- › While the WHO and world governments are willing to roll the dice when it comes to the novel COVID shots, they insist on ridiculously high standards of safety and effectiveness when it comes to off-patent drugs that have decades of safe use

DarkHorse host Bret Weinstein, Ph.D., has conducted a couple of long and really valuable interviews in recent weeks. One was with a lung and ICU specialist, Dr. Pierre Kory, who is also the president and chief medical officer¹ of the Frontline COVID-19 Critical Care Alliance (FLCCC). The FLCCC has published three different COVID-19 protocols, all of which include the use of ivermectin:

- I-MASK+² – a prevention and early at-home treatment protocol
- I-MATH+³ – an in-hospital treatment protocol. The clinical and scientific rationale for this protocol has been peer-reviewed and was published in the *Journal of Intensive Care Medicine*⁴ in mid-December 2020
- I-RECOVER⁵ – a long-term management protocol for long-haul syndrome

In another episode, Weinstein interviewed Dr. Robert Malone, the inventor of the mRNA and DNA vaccine technology.⁶ In both instances, YouTube deleted the videos. Why? Because they discussed science showing ivermectin works against COVID-19 and the hazards of COVID gene therapies. Never mind the fact that Kory and Malone are the widely recognized leading experts in their fields.

In the wake of this targeted takedown, podcast host Joe Rogan invited Weinstein and Kory in for an “emergency podcast” about the censorship of ivermectin. As noted by Weinstein in a June 23, 2021, tweet, “The censorship campaign obscuring Ivermectin (as prophylactic against SARS-CoV2 and as treatment for COVID-19) kills.”⁷

Indeed, we now know that early treatment is crucial to prevent complications, hospitalizations, death and/or long-haul syndrome, so censoring this information is inexcusable, and has without doubt resulted in needless deaths.

What Is Misinformation?

As Weinstein explains, there are several things in dire need of discussion. For starters, there's the issue of YouTube's community guidelines and posting rules, which are so vague that it's impossible to determine beforehand if something is going to be deemed in violation.

Violations, in turn, threaten the ability of people like Weinstein to make a living. His entire family depends on the income generated through his YouTube channel. He now has two strikes against him, where YouTube claims he's been posting "spam" and "medical misinformation." One more, and the entire channel will be demonetized.

A central problem here is, who determines what misinformation is? YouTube has taken the stance that anything that goes against what the World Health Organization says is medical misinformation. However, the WHO doesn't always agree with other public health agencies.

For example, the WHO does not recommend the drug remdesivir, but the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention does, and virtually all U.S. hospitals routinely use the drug on COVID-19 patients.

Another example where the WHO and the CDC are in disagreement is how the virus can be transmitted. While the CDC admits SARS-CoV-2 is an airborne virus that transmits through the air, the WHO does not list air as a form of transmission. So, is the CDC putting out medical misinformation?

Censorship Is a Disinformation Tool

As Weinstein rightly points out, if the WHO (or virtually every federal regulatory agency for that matter) has been captured and is being influenced by industry, in this case Big Pharma, and is itself putting out information that goes against medical science, then this is something that must be discussed and exposed. That is precisely what he did in the two episodes that YouTube wiped.

If an organization is putting out medical misinformation, and talking about this is censored, the end result is going to be devastating to public health. Overall, we're in an untenable situation, Weinstein says, as people are losing their livelihoods simply for discussing the science and laying out the evidence. Licensed, practicing doctors are prevented from sharing practical knowledge that can save lives.

The fact that YouTube is making up the rules as they go is clear. One of Weinstein's interviews was deemed to be "spam." How can a discussion between highly respected and well-credentialed scientists and medical professionals be spam? YouTube obviously couldn't determine what was incorrect about it so they simply made up an excuse to take the video down.

Or more likely, they knew exactly what they were doing and removed it because it countered what appears to be their primary agenda, which is to promote the COVID jab.

As noted in the featured interview, censorship is actually a form of disinformation, which is defined as "information given to hide the actual truth." A perfect example of this is the suppression of the lab-leak theory. For a year and a half, no one was allowed to discuss the possibility that SARS-CoV-2 originated in a Wuhan lab. There's no telling how many tens of thousands of people lost their social media accounts, including yours truly, because they violated this rule.

The lab-leak theory was "debunked," according to all the industry-backed fact checkers. Now, all of a sudden, the evidence has somehow taken root and everyone is talking about it. Mainstream media pundits are squirming in their seats, trying to explain why they overlooked the obvious and roundly dismissed the evidence for so long. What was "misinformation" yesterday is now "fact."

Who decided this? Big Tech censored verifiable facts for a year and a half, and there's every reason to assume they censored it on behalf of someone. They grossly misinformed — nay, disinformed — the public, yet they're not held accountable for any of it.

The Manufacturing of Medical and Scientific Consensus

As noted by Weinstein, the idea that medical and scientific consensus can be established seemingly from one day to another in the middle of a pandemic involving a novel virus is simply not believable. It cannot happen, because scientific and medical consensus arises over time, as experts challenge each other's theories.

A hypothesis may sound good, but will break apart once another piece of evidence is added. So, it changes over time. What happened here, however, over the last year and a half, is that a consensus was declared early on, and subsequent evidence was simply discarded as misinformation.

The examples of this are numerous. Take vitamin D, for example. We've long known vitamin D influences your immune system. Yet the manufactured consensus declared vitamin D irrelevant in the case of COVID-19, and this stance remains to this day, even though dozens of studies have now demonstrated that vitamin D plays a crucial role in COVID-19 outcomes specifically.

The lab leak theory is another example. Manufactured consensus declared it bunk, and that was it. Face masks were declared effective without any evidence, and anyone pointing out the discrepancy between this recommendation and what the scientific literature was showing was simply declared to be violating some vaguely defined "community standards."

Manufactured consensus declared hydroxychloroquine and ivermectin dangerous and/or useless, saying we can't possibly risk using these drugs unless they're proven safe and effective in large randomized controlled trials (RCTs). As noted by Weinstein, they willingly roll the dice when it comes to the novel COVID shots, yet apply ridiculously high standards of safety and effectiveness when it comes to off-patent drugs that have decades of safe use.

There's something very unnatural and unscientific about all of this, and that raises serious questions about intent. What is the intent behind these manufactured consensus that by any reasonable standard have been proven flawed or incorrect?

For all the talk about preventing dangerous misinformation being spread by the average person, governments, Big Pharma, Big Tech and nongovernmental organizations that have a great deal of influence over nations, have in fact engaged in the biggest disinformation campaign in human history. The question is why?

As noted by Kory, over time, he has developed a deep cynicism about many of the agencies and organizations that are supposed to protect public health, because their recommendations and conclusions do not comport with good science. And, if we trust them exclusively, we can get into real trouble.

The thing is, there must be a reason for why they don't follow the science, and that, most likely, is because they're beholden to financial interests. If the science doesn't support those financial interests, it's disregarded.

This is why, by and large, there's a very clear dividing line between those who promote the ideas of the WHO, the CDC and the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, and those who don't.

Those who disagree with the manufactured consensus are almost exclusively independent, meaning they're not financially dependent on an organization, company or agency to which the facts are inconvenient.

“Heretics” also tend promote products that they cannot make a profit from, such as hydroxychloroquine and ivermectin, two drugs that have been used for so long they’re off-patent. Alternatively, they recommend natural products like vitamin D, which is virtually free, especially if you get it from optimal sun exposure.

Gold Standard Evidence Supports Ivermectin

As noted by Kory, while the WHO insists large RCTs must be completed before ivermectin (or hydroxychloroquine) can be recommended, RCTs actually are not the gold standard in terms of scientific evidence. Meta-analyses are.

The reason for this is because any given trial can be skewed by any number of protocol factors. When you do a meta-analysis of several trials, even if those trials are small, you have the best chance of detecting signals of danger or benefit because it corrects for flaws in the various protocols.

In the case of ivermectin, FLCCC recently conducted a meta-analysis⁸ of 24 RCTs, which clearly demonstrates that ivermectin produces “large statistically significant reductions in mortality, time to clinical recovery, and time to viral clearance.”

They also found that when used as a preventive, ivermectin “significantly reduced risks of contracting COVID-19.” In one study, of those given a dose of 0.4 mg per kilo on Day 1 and a second dose on Day 7, only 2% tested positive for SARS-CoV-2, compared to 10% of controls who did not get the drug.

In another, family members of patients who had tested positive were given two doses of 0.25 mg/kg, 72 hours apart. At follow up two weeks later, only 7.4% of the exposed family members who took ivermectin tested positive, compared to 58.4% of those who did not take ivermectin.

In a third, which unfortunately was unblinded, the difference between the two groups was even greater. Only 6.7% of the ivermectin group tested positive compared to 73.3% of controls. Still, according to the FLCCC, “the difference between the two groups was so large and similar to the other prophylaxis trial results that confounders alone are unlikely to explain such a result.”

The FLCCC also points out that ivermectin distribution campaigns have resulted in “rapid population-wide decreases in morbidity and mortality,” which indicate that ivermectin is “effective in all phases of COVID-19.” For example, in Brazil, three regions distributed ivermectin to its residents, while at least six others did not. The difference in average weekly deaths is stark.

In Santa Catarina, average weekly deaths declined by 36% after two weeks of ivermectin distribution, whereas two neighboring regions in the South saw declines of just 3% and 5%. Amapa in the North saw a 75% decline, while the Amazonas had a 42% decline and Para saw an increase of 13%. Importantly, ivermectin’s effectiveness also appears largely unaffected by variants, meaning it has worked on any and all variants that have so far popped up around the world.

Kory also points out that once you can see from clinical evidence that something really is working, then conducting RCTs becomes unethical, as you know you’re condemning the control group to poor outcomes or death. This is, in fact, the same argument vaccine makers now use to justify the elimination of control groups by giving everyone the vaccine.

All of that said, RCT evidence for ivermectin will hopefully come from the British PRINCIPLE trial,⁹ which began June 23, 2021. Ivermectin will be evaluated as an outpatient treatment in this study, which will be the largest clinical trial to date.

How Ivermectin Works

While ivermectin is best known for its antiparasitic properties, it also has both antiviral and anti-inflammatory properties. With regard to how it can help against SARS-CoV-2 infection, studies¹⁰ have shown ivermectin lowers your viral load by inhibiting replication.

In “COVID-19: Antiparasitic Offers Treatment Hope,” I review data showing a single dose of ivermectin killed 99.8% of SARS-CoV-2 in 48 hours. A recent meta-analysis¹¹ by Dr. Tess Lawrie found the drug reduced COVID-19 infection by an average of 86% when used preventatively.

An observational study¹² from Bangladesh, which looked at ivermectin as a preexposure prophylaxis for COVID-19 among health care workers, found only four of the 58 volunteers who took 12 mg of ivermectin once per month for four months developed mild COVID-19 symptoms between May and August 2020, compared to 44 of the 60 health care workers who had declined the medication.

Ivermectin has also been shown to speed recovery, in part by inhibiting inflammation through several pathways and protecting against organ damage. This, of course, also lowers your risk of hospitalization and death, which has been confirmed in several studies.

Meta-analyses have shown average reductions in mortality ranging from 75%¹³ to 83%^{14,15} The drug has also been shown to prevent transmission of SARS-CoV-2 when taken before or after exposure. When you add all of these benefits together, it seems fairly clear that ivermectin use could vaporize this pandemic.

Where You Can Learn More

While ivermectin certainly appears to be a useful strategy, which is why I am covering it, it is not my primary recommendation. In terms of prevention, I believe your best bet is to optimize your vitamin D level, as your body needs vitamin D for a wide variety of functions, including a healthy immune response.

As for early treatment, I recommend nebulized hydrogen peroxide treatment,^{16,17} which is inexpensive, highly effective and completely harmless when you're using the low (0.04% to 0.1%) peroxide concentration recommended.

All of that said, ivermectin and several other remedies certainly have a place, and it's good to know they exist and work well. On the whole, there's really no reason to remain panicked about COVID-19. If you want to learn more about ivermectin, there are several places where you can do that, including the following:

- April 24 through 25, 2021, Dr. Tess Lawrie, director of Evidence-Based Medicine Consultancy Ltd.,¹⁸ hosted the first International Ivermectin for COVID Conference online¹⁹

Twelve medical experts²⁰ from around the world – including Kory – shared their knowledge, reviewing mechanism of action, protocols for prevention and treatment, including so-called long-hauler syndrome, research findings and real world data. All of the lectures, which were recorded via Zoom, can be viewed on Bird-Group.org²¹

- An easy-to-read and print one-page summary of the clinical trial evidence for ivermectin can be downloaded from the FLCCC website²²
- A more comprehensive, 31-page review of trials data has been published in the journal *Frontiers of Pharmacology*²³
- The FLCCC website also has a helpful FAQ section where Kory and Dr. Paul Marik, also of the FLCCC, answer common questions about the drug and its recommended use²⁴
- A listing of all ivermectin trials done to date, with links to the published studies, can be found on c19Ivermectin.com²⁵

Mark Your Calendars for VERY Important Interview!

Please be sure to mark your calendar so you don't miss my groundbreaking interview with Dr. Vladimir Zelenko, July 4, 2021. We discuss the very distinct possibility that everyone who receives the COVID jab may die from complications in the next two to three years.

You should have plenty of time to view this vitally important exchange of information as it is the national Fourth of July holiday. We literally share life-changing information, so please be sure to read it and share with your friends.

This is largely because getting the jab now immediately places the injected individual in the very high risk of dying from COVID. Most have the false assurance that they are protected but, in reality, they are far more vulnerable and as a result will not take very aggressive proactive measures to avoid dying from pathogenic priming or paradoxical immune enhancement before it is too late.

Bugg

I have heard that there is a concerted effort by medical leaders/government to remove Ivermectin from the market. It just boggles the mind to think they would rather remove this from the market and let people get sick and/or die than keep it available and use it to save lives. This really is a battle of good and evil in the heavenlies and on earth. For those that worship Satan and his demons, it's about power, control and greed--the 3 big ones. Satan's goal is to kill, steal and destroy while God offers redemption, freedom and eternal life.

My_Time

You are so correct @ Bugg. It is so sad what they are trying to do to all the people except the select few! Without the Lord it would be hopeless. You can see Satan at work and he is working fast and hard. Thank you for showing that the Lord God offers Salvation through repentance and freedom with eternal life. I am so thankful I belong to the Lord Jesus Christ of the AKJV bible of which there is no other.

Bugg: It boggles your mind because you are human and have empathy. The .00001% and their mercenaries, minions and corporations are pathological narcissists and have no empathy. Their motivation is control of the 99%. To understand how they act you have to look at them as you would a mental patient that is very dangerous.

In Ecuador ivermectin is available without perscription because it has been used for a long time as an antiparasitic in humans and other animals. It has lately becaome hard to find. I suspect not because of over demand but because of an engineered reduction in production and distribution. The reason is simple. The current vaccines are operating under an Emergency Use Authorization. That requires that there be no other method of treatment generally available. Surprisingly, the FDA and the EU equivalents have yet to give approval for any mRNA vaccine. The vaccine that is most available here in Ecuador is Chinese. I think the Chinese, Cubans and Russians see this manufactured pandemic as an opportunity to reap profits and goodwill at the expense of Wall Street.

The rates of deaths per million of population according to Worldometer varies tremendously for a virus that is universally deadly. In USA it is currently 1,870, in China it is 3, in Cuba it is 128, in Russia it is 974, in India it is 292 even after their widely publicized ravaging of the population. Japan with its rate of only 118 deaths per million has just recently reestablished lockdowns and other restrictions. As Gore Vidal said long ago the elite do not need to conspire. They think alike. In this case the motivation is to control and impoverish the 99% with fear caused by an invisible enemy. The .00001% know that true wealth lies in land, labor and resources which unlike money cannot be created digitally in almost infinite amounts. Impoverishment is necessary because that wealth is only availble if it is for sale. www.worldometers.info/coronavirus

The technical term is 'war'. Whether mythical or historical, human wars have been waged since the beginning of time. Wars may be about land acquisition, political or regal power and control, ideology or religion, they may or may not involve weaponry, militarisation etc but generally use the technology or manpower available at the time - the Romans had their legions, the Crusades depended on battle axes, slings, arrows and swords, the wars of Napoleonic times used muskets and canons, 20th century wars relied on air, sea and land bombardment, propaganda and genocide through gassing and shooting. In the 21st century we have more subtle weaponry such as genocide through biological warfare, withholding effective treatments and thanks to advanced global forms of communication technology, powerful ideological tools such as censorship, propaganda and lies. Whatever the tools at our disposal, it's still war waged by one side against the other so I guess before long you must decide which side you are battling for and fight on until the war is won or lost.

Even before the "pandemic" many doctors would sell you treatment that they would never take themselves. Healthcare has never been about health. It is a scam for profit. Why the surprise now? It has been like this forever.

My big lesson working w/MDs as a patient is NEVER take a BigPharma "free" drug sample from an MD w/o reading the FDA package insert. Better yet, look up the drug on the US Pharmacopeia online for a more comprehensive description of how the drug did in trials. The insert should have all the major side effects and drug interactions with other drugs. Fortunately, most commercial pharmacies in the US provide the customer even more info than found in the inserts.

This is exactly my impression from brick&mortar doctors which makes them no different than muggers and killers. Your health is probably 5th in their priorities, their bottom line and cars being 1st.

Vladimira, I totally agree. After my heart surgery (to repair a congenital defect, not a bypass) my cardiologist wanted to put me on a statin. I declined, stating that my calcium score was zero (absolutely no atherosclerosis). He refused to believe that was possible, so I told him to consult with the chief of cardiac surgery who had measured it himself. I think a lot of doctors just get used to looking at numbers and dispensing drugs based on what the latest study du jour says. My cardiologist retired six months later and the new guy is much more open to discussion, so yay for that.

Thanks datadragon, Great post. The Ivermectin PRINCIPLE trial will probably go the same way as the RECOVERY trial involving Hydroxychloroquine where they overdosed the patients with four times the appropriate amount. Gates and the Wellcome Trust and those who wanted to make a killing (in more ways than one) from vaccines sponsored this fraudulent enterprise which discredited the drug and probably led to the deaths of thousands because the false news of HCQ's failure spread around the world, ably assisted by Big Pharma $$ propaganda.

According to research, Sars-Cov-2 can delay the immune response by a few days allowing it to replicate, after which it can hyperactivate the complement/nlrp3 inflammatory pathways leading to issues like blood clotting and death especially in those with comorbidities which also activate these pathways unless you counteract that hyperactivation. By halting the body's initial immune response, the virus buys time to deepen the infection of its host as well as increase its chances of being transmitted to another person. Inhibiting the NLRP3 inflammasome would inhibit both IL-1 β and IL-18 as well as complement hyperactivation. So while most of the treatments that are shown to help after viral replication work in part by inhibiting the NLRP3 inflammasome hyperactivation and viral replication, It would also be important to note that over suppressing these necessary immune pathways right away that may already be lowered would additionally allow the virus to not be cleared and in some people who do not have existing inflammation pathways overactive such as those with comorbidities, may even need a boost to restore the immune response.

Thanks Datadragon, there's nothing like "following the money". Generally it's a wide and deep trail, easy to find and hard to exit other than on purpose. Because practically 100% of all public information is influenced by advertising money these days, the best we've seen for the past 15-25 years in public news media is authoritative sounding infomercials. As we've been instructed to "ask your doctor about..." rather this drug or that drug "...is right for you", we've been rapidly programed to accept wtf is happening up in our "collective " faces today. Only these small cells, ie, mercola etcetera, are left to attempt to bring light into the dark. A warning to all fellow Canadians. I ordered Ivermectin from a reputable pharmacy located in India that had been recommended by a commenter in a previous Mercola article. This week I received an official letter from Health Canada and the Canadian Border Service Agency that my Ivermectin order had been seized and confiscated. They suggested I try to get a refund which is all but impossible. As far as I can tell I have no recourse. I'm out a significant amount of money and have no Ivermectin. Illegal drugs make their way into Canada on a regular basis but my Ivermectin order was deemed dangerous and was confiscated.

Well it doesn't surprise me that they'd confiscate your medicine because don't forget, all the powers-that-be are working hard to reduce the population world-wide. I suspect even those lower in authority are still as fierce about following orders from the powers-that-be because they've been brain-washed to believe what they're doing is extremely necessary. It doesn't occur to them that people are being made sick on purpose with hopefully thousands of deaths. For some reason they seem to think that killing off a size-able portion of the population that it will bring them riches galore since they can steal at will. Too bad they don't consider that they themselves will experience a much worse death that gives them no relief forever. Hell is real and it is very hot !!!

Yes I wondered about that here in the UK. I've ended up with horse Ivermectin from Hyperdrug, apple flavour!

But recommended by some who have used it at 1/10 dosage, of course. I guess it could still be seized for Canada. Had to fake up some details - age weight and height of the 'horse'. Just used averages of what was listed.

I have used the veterinary paste for years with no bad side effects. Keep in mind; horses cannot vomit, colic easily and have small [for their size] way more sensitive stomach than humans. I just make sure I follow the weight ratio since I am not a 1250lb horse!

They are not backing down on the vaccines, and things will get worse. It is alarming that the new vaccines being tested rely on metal nanoparticles, because DARPA has been working on various "mind control" programs for years: www.darpa.mil/program/our-research/darpa-and-the-brain-initiative . Nanoparticles have been used in neurological studies that showed the ability to control mice with magnets: spectrum.ieee.org/tech-talk/biomedical/devices/human-os-magnetogenetic.. .

The military is now testing a "universal coronavirus vaccine" that contains spike ferritin nanoparticles: www.military.com/daily-news/2021/04/06/army-begins-clinical-trials-vac..

and clinicaltrials.gov/.../NCT04742738 . And SK Bioscience along with the University of Washington is testing an aluminum hydroxide nanoparticle coronavirus vaccine:

newsroom.uw.edu/news/cepi-funds-phase-3-trial-uw-medicine-covid-19-vac.. . Dr. Kayvon Modjarrad at Walter Reed Army Institute of Research (WRAIR) admitted they are developing vaccines in anticipation of future pandemics and also working on universal vaccines for all variants:

www.scientificamerican.com/podcast/episode/a-universal-coronavirus-vac..

Dr. Sevillano (of the La Quinta Columna research group that found graphene oxide in the current COVID-19 shots) believes these shots may be designed more to control people than to kill them: www.orwell.city/2021/06/dr-jose-luis-sevillano-elites-seek-control.htm. They had it ready to go, and the COVID-19 scam got people to open the door and let them in. I guess all of their sophisticated AI programs showed that this was the stupidest generation of people ever to walk the face of the earth. No need to fear billions of people. It's go time.

I personally don't agree with Dr Sevillano of the LaQuinta Columna regarding the graphene oxide as far as only wanting to "control" people with the shots. Depopulation a la Gates is a most important cog in their movement, not just control. If they only wanted control, they'd still have to feed and clothe the billions of vaccinees they made, why would they want that? Killing billions is their MO, no more Mr. Nice Guy anymore. We've got to stop this earthquake of murder very soon. That said, I'm glad to see people starting to fight back against the dark forces.

Ivermectin was given to everything, horses, cows, goats, pigs, children of all ages. adults every Spring and what came out of them was amazing to see. Also while hunting, frog gigging, fishing, no insects bite any of us. Landed on us, but didn't bite. This is an old, proven remedy for anything attacking us and you do not have to take an exact amount, just get close by taking more as it doesn't hurt you, you'll just expel the overage in your poop like animals do. We didn't keep the milk or a week after giving it, although some wanted it for medical reasons and women milked themselves and stored milk for a week too. We make things too complicated. Old remedies usually laughed at are becoming back since they worked for thousands of years, tell me how long these new ones have been around in comparison?

Growing up, my father told all six of us children that there were lies by commission & lies by omission. What we have seen over the last 18 months has been lying on a grand scale, both by commission & by omission. Not only about the origin of this virus, but the validity of the pcr tests, as well as the need for face masks, social distancing, shutdowns, & lockdowns. As the same time, effective, safe, & inexpensive treatment options have been routinely dismissed, censored, side-lined, and disparaged. We have been lied to, manipulated, and played since day one. All I needed to do in order to make that determination was to open my eyes while also remembering my father's prescient words, all those many years ago...

Your children and your children's children are 'screwed' as the world decays into a state of 'controlled chaos' (orchestrated by an evil that MANY have been asleep to)!!! A 'solution' is on the way... and MANY (a very large majority of the world population) will be astonished and their psyches will be in such turmoil as they come to see/understand how much evil has been perpetuated on this planet and by whom... Then the 'healing' will begin... there are enough 'enlightened' souls who will assist in the catharsis of the damaged and defragmented souls! And how soon will this be? Had watched a video interview w Rosa last fall, and just finished watching her much, much earlier presentation video, the kindle version of Rosa's book is a free download. With the blatant disregard of basic scientific principles and the censorship of very very well qualified scientists and medical professionals, it's become obvious that there is a whole different paradigm that the official agencies are operating under. Obviously it has nothing to do with the general public's well-being. For the first time in a while I'm glad that I live in the US. I may have a profound dislike and distrust of the government but I'm encouraged that there are many who are intelligent enough to question this insanity and make decisions based on their own knowledge rather than blind acceptance of whatever the mainstream narrative happens to be.

~Dear Dr Mercola, you wrote: "If the World Health Organization has been captured by Big Pharma and is putting out information that goes against medical science, then public health is at grave risk" BRAVO!!!!!! Thank you for calling out the truth exactly for what it is...as usual!!! APPLAUSE AND GRATITUDE!!!!!! We need more people like you.

~Disinformation, misinformation....are exactly what the CDC, WHO and FDA are precisely guilty of, from A to Z. Falsified PCR tests, warped statistics, dissing helpful medications and supplements, lying about the efficacy of masks ,more.....

~When medical entities such as the CDC and WHO and Fauci go up against supplements and their support of the immune system, when they go up against medications which many top level physicians have said would save lives, then more than disinformation is afoot. It's foul play. How many recognized this from the beginning? Raise your hands please and say "aye" , we are all in good company.

~It's all a manipulative game for profit. And even the mainstream is starting to catch on. This is only the beginning. YAY! See what the Wall Street Journal has to say www.wsj.com/articles/are-covid-vaccines-riskier-than-advertised-116243..

And commenters posted in complete unanimity to a CNN article about door knocking vaccine pushers (no matter somebody's medical vulnerabilities, sheesh) that this is a civil liberties violation, and one commenter stated that it is known in mainstream circles now that having had COVID is better immunity than the shot. So what's the hullabaloo all about anyway? Vaccine profits, of course. Any gullible fool who thinks otherwise is in very understandable fear, given the media slant, but they never do their research (those are the most hot-headed people of all!) and also are in denial, plain and simple. Wait until the world wakes up, it is beginning to happen.

PS Biden's door knocking vaccine peddling and coercion has backfired in many circles childrenshealthdefense.org/defender/biden-plan-deploy-federal-teams-do.. and to repeat, who cares about medical vulnerabilities anyway? This has to be increasingly called out, everywhere! We bloggers should post comments ongoing. It's terribly important. If the Feds take no notice, the people will. At least, the caring and smart ones will.

PPS and when natural medicine has even one side effect in one person out of a 25 year history, the CDC and FDA go after them with a vengeance. But when vaccines and mainstream pharmaceutical "medications" produce deadly side effects and death, it is considered an "acceptable collateral statistic" and "For the general good". The deaths, the side effects are swept under the rug.

I call out foul play!

"ohhhh but that happens in so few cases" say people. "Weigh the benefits and risks in the balance". So what if somebody themselves was a statistic? What if it happened to one of their loved ones?

"It will never happen to me" can be a literally dangerous assumption.

Ivermectin, hydroxychloroquine, and vitamin D are all great, but zinc insufficiency is the underlying problem from abnormal platelet formation and blood clotting to inability to neutralize the virus at the ace2 receptor sites on the cells. The vaccines displace zinc allowing the spike proteins to enter the cells and replicate. This explains all the blood clotting issues with the "vaccines":

Stephanie Seneff wrote in her brand new book, Toxic Legacy, released July 1st of this year, about glyphosate doing the same thing, across the board.

I have seen biologist's studies about pulsed 5G through lizards from head to tail, causing blood clotting and dropped immunity.

Jenny, you are clearly not in that category at all. Most of us including me had "legitimate" vaccinations as children. What I'm talking about are those who choose to ignore information readily available these days..and of course we are not even referring to vaccines as defined by medical and legal authorities. For example, have you ever heard of a choice of vaccinations for a specific virus ? Now there are at least five on offer.

We are in a World War. Wars are fought to take over control of another country's people and resources. Has the U.S. been forced to change its policies, its medical practices, its industry in the last year and a half?

For the better or worse for its people?

Do the people have more or less "say" in their self-governance?

Have people been made sick; have many died; is the prospect that many more may die?

We are in a War but most Americans still make more time to watch a sports event on television than to get involved in taking back their country.

Therefore you are losing the War.

Dare we say CURE? Or is that word still forbidden? There are are lots of cure protocols for various stages of COVID-19. There are three clinical studies in clinicaltrials.gov studying "cured" patients, each with their unique individual definitions of COVID-19 CURED. In each case, those cured patients were cured outside of any clinical trial.

The gold standard of medicine has always been cured. However, CURED is not in any epidemiology dictionary. Cured is not defined statistically. Every case of cured is an anecdote.

Ivermectin is one cure. There are many other known cures for COVID-19. There are many cures for each of the potential different phases, consequences, and sequella of COVID-19. But our modern medical bureaucracies, with all their statistical power, can't find one. When they do encounter one, they can't recognise it as cured, much less prove a case of cured, much less gather statistics about cured patients, and how they were cured. Waiting for future clinical trials, while surrounded by cured patients is irresponsible, and when patients who could be cured die, it's criminal.

To your health, Tracy

IVERMECTIN: ANECDOTAL EVIDENCE

HISTORY: Age 76. A weak immune system for many decades. I would catch everything going around and take forever to shake it. Been self isolating for about thirty years... sick people think nothing of going out in public. Air travel? Dangerous. Till just recently they used to sanitize only once a month! If I had to fly I wiped down the seat, the tray, etc. with sanitary wipes. Turn on the negative ion generator, avoid the toilet if possible, nasal spray, throat spray. I've had, in the past ten years, pneumonia and double pneumonia, whooping cough, colds and flu.

RECENT EXPERIENCE: Been taking ivermectin for several months, every two weeks. Plus D, zinc and other recommended suppliments. Flew to VT and MA a couple months ago, no problem. Tested negative for CV19 prior to that. Ten days ago we drove to Seattle. The day we left the wife woke up with a nasty cough and copious sinus drainage. She still wanted to go. Upon arrival we realized the two adults and their three year old all had a cough. We spent six days in their house in close contact. I was sure I'd be coming down with whatever it was like always. But, I didn't to my great surprise.

DISCUSSION: Was it the ivermectin? Can't prove it. I tend to think it was.

Dr. Mercola does a wonderful job of shining a light on what's going on, and providing ample evidence of the evil perpetrated during the pandemic. Which is just an extension of what came before but more severe and in-our-face. However, at this point, the picture is crystal clear that everything we were told during the pandemic by those in power was a lie designed to advance their agenda, and screw us. The population is divided into those with a functioning brain, who see this, and those who continue to buy into the official propaganda. I don't think any number of additional articles, videos, or Tucker/Laura exposes will make much difference. Don't get me wrong, I don't want Dr. M and the other white hats to stop their efforts, it's just that realistically, the MSM/PTB followers are impervious to logic and evidence.

The only thing that will get their attention is when SO MANY people drop dead or become disabled from the jabs it's impossible to ignore. Which, dangerous as they are, may not happen. And the fact is, even then, a huge percentage of the sheeple will CONTINUE to follow their high priests. It's exactly like a religion to them, not related to evidence in the least.

Read Nuremberg 1 and see that a person cannot be compelled to put poison in their bodies without their consent. If they do it forcefully, make sure you get names and let them know they will be held liable for attempted murder, since we know the jab is mostly metal so they can manipulate these individuals with EMF's. let's suppose that you have an intelligence gathering operation that can monitor all communications and also listen to what is being said inside of a business or home. You can acquire exploitative information to persuade individuals to play-ball with you. Is this possible? Yes it is. It is possible to send signals to any landline that activates the handset to listen in on what ever conversation is going on. It has been possible since the 1960s. Also as telecommunications now all travel via microwave, these transmissions can be easily intercepted and monitored. There is a signal that goes out that tells the number that is being called and most times the call from number. These can be targeted.

In the world of Signals Intelligence, or SigInt as it is called nothing is unavailable. If it is transmitted it can be intercepted and the information exploited. In the early 1970s NSA was working on voice IDs for transmitted signals. The ability to positively ID a voice, like a finger-print, one of the early problems was if there was a change in the transmitter it slightly changed the print, but those obstacles were worked out quickly. So you do not have to say your name, you can still be identified.

Enter Google and their search logarithms and the information that could be produced from recording searches. Quickly Google had a large installation on a Top Secret base in Nevada. Why? You used to be able to look this up on Google, and could also see the installation on their maps satellite views, no longer. So one could surmise nefarious deals made. Google was now playing ball with the intelligence services, why? How were they convinced to play-ball? U-Tube is owned by Google. These are dots to connect. When worked for NSA, I saw that the intel that was being collected was being falsified, manipulated in devious ways when passed on to Senate and house appropriations committees. Why? Then I heard the whisperings about who was actually in control of NSA.

This soldier is exactly correct. Thanks for sharing this link. It really isn't off topic, just has been hushed up. Most of us on here know about 5G and the virus and now the shot but hearing it from someone with such strong language often makes you pay more attention.

No vaccinations here. I do have a question about Ivermectin. If a person contracts Covid and then takes Ivermectin, does this not disrupt the disease? And If Covid is disrupted, will that person still have immunity to Covid?

Why does a parasite cleanse cure the Rona? Could it be there is no virus but a mass poisoning going on? -JS

Has Dr. Mercola's interview with Dr. Zelenko been published yet? I haven't noticed it. :)

preston1953

It was the July 4th article:

articles.mercola.com/sites/articles/archive/2021/07/04/covid-vaccine-r.. I am with Clif High in saying the revolution for a truly Constitutional government is underway. The PowersThatShouldNotBe are fighting for survival and the Wee People are fighting for survival. How can you not agree with "Treason fills the air?"

Hi Retsbew, Where were you earlier in the week? We have posted up Part 1 ad Part 2 of the Spanish video reporting on their findings, and yesterday, the English translation is linked in the blog. And there is another link showing the electron microscope images at different magnifications. But in case you are wondering, this interview from Australia was posted up yesterday; as always, my jaw hit the keyboard, Note how carefully Delores mentions that although the spike protein is known, we do not know specifically other ingredients in these shots, here ya go!

www.bitchute.com/.../yeBaempLxIXK - although I enjoy her accent, the topics not easy to listen to.

fundamentalassumptions

God is judging, & things unfold precisely as has been written, the hearts & reins of men being sifted & exposed, the contents manifested by their choices. Choose wisely. Most will foolishly measure themselves against other men, rather than God's holiness & standard, & fall to delusions of pride & flattery, puffed up, following some false & lesser light allowing them to choose their own lust & will & way, excusing select sins, confidently affirming themselves as they hasten toward judgment & Hell.

God is not mocked, & He holds every individual soul accountable. The wicked walk on every hand when the vilest of men are exalted.

When men persist in their folly & self-righteousness, He will, in time, give them over & let them have their delusion, their false ways & false Christ, as they choose a solution via an illegitimate authority & manmade, crafted 'salvation' & collectivist Babylonian order: left, right or united illegitimately in lies & fornication, rebranded as 'truth' & 'love': that old bloody fake 'peace' that kills any competitors viewed as a threat, among whom are always found those w/ the unwelcome & offending truth of God concerning universal sinfulness, need, & the only way of salvation by God through the Gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ according to the scriptures.

Judgment is here & judgment is coming. The false solution & man of sin the vast majority of unrepentant men will choose to their loss is in the wings, & any 'victory' over this evil which does not acknowledge that truth will only end serving the same in another guise. To the law & to the testimony: if they speak not according to this word, it is because there is no light in them.

66 books, preserved, evidenced & authorized: but men will ever add their two cents to it: adding their '6' to the seal.... & the last godman, not of the Godhead, which they will place their hope in as written, will not avail them, or be able to atone for their eternal souls or to stand when the true Christ returns: Creator&Judge.
