

Stolen Elections

My Take

MICHAEL HERMAN

JUL 18, 2026

With reference to “stolen elections” I believe it is instructive to view the reaction of everyone in the mainstream media, as well as everyone in official Washington, on the Tuesday evening that Donald J. Trump beat Hillary Clinton.

The real problem with discussing “stolen elections” is that people approach the subject with such strong party-centric blinders that the discussion is over before it starts if you are speaking with a Democrat. And the idiot Republicans, will always be in the wrong place to place the blame for our rigged elections.

Our President just blamed “The Chinese”, a ridiculous assertion as it wasn’t the Chinese who stopped the voting in 2020 at Three AM, and then pulled boxes of votes out from under tables and began slamming votes into the system that favored Biden one hundred thousand to nothing. Taking the “curved blue line” that existed below the “curved red line” straight up and over the red line, whereupon once the necessary totals to win were slammed through the system, the curve resumed its natural formation. The Chinese did not do this, that was all Democrats. In just the states necessary to secure victory, and in the five states with a large enough margin of population that usually votes 80-20 at worst in favor of the Democrat, so that the ridiculous totals being released could have a shred of credibility. Downtown Philadelphia, Fulton County in Georgia, and Maricopa County in Arizona as evidence.

I say that getting out the tapes of the mainstream media’s reaction on the night

Trump-Clinton election is instructive as one can see in viewing the tapes that clear that Trump had won right about Eleven PM EST, there was no path to victory for Hillary. But the mainstream collectively refused to call the election for Trump waiting for some ballot dump to come. They stretched their hope and confusion into the evening, as if waiting for some Democrat hand to reshuffle the deck, to get the necessary votes to put Hillary back on top. For five hours they dawdled, were doing anything they could but admit the obvious, that Donald J. Trump had won.

At first Hillary conceded late into the evening. But when she awoke, the slimy creatures she surrounded herself with had concocted a variety of plans to undo the results, people like that absolute piece of human filth John Podesta, who were working overtime to figure out how to prevent Trump from ascending. Her morning reaction was to fight the results, though she had conceded late into the morning just hours earlier.

Hindsight being 20/20, no pun intended, we all now know that since they hadn't printed enough actual ballots to run to overcome the election, plan "B" was to claim that Trump was a "Russian Stooge", and to create the "Russiagate" narrative and a commission full of Democratic Operatives such as Andrew Weissman to take Trump out of office.

Once you view the reaction of the mainstream media, who for months promoted the idea that Hillary Clinton had a ninety-nine percent chance of winning against Trump on the night of the actual election, what you see is a group that is desperate to fight the results absent a mechanism to do so. They had gotten "high on their own hype" and truly believed that it was impossible for Trump to win. They saw no need to change the election with late night trucks full of one-hundred-percent Biden style ballots to shut out the observers, re-open the machines, pull boxes out from under the voters, run votes over, and over, and over until they could guarantee a win.

Trump has to claim that it “was the Chinese” because no American expects Trump to arrest Chinese officials. He cannot blame the true culprits, the Democrats and their awful operatives inside the CIA and FBI, crooked men like Christopher Wray, head Gina Haspel, as the DC esprit de corps in official Washington, DC would not allow one party to arrest the leaders of the opposition party en masse. They may be truly guilty party, but it would cause a party civil war should Trump admit the “fixers” were all Democrats and their well placed operatives in government, people exactly like Peter Stroz, James Comey, Christopher Wray, John Brennan, Leo Panetta, and James Clapper.

All of whom should be arrested for treason, but will never see justice, just a nice government pension.

As for me, I find it just incredible that you can sit with some Democrats and watch them down the sensible path of understanding that Hillary rigged the Primary on the Democrat side to her advantage, creating Super Delegates, and even delegates beholden to her and her alone absent being tied to any votes. She created a system where Bernie Sanders had no chance to win, no matter how many state primaries he won.

If you sit down with a Democrat over a beer, they will readily admit that Hillary rigged the 2016 Democratic Primary. Thus admitting that some elections can be “rigged” can even get them to admit that the 2020 Democrat Primary elections appear to have had similar shenanigans as coming off the Iowa Caucus where Pete Buttigieg ruled the “winner”, based on the straw voting polls inside the Caucus that appear to be impossible. And the fix appeared to be complete once they got to South Carolina. Come on man, would you trust James Clyburn in any way? I wouldn't give him the keys to the car to hold for me for a week, at the end of the week he'd claim it was a five.

For some reason you can get a plurality of Democrats to admit that yes, Hillary with her insider hench-woman Donna Brazile head of the DNC, and no strange cheating as she once gave Hillary the list of questions being asked in advance debate, yes, they did rig the Democrat primary in 2016, and probably 2020 as well.

But you simply cannot get them to understand the short leap from fixing and rigging a primary, to fixing and rigging the general election. Like George Costanza refusing to take a bite of pie he knows is tainted, they will clam up, and shake their head vigorously from side, to side, and deny, deny, deny.

What was the whole “Russiagate” they put us all through but some attempt by the official “Deep State” to remove a sitting President on false pretense? The Democrats insisted on a special counsel and spent almost fifty million trying to make “Russiagate” real, and not some phony dossier concocted by the Clinton camp.

So Trump, in this ham-handed attempt to curb the cheating in our elections, kept the out-of-reach Chinese, so as not to have to put the blame on the real culprit the Democratic Party and their officially placed culprits. And in an effort to gain some reform.

Just take a look at the recent primary election in Los Angeles. Does anyone believe that they didn’t rig the voting totals and counts to remove the Republican from the final general election ballot?

The counting going on after the official “Election Day” for weeks on end, with the totals in no way matching the percentages seen in voting prior to “Election Day”, disconnecting the trends completely, is anyone buying that the California Democratic Party didn’t rig that election?

How brain dead does one have to be to see that Spencer Pratt was just fucked in the ass in the Los Angeles primary election for mayor?

At this point, after the Biden election, after Three AM ballot stuffing, after a c and utter ridiculous change in the voting curve trend lines, the Democrats can cheat nakedly and openly where they have full state control.

And face no consequences. None.

No matter your own personal party affiliation, gun to your head, and you have one-hundred-percent truthful or they'll pull the trigger, are you going to put y on the line to say that the Los Angeles mayoral primary wasn't rigged?

Why, oh why then, is it such a leap to realizing they are rigging the national Presidential elections? We've all seen you don't have to have some huge state-plot, you just have to control five counties in five different swing states to carry whole election. Arizona, Georgia, Pennsylvania, Michigan, and Wisconsin, and particular the heaviest minority districts. Where a 90-10 split in favor of Democrats means that you can "credibly" claim that a hundred thousand votes came in at 3 AM and not a single one was for Trump.

We've all just lived through it.

And if you have half-a-brain and go back and watch the tapes of any and every mainstream media channel on that fateful night when Trump upset the 99-1 for Hillary Clinton you can watch a "fix" being designed in real time that had no mechanism to back up the "fix". Everyone was so assured of a Clinton victory that they forgot to print out the necessary ballots in five counties to overcome the Trump victory.

Watch the faces, see the time delay, hear the comments.

No different than that the whispers in the dining room of the couple that showed up to the party without a present, because they didn't know it was a birthday party invitation, struggling to figure out if they can stick two twenties into an envelope, play it all off as if “of course we knew”! “We just forgot to get the card”!

Watching the mainstream media of that evening now knowing just how desperate all were to not have Trump elected, you can realize the off stage panic and schedule the lies being created and discarded in real time, anything but to admit that Donald Trump has just beaten Hillary Clinton.

Only after they’d gone into the conference room in panic, and realized there was nothing they could do after five hours of deliberations, did they concede.

Trump was victorious by Eleven PM. Clearly. They wouldn’t admit to it until they realized that even some combination of Hillary, Robby Mook and John Podesta couldn’t lie big enough to overcome the results. When those three creatures cannot fabricate a lie in five hours time, even Democrats have to yield to reality.

Trump is correct, our elections are rigged.

But he is lying about the Chinese.

The Democrats are rigging our elections through mass mail-in voting, ballot stuffing and where they have precinct control as in Fulton County, Georgia, running ballot boxes as long as it takes for the Democrat to win.

Afterward, when the Republicans sue, and the judges allow some “recount”, it is with the ability to actually view each and every ballot, but merely to run the same ballots counted earlier in the same way, yielding the same crooked result. We never go back to analyze the actual ballots to see that they Xeroxed thousands of the same voter ID and ran them through as if individual ballots.

As one observer from Michigan said in a hearing afterward, “we saw ballots in consecutive number being placed through the machine, which is impossible, it cannot come back in, in the numerical order of printing”. That is impossible. It apparently happened in the Michigan Presidential election.

Once I woke up to the fact our votes no longer count, that is when I became a cynic. Which is odd, because I was so far down the cynic spectrum as to be the boy for being cynical even before realizing the elections were all rigged.

Perhaps you’ve noticed this cynicism in my writings since the Trump Betrayal

Because I’ve realized that vote Republican, get Zionist AIPAC controlled rule, Democrat, get Zionist AIPAC controlled rule.

There is no way for a real American to win. The game is rigged. Completely.
