Blocking the sun is just the narrative. I've seen them spray at sunset, heard them spray during the night, Seen them switch the nozzles 'on' just before hitting land and 'off' again when arriving at the ocean again in both Bonavista and Gaspé peninsulas. They usually spray before and within 24 hours of expected precipitation. They want their poison to come down to earth....not stay up there to block the sun.

Btw. Mike Adams and Jane Ruby just reported some analysis and the chemtrail fallout contains metals like aluminium. Plant and tree life suck it up and become more flammable. Perhaps they use it for their man-made 'wild' fires....to herd people in to 15-minute concentration camps under the guise of climate change.

Blocking the sun is not just their narrative Renate, it is the way they will gain control of the weather - Lyndon B Johnsons famous quote (around WWII - "He who controls the weather, controls the World."

I don't know where you are getting your information on spray and nozzles and on and off switches, but honestly, you have been dumbed down and I would really recommend you change channels.

Your summary on Mike Adams and Jane Ruby are off too - also not who I would follow in the world of scientific knowledge in the geoengineering world - makes people senseless with unfounded science and quite frankly I'm certain they are playing both sides.

My roots come from the Gaspé. Ancestors arrived in Rimouski in 1646; not proud of that history.

If I were you living near there, I'd put my focus on the Rim of Fire - the mining in the Boreal Forest and put some learning on that.

I'm sure blocking the sun is a nice bonus, but not the main purpose. Why do they spray at sunset and why not above the oceans if blocking the sun is the main objective? You can ridicule me, but these are common sense questions. Please stay on topic and don't lecture me on where my focus should be. You don't know anything about me, and I don't know anything about you. I don't tell you what you should read or who you should follow. Again: spraying at sunset, at night and only above land to block the sun?

They spray poison. They poison forests, wildlife and humans. They blame a 'virus' and 'climate change'. Their military experiments date back a while. "The 1957 Asian flu pandemic was announced...after this 'large area coverage' spraying by the U.S. Army...CDC came in and said, 'There's a new virus.' ... Does this sound familiar?"

Blocking the Sun is no bonus at all, and completely unnecessary. The next major phase will be a cooling period. Due to the sun's predictable cycles.

Check out Peter Kirby's book on Chemtrails and their history. You might be able to find a used copy, as the availability is limited at the moment.

Your anger is palpable by the words you choose, I was really hoping you'd realize that there is a very deep rabbit hole and sometimes it's easier to focus closer to our awareness channels.

Apologies, I didn't mean to sound like I was ridiculing - but isn't this a prime example of how the individual will interpret the words and hear their own take on the energy behind them? So when people realize how much some of these words are taken in, like contrails and chemtrails and they by use of these words do not have a proper scientific understanding, then you end up losing ground.

I hope you can see, I'm giving you some ground.

The simplest thing to say if you're not educated in Geoengineering is just to say - stop making clouds from airplanes.

Spray is a term used for herbicides - used on forests and farmland. They fly low elevation and typically in a pattern that's observable.

Ulrich Schumann said to ICAO in 2010 "we want to make les warming by day and more cooling contrails by night to make contrails predictable for operational planning." In other words - control the weather. Look up this man and this quote.

Thing is, they are totally out of control.

With over 100,000 flights per day world wide, using planes instead of a new specific SRM machine is "free" and you also have a "plausible deniability" so they call these contrails - "accidental geoengineering"

I saw Sasha's post you shared, I was surprised, she normally does way better research.

Yes, water vapour is the premier greenhouse gas. Also, CO2 dissolves in the oceans, and is released from the oceans when the oceans warm:CO2 follows warming, it does not lead it.

Think heating up a glass of lemonade, it will outgas CO2.

Thank you Lisa Miron I love your take and Gene Balfour's take on issues. Based on your backgrounds. A great mix of common sense, humour, stats and evidence. Whether a simple guy like myself or a genius accepts the information or not it sure as hell reinforces our need to investigate. To what pockets does the dough go? Hope you guys had an Easter banquet.

Hey, why don't we just block everything from A to Z. That should help us get rid of these useless eaters as fast as possible.

It's time for us to party like it's 2029.

We already missed the last big party date.

Just a couple of typos. Spelling of dumb, or dumber, and asinine. Keep up the good work.

Guess when the next predicted 'solar minimum' cycle is expected to be in full swing (cooler temps) Did you guess 2030 :) obvious proof their SRM (Solar Radiation Management) methods are working (roll of the eyes).

CO2 Coalition speaks about how CO2 FOLLOWS increases in temperatures - it is NOT the CAUSE of Temperature rising.

Too bad that you haven't attended our recent Zoom call about CO2. Here is the link to the YT <https://youtu.be/FkvltkTULs>. This article here unfortunately doesn't say nothing. Blocking out the sun mostly refers to SAI (Stratospheric Aerosol Injection), or any other type of Solar Radiation Management plus planes crating cirrus clouds where clouds form. In the higher troposphere or lower stratosphere. The term 'spraying' refers to either pesticides or herbicides/ aduilticides in very low altitude. Cloud Seeding is NOT 'spraying' either. It's weather modification by injecting clouds with chemicals. Mostly silver iodide. <https://www.geoengineeringfreecanada.com/>, <https://climateviewer.com/>

The chemtrails have been a real harm to the land and foliage. Aluminum and other metals and chemicals are a problem impacting the soil and us.

The patents I have read on weather technology and the ability to increase or decrease storms and control their direction is a fact now not a conspiracy. These globalists and enemy within are a real danger. We need the green new deal to be discarded. There is real Satanic action happening here. Also if Bill Gates and other WEF globalists with money own seeds that are Aluminum resistant what does that tell you. We need to be very vigilant about watching these people and their agenda. Nothing about Bill Gates, Soros, Klaus Schwab, Carney and other WEF members is very reassuring for us regular type people.
