the conditioning and grooming of human thought - both of these activities use the BRAIN DEAD as sounding boards for either material gain or social control..." Yes, much of the past year has been propaganda but in the past several months, more and more reports on UFO's have "appeared" in the news. Recently, the repetition has increased several fold with the notion the gov isn't sure if the crafts are extraterrestrial or not. Right under our noses, "they" are setting us up for a real or fake "invasion" of aliens, most likely right before or on July 4th. My belief is so that no one will notice or put together the massive deaths that will occur from the shots. The media will tell us the disappearance of people (deaths) is directly tied to the "alien invasion" - either "kidnapping" humans or some "other-world" weapon being used to eliminate humans. Others will tie it to Revelations of the bible - either the "rapture" disappearance or "demons" simply taking humans. Whatever happens, the magnitude of fear will rise exponentially so much the sheeple will be begging the UN and other global agencies to protect them which of course will amount to a total loss of freedom and individual rights world-wide. So in the past year, "they" have tried to "persuade" into taking the shot us and since that hasn't been working so well, it's time to role out the "big guns" of an alien threat and we're not talking southern borders.

hi Lakhana - the buzz at the moment isd the "FEAR of the Unknown" - so when the virus becomes defused and suspicious through deaths and physical injuries - the puppet masters have the UFO threat to ramp up the Fear - but why should aliens be concerned about human society and Zombie Culture?>? - if they are so advanced in comparison to us - they would understand NATURE {to which they are also tied} and seek cooperation instead of conquest - however the DUNCES that coerce and rule our planet want to antagonize these advanced life forms with our destructive arsenal of weapons -like HG Well's War of the Worlds" - so we will not allow these beings to educate us but demonstrate hostility that will alienate these aliens - our leaders are stupid enough to convince the Zombie Culture to be injected with poison "for their own good" - what happens when they subject a more advanced culture to their stupidity ?? - UFO's herald more of God's Creation but Snake Junior will take his Zombie following and lead them over the cliff because he is irredeemable

hi Randy - saw that video some time ago - it describes the range of stupidity that only a Snake could be involved in - hi rose looked at the Fuellmich/ Corbett discourse - I seem to have the same analysis as Corbett - you have to create the social groupings you would want to be part of - nothing else matters - the Zombie Culture is never going to change - the Snake understands their incurrigibility - this is what he bases his predictions on - Zombies are all SUCKERS and the Snake deals with SUCKERS mercilessly and relentlessly - the Media is in the hands of Big Brother and the Zombie Culture follows Media cues religiously - nothing can change - it can only get worse - Zombie Culture is gluttonous for punishment - so the Snake's sadistic fangs will continue to inject poisonous substances into the BRAIN DEAD - because they want to be VICTIMS and the Snake wants to be their Dominatrix - the Snake loves to torment and whip Zombies www.bitchute.com/.../Q6vHTYoCYHDe I've just now finished listening to this video. This is the most accurate summation of what's happening with Dr. Fuellmich that I've heard. He dismisses the story about the 1,000 lawyers and 10,000 scientists which appeared as false. They did not address Nuremberg at all in this - and because of other journalists that I've listened to, I had the impression Dr. Fuellmich was at trial in Nuremberg, but he only lists New York, Mexico, Canada and Germany as having heard cases. After seeing this I would say he's still in the planning stages. Just the same I believe he is going to win this. He's very thorough and a decent man. But the damages that are going to accrue; it's almost unimaginable at this point. The great irony that comes out in this is that both the German and Israeli governments appear to be corrupt. The best and probably safest thing we can do is work on education and invite people to come to Dr. Mercola's website.

The system has become totally corrupt and we really need these great people to do what the common person could never accomplish. We need an army of good, ethical lawyers; as well as doctors and scientists to present the indisputable facts and put an end to this MEDICAL/TECHNO TYRANNY. What is happening now around the world, is nothing less than a global attack on humanity; by less than human entities! At this point, the fate of humanity hangs in the balance. Either we win this evil war; or, society as we've known it, is gone forever!

Hi rrealrose, thanks for all you contribute to this website, you're a true asset. I just watched that clip on Bitchute and I haven't seen it before. Yes, it appears to be recent. Medical types have such weird senses of humour sometimes - the guy with the dyed hair and his reaction to 'spikes' ho, ho, ho. My sister's a nurse and we had to room and board the damn rats from her lab when she was a Lab Tech; I know her funny bone quite well...

Fairly recently I posted a warning about Bitchute terms of service changing - that Bitchute appears to be going to the dark side. It wasn't my material, but certainly worthy of note. Not a good thing if Darth's in charge now.

Part of what I've done is Graphic Design and in the video you mention:

www.bitchute.com/.../V57AxFqspv0t Dr. Fuellmich looks slotted into it to me. We should all bear in mind that an accomplished designer can literally take a person's image and make that person appear to say whatever is desired. Like the stunts you can pull with Photo Shop - put your Granny's head on Marilyn Monroe's body. Another example is when Prince Andrew fans denied the image was real of their prince with his arm around Virginia Giuffre (previously Virginia Roberts) when she was aged 17 at socialite Ghislaine Maxwell's London townhouse in 2001 ... (Source: The Sun, UK). That one's real alright.

Sorry not to be more help. If you think a graphic's fake look at it carefully because there can be signs - wavy lines, too many hands, feet, etc.

And thanks to you! Just wanted your opinion. It is the office or home office of Luc Montangier, the French nobel laureate, in the video and has thumbnail views of Corona Committee on the far right, wasn't assuming it had been faked. But the clip is short, usually the OPAL logo also appears.

Meanwhile, while looking for the entire Corona committee session to hear the entire conversation, when I stumbled across the link I posted under StanleyBecker: Their recent interview w James Corbett, don't wanna miss that one!!

I love it that the truth is coming out and i love the article below. Fear and intimidation are the weapons for absolute control of and enslavement of humanity at this time. Where I am ,I work with children and young people and its obvious how frightening children (to make them wear facemasks for example) is ruining their lives by making them literally physically contract through fear.In my perception the biggest factor in creating disease is the negative mind.Fear cripples the immune system,makes the body contract and blocks energy flow,all of which create issues on the physical level.Education is not about conditioning or programming children with false knowledge downloads;it is about encouraging their innate intelligence to flower and the way is love and acceptance.The very word education means to draw out that which is already innately present in a person and not to stuff false propaganda into peoples' heads.Clearly at this time ,humanity needs a strong lesson to wake up.

You reminded me of the Ham/Bill Nye non-debate. Ham laid down his sword & to Nye's constant 'but that's dangerous' , or but, 'you're dangerous'.....never once was the obvious response made: WHAT is 'dangerous' or 'dangerous to WHAT' because the 'only the originals' position has abandoned it's solid ground& strong tower& whole truth for corruptible human authority sand from the get-go. Which is why the spiritual sword of the word of God, the unbreakable word of truth couldn't be brought to bear: because both sides had abandoned truth to play the relativist& neutrality lie of science falsely so-called spun & wrest out of the context of the whole.

What happened to this guy, & all like him, is that he champions false relativity & neutrality while claiming to be standing for truth. Talk about a self-exploding position. In such a system everybody becomes a liar pretending they're 'neutral' or capable of utter neutrality, or of sinless perfectionism, when they're neither: you can't have just & balanced law, or real intellectual debate, or even real honest communication & relating on those terms..... & sooner or later it comes back to bite you in the  playing that game.

Better to acknowledge it this side of the grave I always say. And to God, not to corruptible men, getting that straight & then proceeding from the solid ground & in the light.

The fact is that men can come closer to the ideal or move further from the ideal, but until the one who is called Faithful & True is here & reigning, & the sons of God are revealed & transformed at the resurrection by his power & not their own, & after that last proving fake attempt by men & devils: it will not be seen on this temporal planet or in this universe, nor in the new heavens & earth to come. It's blinding delusional pride to presume otherwise. Self-defeating. And it ends w/ just what this gentlemen & academia, this nation & the world at large is now experiencing... as scripture said it would! All w/o violating free will.

This happened to me, albeit on a much smaller scale, at Ohio State Univ. I had returned to university at age 50 to finish my degree and I found a completely different style of teaching/learning. In a poetry class during workshop, one student was told by the professor that she could not use the word "virgin" in her poem because it may trigger other students' anxiety. Another student was told that he had a duty to society as a writer to write content that does not upset or challenge others. I could not believe what I was hearing, thought the students were being censored and felt it was my duty to challenge the professor about it. On another day, the entire lecture was devoted to Emily Dickenson--not the genius of her poetry, but that she may have had  tendencies. When I asked whether we were actually going to analyze her writing, I was chastised by the teacher for not being sensitive to the culture of LGBTQ in the classroom. What ensued was even more surprising--a majority of the students sided with the professor and the head of the department sent me a letter stating that I violated school policy and that I would be banned from the class.

I fear that the days of free expression and robust intellectual discussion, even if discomfoting, are over.

Incidentally, Kinsey's criminal& fraudulent work inexplicably allowed to stand from either a legal or a scientific standpoint was carried on at Ohio State as well as Indiana. Another true hero for truth in academia who should be remembered is Judith

Why I told them to shove it& read collegiate level& old books as well as new on my own. I knew that to pursue my true loves of writing& history, I'd have to compromise& fit to the controlled market. Better to be free& drive a truck in a more honest profession...lol! Pursuing truth also leads to God which is what the controllers, every nicolaitan& elitist master of craft,& their controlling spirit in turn really hate.

Truth doesn't fear exposure or comparison,& free, adult, whole men& women don't live in fear of offense or in blind pretense like a two-year-old or soul-less entity unless they're willfully twice dead....God, not man, making that final determination as only He is capable of.

Both sides are duped by what they want to believe. The Right wants to believe their white supremacist society will go on forever and want to destroy progress. The Left wants a better society but their better instincts are being led astray by powerful private interests who want to accumulate all the wealth and power to satisfy their selfish greed. That is the simplistic dialectic media description of it. The truth is that folks on both supposed 'sides' are much more fluid because of truth & real circumstances; & we all like sheep have gone astray. Which Shepherd & father a person follows, that of truth or that old father of lies is what guards & guides a person, & if they think they guide themselves absolutely, determining their own 'truth', or buy into Do what thou wilt shall be the whole of the law...then they're hopelessly blind & deceived, & without a compass, anchor or shelter from the get-go.

You can tell the truth from either 'side' or you can lie from either 'side' which are artificial constructs the philosophers of craft put up & seek to steer & group people into. Truth supercedes both. The things you can't prove one way or the other must be held loosely.

Frankly, I like the term media literacy.....really just true critical thinking & researching skills, real literacy & necessary to any honest intellectualism or endeavor. We just called it critical thinking and proving in homeschool, and always emphasized the surveying of all sides of an issue & comparing them, noting that truth doesn't fear being exposed & there is no such thing as neutrality ultimately. It's a narrow way, and road less traveled of a truth....but so worth it, because it's true freedom, while disarming poisonous bitterness and pride, and the merciless karmic counterfeit of true justice. True champions of truth will 'work' to find & promote it for free, and sacrifice for it, because it becomes part of who they are. It's purified by repenting of & turning away from demonstrated & proven lies.

"Q" and CNN wokester stuff are just the WWE show set up for those who blindly receive whatever they're fed soulishly by the media producers prostituted to that media trust spoken of here. Such blind faith & carnal blindness then just naturally spill over into consequential physical nutrition & health choices etc. Think about it.

Marinkos, Gandhi was a corruptible man w/ one eye closed by choice. He allowed his wife to die of a treatable disease, & slept naked with little girls, defiling them, in order to prove his 'holiness' & 'detachment' to himself & others. He was very good at seeing corruption in others, just not his own. Is that not the point of this article & media literacy, seeing through one-sided, half- and partial-truth propaganda, as well as whole lies? The most effective lies & propaganda have truth mixed in with poisonous & destructive lies.

Whole truth turns us from hindering idolatry to humility & God, voluntarily limiting ourselves so as not to exploit others, & especially those dependent upon us. That humility is also the only thing hindering anyone from elitist & karmic force, justifying whatever one can accomplish by hook or by crook manipulation whether it be active & direct, or passive & indirect. And it protects us from the bondage of constant offense & bitterness that comes of pride & selective narrow-mindedness that shuts out convicting & inconvenient truth which cuts both ways.

Fundamental: Do you see world in black and white only? Colorblind? "You can tell the truth from either 'side' or you can lie from either 'side' which are artificial constructs the philosophers of craft put up & seek to steer & group people into. Truth supercedes both. The things you can't prove one way or the other must be held loosely." ... "there is no such thing as neutrality ultimately. It's a narrow way, and road less traveled of a truth...." Bill Clinton deregulated media responsibility to tell the "truth" from both sides. Then you get only one side story. Mostly corporation side in America...

I know that you're against dialectic thinking. It needs effort, time, understanding and be very well informiert, what is lacking to much in USA under private corporate media. To be honest, I don't care what somebody is doing in his own bedroom.... What is legal and what is illegal aren't same things in EU, USA and India. So please, before attacking the messenger, provide the link or girls age group to show unbiased facts. I will not tell curry Indians what they need to do.

I am not British. Truth is lacking big at home her in USA to(leader of the free world?), but plenty of UFO sightings...

EILEENRUTH the word 'comrades' is more closely associated with communists and communist governments. In the "liberty" world perhaps the old term "compatriot" or "compatriots" would be more satisfactory in achieving your/our goal of educating or re-educating our populaces. thanks.

The truth of soul liberty worked well for awhile in America though under elitist ...religious & pretending not to be both....attack to subvert & redefine from the get-go, requiring humility, diligence & constant vigilance to maintain. The right to free association, freedom to assemble, to separation etc are what keep the 'com' of tyrannical corporatism from swallowing up liberty w/ selective depersonalization, while true freedom of informationwhich no true religion fears btw or hides from...keeps it all in balance.

Sadly, in this fallen world, the right to keep & bear arms is also a necessary preventive: power corrupts & absolute power corrupts absolutely. We've allowed too much centralization & monopolization (what a mocking misnomer 'trust' is for what that 'media trust' thing really is!!) ...so we have a bigger monstrosity to resist than if we'd avoided the 'all in com-mon', 'com-mon ground' (censoring & illegitimately outlawing distinctives), 'com-munism' lies 'completely.

And fascism is just it's other arm.

Truth expose them both. But when men reject the only antidote for one of the perversions of real liberty, then the tired old cycle of illegit libertinism & tyranny just repeats itself until men repent & return to it voluntarily, or God in his mercy & wisdom finally says, 'Enough,' and allows consequential judgment, chastening, or puts a final end to it. I would add sacrificially, but one of the big marks of manipulative tyranny is to demand the sacrifice of somebody else's blood, sweat, & property....while exempting one's own. That's why in ALL socialist societies you have layered elite, crony/prostituted, and masses bloody, tyrannical, occulted & dishonest shuck & jive pyramid schemes.

Just received 2 pop ups on my phone

1. Here in the UK the under 30's are now invited to take up the offer of the Vaccine yes they are still pushing it loud and clear.
2. Tony Blair (a former UK Prime Minister) has just declared that the vaccinated should be allowed more freedom than the unvaccinated - shocking - so now more division! - (He was the PM along with USA president Bush who brought on the needless war when there were no weapons of mass destruction) The UK is just as corrupt as the other governments of the world.

Just how effective has Fuellmich efforts been? Has there been any real game changing in-roads made or are his and his teams efforts lost and buried in paperwork?

Hi MoMac, as an expat I follow the news in England. Tony Blair and Bush qualified to be charged over the WMD (weapons of mass destruction) scenario they started that flew around the world. Two journalists in DC did an expose including time and date stamped emails between Blair and Bush. To this day I cannot believe nothing was done and the two of them escaped free of repercussions to continue their rhetoric. I am gobsmacked with your news about Blair once again - now recommending more division with vaccinated being given more freedom than unvaccinated.

Something I've noticed twice now from Dr. Reiner Fuellmich is that he quietly mentions that the pensions in Europe have disappeared and that Europeans don't know this yet. I don't know if he includes the UK in this or not because the term European may be used as a wide expression to include the UK. - Though since he is a German I would think he refers to those "on the continent?" If this is true there will be massive reaction to it and rightfully so.

I have a very small pension from my time with Canadian Mental Health, run by a reliable firm in Quebec. Ironically it keeps me from benefits I will need in dental care later on. But hey, the Liberal government (PM Justin Trudeau known to want a seat on the UN), continues to whinge on about guaranteed income for all. Women no longer have to pay tax on feminine hygiene products here either, but there was no offer of reimbursement to those of us who paid that tax a large portion of our lives. It's all in the timing isn't it?!

The teachers in Canada have much better incomes than they do in the states. Tenure is the golden apple here too. Ironically I've read that the teachers' pension fund has large investments in China. The best teachers I had were the nuns from the Sisters of St. Paul's. My granddaughter, who adores school and is broken hearted that it has stopped now in Ontario, is in French Immersion. Her public school teachers are wonderful.

The real deal with Blair...and Bush both....lies in the corporate religion-political thing that Blair joined himself to publicly, and which Reagan reinserted into American politics officially through concordat & diplomatic recognition. (Unofficially that manipulation worked through co-adjutor agitation & occulted manipulation long before that...but had to work harder to insinuate itself through the mob, exploiting immigration, the darkness of the confessional & covert machine reporting back to Rome. Not that she's the only one, but she is the original model & mother of it all, constantly striving to be at the head of all craft, the inheritor of Babylonian order with many allies working covertly & occultly, dishonestly, as she.)

Avro Manhattan and J.A. Wiley should be included in the list of forbidden books, as well as the Authorized English Bible. If Rome and her 'com'-mon grounders want to make their arguments, then fine, but they should be forced to do it in the light, letting all the accused fall-guys have their equal time & rebuttal to her manipulations.

What is happening in our universities & schools & media feels, smells and acts like the Inquisition & pagan despotism of caste for a 'com'-mon reason: and those books listed above were commonly known by scholars & easily available even 25 years ago when I first began researching these things, only that particular Bible considered a 'threat' and still on that official Vatican Verbo ten list. The others merely 'disappeared' through publishing monopoly & control, & search engine manipulation.

He who answereth a matter before he heareth it, that is folly & shame to him. Feel free to include we s-he's in 'com'-mon humanity to that true statement: we're all mature & grown-up enough to understand the nature of linguistics & the general history & rules of language I would hope...though the thief comes to lie, steal & destroy. Else this is all a pointless exercise in futility.

A rumor has it that a bunch of the Davos club are Lucifereans. There's a mask website called Luciferean Apotheca. It has black cloth and gator masks used for religious rites as well as filtering out the "diseased breath" of others nowadays.

No masks here. We're still alive.

Glad for the lawsuit, but have a couple notes on what limit the positive effect for free pursuit of the truth. This 'late' entry student request is a pretty obvious set-up infiltration activist sent in for a reason. Co-adjutor. The professor takes the 'high ground' but that is easy to set-up, discredit & exploit. I've lost count of the churches transformed or taken down by this tactic. One of the latest guys doing this was the fake Independent Baptist King James only fundamentalist Steven Anderson's operation that began with a media campaign where he was tazed at the border screaming like a little girl....going on to misrepresent scripture & the Gospel in a hateful, unscriptural way.....playing the dialectic divisive game in a way fairly obvious & smelling 'off' to experienced & mature Bible believers w/ the Holy Spirit of truth.

One-eyed positivity is a set-up: you need both eyes wide open & to speak whole truth right out in the open & in the light to have the protection of God's truth & light in which there is no shadow of turning or partiality. No spring puts out both sweet and bitter water, & there is no such thing as absolute impartiality with fallible & limited men.

fundamentalassumptions

Forgot to mention a key thing about how Anderson's operation worked: he would train folks in his 'church', and then send them out to pose as impartial seekers to join solid biblical independent churches. Once received they would 'work' the congregation looking for any weak links, grievances etc....and begin inserting Anderson's doctrinal deviations back towards Romanism, casting doubt & aspersions on the pastor & leadership etc. The result was frequently church splits...'transformations', or deaths, with a remnant of faithful driven underground as history repeats & Babylon marches on & back to the pursuit of global power.

Great guest Dr.M. While listening to this i empathized and remembered a recent academic experience.

This spring while attending a simple evening community college business course on-line, (as a mature student) in which I was doing well, - presented a really good group project, aced open book tests, class participated etc. I made one huge misstep... it happened when I typed in an innocent reply, the word "not" contradicting a young student who offered up B.Gates as an example of an excellent CEO. Apparently the word - "not" triggered the instructor, a woke telecom manager because he dialed in instantaneously and asked me to go on microphone and debate my position. I explained how BG had changed businesses from computer to vaxxeens for profits, as I'd seen BG say on video, etc.etc., and he was incredulous. He said he'd worked at the Foundation and it was "super cool" and beyond ethical to just give money away as they do. I kept my rebuttal civil and asked for others to join the discussion but there were no takers. Thereafter, in the following 3-4 weeks, the instructor never acknowledged me once. It was very fishy. The duped devil in him held on to his irrational anger towards me for airing my opinion against Gates.. At the end of then session, according to test scores I knew what I'd earned and he had dropped my final grade substantially, as the last word. .. I am trying to understand why people feel so threatened these days and want to cancel others when they speak their minds and promote investigation, especially in schools.. inflated egos, afraid of the Truth I'm guessing. God go with and bless you Dr. Miller!

Luvvy, I suspect it has more to do with a very strange psychological phenomenon by which someone who thinks they might have been duped finds it doubly hard to admit it because it makes them look like a fool. This is a very well documented phenomenon. Given this, it is clear to see why so many people are now turning ever more to propaganda as their saviour. Facing the truth is a disturbance to their psyche. They have opted to acknowledge they are being lied to by defending the liars. This is an incredibly difficult situation to reverse. And the bad guys know that.

"The Telecom[munications] bill of 1996, signed by Bill Clinton, set the seal on the creation of a media monolith, The Media Trust, which had already started in earnest under Reagan."

It's part of the neoliberal (neofascist) deregulation agenda, in this instance applying to the media and telecommunications industry. The main feature of the legislation enables the "consolidation" of companies into big monopolistic entities, such as cable internet providers and TV broadcasters. Among other things, it enables privately owned internet providers to monopolize the territory where you live, allowing you little or no choice of equivalent competing providers at a lower price. Same thing for TV broadcasters. For example, it enables the right-wing Sinclair media to own multiple TV stations in your area and thus influence the minds of your friends, family and neighbors (media-generated "dittoheads," as Rush Limbaugh would say) in ways that Sinclair executives, big shareholders, and advertisers approve of. The bill wasn't written by Clinton, but by a usually unnamed Republican lawmaker hiding in the shadows. As president, Clinton was required to sign it into law because the majority of Congress approved it. The deregulation agenda is a right-wing pro-Big Business campaign to dismantle the regulatory structure that was set forth by the FDR New Deal in the 1930s, in this instance, to break up and prevent the formation of monopolies (the most egregious example of the neoliberal deregulation agenda is the dismantling of the Glass-Steagall Act, which enabled Wall Street to cause and perpetuate the global financial crisis).

I'm beside myself because my wife is practically having a nervous breakdown to think of sending my daughter to school next year unvaccinated. She follows the CDC website religiously and is determined to have this done before school next year.

I'm the only thing keeping this from happening. I feel outnumbered and have already been accused of talking crazy by her. I'm unsure she will even read the articles I've read. We are very deeply separated on the issue and my daughter feels the strain. She wants to make us happy but can't because of our opposite views.

And honestly I get it, My wife believes she's protecting her child by what she thinks and so do I. I just feel like I'm going to lose this argument since she usually finds a way to get her way.

The pandemic is not sub-rational manipulation, not covert manipulation, it's simple straightforward, outright manipulation. WebMD defines manipulation as : Guilt, complaining, comparing, lying, denying, feigning ignorance or innocence, blame, mind games.

and says..

People who manipulate others have common traits that you can look for. They include:

They know your weaknesses and how to exploit them

They use your insecurities against you

They convince you to give up something important to you, to make you more dependent on them

If they are successful in their manipulation, they will continue to do so until you are able to get out of the situation and...

Other signs of manipulation include:

Location Advantage: A manipulator will try to bring you out of your comfort zone and places that you are familiar with to have an advantage over you.

Manipulation of Facts: A manipulator will actively lie to you, make excuses, blame you, or strategically share facts about them and withhold other truths.

Exaggeration and Generalization: Manipulators are experts in exaggeration and generalization.

Cruel Humor: This tactic used by manipulators is meant to poke at your weaknesses and make you feel insecure.

Gaslighting: This tactic is used by the manipulator to confuse you and make you question your own reality. The manipulation happens when you confront the abuse or lies and the manipulator tells you that it never happened.

Passive- Aggression: ... chronic (long-term) manipulators will use this tactic to make you feel guilty, and give backhanded compliments.

Constant Judging: The manipulator does not hide their manipulation behind humor or "good fun." In this case, they are openly judging, ridiculing, and dismissing you.

it only takes a few minutes of listening to the latest news about COVID to spot many of the above examples. A few hours and any normal human would simply lose track and give up.

Dr. Mercola needs to change the subtitle of his website - to "Take Control of your FREEDOM!"

His existing subtitle, "Take Control of Your Health" was great, while that was still his main focus, and I love it that I can get well-researched, scientifically verifiable health information here that I can get nowhere else. But any regular reader here will agree that our health is no longer Mercola's primary focus. It is A focus, but these days, it seems his primary focus is on the abridgement of our freedoms and massive attempts to control every aspect of US. That's not bad, not at all. It's just not primarily health.

All in favor, signify by raising your hands. Wow! Will you look at that! Just about everyone agrees.

The unfortunate situation is if Doc, We & others do not figure out a way to reverse the already existing strangle hold Digital, monster corporations & banks hold and dictate, there will be no way to practice a path to health, or to have a healthy functioning society. The ultimate goal of the skunks is to make anything and everything they do not want to exist, to evaporate.

Surgeons wear masks to prevent their respiratory droplets from contaminating the surgical field and the exposed internal tissues of our surgical patients. The CoVID-19 pandemic is about viral transmission. Surgical and cloth masks do nothing to prevent viral transmission. We should all realize by now that face masks have never been shown to prevent or protect against viral transmission. Which is exactly why they have never been recommended for use during the seasonal flu outbreak, epidemics, or previous pandemics. The current mask mandates in some states are intended for a totally different purpose and have nothing to do with the spreading of germs etc.

Its certainly not because their masks block particles less than 1 micron. Even the N95 masks are claimed to only be effective down to 3 microns. a drooling snotty surgeon...now that is a question I need to ask about on my next surgical consult :)

You are a great example of the level of mindlessness we are dealing with. Surgeons wear masks during surgery to protect the patients and themselves from bacteria and bodily fluids that might be splashed around. Nothing to do with viruses! Did you ever see doctors, in all their wisdom, wearing masks in any other setting? Before covid that is!

Mar797092, masks are filters. The material used in a standard surgical mask (by far the more common type of mask) reduces transmission of BACTERIA. Both bacteria and viruses are microscopic microbes, but they are very different. Bacteria are living cells, while a virus is a particle that requires a host cell to replicate. A coronavirus virion (particle) is spherical, averaging around 125 nanometers in diameter. Compare that to bacteria's 1,000-nm size. It's a grape compared to a grapefruit. A surgical mask whose purpose is to block bacteria will do little to prevent passage of the smaller coronavirus particle.

The science is out there, stop believing everything you're being told by the main stream media. Do some research and question everything. That's the whole point of this article!

Because when you operate on someone - you lean over them... and droll does happen to us all !!

Just a drop and you, well, you can see what I am getting at.

And operate - cutting them open - is a lot more worrisome than talking to someone.

BTW, I had open heart surgery a bit over a year ago... and I was wheeled into the operating room without a mask and no one in there had one on yet, I think it was to make me comfortable, but that's just my thought now, then they put the plastic oxygen mask and me and by golly - I woke up later okay.

To keep sputum & such out of the open sterile zone.....and God help the person on either side of them if they sneeze w/ a lot of mucous....lol. They're trained not to turn their heads because that directs the mucous & sputum droplets etc right into that sterile zone, defeating the purpose. And they only impair their breathing while in surgery....not 24/7, or else they'd be mentally compromised & unable to continue in that field!

Only a full containment suit with enclosed oxygen etc can contain viruses...if all conditions are perfect & no human error or accident is contemplated or admitted. Look up pictures of what folks working in biolevel 4&5 labs wear when working with such. And look up the historical cases of lab violations of procedure written up by the reporting agencies for Wuhan & other such labs.

Oh good grief. All the hullabaloo about wearing a mask! Why aren't people screaming about their rights when you must wear pants? Or women may not go topless? And the big lies? I've heard more lies from you than anyone. By the way, I'm hoping you noticed that the number in influenza was very low this year. Is this due to wearing masks - or is it due to the flu shots that more got this year than usual???

It's because they were reported as covid for the story line. Like my friend who died of heart attack, yet was vented upon emergency arrival at the hospital for the guaranteed money & coded as a covid death while her two protesting nurse daughters were detained in the waiting room. Upon later billing considerations & her superior insurance coverage, the death coding was quietly revised to being due to a cardiac event. Do you suppose they adjusted the official covid count?

And I do not breathe through my breasts, my vagina or my anus. Covering them protects me from the elements while not threatening my life, or attracting perverse & unwanted, perhaps forcible & tyrannical, attention & violation. How old are you? Six?

thoman it is far more likely that this figure is lower because those suffering from the flu have been rolled up into the Covid statistics to inflate the sense of danger. I suspect bronchial, pneumonia and heart disease figures have also been included. Figures explored by Dr. Vernon Colman, who has made a very solid argument, tells us this is the case.

To read this article which uses the word "democracy" at least 4 or 5 times describing some form of idealistic government that we all live under and aspire to "take back" or "protect" or "expand" is bewildering to me. NOTICE! The United States of America, where I live, where Dr. Mercola lives and which WAS the beacon of hope for LIBERTY FOR the world IS A CONSTITUTIONAL REPUBLIC. NO FOUNDING DOCUMENT, as in the United States Constitution and the Declaration of Independence, CONTAINS THE WORD DEMOCRACY. In fact the founders, ALL of the founders, realized the obvious pitfalls of a government system based on the tenants of a god*&^% democracy. Persons such as the good educator who is the subject of this article, Dr. MERCOLA and all of us commenting on these pages SHOULD STOP, STOP, STOP using the word "democracy" when describing what you want to "take back", "preserve", "protect" and all that utopian bullcrap. GODAMIT, STOP. If you want to take something back, TAKE OUR REPUBLIC BACK. LEARN THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN COMMUNIST, SOCIALIST, FASCIST====ALL ARE DEMOCRACIES, AND A REPUBLIC. AND START your teaching/education from a point of "truth". Being correct IN YOUR LANGUAGE is imperative for success--if this is what we want. PLEASE, PLEASE you "educators" with your big platforms promoting big agendas, like health and liberty and freedom, KNOW YOUR SUBJECT OR SHUT THE F UP!

The # 1 reason WHY every child in America needs to understand the constitution and just why it was set up as it was. The simple mistake of associating democracy with a constitutional republic proves this point.

right Brodie, and don't forget the old adage "be careful what you wish for". Keep harping on "our democracy" and all this bs and what do we have? a constant barrage of "this pole" and "that pole" and "52%" want this and "67%" want that. guess what, sound familiar! Actually the wolves are NOW, as in right now, deciding which of us they are having for diner.

I agree. Consitutional scholars have also used the term “representative democracy”, which is not the same thing as the “democracy” used so often today.

Wrong. It is just question of time when Representatives of the people for the people start getting corrupt. English Parliament system is also set up to benefit few....People are tired of corruption and bribery and that's what make pople fuming if they aren't morally bankrupt. You don't?

Get educated about direct voting a little...

Communi.sm (one party system) is democracy? Under which rock do you live? Leave the guns, good oiled, in safe place and take unbiased book....

wwalkerware, very well said! There has not ever in the life of humans been such a thing as a democracy. It is impossible to achieve. A democracy cannot be defined by the vote, as big a con trick as was ever invented. What we did have and are rightly attempting to reclaim are our basic human rights. To live without fear of our governments, however they may be titled. But then again, who says we have these rights? Well, we, we the people do - and we have a right to say so.

I am surprised it's taken Dr Miller this long to know how tyrannical the academy is is. You don't feel it when things have been going smoothly for you. I was in the academy for 7 years and experienced the ugly side of it. The students can be used to get you.

For years, I have been following Dr Mercola for health advice when I read the comments with and refer the page to others but I have seen it shifted to a "propaganda" site. this becomes more evident when I read the comments of people. The problem I have is the way both sides use the term "randomized control study" to support their positions. I have used mask through the pandemic and continue to use it in public because for one thing I have not had any flu or cold over the past year. I used to work in home during the pandemic and would go into homes that the people living there would be offended at me wearing a mask and yet have one of them coughing close to me. I think both sides need to respect people's choices. I think the mask has worked for me a a person and I don't need any study to confirm or disprove that. It's about time we begin to give some credence to the individual's ability to listen to "know" his/her body and respond appropriately.

mdo4480, I wear a mask for a few minutes a day in my local store, simply to keep a low profile - who knows what is coming? Otherwise I'm pretty sure it's useless, also given that you can be easily infected via your eyes anyway unless using goggles. I live in SW Devon UK. I know no-one locally who has had covid-19 and even those don't know anyone who has had it. I have 2 friends elsewhere in the country who have had it and who recovered without hospitalisation, both over 50yrs. Their diets are far healthier than most I would say with barely any processed foods, and taking vit D3+K2.,mdo4480

Absolutely you have the right to not wear underwear or wear just as who have the right to wear a mask or not mdo if it makes you feel better or for whatever reasoning you choose. Like you everyone else has that same god given right to choose based on personal choice so I concur!

mdo, I partially agree. I believe you should pay heed to your own experiences and that if you feel mask wearing has worked for you and continues to keep you safe and healthy then you should be allowed to keep wearing a mask without being chastised or sneered at. Good for you. HOWEVER, I believe that an unbiased review of all the available science on mask wearing reveals that the science does not support MANDATING it for everyone. Each of us should be allowed to choose what works for us as individuals based on our own feelings, experiences, and inquiry.

mdo4480, I live in a condo building where we have to wear masks - the Bylaw was posted in the elevator. But I must be honest. Because I read the British press it was obvious the pandemic would be coming to N. America, so I made a couple of masks early on. But I would wear a mask anyway due to factors where I'd be classified super hi-risk.

I think most of the answers you've received here are constructive. Also I think we need to start sharing our information to increase the traffic to this website. It's negative and unproductive to shoot someone down in flames because they've decided to get what they think is a "vaccine." On the basis that, there but for the grace of God, go I, I'd like to help these people. I hope Dr. Mercola sees it like this too because he has such a wealth of health information.

The difference is that you have freedom to believe that masks have worked for you and you don't need a study to prove or disprove that. When I had that position at the bank yesterday where I was waiting to attend a meeting with my financial advisor, even though our governor removed all mask mandates, I was told I had to wear a mask. My freedom no longer existed.

mdo4480, you cannot seriously imagine that just because you didn't get flu this year the mask is a good thing! I didn't get flu this year either and went about my normal life and guess what? I never wear a mask! So what does that tell us as a general principle? Nothing! It is a single personal experience.

Humans find reasons to submit to tyranny. You prove it. No offence intended but the truth is what it is.

Then thank God for the freedom to make the choice to wear one. I personally don't believe the things benefit at all, & that they hinder breathing & encourage illness over time, yet carry one w/ me for the sake of those truly fearful & terrified of risking normal human relating we all took for granted just a little over a year & a half ago. The smug & the self-righteous virtue-signalers on the other hand have neither my pity nor my respect, & certainly not my silence, subservience or blind obedience.

I learned long ago to question 'randomized studies' & about statistical lying, structuring of studies, selective funding & steering etc. Darwinists do it all the time, & truth-seekers have been shut out of much of society & public discourse for quite some time because truth demands choice & does not deny differences & distinctives, & real tolerance in truth is no longer permitted due to the denial & suppression of those things. The outcomes we are seeing are not a total shock to me, it's really an expected consequential outcome of the general direction things have moved for a long time, tho I'd hoped for a better en & true awakening, & worked to the promotion of true & honest discourse everywhere I could.

I believe you are wrong about Dr. Mercola's articles & free commentary, & mistake passion & belief in something for propaganda when a milquetoast, bland & grey demanding world of subservience, vanity & saying nothing or talking past one another is the current dogmatic & orthodox demanded cultism. This is one of the few remaining blogs that is even generally uncensored, permitting true & legit, adult dialogue beyond a kindergarten level orthodoxy & dogmatism where no truth is ever reached or stated due to the constant tip-toeing around a thousand sacred cows& denied elephants in the room as w/most media.

Some new folks have showed up, maybe dishones & disingenuous agitators: but maybe truly seeking dwindling adult rational discourse & free association as well. I know which I am, & you?
