And where are similar protests in the USA?

Oh, that's right. You have to go to a public school board meeting to see parents up in arms about COVID measures because they want to keep using the Nanny State's school system to babysit their children so they don't have to.

And if we do see protests, they will probably be much smaller than this one in London today, with BLMers on one side and Trump supporters on the other, and they won't be protesting against the Globalists, but fighting each other instead.

If the masses do rise up together to overthrow tyranny, I'd bet on the UK over the US any day. It looks like they are fairly unified in taking down Boris Johnson and the rest of the hoodlums in Parliament.
